BOARD OF TRADE.

A Conference to Arrange for a General Holiday on Saturday.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of trade was held yesterday afternoon. Mr. J. E. B. McCready referring to Col. Vincent's address given under the auspices of the board said that the board should be kept out of party politics, and president Robertson in explanation said that there had been no intention of making the meeting referred to a political one.

It was decided on motion of Mr. John McMillan to urge the common council to take steps to adopt eastern standard time.

After the half holiday movement was discussed for some time, John McMillan moved that the president of the board be requested to confer with the mayor as to the advisability of changing the general pay day to Friday with the view of having a general half holiday on Saturday afternoons during the summer months. This was carried unanimously.

St. Andrew's Rink.

Manager Somerby wore a benign look of contentment last evening, for every reserved seat at St. Andrew's rink was taken twenty minutes after the doors of the Parlor Musee were opened. A very large crowd was present, and seemed to enjoy the many interesting and attractive features of the entertainment. The stage performance was good; the sleight-of-hand work of W. D. Le Roy, seeming to catch best with the audience. Dudley Foster, the small man is just what he was claimed to be. He is amusing in his ways and as bright and clever as he is small. The Paper King makes some marvellous transformations of one piece of paper and interested the spectators in many other ways. About the rink are booths, where fancy work is being done, glass cut and pottery jars made, and in all Manager Somerby has brought here this time a show that should take, for a much longer period than he intends to remain. The Musee will be open afternoon and evening until further notice.

Police Court.

John Smith and Daniel Dowd, drunks, were fined $4 each.

Wm. Perry, reported by Officer Amos for allowing his cow to run at large about the streets, Carleton, was fined $2.

T. J. Cronin was fined $20 for violation of the liquor law.

LOUIS GREEN, has recently made one of the largest importations of Havana cigars ever made in St. John. His stock is therefore complete in all the finest brands, and fresh. To the regular smoker this will be good news, for nothing is so acceptable as a finely flavored Havana.

DEATH OF REV. I. E. BILL D. D.

He Was a Leader Among the Baptists—Over Sixty Years in the Ministry—The Body Will be Brought to St. John.

Rev. I. E. Bill D. D., who has been ill for some time as the result of a paralytic stroke died at St. Martins this morning. In him the Baptist denomination loses one who has taken an active part in the founding and advancement of Baptist institutions in the Maritime provinces, and while his death was not unexpected it will be heard of with general regret. Rev. I. E. Bill reached the age of 86 years and 5 months, and over 60 years of his life has been spent in the ministry. He was born in Billtown, Kings Co., N. S., his father's name being Asabel Bill. In his 22nd year he was married to Miss Isabella Lyons and he then took possession of a valuable property given him by his father and engaged in agriculture. In 1828 he was converted and began to prepare for entering the ministry and in 1829 he was ordained and commenced preaching at Nictaux, Annapolis Co., N. S. He soon became prominent as a preacher and took a leading part in all movements for the advancement of the denomination. In 1844 he was sent to the United States in the interests of Acadia college. He visited many of the leading cities and was successful in collecting quite a large amount of money in aid of the college. In 1849 he went to Great Britain on a mission of the same kind and there too he met with marked success, and it was largely through his labors that the college was at that time placed on a sound financial basis.

At one time he was the owner of the Christian Visitor, and for many years he was very prominent in Baptist journalism. Besides his literary work on the paper, he also wrote and published a very valuable work for the denomination entitled "Fifty Years With The Baptists," in which he gave a comprehensive history of the Baptists of the Maritime provinces for half a century.

His first wife died many years ago, and he married again, a Massachusetts lady named Dove, who is left his widow. He also leaves two sons, Rev. I. E. Bill, jr., and another who is in California.

The funeral sermon will be preached at St. Martins by Rev. Dr. Hopper, and on Friday the body will be brought to St. John.

According to a request made by Rev. Mr. Bill previous to his death, the funeral will be held from Germain street Baptist church, and Rev. G. O. Gates, the pastor, will deliver an address.

Publications.

