Victory Over White Plague

Philadelphia, Feby. 7.---By official announcement the greatest discovery in the war against consumption since the finding of tuberculosts baccilius by Dr. Koch was made public. This is the discovery by Dr. Randall C. Rosenberger, biologist and holder of the chair of bacteriology at Jefferson Medical college, that the tuberculosis germ can be readily found in the blood long before it reaches the lungs; that it is in a condition which makes it readily amenable to destruction by simple treatment and fresh air and that it will soon be possible to use a perfect antitoxin which will stamp out the disease entirely.

Dr. Rosenberger's discovery makes consumption, the greatest scourge of modern times, the easiest treated disease in existence. He has tested his theory and has records of 150 cases, in none of which there was a failure.

He has made known the reoult of his experiments to the College of Physicians and the faculty of Jefferson college and his whole paper on the subject will appear shortly in a medical publication. Before that, Dr. Rosenberger, who is a purist in medical ethics, will not go into details. Reyond the more confirmation of the essential points he had nothing to say.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—eases blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.
If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.
If it's painful periods with women, same cause.
If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 30 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.
Bruise your finger and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.
We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

ALWAYS UNDER FIRE

Our Lungs are Continually Attacked by Deadly Disease Germs

Modern science tells us that many a deadly battle is fought in the cells of our lungs between the attacking disease germs and the resisting forces in our blood. Scarcely a lung but shows clearly the scars of such encounters.

So long as our power of resistance is strong, we are safe. But the moment a neglected cold or run-down condition makes an opening, the disease germs win, and we have an attack of pneumonia, bronchitis, asthma, or even fall a prey to consumption.

Realizing the danger, Father Morrisey, the famous priest-physician of Barilbogue, sought long and carefully for a remedy that would promptly check and and at the same time build up the lungs and system and enable them to throw off disease.

His "No. 10" Cough Mixture and Lung Tonic does just that. Used promptly it is a most effective safeguard against serious lung troubles. Trial size bottle, 25c. Regular size 50c. Father Morrisey Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B. 9

Appreciate Your Mother

The graveyards are full of mothers who died taking care of their children. Better appreciate your mother before your appreciation of her will be no kindness to her, and the post mortem regrets will be more of an agony as the years pass on. Big headstones of polished Aberdeen and the best epitaphs which the family put together could compose and a garland of whitest roses from the conservatory are often the attempt to atone for the thanks we ought to have uttered in living ears and the kind words that would have done more good than all the calla lilies ever piled up on the silent mounds of the cemeteries. The world makes applauditory ado over the work of mothers who have raised boys to be great men and most of our readers could turn to their books and find the names of fifty distinguished men who had great mothers—Cuvier's mother, Walter Scott's mother, St. Bernard's mother, Benjamin West's mother. But who praises mothers or what they do for daughters who make the homes of this land. We do not know of an instance of such recognition. You never hear a word in appreciation of the self-denial, of the fatigues and good sense and prayers which those mothers go through who navigate a family of girls from the edge of the cradle to the schoolhouse door and from the schoolhouse door up to the marriage altar. That is an achievement which the eternal God celebrates high up in the heavens, though for it human hands so seldom clap the faintest applause. My! My! What a time that woman had with those youngsters, and if she had relaxed care and work and advice and solicitation of heaveuly help, that new generation would have landed in the poor house, idiot asylum or penitentiary. It is while she is living, but never while she is dead, that some girls call their mother "maternal ancestor" or "the old woman."

A BEAUTIFUL CHARACTER

Touching Tribute Paid by Rev. Gratz to the late Mary Letitia Wyman

Many friends of the late Mary Letitia Wymann gathered at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ada Hobden, last Friday afternoon to attend the last rites over her mortal remains. The services were conducted by Rev. Parker, rector of the Episcopal church in Duluth. Mrs. D. A. Burke sang a solo entitled "Homeland" Mrs. Burke and Mrs. J. W. Dorsey a duet, "Sometime We'll Understand," and Mrs. Moulton and Mrs. Dorsey rendered "The Lord is My Shepherd." Miss Agatha Cotter was organist. The pallbearers were Dr. J. D. Budd, Messrs. John Shea, Albert Hunter, David Ross, D. A. Burke and John F. Barton. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

The relatives of deceased from out of town who attended the funeral were W. J. McGee, of Oconto, Wis., a b other and C. J. McGee of Houghton, Mich., a nephew.

