CANSO FISHERMEN DEMAND HIGHER PRICES FROM BUYERS

Threatened Strike Averted by Compromise and Agreement With the Latter.

Halifax, Sept. 29.—The fishermen of Canso and district threatened to strike for higher prices from the buyers, but indications today are that it will be settled by compromise and agreement with the latter. A conference was held today and the committee from the fishermen will report the result to a general meeting. The fishermen allege that in view of the great increase in the cost of gear, etc., that present prices are practically the same as in pre-war times, and, besides, the dealers control the supplies of bait. Unless the prices are advanced, the fishermen say they will salt their catches instead of selling fresh their landings.

1,500 SOLDIERS IN NEW BRUNSWICK WITHOUT WORK

Re-Training and Employment of Former Members of Canadian Forces Problems Before Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—Retraining and employment of former members of the Canadian forces were the problems before the special committee on bill number ten, on soldiers' civil re-establishment today. The committee held three sessions and the employment question held attention most of the day.

Private employment bureaus and other organizations which divert a certain amount of labor from the existing government bureaus make conditions much harder to handle, Bryce L. Stewart, of the employment branch of the federal department of labor stated. He outlined the conditions in the various provinces and said that on the whole, the prospects for this winter in regard to employment were such that in a normal year they would not cause any anxiety. There is, however, an apparent uneasiness in every mind and this would cause people to feel somewhat more anxious than usual.

The committee was also told that there are over 30,000 returned soldiers in the Dominion who are at present unemployed. These figures were supplied by Major L. L. Anthes, director of the Information and Service Branch, D. S. C. R. Major Anthes gave the figures by provinces as follows:

Ontario, 12,090; Manitoba, 4,151; Nova Scotia, 4,025; British Columbia, 3,860; Quebec, 3,244; New Brunswick, 1,500; Saskatchewan, 568; Alberta, 450; P. E. I., 450.

Mr. F. G. Robertson, deputy minister of employment of soldiers' re-establishing, said that without retaining facilities many of the disabled veterans would have been thrown on charity

More than 69,000 men were given placements by the Information and Service Branch, and almost 375,000 men were given information since the armistice.

Moncton, Sept. 29.—The municipal elections in Albert county take place October 7th, but it is understood that with two exceptions, the parishes of Coverdale and Elgin, the old councillors will be returned by acclamation. There is a lively contest on in Coverdale where Louis Smith (old councillor) and John W. Gaskin (new) are being opposed by S. S. Ryan (old councillor) and Dave Colpitts. Goddard and Frank Bishop, have opposition.

Day of Atonement Will Commence Friday Sundown

Most Solemn Service in the Yiddish Ritual Known as Yom Kippur Will be Conducted by Rabbi Doctor Blumberg.

Friday evening next at sun down, is the date set for the Yom Kippur, or Jewish day of Atonement, and under the direction of Rabbi Dr. Blumberg and his assistants this, the most solemn service in the Yiddish ritual, will be conducted with all due ceremony at both local synagogues.

Starting at six o'clock the service will continue with slight intervals of rest, until Saturday at sun-down. During that time the worshippers refrain from taking food and are obliged to remain in the tabernacle until the conclusion of the services.

From six o'clock Friday the services will continue until nine o'clock the ritual and address being spoken in Yiddish. The services Saturday start at 6.30 in the morning and continue until noon; from mid-day to five o'clock in the afternoon the services will be rendered in the English language and from five o'clock until sun-down, the close of the service, given in Yiddish. At the close of the evening service Saturday the solemn sounding of the Shofar, or ram's horn, will announce to the assembled worshippers that the Day of Atonement has passed.

A special service the evening before ushers in the solemn occasion, which service is known as the "Kol Nidre" (All Vows), so called from the opening words of the introductory prayer. This introductory prayer is noteworthy, among other things, for the profoundly beautiful melody to which it is traditionally chanted. Arranged for modern instrumentation, the Kol Nidre melody now finds place on various symphony programms.

The Day of Atonement itself is the great White Fast, the culmination of the penitential days inaugurated by the Jewish New Year. The Bible in several passages designates it as the Sabbath of Sabbaths. In ancient days its observance was characterized by elaborate priestly ceremonial and sacrificial rite, as described in detail in Leviticus XVI. All this pomp of ritual disappeared with the downfall of thes Temple at Jerusalem. But the loss of priesthood and altar did not affect the vital significance of Yom Kippur as such, which still remains the supreme day in the religious calendar of the Jew.

