YORK COUNTY YOUNG MAN TRIES SUICIDE

Roy H. Lounsbury Slashed Throat With a Knife; Has a Chance to Recover—Stream Driving News.

Fredericton, April 24—Roy H. Lounsbury, who for a couple of years was employed at Gibson and is well known in this city, attempted suicide on Sunday morning by cutting his throat with a small penknife, and his condition is today quite serious.

It appears that on Sunday morning the young man, who was stopping with his father, John Lounsbury, at Upper Caverhill, became insane and rushing into a field near his father's house, slashed at his throat with a penknife which he had in his hand. The young man was carried into the house and Dr. Owens, of Millville, summoned. He rendered surgical aid and while the young man's condition is quite serious he may pull through.

The water in the river is about at a standstill. Some logs, evidently from above Grand Falls, passed the city this morning. There is considerable ice running.

Lumber operators are complaining of the scarcity of water for driving. Aiken's drive is hung up. It consists of a half million. Phillips' drive on Shin Creek is also hung up.

John Kilburn will start tomorrow for Quebec with men to begin stream driving.

Costs in the court trespass case of Kennedy vs. Gorman were fixed this morning at $304.

THREE MORE MEN FOR POLICE FORCE

Tuesday, April 25.

The last meeting of the board of public safety as it is at present constituted was held last evening, Ald. Vanwart presiding. It was decided that the order of council passed at the first of the year, providing for three additional patrolmen, one of them mounted, should go into effect at once. An order was passed to purchase summer helmets for the policemen; repairs were ordered for No. 4 engine house, an order was passed to set aside certain city land in Lancaster for a sewer for the municipality and a number of minor matters dealt with.

Those present, in addition to the chairman, were: Ald. Jones, Scully, Sproul, McLeod and Russell, with the chief of police, director and common clerk.

J. King Kelley, county secretary, was heard with reference to a proposed sewerage system in Lancaster, which would require to go through certain city lands. He asked that the city deed to the county a certain portion of this land, to be used as a public highway. Some of the land was now under lease to Mr. Kirby and he proposed that a portion of land in the rear be deeded to Mr. Kirby in place of that to be taken for the sewer.

A plan of the proposed sewerage system, prepared by G. G. Murdoch, was shown to the board.

Ald. Scully moved that the change be made, as suggested and that the county make a road of the land so taken, so as to make other city land in that vicinity more valuable. This was adopted.

TYPHOID OUTBREAK CAUSES ACADIA SEMINARY TO CLOSE

Wolfville, April 21—On account of an outbreak of typhoid fever in Acadia Seminary the school has been closed until further notice, and all the pupils have gone to their homes.

The fever is not of a virulent type and the nine patients attacked are doing well with every prospect for a rapid and complete recovery.

The most careful investigations seem to indicate a probable source of infection outside the seminary building and grounds. The deputy health officer, Dr. Moore, says that he can find no condition in or around the seminary which could cause the disease but no stone will be left unturned until the lurking cause is discovered.

WEDDINGS

Barton-McLean.

An event which has been looked forward to with much interest took place on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, April 19, at the home of John E. McLean, when his niece, Nellie Beatrice, daughter of L. P. McLean, St. John, was united in marriage to Leland D. Barton, of Newcastle Centre, Queens county, by the Rev. H. A. Bonnell.

The bride, who was becomingly attired in white, was given away by her uncle. After the ceremony luncheon was served and an enjoyable evening was spent by all. Only immediate friends and relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Barton left the following day for Chipman, where they will reside, as the groom has been for some years employed with the King Lumber Company. They were accompanied by the best wishes of their many friends.

I. C. R. Brakemen Killed at Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., April 24.—(Special)—The colliding of two cars at Richmond last night resulted in the death of yard brakeman Arthur Moar. He was on top of a box car which was being shunted onto a siding when it struck a box car with terrific force, sending the young man headlong into the wreckage.

Miss Marion Morrison.

