STANDS SOLID FOR HOME AND EMPIRE

decided to establish similar relations in the empire to those that existed between the different states of the union. A proposition of this kind demanded time, thought and statesmanship. Patriotism in Canada meant neither Grit nor Tory in any question affecting the life of the empire. If they joined the United States they would assist in paying taxes for the policing of the seas, but in Canada, they had never paid a cent for the protection or conservation of the empire. "THE PENURIOUSNESS ON THE PART OF CANADA IN THE PAST FILLS ME WITH SHAME," said the speaker, and the sentiment was evidently shared by all of his hearers. He believed with Mr. Borden that they should not pay any fixed sum annually, but they must face the question. CANADA MUST EITHER JOIN THE EMPIRE OR DECLARE HER INDEPENDENCE SOON. The government and the opposition were watching each other in an endeavor to gain a party advantage, but they should try to convince them that the question was above partyism.

C. B. Watts said that emigrants would quickly see that the admission of the products of his farm free of duty from Canada would give him an immense advantage over the residents of the United States, and the tide of emigration would quickly be turned to this country.

Other Scheme Favored.

R. C. Steele followed and spoke on how the scheme would affect Canada. Free trade within the empire would be impossible, as Canada could not thereby raise a revenue. He suggested that the government should be asked to put a duty of 40 per cent. on the imports of foreign countries, and 20 per cent. for the colonies, a proposition that met with much favor. Mr. Steele said that when the matter of Canada giving no support to the maintenance of the empire was mentioned, it touched him on the raw, for they had done nothing. He then advocated the construction by Canada of a fast line of steamers that could be converted into cruisers.

E. B. Osler, M.P., admitted the justice of the charge against the political parties. Both sides in the House, however, were almost entirely in favor of Mr. Chamberlain's scheme, but it had been deemed not advisable to present a resolution in the House unless it was assured of the unanimous approval of the members on both sides. Personally, he believed Mr. Chamberlain had struck the note required to give the needed impetus to the unification of the empire.

Send Clear Note.

Col. Denison was the last speaker, and strongly favored the policy of Mr. Chamberlain, in which Canada had been the pioneer. It was necessary that they should send out an absolutely clear note, for the people were taking advantage of every little quibble and endeavoring to create the impression that the manufacturers of Canada were opposed to the policy of fiscal reform.

The president read a letter from Stapleton Caldecott, regretting his absence and trusting that no industry would prevent the accepting of the great chance there was now offered of obtaining what was needed by Canada—population and a market for their produce.

The resolution was adopted by a standing vote of the entire assembly, and the hearty singing of the National Anthem closed a most successful and portentous meeting.

Secretary Morley, at the conclusion of the meeting, dispatched a cable to Mr. Chamberlain, containing the resolution and an assurance of its hearty endorsation by the Toronto Board of Trade.

$52,000 WILL BE SPENT.

A total of $52,938.

Misses Howson and Pinsent were received to train for the foreign mission work and Miss Bueler was sent as nurse to the hospital on the Upper Skiena. An assistant will be sent to Mr. and Mrs. Tait of the Indian Mission at Cowichan, Vancouver Island. The afternoon was taken up with the election of officers, which resulted in a reappointment of last year's staff. The next meeting of the board will take place at Napanee in 1904.

FUGITIVE ARRAIGNED.

Armenian Krikorian Not Yet Charged With Sagouni Murder.

Boston, Oct. 30.—Peter Krikorian was arraigned before Commissioner Fiske to-day, charged with being a fugitive from justice from England. When the warrant was read the defendant pleaded not guilty. He was held without bail for a further hearing next Monday. There is no specific charge declaring him to be connected with the Sagouni murder. C. A. P. Talbot, the British consul at Boston, stated that he had telegraphed to the British embassy at Washington for instructions in the case.

Peter Kureghian, editor of Young Armenian, and Peter Kazaromaj of Boston to-day volunteered information that Krikorian is head of a London Central Committee of Armenians, and Kureghian claimed also, according to the police, that Krikorian ordered the murder of Kureghian and attempted personally to assassinate him several months ago, when the latter was editing a paper in London.

It is held with the object of combining the marching and firing abilities of the soldiers under actual service conditions. About 30 teams will be entered, six or more each from the Grenadiers, the Highlanders and Queen's Own, and from the Body Guard, Light Horse, Army Corps, Army Service Corps, Field Battery, 13th of Hamilton and several other outside towns. There has been considerable speculation on the result, with H Company of the Queen's Own Rifles, last year's champions, picked to win again, unless some dark horse team looms up from out of town.

HE WAS LAID UP ALL WINTER

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Back and Put Him to Work.

Angus McDonald Strained His Back at the Coal Pits—Doctors Called it Acute Rheumatism — Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Indian Brook, Victoria Co., N.S., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Angus D. McDonald, son of the postmaster here, is among the many who thank Dodd's Kidney Pills that they are able to do and enjoy a good day's work.

Young McDonald strained his back at the coal pits and was brought home in an agony of pain. A doctor who was brought twenty-five miles to attend him declared his trouble was acute Rheumatism. From October till the following spring he was laid up completely and couldn't do a hand's turn. Then he decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills.

After he had taken one box he was called on business to Cape North and remained away till August. On his return the first question he was asked was "Angus, how is your back?" "As well as ever," he replied. "What cured it?" "Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Postmaster McDonald, the young man's father, states positively that these are the actual facts of the case, and that his son owes his recovery to Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else.
