THIRD OPERATION PREVENTED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill. — "I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I was so sick that two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation. I had already had two operations, and they wanted me to go through a third one. I suffered day and night from inflammation and a small tumor, and never thought of seeing a well day again. A friend told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her, and I tried it, and after the third bottle was cured."—Mrs. ALVENA SPERLING, 11 Langdon Street, Chicago, Ill.

If you are ill do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until an operation is necessary, but build up the feminine system, and remove the cause of those distressing aches and pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

BUTTER-NUT

DRESSMAKING--No. 5

No. 5.

This is the fifth article in the series on "How to Replenish Your Wardrobe for $25."

By Cynthia Grey.

The structural lines of clothes this season are so simple that the question of altering last year's need not cause you any anxiety. First of all in favor of the old clothes, the shabby ones, is the combination of different kinds of material in the construction of gowns and suits. Then the fact that color combinations are among the newest fashions also gives you a chance to make successful alterations. Yet another economical advantage is the fact that you can veil one material with another.

No. 1. No. 2. No. 3. No. 4.

Let us first talk of coats. You can wear last year's with very few changes. Add a pretty vest if you have increased in bust measure. To shorten a coat is another way to change its style. Should you have laid by for a longer time than last year, say two years ago, an Eton coat with a plaited skirt, you might make it over into a Russian blouse suit or dress. Recut the skirt of plainer pattern—the scantier styles of today permit it—and use material left over for the tail of the blouse or skirt section of the coat. Russian blouses are extremely good looking—and as a rule, becoming.

Get a pattern of the style you have decided on for your old garment and don't handle it more than necessary—that is not to draw it out of shape, and use a sharp scissors carefully. Then steam thoroughly where stitches have appeared, and press out plaits on the wrong side. Recut garment, and make as directed on envelope of your new pattern.

To change the high closing stiff regulation notch collar, correct it and replace by a rolling collar and lapels, or even the new large sailor collar (see illustration). You can fasten it directly over the collar and lapels if it happens to be a soft rolling kind.

If the coat sleeve is shabby, finish with a cuff. Do not place it directly on wrist line, but have it reach midway between wrist and elbow. You can make it separately, and slipstitch it over the top of sleeve.

To make the skirt more attractive, if it is a plaited one, place a wide band around the skirt five inches from the ground. This makes the skirt slimmer in appearance, without detracting from its actual width.

If you have a lingerie dress, don't think of discarding it. Veil it with chiffon voile. It will give you another party frock.

A pretty lingerie blouse which has been much worn may be freshened by adding an overblouse of some sheer material (see illustration). They are prettiest when the color of the chiffon matches the cloth of the skirt. You can get a pattern at your agency, to cut this blouse by. Size 36 requires two yards of 36-inch material.

An old suit may be freshened up by relining it. You will require 3 1-2 yards of 36-inch materials to do this. Rip out one-half of the jacket lining for a pattern. Cut a complete lining by doubling your material. Guide yourself by the half lining still attached to jacket. Sew the lining together, leaving the underarm seams open, from the old lining, and attach at the top and bottom, finishing the armhole first. Be sure to have the lining larger than the sleeves, so as to give plenty of room at the elbow.

If your dress is made of a plaid material, add a band in a plain color which harmonizes, and it will look like new. Sew the band to the lower part of the skirt. Add cuffs to the sleeves and finish fronts with a frill. You can also get a plain yoke of a new material in the waist. Cut this in one piece without a seam on the shoulder, extending it a little low down over the arms, to give the long flat shoulder line which is seen in new clothes (see illustration). This serves a double purpose. It will freshen the waist if worn around the neck, and allow it to be lengthened if it has become short-waisted. If you are growing girls, this is an excellent alteration for you.

If your serge skirt of last year has a shine on it, and is not worn out, place the skirt on a board and rub the shiny places with fine sandpaper, not too hard, but just enough to rub up the nap. After pressing, the skirt will look as good as new.

