THE BRIGHT HOURS OF MEMORY.

(BY FRANCIS BROWN.)

The bright hours of mem'ry!—oh, who can look back,
Retracing his path through the desert of years,
Nor find in the wastes of that long-trodden track,
Some far isle of verdure, whose dew is not tears:
Some spot to whose greenness his steps would return,
In spite of the thorns and the deserts between,
Could they bear back the spirit that once they had borne,
Or find it the region that once it has been?

The lights of the past may be feeble and few,
And seen through the mist when life's morning was gray,
And pleasures and hopes which they brought to our view
Like the mists of that morn they have melted away;
But still the bright track, which remains in the soul,
No shadows can cover, no tears can efface;
Around it life's billows and tempests may roll,
But they leave it still clear for the pilgrim to trace.

Perchance 'twas an hour when the triumph of youth
Arose o'er its labours, and honours achieved,—
Perchance when the vows of affection and truth
Were country uttered and fondly believed;
Or far in the distance of childhood it lies
Where dim, as the cloud-covered mountains, have grown,
The scenes that surround it, but still in our eyes
It seems like one spot where a sunbeam hath shone.

The bright hours of mem'ry—how oft in our dreams
They bring us the glory of long summer days,
The joy of the spring-time's first blossoms and beams,
And the laughter that rang by the winter hearth's blaze!
And, oh! there are hearts, though by fate long estranged,
And eyes that can lighten our journey no more,
That come in those visions, still true and unchanged,
With the light, and the love, and the gladness of yore!

Bright, bright shines the beacon of hope from afar,—
And strong is the faith of our youth to pursue
The path of its promise, till dim grows the star,
And faint grows our steps in the wilderness too.—
But no'er of her treasure can Mem'ry be reft,
And dark must the days of his pilgrimage be
Who finds not one hour, in his retrospect, left,
Like a full ark of joy on the desolate sea!

WHAT HAS HE BEEN?—What is that to you? It is of no consequence of he has been the most wicked and abandoned of men. He is not so now. We care not what evil a man has done, providing he has heartily repented and now strives to live an upright, consistent life. Instead of looking back a dozen or twenty years to know what a person is, you should inquire, What is he now? What is his present character? If you find that his reformation is sincere and that he laments his past errors, take him cordially by the hand and bid him godspeed in his noble pursuit. We are no friends to those who would rake up sins and vices, to condemn one who is resolved to be upright and virtuous. Many a person is driven back to the paths of vice, who might have become an ornament to society, but for the disposition too common among men, to rake up and throw to the light, long forgotten iniquities. We most admired the reply of a daughter to her father, who was asked respecting a young man of her acquaintance—"Do you know where he comes from?" "No," replied the girl—"I do not know where he comes from, but I know where he is going, and I wish to go with him." That is right. If we see a person on the right track—exerting a good influence—it is sufficient, without inquiring what has been his character heretofore. If he has reformed, what more can we desire?—and what benefit will it be to us to uncover and expose to the light, deeds of which he is heartily ashamed and of which he has repented in dust and ashes?

A destructive fire occurred at Chicago on Saturday last, by which one entire block, except two or three fire proof stores, was destroyed; loss estimated at $45,000 to $50,000.

Horse and Cattle Medicines.
Don't permit your Horses or cattle to die, when the means of cure are within the reach of all!

The undersigned has spent several years in the study of Veterinary practice in "London and Edinboro," in his also availed himself of the researches of Dadge, and other celebrated men, who have contributed so much towards a judicious treatment of animals; the principles of our practice consists of the rejection of general bleeding and the total rejection of all medicines that experience has shown to be of a dangerous tendency. These remedies are in harmony with the vital principle, and when given according to the directions which accompany each article, they are capable of exciting and increasing the natural functions, without diminishing or destroying their power, hence are safe in the hands of every one.

TRIUMPHANT SUCCESS OF
Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life,
THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and Consumption.

THE most celebrated and infallible remedy for Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and every form of Pulmonary Consumption, is the HUNGARIAN BALSAM OF LIFE, discovered by that eminent medical chemist, Dr. Buchan, of London, England, and extensively known as the "Great Eastern Remedy."

It has been tested for upwards of seven years in Great Britain and on the continent of Europe where it is universally considered the great, and only remedy for this so fatal malady, and now introduced to the public under the immediate superintendence of the inventor. Within three years it has been distributed from Maine to Florida, and from Canada to Wisconsin, and its effects are every where alike astonishing and triumphant.

As a preventive medicine, and an antidote to the consumptive tendencies of the climate, it is invaluable. As a remedy for severe and obstinate coughs, Inflammation of the Lungs, croup, &c. it is unrivalled. But the Proprietor is so confident of the merit of this great remedy, in the worst forms of consumption, that he prefers to have it used by the DYING INVALID, rather than by persons afflicted with some simple and less dangerous disorder of the throat and lungs;—this may seem strong language, but it is the result of experience in thousands of cases, sustained by the most intelligent and unimpeachable testimony. It is not pronounced an infallible remedy in all cases, but it is the most INFALLIBLE remedy known to the civilized world. It is the preventive of hereditary consumption—it is the best defender against the influences of climate—it is the best remedy for incipient consumption—and it is the great and only remedy for that painful softening in the lungs—inflammation of the membrane, and tuberculous decay, which are the last effects of that erroneously supposed to be beyond the reach of medical aid;—the agent or proprietors of other and further beyond the reach of hope.

Such is not the case with the Hungarian Balsam It is always salutary in its effects—never injurious It is not an opiate—it is not a tonic—it is not a mere expectorant. It is not intended to lull the invalid into a fatal security. It is a great remedy, a grand healing and curative compound; the great and only remedy which medical science and skill has yet produced for the treatment of this hitherto unconquerable malady. It is in fact the best remedy in the world!

[From the John Bull, newspaper, London.]

There is certainly some mysterious and occult virtue in the famous "Hungarian Balsam of Life" which the medical faculty are unable to discover or Dr. Buchan would not be permitted for so many years to enjoy the magnificent monopoly of the treatment and cure of Consumption in Great Britain. No satisfactory analysis of this famous compound has ever, to our knowledge, been offered to the public.