Its primary purpose as the name "Day of Atonement" implies is to effect an at-one-ment in the ethical and spiritual life of the individual and the community; to restore, i. e., the sense of harmony between man and his fellows, between man and his own higher self, between man and God, wherever and however that harmony has been broken by sin. All the austere ceremonials of the day, the prayers and fasting from eventide to eventide are meant to work on the conscience, the heart, and the soul, and bring them to the mood of genuine contrition for the evil of the past and the yearning desire for amendment in the future. Coupled with the call to "repentance" is the comforting assurance that God's tender mercy and pardon will be vouchsafed to those who are truly penitent. No mediator is necessary, no vicarious sacrifice. The only requirement for forgiveness is the sincere turning from sin and the coming to God in love and following His law in loyalty.

One of the most impressive features of Yom Kippur devotion—continued for the entire day until sunset—is the Memorial service for the dead held usually in the afternoon. The concluding service of the Day of Atonement is called Neilah and the tone of its prayers is holy joy in the consciousness of God's forgiveness and loving favor.

TREATY AND STRIKE BEFORE CONGRESS THE PRESENT WEEK

Washington, Sept. 29.—The German peace treaty and the steel strike remain the engrossing affairs of congress this week. Prospects of a vote before next Saturday on the amendments to the treaty, proposed by Senator Fall, Republican, New Mexico, and providing for elimination of virtually all American representation on international commissions together with President Wilson's return to the capital is expected to bring a head to the vital issues in the treaty contest.

Industrial unrest emphasized by the steel strike will share attention in the senate with the peace treaty. Hearings in the labor committee's investigation of the steel strike will be resumed Wednesday, when Chairman Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, is to give capital's side of the controversy. Later the committee plans to hear William Z. Foster of the strike committee and other witnesses and it would not surprise many observers if efforts to bring about intervention by President Wilson would be made.

While the senate is engaged with the treaty and industrial problems, the house will continue comparatively quiescent, engaged on minor bills. With early agreements by conferees in passage of the three bills—prohibition enforcement, food profiteering and restoring pre-war rate making authority of the interstate commerce commission—it is expected the reports will be adopted and the measures sent to the White House.

In the treaty controversy, the Fall amendments technically have right of way until a final vote. Consideration of the amendments, however, promises to be subordinate in interest to under-service negotiations on the question of reservations. If President Wilson's physical condition permits, several Democratic leaders plan to confer with him early in the week as to a decision on dealings with reservations. Besides the "mild" and "strong" Republican reservations, a program of reservations is to be proposed tomorrow by Senator Smith, Democrat, of Georgia.

Whether President Wilson will continue to fight against all reservations, mild or strong, interpretative or definitive, or will make known a disposition to accept ratification of the treaty with some sort of reservations, may be decided this week, it is believed, in both Democratic and Republican quarters.

A number of speeches will be made on the treaty this week. Senators Borah, Idaho, McLean, Connecticut and Walsh of Massachusetts, Democrats, are known to be planning addresses.

The speeches of Senators Walsh and Jones are awaited with interest for while the latter's position has not been announced, he has been one of the leaders in demanding speed in disposing of the treaty. Republican leaders claim Senator Walsh as an advocate of reservations and feel confident that he will support the Johnson amendment designed to give the United States the same voting strength in the league as Great Britain.

Railroad legislation is to be pressed this week by both senate and house interstate commerce committees. Both have closed hearings on the question of a permanent policy and now are drafting tentative bills. Opinion is general that the senate committee, despite protests of organized labor, will report out the anti-strike provision of the Cummins bill.

City Cornet Band Fair Has Started

St. Andrew's Rink Well Filled With Pleasure Seekers Last Night—Promises to be a Huge Success During Entire Week.

From an early hour last evening until late at night a steady flow of humanity passed through the doors of the St. Andrew's Rink, eager to see the seventh "Round the World Fair" of the City Cornet Band, which is bigger and better this year than it has been before.

The interior of the rink has been transformed into a fairyland for Dame Fortune, with eleven booths, where one may place stakes for anything, from dolls, bears, candy and other necessary adjuncts to such games of chance, to ties, handkerchiefs and similar articles of wearing apparel.

