STEWART'S SOLILOQUIES

MAMMOTH PROCESSION.

One of the herd of white elephants of the city to pass in review on Thursday. The press gives no warning note, therefore let me, brethren in affliction, for fear its weight might crush us, invite you to join together and stay the monster's parade at the ballot box with a No! No!

Another $350,000. The corner of Yonge and Gould streets cannot stand STEWART.

Ye men of note what would ye that we do? Ally ourselves to a people who, till brought to book but yesterday, maintained a piratical condition of affairs in the North Pacific seas—who boast of the retention of the moneys of a friendly power, obtained through the over-required fraudulent claims of the Alabama—who on the floor of their Legislative House have made the spoliation of our fisheries their determined purpose, who yearly, apparently unknown to Canada, steal of our natural wealth off the coast of Labrador and Hudson Bay by the shiploads: No! No! No!

Until possessed of common honesty and accept as their own the lesson the unsanctified Heathen Chinee taught the other day in a case analogous to the above: The curse of Ishmael be on those that would advocate such an unholy affiliation. Crystalized Canadian sentiment given vent from the corner of Yonge and Gould streets. STEWART.

Chamberlain, be not alarmed at the bogie of retaliation, for Canada with Britain's help is ready to return the compliment. Retaliation—the Yankees' way of giving a stab in the back to its neighbor, and a slap on the face of the Lion at one and the same time is how their recent action is viewed from the cor. of Yonge and Gould streets. STEWART.

Mum is the word on all the acts of courtesy and support given by British sons and plenipotentiaries to the American citizen, whereby the prestige and status of the Republic has been established and maintained before the Courts of the potentates of Europe and Asia. The mouth must be shut and only silent acknowledgment rendered for the manifold acts of protection and manifold acts of relief afforded the American citizen in a general way in every part in the world. And where the war ships of Great Britain have come specially to the relief of our blood relations an oblivious screen must be hung, when they in their perfidy chose to do the dastard's act. But with all blood is thicker than water at the cor. of Yonge and Gould streets. STEWART.

Let me give a douse to Goldwin Smith's racial hallucination, and an eye opener to Erastus Wiman's mammon vision. Our Canadian Pacific Railway points the line along which the car of Empire is destined to roll. The northern crown of this small earth sphere of ours is to be enveloped about with the green bay laurel of British liberty. The connecting link between east and west is Canada. She is thereby brought into direct contact with a filial and cordial relationship of 300,000,000 people. There's the consummation that dwarfs to insignificance any hope that she might indulge in her dealings with the acquisitive and tricky Yankees of only 60,000,000. Nothing small in the national ideal at the cor. of Yonge and Gould streets.

STEWART.