A cablegram announces that Amelie Rives has sailed for the United States where she will arrive soon after the appearance of her latest novel in the August number of the Cosmopolitan. After nearly two years of silence the new story of Miss Rives will be received with the greatest interest by those who enjoyed her earlier work. Married, travelled and in every way matured, her latest production is said to be worthy of the talent which gave such great promise. The scene is laid in Paris, where the author has been living for two years, and the heroine is a Virginia girl who is studying music abroad with a negro servant for a chaperone. The story has been illustrated by Kate Greatorex, one of the most promising of American painters in Paris, and a charming portrait of Miss Rives is the frontispiece of the magazine.

Two papers in this number which will be read with great interest by journalists are those by Valerian Gribayedoff—who is called "the father of pictorial journalism"—and "The Woman's Press Club of New York", by Fannie Aymar Matthews. Gribayedoff has discussed artistically and practically the question of the illustration of the daily newspaper in a way to afford information to all who are interested in journalism.

Ament the baccarat scandal, Gen. Adam Badeau of Grant's staff, who was afterwards secretary of legation in London and saw much of the English aristocracy, writes an article on "Gambling in High Life." "The Dukeries," by Pelham-Clinton, is another article which will please those who take an interest in the great country houses of England. Thomas A. Janvier, who is always delightful with his pen, gives a quaint sketch of the old ducal town of Uzes. To those interested in education, President Gilman of the Johns Hopkins, furnishes food for thought in an article on this great southern university.

The cartoons which have been made of Bismarck, furnish a subject for Murat Halstead, reproductions of many of the most noted cartoons, illustrating the paper. There is an article on Placer Mining with instantaneous photographs, and one on the court jesters of England by Miss Esther Singleton, who is making a reputation as a graceful writer, besides the usual departments by Edward Everett Hale, Brander Matthews, etc.

A Good Deal of Undress.

It is refreshing to read about an eccentric toilet worn the other night in Paris by the Princess Wagram, because there is not much going on at present, and one can endure a good deal of undress. The princess, it is recorded, appeared at a ball with a sort of fan of white lace posed on one arm, somewhat below the shoulder, and standing up straight, the top being level with the ear; while on the other arm the sleeve was solely composed of a narrow band of feather trimming, a combination which also edged the low bodice. "It looked angelic," says the chronicler. No need to tell us that! Of course it did. The Wagram skirts, unfortunately, are not mentioned, but it is presumed they were sufficiently [illegible] make a proper balance for the "fan" on the left arm. French [illegible] continue to take the macaroon.

CLIMO'S PHOTOS stand alone as pictures of superior artistic merit, and the prices are as low as the machine-made article. 85 Germain St.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

New Teachers Appointed—New Departments to be Opened—The Victoria Annex.

The Board of School Trustees met last evening.

Applications for appointment on the teachers staff were read from Jessie K. Sutherland, A. W. D. Knapp, Lillian E. Fenwick and Michael D. Sweeny. The names were ordered to be placed on the application book.

The resignation of Frank D. Sweeny, a teacher in St. Malachi's hall, was accepted.

G. U. Hay, as president of the summer school of science, asked that a school hall be placed at the disposal of the management for their meetings. The hall of either the Centennial or Victoria schools was offered.

The following report of the committee on teachers was adopted:—

That the names of Margaret Strang, Alice M. Carleton, Teresa J. Harrington, Lehy M. Clark, C. Thompson, Bertie Chase, Bessie McFarlane, Jennie F. Roberts, Maggie F. Brady, Teresa A. McDonald and Louisa Brown, be placed upon the application book; that the resignation of Mary B. Sullivan, be accepted, and that the secretary be directed to convey to her the expression of the board's appreciation of her valuable services as a teacher, their regret of her removal from the city, and their best wishes for her future success and happiness; that two new departments be opened in Douglas avenue school.

4. That two new departments be opened for pupils of St. Joseph's and St. Peter's schools; that an additional department be opened in Mason's hall school; that Jessie Caird, Jeane Estey and Tina Quinn be transferred from the reserve to the regular staff.

Helen Dale, Zebie Murray, Annie L. Page, Gertrude Seely, Louise Brown and Jennie H. Hanson were appointed upon the regular teaching staff. Upon the reserve staff Hattie M. Clark, Jeane Young, Jennie E. Roberts and Agnes Hanington were appointed.