Perhaps the most attractive booth is the one in the centre of the floor where lottery tickets for the various free trips, ranging from a round-the-world tour to a short suburban jaunt, are offered. This booth, which is in charge of a bevy of winsome young ladies, was steadily patronized all through the evening.

Spectacular and original is the booth depicting the Niagara Falls in all its scenic beauty and grandeur. The foreground has been most artistically prepared and the back-drop is a most realistic piece of painting, while the effect of reality is enhanced by the cascade of real water that follows the lines of the reproduced falls.

All the walls and the ceiling are most tastefully decorated with buntings, flags of the Allies and provincial insignia.

Refreshment booths are conveniently arranged, there are bean boards for both ladies and men, for which attractive prizes are awarded each night, and those who have a good eye and a Christy Mathewson arm can get lots of fun from the row of Hun heads that stand ready to be knocked down.

Last night the Juvenile City Cornet Band furnished the music for the occasion, and the loud and repeated applause was ample proof that their programme was well appreciated. To-night the senior organization will preside, and this alternating arrangement will be maintained throughout the fair.

A capable committee, consisting of thoroughly qualified ladies and gentlemen, has charge of the floor and booth arrangements, and, needless to say, the show bids fair to surpass even the great records established by this popular musical organization in previous years.

In the centre of the rink stands the prize-winning float of Christie Bros., which, in the "Joy Day" parade, excited such admiration. "Joy Bells," it will be remembered, was the title. It is beautifully set off with lighting effects and forms a fine centrepiece to the many and varied artistic designs of the booths.

The staffs of the various booths, the ticket sellers for gramaphone lottery, executive, etc., are as follows:

Arund the World Ticket Wheel—Misses Frances Connolly, Winnifred Connolly and Teresa Bowes.

Gramaphone Tickets—Misses Genevieve Cronin, Irene Warner, Lucy Kiervin, Alice Monahan.

Ladies' Candy Wheel—Mrs. Mary Gorman and Miss E. Connolly, conveners; Misses Teresa Bowes, Mary Bowes and Noreen McGondel.

Ladies' Novelty Wheel—Mrs. M. J. Higgins, Misses Beatrice McGuiggan, Evelyn Higgins, Lillian Wallace, Kathleen McCrossen, Zita Higgins and Mary E. O'Leary.

Ladies' Punch Board—Mrs. J. Sullivan, convener; Misses P. Gallant, Margaret Higgins, Josephine McBriarty and H. Lydon.

Ice-cream Booth — Mrs. Thomas Lydon, convener; Mesdames Arthur Gallagher and H. F. Heenan, Misses Mary Coleman, Anna McCarthy, Beatrice Heenan, Alice Casey, Beatrice Lydon and Margaret Lydon.

Gents' Candy Booth—Messrs. Fred Killen, Lawrence Cullinan and Timothy Mahoney.

Percentage Wheel — Messrs. Fred Driscoll and Edward Beck.

The executive committee is Messrs. James Connolly, manager; F. E. Hazel, William Bridgeo, P. M. Higgins, M. J. Higgins and E. W. McBride.

COURT TO END ROMANCE OF TWO MONTREAL YOUTHS

Montreal, Sept. 29—A few weeks ago The Standard published the story of a shattered romance in which the husband was a Montreal youth of fifteen years, who had been summoned before the court on a charge of non-support laid by his nineteen year old wife. On the application of the boy's counsel the case was transferred to the juvenile court and the youthful husband was condemned to pay his wife two dollars a week. In giving this ruling the judge of the juvenile court said that inasmuch as the marriage was not contested, he had no other option than compelling the accused to support his wife according to his means.

The youthful Romeo, who eloped with his Juliet to Quebec where they were married, has had enough of matrimony, for the time being at least, and a sequel to the non-support case has come in the form of a formal petition for the annulment of the marriage filed on behalf of the young husband. As the marriage was solemnized in the Catholic church, the attorney for the lad has filed a petition before the ecclesiastical authorities. Following the judgment which condemned the youthful benedict to pay his wife two dollars a week, his attorney consulted the church authorities and was informed that owing to an amendment to the canon law the minimum age for marriage is now 16 years for males. On receiving this information he entered his application at the archbishop's palace and when a decree of annulment is granted will have to apply to the superior court to have the annulment sanctioned by the civil law.