Sussex, N. B., April 24—(Special)—Miss Marion Morrison, youngest daughter of Mrs. Robert Morrison, died very suddenly at 11 o'clock tonight at her home, Main street, of blood poison. About eight or ten days ago the poison was first discovered in the lower lip. It spread rapidly over the entire face and neck, one eye being completely closed. Up to Sunday the doctor thought he could check it but since then he gave up all hope but thought she would live a few days longer. Deceased was fourteen years of age, very clever at school and a favorite with her many school chums. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon; interment at the Upper Corner beside her father.

ALBERT PROTEST BEARS FRUIT

Dr. McAlister Wires That Government Will Intervene in Railway Situation

MAY BUY ROAD

Manager Sherwood Now in Ottawa Seeking Federal Assistance to Improve Line—Belief General That Proposed Closing Down is Headed Off.

Hopewell Hill, N. B., April 26—D. W. Harper, manager of the Bank of New Brunswick at Riverside, received a telegram today from Dr. McAlister, M. P., at Ottawa, relative to the affairs of the Albert railway which will be read with much interest and satisfaction by the residents of this county who are threatened with having railway advantages deprived them. The telegram, which bears yesterday's date, is as follows:

"D. W. Harper, Riverside.

"Minister of railways away, but have been assured by the other cabinet ministers that something will be done that will benefit the S. & H. railway. The owners of the road have made no proposition to the government. Got Mr. Sherwood to wire Mr. Swan tonight.

(Signed) "D. H. McALISTER."

This message appears to be one of encouragement, that the present situation will be relieved and the action of the government, after the return to Ottawa of the Hon. Mr. Graham, will be awaited with interest. There is a feeling that the road will be put in sufficiently good condition to permit of the government taking it over.

In connection with the telegram mentioned it may be said that Mr. Sherwood, manager of the road, is now in Ottawa, and it is understood went for the purpose of making a proposal to the government that they let the railway have a quantity of second-hand rails, either as a loan, taking a lien on the road, or as a gift.

According to the telegram, it will be seen that no proposition of any kind has so far been made and Mr. Sherwood was asked to get the intentions of Mr. Swan, one of the chief owners of the road.

Mr. Harper's telegram should have been here last night for the mass meeting held at Albert but was delayed. Last night's meeting is the subject of much favorable comment for the splendid unanimity shown on the part of many representative men in making a protest against the railway's intention to deprive the people of advantages that have been bought so dearly.

CORONATION CONTINGENT TO SAIL JUNE 2

Militia Orders Issued in Regard to Pay, Drill and Other Matters.

Ottawa, April 26—Orders were issued today regarding the coronation contingent. The men will be paid in accordance with the rank they hold on the contingent, not the rank they hold in their own regiment. They will also be granted efficiency pay and field allowance.

The cavalry will assemble at Winnipeg, Toronto and St. John on May 22. The members of the field and horse artillery will assemble at Kingston, and the garrison artillery at Quebec. They assemble at Kingston on May 22, and at Quebec on May 23. All the dismounted corps will assemble at Quebec on May 23.

The officers will provide themselves with uniforms of the branch of service to which they belong. The non-commissioned officers and men will take theirs with them to the point of mobilization.

All warrant officers and non-commissioned officers and men will receive a free issue of one suit of service clothing and two pairs of ankle boots.

The contingent will embark on June 2, and the S.S. Empress of Ireland from Quebec, and will leave Liverpool on the return trip on July 2, per S.S. Empress of Britain.

ANNAPOLIS MAN KILLS HIMSELF

Elias H. Bishop, of Williamston, Found by Search Party Hanging from a Tree.

Bridgetown, N. S., April 26—A shocking affair occurred at Williamston, Annapolis county, on Monday last. Elias H. Bishop, who resides there, said to his wife that he would go out a while and pick some mayflowers. This was at 3 p.m.

Not returning at 6 o'clock some anxiety was felt. Arthur Bishop, in company with A. T. Dodge and another, went out to make a search. Not finding him at a neighbor's, they continued on up the mountain side to a back pasture, a mile away.

After a time Mr. Dodge saw Bishop standing under a tree and whistled. Getting no response, he hurried and found the unfortunate man hanging to a tree by the neck. He was cut down and at once conveyed to his house.

Mr. Bishop was 53 years of age and married about one year ago. His wife, with two brothers and two sisters survive. Some time last year he suffered from a stroke of paralysis and went to Boston for treatment, but not obtaining relief he returned. Since then he had become despondent.