It was resolved that each trustee be appointed by the chairman to visit a given number of schools at least twice during each term; trustees to be changed to different schools at beginning of the term.

The question of a teacher in St. Malachi's hall, vice Mr. Sweeney resigned, was referred to the teachers' committee.

The report of the buildings committee recommended the acceptance of B. Mooney & Sons' tender for the mason work and C. W. Segee's for the carpenter work in connection with the proposed enlargement of the Victoria school annex, the combined tenders amounting to $4,568; that they be authorized to have latrines built in the basements of the Masonic Hall schools and that the tender of J. E. Fitzgerald for a new boiler and changes in the heating apparatus in the Albert school for $630 be accepted. The report was adopted.

The chairman of the board with the chairman of the finance and buildings committees were appointed to enquire into and report upon the question of insurance.

Messrs Connor and Jack were added to the teachers' committee.—Adjourned.

In Maine.
(Bangor Commercial.)

Mr. Ernest Sjostedt, formerly chemist at Katahdin Iron Works, and now located in New Brunswick, is in Bangor.

A curiosity at Milbridge is a rose bush 71 years old, owned by Augustus Strout. It manifests a strange tenacity to its birth spot and cannot be induced to thrive in other grounds, although frequent attempts have been made by neighbors to grow it by transplanting portions from its roots.

The question, who is the oldest person in Maine? is a hard one to settle. Somebody not long ago claimed the honor for a Mrs. Kennedy, of Augusta, who was alleged to have attained the age of 117 years. This story was too large for many to believe, but the Kennebec Journal claims that a man named John Gilkey died in that city in 1813 at the age of 124 years. Gilkey was born in Ireland in 1690 and came to this country in 1755, and the date of his birth is said to be well authenticated.

Eugene Foster of Bath has a dog that he values highly. Footer was at work tearing down a building, the other day, made a misstep, fell twenty feet and lay unconscious. His dog, Spot, was near at hand and at once trotted off after help. He went directly to the house of Mr. Footer's grandfather, found the old gentleman and commenced tugging at his trousers leg and then running off a short distance and barking. He repeated this several times before Mr. Footer thought that an accident had happened. When he did understand, he followed the dog to the house and found his grandson. The Bath Times says the same dog, last week, prevented a young fellow from assaulting a poor old man who was intoxicated.

Provincial Points.

Consult Your Neighbor.

Any one may find out just what Burdock Blood Bitters is and does by asking a neighbor who has tried it. It rarely fails in making a complete cure of dyspepsia, constipation, sickheadache, biliousness and diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood.

Nicolet Notes.

"I suffered continual pain from canker of the stomach and my face and body were almost covered with pimples. I tried Burdock Blood Bitters, the first dose occasioned slight pain, but I soon found relief, and after taking 5 bottles I became completely cured. I think B. B. B. the most powerful remedy known to science."—Stephen Edge, Nicolet, P. Q.

Since Childhood's Days.

"I have been bothered with neuralgic pains in the head and face since childhood and have tried all possible remedies. A friend persuaded me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after having used it I obtained instant relief, and thoroughly recommend B. B. B."—Jas. Inglis, Bredenbury, Asm.

"I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in my family and can highly recommend it for summer complaint, diarrhœa, etc."—Jas. Geo. West, Huntsville, Ont.

Can Not Compete.

Miss Maud Grant of Mountain, Ont., writes: "I can recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaints and diarrhœa. There is nothing to compete with it as it succeeds even in the severest cases."

Baby Was Sick.

My baby was sick with diarrhœa and after everything else had failed I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry; the first dose gave relief, and a perfect cure soon resulted."—Mrs. John Clark, Bloomfield, Ont.

THE LORDS WERE VANQUISHED.

How the use of Stratagems in War by two Duchesses conquered the House of Lords.

[Montreal Gazette.]

