NEW RAILROAD CENTRE

C. P. R. Decides to Make Allison Divisional Centre for Similkameen.

It is doubtful indeed if any characteristic of the West more impresses itself upon studious observers than the rapidity with which cities are born, sometimes in a twinkling, and then in a moment are forgotten.

It appears that at the time the Canadian Pacific Railway officials were engaged in acquiring control of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway and land grant from Mr. Dunsmuir, they had in mind the purchase of the Similkameen valley from the townsite proprietors of Allison.

Mr. Allison, who has been in the West for some years, and has always predicted that the great railway centre of the West of Canada, Allison will bear attention—one may count upon watching it grow.

Mr. Allison is most beautifully situated on a flat which widens out above the canyon and lies between the canyon and the One-Mile creek, up which creek the railway line will run.