Rev. W. E. J. Gratz, pastor of the local M. E. church, delivered a very beautiful and touching tribute to the character of the deceased. His remarks were in part as follows:

The words of the text are words which Mrs. Wyman had marked her[illegible] in her own Bible.

"For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

"For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better."---Phil. 1, 21 and 23.

My friends I am not here today in my professional capacity, but as a friend who mourns with you. I am not here as a preacher to preach to you but desire simply to say some things that are in all of your hearts.

During my pastorate here I have frequently called to visit Mrs. Wyman, and like many of you I have come to help and have been helped myself. I have come to comfort and went away myself comforted. Once I ventured to speak to her of the value of patience and found that she had learned that lesson long before I had studied its a, b, c.

Like the apostle Paul she was a great sufferer and like him "none of these things moved her." She seemed not to think of herself but of others and in the midst of her great suffering she frequently found that for which she thanked God.

I remember how a little while ago when I called she asked me of my father who for a year had been going blind. I told her that he was losing his eyesight and then she said, "Oh, I am so thankful that I can see. One can endure pain but to be shut in darkness would be much worse. I am so thankful that I can see."

In all of her suffering she had her eyes fixed on the unseen realities. Heaven was to her the sure home of the soul, it was no unknown country. This it was that gave her courage and strength. The words of our text was the motto of her life: "For me to live is Christ, to die is gain---I have a desire to depart and to be with Christ; which is far better."

Mrs Hannah Whithall Smith in her beautiful volume "The Christian's Secret of a Happy Life," has a splendid exposition of the words of the prophet Malachi "He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver." She asked a silversmith to tell her the meaning and he said, "Why I put the old silver or the raw ore into the caldron and I make the fire very hot and stand beside it to see that it does not get too hot." "Ah, that is it," said Mrs. Smith, "oua Father stands beside us in the trial to see that the fires do not get too hot, for He will not suffer us to be tempted beyond what we are able to bear but will with the temptation also make a way of escape so that we shall be able to bear it. But how do you know when it is purified? she asked.

"O, I stand beside it and watch [illegible] keep looking into it until I see my own face in the moulten silver and then I know that it is done."

And so with our departed sister the Master stood beside her and the other day He saw His image in her life and He called her home.

"Caught up to meet the Lord
With sweep of angel wing,
No winding-sheet for her or home of sod!
O Death! where is thy sting?"

Today she is among that great multitude which St. John saw who have "come up out of great tribulation and have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."

And so my friends I do not feel as though we were at a funeral today, but at a coronation. One of the King's daughters has gone home to receive her crown, for the Scriptures tell us; "That if we suffer we shall also reign with Him. She has passed from trial to triumph, from conflict to victory, from grief to glory!

The apostle's words are gloriously true for us today. "O Death! where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?---Thanks be to God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ!"

And so I close with these words of the hymn:

"Out of the shadow-land into the sunshine,
Cloudless, eternal, that fades not away
Softly and tenderly Jesus hath called her,
Home, where the ransomed are gathering today.
Out of the shadow-land weary and changeful,
Out of the valley of sorrow and night,
Into the rest of the life everlasting,
Into the summer of endless delight.
Out of the shadow-land, over life's ocean
Into the rapture and joy of the Lord,
Safe in the Father's house welcomed by angels,
Her's the bright crown and eternal reward.
Silently, peacefully, angels have borne her
Into the beautiful mansions above,
There shall she rest from earth's toiling forever.
Safe in the arms of God's infinite love.