In a recently published book, "London Past and Present," there is a passage quoted from a letter written by Lady Mary W. Montagu in 1738, which not only demonstrates the boycott which the sex had to endure in those days, but the spirit with which an undue tampering with the liberties of the female subjects was resented. Her ladyship's letter proceeds:—

"At the last warm debate in the House of Lords it was unanimously resolved there should be no crowd of unnecessary auditors, consequently the fair sex were excluded, and the gallery destined to the sole use of the House of Commons. Notwithstanding which determination, a tribe of dames resolved to show on this occasion that neither law nor men could resist them. These heroines, * * * the boldest assertors and most resigned sufferers for liberty I ever read of, presented themselves at the door at 9 o'clock in the morning, where Sir William Saunderson respectfully informed them the chancellor had made an order against their admittance. The Duchess of Queensbury, as head of the squadron, pished at the ill-breeding of a mere lawyer and desired him to let them go upstairs privately. After some modest refusal he swore by G—he would not let them in. Her Grace, with a noble warmth, answered by G—they would come in spite of the chancellor and the whole House. This being reported, the peers resolved to starve them out; an order was made that the doors should not be opened till they raised their siege. These Amazons shewed themselves qualified for the duty even of foot soldiers; they stood there till 5 in the afternoon, without either sustenance or evacuation, every now and then playing volleys of thumps, kicks and raps against the door, with so much violence that the speakers in the House were scarce heard. When the lords were not to be conquered by this, the two duchesses (very well apprised of the use of stratagems in war) commanded a dead silence of half an hour; and the chancellor, who thought this a certain proof of their absence (the Commons also being very impatient to enter), gave order for the opening of the door, upon which they all rushed in, pushed aside their competitors and placed themselves in the front rows of the gallery."

His Rousing Reception.

He was just an ordinary young man, says the Boston Journal. He was neither handsome, nor yet was he homely. He was of medium height, had a small moustache and was fairly well educated. For one long year had he assiduously measured ribbon and called "Ca-ash" to the invaluable cash boy. After his year of labor he was granted two weeks' vacation, and he decided to tramp it to a certain little New Hampshire town, there to spend a few days with relatives. He cast aside his "biled" shirt and arrayed himself in a coarse flannel shirt.

He started out full of life and courage. He reached the town of B——, and his self esteem was flattered by the reception he received. As he passed a farmer in the hay field he saw him point at him and then all hands ran to the road to look at him, and all began nodding their heads and saying, "Yes, that's him, Yes."

He looked in a half-frightened manner at the men and started to walk towards them to ask what was the matter, but as he took the first step they all scattered like chaff before the wind. Both hurt and puzzled he walked on, and had proceeded scarcely a mile when he saw a crowd of farmers, with pitchforks, hay rakes and shotguns, advancing toward him. He wondered what could be the cause of their strange actions. He was not long in ascertaining, as the excited farmers surrounded him, bound him and carried him to the lockup and then told him that he knew him by the picture published in a Boston paper.

Then the unfortunate man remembered that he had allowed a certain patent medicine company to use his picture in their advertisement. But why had it led to this?

The next day a detective, who came from Boston, said that the prisoner was not F. C. Almy, the Hanover murderer, and the ordinary young man was released. When he returned from his vacation he learned the secret of the incident. The Boston paper, desiring to publish a picture of Almy, had drawn on their supply of medical advertisement "cuts," and his had been selected at random.

Notice to Mariners.

The provisions of a previous notice to mariners of the United States lighthouse board have been carried into effect as follows:—

Sandy Hook Light—Vessel, New York No 16 has been removed from her station and permanently replaced by light vessel, No 48. The new vessel will show two lights, each 37 feet above the sea, visible in clear weather from the deck of a vessel 15 feet above the sea 11½ nautical miles. The light on the foremast will show a red flash every 20 seconds, and the other light will be fixed as heretofore. The vessel has two masts, schr rigged and no bowsprit. The hull is painted red with No "48" in large white letters on each bow, and "Sandy Hook" in large white letters on each quarter. The mast heads are black, and at each there is a black circular cage work day mark. A black sunbeacon and the fog signal are between the masts. During thick or foggy weather a steam whistle will be sounded blasts of three seconds' duration, separated by alternate silent intervals of one second and thirty seconds.