If you have a circular cape for evening wear which you have been using this summer, and would like to continue wearing during the winter, take in the greater part of the fullness at the underarm and make a seam. Add sleeves and revers of satin if you care to, capping them with the material, or match your cloth (see illustration). Add buttons. Make them of ball molds and cover with the same material as revers and sleeves.

The sixth and last article of this series, to be published tomorrow, will show you exactly how to make a fashionable winter hat, with three models to pick from.

NEW COMEDY FOR MRS. FISKE

Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske.

New York, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Grey Fiske, who have ever followed the dictates of truth and beauty, even against the advice of their box office interests, are preparing what they believe will be their greatest success, for presentation in Chicago.

It is a scintillating four-act comedy by Harry [illegible] Smith, a Harvard man, as was Edward Sheldon who gave Mrs. Kiske Salvation Nell. It is his first play, and the name is not yet announced. He has written several stories, one of them being Enchanted Ground.

The part taken by America's leading actress is that of a woman from a little town in Indiana who had a prosaic and unromantic girlhood, and decides to pose in metropolitan society as a high-bred Englishwoman. When she is on parade socially, she speaks with an ultra-English accent and apes the English in all possible ways. At home when she is instructing her mother and sisters on how to climb socially, she slumps into her old self. The dual character affords delicious comedy, it is said. This frivolous character is difficult to handle and will require Mrs. Fiske's greatest skill.

THEATRE FOR CHILD ACTORS

ELSIE CRAVEN,
London's Favorite Child Actress.

London, Oct. 29—A "children's theatre" will be opened in London next month, in which all of the performers will be under 14 years old. One of the large theatres will be used. Only afternoon performances will be given, so that the little tots who perform or see the plays will not have to stay up late.

"The plays will contain only situations in which children might naturally find themselves. The love element will never be much developed, for instance," said Miss Lila Field, who will present the plays.

"Since they will thoroughly understand the situations, the children will be able to play these perfectly naturally; the children in the audience will be in sympathy, and grownup people looking on will find their interest in noticing the working of a child's mind and a child's point of view."

The Goldfish will be the first play given.

Among the patrons are the Princess Dolgourouki, Princess Hatzfeldt, the Duchess of Norfolk, the Duchess of Marlborough, and the Marquis de Soveral.

WHEN AILING ASK YOUR NEIGHBORS

That's How Magnus Johnson Got Relief From Kidney Troubles

They told him to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.—He did and his Backache and other sickness Speedily vanished.

Lac La Nonne, Alta., Oct. 31.—(Special.)—If you have Kidney trouble of any kind, form Backache to Bright's Disease, and don't know how to cure it, ask your neighbors. They'll tell you to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Such is the experience of Magnus Johnson, a well-known farmer residing near here. In an interview Mr. Johnson says:

"In the year 1907 I took a pain in my back, due to a strain and hard work. I kept getting worse. In the [illegible] 1908 I was unable to do any hard work, though, and to suffer a great deal. I did [illegible] to do, and told one of my neighbors. He handed me a Dodd's Almanac. After reading it I concluded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after using five boxes I feel fine and able to do any kind of hard work. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Kidneys, and I cannot praise them too much."

You don't experiment when you use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have cured the Kidney ills of thousands of people all over Canada. If you have Kidney Disease in any form they will cure you.

DROWNED WHILE DUCK SHOOTING

Three Residents Of Pembroke, Ont., Met Death In Shallow Lake On Saturday When Canoe Upset.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 30—Word was received here today of the drowning of three well known residents of Pembroke, Harry Irwin, druggist; Emmett Duff, clerk, and H. B. Christman, an auctioneer. They were on a duck shooting trip in Mud Lake and on Saturday their overturned canoe was found by a farmer. Later on the three bodies were found in shallow water. Apparently the canoe capsized and the occupants could not reach land owing to the deep mud. All were married men.
