On Wall-Street.

To-day's relapse in prices was quite vigorously contested by some powerful interest still long of stock, or which had fixed on a considerably higher price level as desirable to unload old holdings by speculative pools. But the reaction was too closely in accord with skilled opinion and observation to be opposed with hearty conviction. The real question this morning was not whether or not prices would decline, but how far the decline would extend. The question still remained undecided when the market closed with speculative liquidation still in force, and prices on the down grade, except where professional room shorts were taking hasty profits by covering their contracts. As a result of the day's trading, prices in a number of prominent industrials, including Sugar, T.C.I., A.S.W., and People's Gas, suffered declines of from 3 to 4 points, and Metropolitan Street Railway lost 4%. A still larger list of industrials fell between 2 and 3 points, and in the railroad list not a few losses reached between 1 and 2 points. Professional bear speculators who have been alertly looking for the moment of reaction ever since last Wednesday, found that the free selling to-day for the first time was not effectually absorbed. Their efforts were redoubled, and when prices began to make wide declines, stop loss orders were dislodged. The bears were in a reckless mood, and were quick to take profits, causing frequent rallies as they covered their short contracts. While some outside demand continued during the day, it was at no time resumed in force. The resumption of selling for London account dissipated the hope of an enormous short demand for that account to be covered. If London is still short in the New York market, it is on contracts due at some future settlement, and the continued selling from there indicates an unchanged conviction that a reaction in prices will intervene here before that time. The expectation of another large war loan, to be floated in London, depressed that market, and was a direct influence in New York as well. It emphasized the opposition antagonistic to the flotation of a further German government issue also. It is not to be supposed that, with the huge indebtedness of the foreign money markets to the United States, the foreign Government authorities can hope to successfully float these loans without assistance from American money markets, and experts believe that an outward movement of gold from New York would probably be necessary. The money which is used for speculative purposes in the stock market is money for which no more substantial demand exists, and it is invariably the rule that when any advantageous opportunity is offered for fixed investment of capital, speculative borrowers are called upon to repay their credits. With these prospects in the future, call money in New York advanced to 6 per cent. to-day, notwithstanding the considerable speculative liquidation. An active demand sprang up for short time loans, which forced the rate up for 60 and 90-day money to 5 per cent. The tone of the money market was, in fact, a deceptive influence on the day's speculation, and it was not without significance that sterling exchange was firm, in spite of higher money rate.

Business in bonds was on a large scale, and there was free profit-taking in some of the speculative issues, while others advanced strongly. Total sales par value, $4,770,000.

All United States bonds declined ¼ per cent., on the last call, except the new fours, which advanced ¼ per cent.

J. J. Dixon has the following this evening from Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., New York:

London traded both ways to-day, but the preponderance of the business was on the selling side, the balance being estimated at about 25,000 shares. The market here developed considerable irregularity at the opening, and was reactionary all day, with a few slight rallies. After the first two hours it became very dull, and then was again quickened by the advance in coal stocks. In the last hour the tone again became heavy. The liquidation of the past few days, and the diminution of the short interest were reflected in the course of to-day's market, and these considerations encouraged the bear traders to sell for a turn on the short side. The important news of the day was the announcement of control of the Pacific Mail by the Southern Pacific Company, and the plan for financing its purchase. The failure of a brokerage house had no effect, and no contracts were closed openly on the account of that firm. This is the firm to which we alluded some time ago, as reported to have suffered thru defalcation or misuse of funds by someone connected with them. The close was quiet at general recessions, Sterling $4.84½.

A Magic Pill—Dyspepsia is a foe with which men are constantly grappling, but cannot exterminate. Subdued, and to all appearances vanquished in one, it makes its appearance in another direction, in many the digestive apparatus is as delicate as the mechanism of a watch or scientific instrument, in which even a breath of air will make a variation. With such persons disorders of the stomach cause much suffering. To these Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are recommended as mild and sure. ed