TORY BLUNDERERS MAKE A SCENE IN PARLIAMENT

Charge Reporters With "Lying"

Still Dispute Record That They Voted for Reciprocity

Refuse to Let Statement of Man That Took Down the Proceedings Go on Records of House, and Shield Themselves Behind "Privileges."

Ottawa, April 25—For an hour and a half at the opening of today's sitting of the commons, several members of the opposition gave another illuminative exhibition of their idea of fair play, apropos of their charges of yesterday as to the "deliberate lies" of the reports in the Liberal press regarding the action of the six Conservatives who voted for the Sealey amendment of Saturday morning. These reports made it appear that they endorsed the reciprocity proposals with the exception of the schedules relating to fruit and vegetables.

Yesterday the six who blundered sought to get out of the difficulty by charging that the concluding words in the amendment endorsing the reciprocity resolution, with the exception noted above, were never put to the house. They based their wholesale charges of "lying" on the part of the press reporters mainly on the fact that the Hansard report did not contain the last line of the amendment.

Today Mr. Sealey, reading from an exact copy of the amendment as read to the house by the deputy-speaker, showed that the press report complained of was right.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley also read a letter from the chief Hansard reporter, declaring that the final clause endorsing the agreement was taken down as read by the deputy-speaker, but was, through an error at the printing bureau, left out of the printed Hansard.

In further vindication of the press reporter, Dr. Pugsley attempted to read a statement from the reporter in question substantiating his report, and asking for an investigation, failing some apology from the opposition members who had been so reckless with their charges.

Cowardly Tactics.

But despite the overwhelming proof adduced that the "Six," led by Dr. Sproule, had, in voting for the amendment, endorsed also its concluding clause, twice read to the house before the vote, they today availed themselves of their technical privilege as members of the house, and a statement, in reply from the press man vilified, could not go on record because it "reflected on members of the house."

During the squabble the proceedings were at times of the bear-garden variety and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Borden and the speaker in vain appealed for some semblance of parliamentary decorum. Dr. Sproule, Mr. Blain and Mr. Lancaster persisted in repeating the charge that the clause in question had not been read as a part of the "amendment," and continued to attack the press report. Mr. Lancaster was particularly violent and waxed very wrathy at the audacity of any Liberal paper suggesting that Conservatives had voted for "this outrageous agreement."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier noted that unseemly scenes were beneath the dignity of the house. "One would expect, however," said the premier, "that when an honorable member has made a charge against a man outside this house, and if there is cause to believe it was not exactly accurate, it might be his duty to withdraw the offensive words."

Finally, after a final tirade from Mr. Lancaster, the incident was closed and the house spent the rest of the day discussing the printing bureau.

MANY BURGLARIES IN CHATHAM

Several Places Broken Into—Two Suspects Arrested and One Let Go—River Ice Running.

Chatham, N. B., April 24—Several robberies have taken place in the town during the last week. The hen houses belonging to Thompson Copping, Mrs. Lyons and Mrs. Rich were robbed and the thieves took their booty to the exhibition buildings, broke open the dining room, lighted a fire and cooked the fowls using a portion of the woodwork of the building to make a fire.

On Thursday a case outside the H. Rich store was broken open and collars taken.

On Friday afternoon a warehouse used by Roger Flanagan in St. John street was entered and bottles and other stores broken. On the same night the store occupied by Thomas Buckley in St. Andrews street was burglarized and a barrel and two half barrels of flour and a barrel of herrings taken away.

Last night about 10.30 o'clock a crash of breaking glass aroused the occupants of Ephraim Reubens' store in Water street and they found a quantity of candy and other confectionery had been taken. Frank McMann and Chas. Cribbs were arrested.

Today McMann was able to prove that he was merely a member of the crowd that gathered and was in no way connected with the robbery. Cribbs was remanded till Wednesday for further evidence.

A good deal of ice has gone out of the river during the last forty-eight hours and this morning several tugs are getting things into shape for the opening of navigation.

