Poetry.

HERE AND THERE.

"Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him."—(I Cor. ii. 9.)

When no human eye hath seen,
When no mortal ear hath heard,
When no thought hath ever been
In his noblest flights conferred—
This hath God prepared in store
For his people evermore.

When the shaded pilgrim-land
Fades before my closing eye,
Then revealed on either hand
Heaven's own scenery shall lie;
Then the veil of flesh shall fall,
Now concealing, darkening all

Heavenly landscape calmly bright,
Life's pure river murmuring low,
Forms of loveliness and light
Lost to earth long time ago;—
Yes, my own, lamented long,
Shine amid the angel throng!

Many a joyful sight was given,
Many a lovely vision here,
Hill and vale, and starry even,
Friendship's smile, affliction's tear.—
These were shadows, sent in love,
Of realities above.

When upon my wearied ear
Earth's last echoes faintly die,
Then shall angels harps draw near,
All the chorus of the sky,—
Long hushed voices blend again
Sweetly in that welcome strain.

Here were sweet and varied tones—
Bird, and breeze, and fountain's fall;
Yet creation's travail groans
Ever sadly sighed through all;
There no discord jars the air—
Harmony is perfect there!

When this aching heart shall rest,
All its busy pulses o'er,
From her mortal robes undrest,
Shall my spirit upwards soar—
Then shall pure unmingled joy
All my thoughts and powers employ.

Here devotion's healing balm
Often came to soothe my breast,—
Hours of deep and holy calm,
Earnests of eternal rest;
But the bliss was here unknown
Which shall there be all my own.

Jesus reigns, the Life, the Sun,
Of that wonderous land above,—
All the clouds and storms are gone,
All is light and all is love,
All the shadows melt away
In the blaze of perfect day

TERRIBLE SCENE AT A BALL.—At Madrid, a few nights back, a lady gave a ball, and among the guests were a M. R—— and Mdlle. B. It was observed that the young man constantly kept close to the young lady, and followed her when she went from one part of the room to the other. It was also noticed that she seemed greatly annoyed by his attentions. The mother of the young lady wished to interfere, but the mistress of the house anxious to avoid an unpleasant scene, prevented her. At a late hour a lady of high rank and her daughter were announced and the whole party rose to receive them. M. R——, taking advantage of the slight confusion which was created seized Mdlle. B—— by the hand, and whispered something in her ear. She turned pale, then blushed, and replied in a low voice. Thereupon the young man, without saying a word, pulled a poignard from his pocket and stabbed the young lady in the breast, and then stabbed himself near the heart. Both fell bathed in blood. A surgeon was immediately sent for, and on his arrival he found that the wound of the young lady was not mortal, as the poignard struck the sternum, but the young man was quiet dead, it is said that M. R—— had long sought Mdlle. B—— in marriage, but that she had refused to accept him, and that meeting her at the ball he again pressed her to accept his addresses, but that she again peremptorily refused.—Liverpool Times.

GALLANT EXPLOIT OF ADMIRAL BRUAT.—The Journal du Loiret contains a letter from the Crimea, which says:—"Admiral Bruat's daring is proverbial in the fleet. In spite of the fits of gout with which this officer is so frequently attacked, or perhaps on account of that affliction he sometimes has the idea of such audacious attempts as are more to be expected from a young lieutenant who has his promotion to gain than from an admiral. Lately, after a severe attack of gout, the admiral called some of his officers into his cabin, and said, 'Gentlemen, a good idea has just occurred to me—it is to go quietly in, and ourselves visit the channel of Sebastopol. We shall so be able to judge for ourselves what its situation really is.' The proposition was joyfully accepted, and in the middle of the night several of the boats of the Charlemagne put off and entered the channel. The boats went through every part of it, and the admiral touched with his own hand the chain that closes the entrance of the military port. Everything was managed so cleverly on the part of the admiral's party that not a single Russian sentinel was aware of their approach. But day began to break while the boats was still far down in the harbor and the alarm was immediately given. A terrible fire was then opened all along the fortifications of the channel, and it was under a fearful shower of projectiles of every description that the boats made their way out. Fortunately, not a man was wounded, though the longboat of the Charlemagne was somewhat damaged by the enemy's shot. This bold attempt, so successfully executed, has since been the principal subject of conversation and praise in the fleet."

Lady.—Going to leave?

Female Help.—Yes, mum; I find I am werry discontented.

Lady.—If there is anything I can do to make you more comfortable, let me know.

Help.—No! Missus, it's impossible. You can't alter your figgor to my figgor no more'n I can. Your dresses won't fit me, and I can't appear on Sunday as I use I to could at my last place, where missus' clothes fitted 'xactly.—Then there's Tummus is werry much disapointed, can's go to the wake to night, all on account of masters goin and wearin the werry suit I had picked out for my Tummus. You see, after so many inconveniences, it would be utterly impossible for us to reside in the same house.

Exit female help. Missus feel decidedly flattered to think there is a slight difference in their figgers, not only for personal appearance sake, but for protection of wardrobe.

TIT FOR TAT.—About two years ago a lady and gentleman residing near Newburyport, were engaged to be married, but when the time for the union arrived, the fair one proved false and refused to fulfil her part of the obligations. Afterwards they met in Newburyport, and again engaged themselves. Last Sunday they attended church to have the marriage ceremony performed, and when all was ready the man quietly remarking to the lady—"once before, I wanted to get married and you asked me, and now you want to get married and I do the same"—left the house, to the no small amazement of all parties, and the great disappointment of the spectators present, to say nothing of the lady.—Portland Transcript.

ARGUMENTS AGAINST PAIDE.—Remember what thou wert before thy birth. Nothing. What thou wert for many years after.—Weakness. What in all thy life.—A great sinner. What in all thy excellencies.—A mere debtor to God, to thy parents, to the earth, to all the creature. Upon these or the like meditations, if we dwell, and frequently retire to them, we shall see nothing more reasonable than to be humble, nothing more foolish than to be proud.—Jeremy Taylor.

COMPLIMENT TO OUR GENERALS.—The Turks will have it, that the soldiers' wives in our camps belong to the harems of our generals, and affirm we are going to retain possession of the country, as our house-holds have come along with us. Our washerwomen, who may be found in every shady nook and alley around the camp, with extempore boilers fixed into the green banks, are always the focus of arabs drivers, who seem to think them hatches engaged in some unholy mystery.

The far-famed Medicine.
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

SURPRISING CURE OF A CONFIRMED ASTHMA, AFTER FIVE YEARS' SUFFERING.

The following Testimonial has been sent to Professor Holloway, by a Gentleman named Middleton of Scotland Road, Liverpool.

SIR,—Your Pills have been the means, under Providence, of restoring me to sound health after five years of severe affliction. During the whole of that period, I suffered the most dreadful attacks of Asthma, frequently of several weeks' duration, attended with a violent cough, and continual spitting of phlegm intermixed with blood. This so shook my constitution that I was unfitted for any of the active duties of life. I was attended by some of the most eminent medical men of this town, but they failed to give me the slightest relief. As a last remedy I tried your Pills, and in about three months they effected a perfect cure of the disease, totally eradicated the cough, and restored tone and vigour to the chest and digestive organs.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant.

Jan'y. 1st, 1853. (Signed) H. MIDDLETON.

PERMANENT CURE OF A DISEASED LIVER OF MANY YEARS' DURATION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Gamis, Chemist, Yeovil, to Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—In this district your Pills command a more extensive sale than any other proprietary medicine before the public. As a proof of their efficacy in Liver and Bilious complaints, I may mention the following case. A lady of this town with whom I am personally acquainted, for years was a severe sufferer from disease of the Liver and digestive organs, her medical attendant assures her that he could do nothing to relieve her sufferings, and it was not likely she could survive many months. This announcement naturally caused great alarm among her friends and relations, and they induced her to make a trial of your Pills, which so improved her general health that she was induced to continue them until she received a perfect cure. This is twelve months ago, and she has not experienced any symptoms of relapse, and often declares that your Pills have been the means of saving her life. I remain, Dear Sir, yours truly,

Nov. 23, 1852. (Signed,) J. GAMIS.

AN ASTONISHING CURE OF CHRONIC RHEUMATISM AFTER BEING DISCHARGED FROM THE HOSPITAL INCURABLE.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. W. Moon, of the Square, Winchester.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I beg to inform you that for years I was a sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism, and was often laid up for weeks together by its severe and painful attacks. I tried everything that was recommended, and was attended by one of the most eminent Surgeons in this town, but obtained no relief whatever, and fearing that my health would be entirely broken up, I was induced to go into our County Hospital, where I had the best medical treatment the Institution afforded, all of which proved of no avail, and I came out no better than I went in. I was then advised to try your Pills, and by persevering with them was perfectly cured, and enabled to resume my occupation, and although a considerable period has elapsed since, I have felt no return whatever of the complaint.

I am, Sir, your obliged servant,

Oct. 8th, 1852. (Signed) W. MOON.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF DROPSY, AFTER SUFFERING FOR EIGHTEEN MONTHS.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. G. Briggs, Chemist, Goole, dated February 15th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I have much pleasure in informing you of a most surprising cure of Dropsy, recently effected by your valuable medicines. Captain JACKSON, of this place was afflicted with Dropsy for upwards of eighteen months, to such an extent that it caused his body and limbs to be much swollen, and water oozed as it were from his skin, so that a daily change of apparel became necessary, notwithstanding the various remedies tried, and the different medical men consulted, all was of no avail, until he commenced using your Pills, by which, and a strict attention to the printed directions he was effectually cured, and his health perfectly re-established. If you deem this worthy of publicity, you are at liberty to use it.

I am, Sir, yours respectfully,

(Signed) G. BRIGGS.

LIFE BRANCH.

In addition to the more customary methods of Insurance, the Company likewise Assures Live on any of the following contingencies:—

The important advantages afforded by the Company in the Life Branch will include the following viz:—

The Guarantee of an ample Capital, and Exemption of the Assured from liability of Partnership.

Moderate Premiums.

Large Participation of Profits by the Assured amounting to Two-thirds of its net amount, which may be applied at the option of the party effecting the Assurance:—1st. By the immediate payment of the sum so apportioned.—2nd. By an equivalent reduction of the future Premiums.—Or, 3rd. By an equivalent increase of the sum assured.

Small Charge for Management.—The expenses of the Office being borne in due proportion by the two Branches.

Prompt Settlement of Claims.

The Company will always be prepared to Purchase the Policies of this Office at their equitable value or will grant a New Policy in lieu thereof without any further payment of Premium, for a sum to be agreed on.

Extra Premiums, suitable to special circumstances, will be accepted to enable a party possessing a Policy on the life of another to guard against the possibility of its being vitiated by the Life departing beyond limits, or by any other cause.

Thirty Days are allowed for the Payment of Premiums after the day on which they respectively fall due.

Additional Advantages offered to Lives Assured with this Company at St. John, N. B.