Yesterday afternoon an alarm called the firemen to the top of King street where brush was found blazing. Fanned by a strong wind the flames crept almost up to the farm buildings and residence of Mrs. William Kerr. The fire was extinguished.

KING GEORGE LAUDS KING JAMES' BIBLE

Sends Message to Tercentenary Celebration in New York—Calls it the "Common Heritage" of English-speaking People—Ambassador Bryce Dwells on the Good the Scriptures Have Done.

New York, April 25—King George V. of Great Britain, sent a special message to the tercentenary Bible celebration in Carnegie Hall tonight. It was dated "Buckingham Palace," and was read by the British ambassador, James Bryce. The king said:

"I rejoice that America and England should join in commemorating the publication, 300 years ago, of that version of the Holy Scriptures which has so long held its own among English-speaking peoples.

"Its circulation in our homes has done more, perhaps, than anything else on earth to promote, among old and young, the moral and religious welfare on either side of the Atlantic.

"The version, which bears King James' name, is so clearly interwoven in the history of British and American life that it is right we should thank God for it together.

"I congratulate the president and people of the United States upon their share in this, our common heritage."

Ambassador Bryce.

Mr. Bryce said in part:

"The great event which we are met to commemorate was, like most great things, no sudden achievement of a group of gifted scholars but the mature fruit of desires and purposes which had long been ripening in the minds of our ancestors.

"Much had been done towards an English Bible before King James the First commissioned his company of learned scholars for their task. Using the labors of their many predecessors, the translators produced a version which was wonderfully exact for the scholarship of those days, so exact that after three centuries the changes which repeated collations of the manuscripts and repeated examination of the precise meaning of the Hebrew and Greek texts have led modern critics to make, are few and unimportant in proportion to the whole.

"How much of the excellence of our great writers from Milton, Jeremy Taylor and Baxter downwards is traceable to their knowledge of the diction of the Bible! We can feel it in four great masters of our tongue who adorned the last generation to all of whom the scriptures were familiar from childhood. We recognize it in the speeches of John Bright and Abraham Lincoln, in the sermons and essays of Cardinal Newman, and in the earlier writings of Thomas Carlyle before his style became Germanized. The names of Lincoln and Bright suggest the immense and unique service which this translation rendered to men of our stock. It brought this wonderful storehouse of historical narrative and moral reflection, this incomparable record of the progress of the human spirit and of all the forms in which its conception of the relations of man to God were expressed within the reach of those who, like Bright, received no very wide education, and those who, like Lincoln, received no education at all.

"British and American character have been largely formed by this book, because it was in the seventeenth century the only book which all the people knew and all the people revered. And if our ancestors in that century, and the next, set an example to other countries in their love of freedom and their willingness to make sacrifices for freedom, yet knowing how to use freedom with moderation and justice, is this not largely due to the stimulus they received from the knowledge of the scriptures in their own tongue and from the sense that freedom, like other gifts of God, is to be used with a sense of responsibility to God for its use?

"These were some of the things which the Bible did for the individual soul. And it also formed the one common basis for the literature of the mediaeval and modern world. It was the common ground on which all Christians met; whatever their differences as to its meaning, the common starting point for their poetry and their ethics. Chaucer and Tasso and Goethe have their roots in it, as well as Dante and Milton. It has been a visible symbol of the underlying moral unity of the civilized nations, even at times when some of them have least respected its authority.

"In the message from King George which I have read to you this evening the English version is truly called 'our common heritage.' It is such a heritage as brothers may enjoy in common, each having all and each rejoicing that the other has no less than himself.

"Let us hope that the year we commemorate as the anniversary of a great event in our religious history may also be remembered as the year in which a solemn renunciation of war as a means of settling their disputes was made by two mighty and kindred nations, grateful to God for the light, more precious than the wealth and the power which He has given, and grateful also for the peace of nearly a century which has subsisted between them."

Probate Court.

Thursday, April 27.

In the probate court yesterday the matter of the estate of Sarah Crawford, formerly of St. John, but latterly of Cambridge, Mass., spinster, came up. She was a daughter of the late Samuel Crawford, of St. John, carpenter and building contractor. She left this province some twelve years ago and died on the 19th instant in Cambridge. Her will was proved today. She gives all her estate, real and personal, to Elizabeth, Lily, Kate Hastings Clark, and Cornelia Horto, and to Samuel Hugh Crawford, of Cambridge, linotype operator, the five children of her deceased brother, James Crawford, of Newton, Mass., all of whom survive her, with the exception of Cornelia Horto. Her share, under the terms of the will, goes to the remaining four. The two executrices, Elizabeth Clark, wife of Frederick Clark, of Framington, Mass., artist, and Lily Crawford, of Cambridge, spinster, were sworn in. Probate is not to issue until the lapse of fourteen days. Real estate on the east side of Charlotte street, St. John, is valued at $2,400; personal estate, consisting of money in the Dominion Savings Bank, under $1,500; Jack H. A. L. Fairweather is proctor.

The matter of the estate of Samuel W. H. Brandie, laborer, was taken up. He died intestate, leaving his wife, Lydia J., and two daughters by a former wife, namely Sarah, wife of Hiram Hayes, and Alice, wife of Abraham Hayes. On the application of the widow she is appointed administratrix. Real estate is $400; personal estate $50, besides a life policy for a very small amount. S. A. M. Skinner is proctor for the widow; J. A. Barry proctor for her step-daughters.

The court also dealt with the estate of Frederick Kimball, late of the Parish of Lancaster, brakeman. He died intestate, leaving his wife, Margaret N., and three children, under age. On the application of the widow she was appointed administratrix. No real estate; personal estate $1,500. Fred R. Taylor is proctor.

Contract—Public work—Work dehors contract—Acceptance by Crown—Payment—Fair value.

W., was contractor with the Crown for constructing a car and locomotive repair plant at Moncton (N. B.), and was subject to the orders of the government engineer. By order of the engineer and with no contract in writing therefor, he constructed sewers and a water system in connection with said works and on completion if his contract the Crown accepted the additional work and agreed to pay its fair value, but not the amount claimed which was deemed excessive. The department of railways referred the claim to the exchequer court, and, by consent, it was referred to the registrar of the court to have the damages assessed, the order of reference providing that "the amount to be ascertained shall be the fair value or price thereof allowed on a quantum meruit." The registrar fixed the amount at $53,205, as the fair value of the work reasonably executed on a somewhat different plan. The judge of the exchequer court added $39,000 to this amount, holding that the Crown had admitted the authority of the engineer to order the work to be done, and that W. was entitled to the actual cost plus a percentage for profit. On appeal by the Crown:

Held, Anglin J. dissenting, that the judgment appealed against was not warranted; that the Crown had not admitted the authority of the engineer, but expressly denied it by pleadings and otherwise; that all W. was entitled to be paid was the fair value of the work to the Crown, and the amount allowed by the referee substantially represented such value.

Appeal allowed with costs.

BEVERIDGE SAYS I. C. R. IS FINE ROAD

Former U. S. Senator Declares it is Equal to Any Road in America — In St. John on His Way to Washington, and Will Return.

Tuesday, April 22.

Former U. S. Senator Beveridge of Indiana, who came to the maritime provinces last week to take a trip over the I. C. R., arrived in the city again yesterday from Halifax on his way to Washington. His trip was cut short by a telegram summoning him hastily to Washington.

In Moncton yesterday morning he visited the new I. C. R. shops and left on the 11 o'clock train for St. John.

Asked how he found the I. C. R. he said, "fine. As far as I have gone over the I. C. R. it is as good as the best railroad in America. This railroad of yours is equal to the great Pennsylvania railway."

Hon. Mr. Beveridge said Moncton, with natural gas at its door, was bound to grow. While he had not time this trip he proposed returning in the near future to continue inspection of the I. C. R. and visit the oil and gas wells. He expects to visit the old country this summer, and will probably complete his visit to the maritime provinces on his return.

The purpose of his trip over the I. C. R. was to inquire into the system of government owned railways, its operation and how people liked the government operated road. St. John is included in the places he proposes to visit.

"I see," Hicks said, "that they have started a movement over in England to remodel the Ten Commandments."

"Remodel, eh?" Darkins retorted. "What a waste of time—all they need is restoration."—Harper's Weekly.

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.
