Bottled Effervescence From the Other Side of the Sea.

"I have heard it said, Miss Emma, that a kiss without love tastes like an egg without salt; is that true?"

"I don't know—I really cannot—I have never in my life—"

"Come now, Miss Emma!"

"Eaten an egg without salt."—El Diluvio.

A Curious Employment.

Gent—"Where were you employed last?"

Man Servant—"At a writing master's."

Gent—"What were you required to do?"

Man Servant—"I had to keep shaking the table when a new pupil wrote the words: 'This is my handwriting before commencing to take lessons.'"—Ulk.

Advice to Bridegrooms.

Don't be nervous. Of course, you can't help it, but don't, anyway.

***

Don't shout or mumble your "I wills," but just turn on those deep, rich, soulful organ tones that will make the girls in the congregation nudge each other and say, "Isn't he just too lovely?"

***

Don't think you're playing first fiddle on the wedding day. You're not.

***

Don't give a bachelor supper beforehand. At least—well, no; don't.

***

Don't advise everybody else to go and do likewise. It's a sensitive point with fellows who've tried to win wives and only got the refusal of them.

***

Don't "behave" too awfully well. Nobody expects it of you.

***

Don't think about how big your boot soles must look when you kneel at the altar. It's disconcerting.

***

Don't think you can think for your wife; then the disappointment won't be so great.—New York Recorder.

"P.D." Was Amused.

Here is a story they are telling about old "P. D." Armeur. "P. D." was at the Midwinter Fair in San Francisco, a few weeks ago. Incog., he stopped to look at the exhibits from the packing house. The lady attendants were giving samples of roup to the crowd.

"It can't be very good or you wouldn't be giving it away," said "P. D."

"We do that for humanity," replied the young lady.

"H'm," commented Mr. Armour.

"What's that?" he asked, pointing to an enlarged fac-simile of his own autograph over the booth.

"That's Mr. Armour's signature," replied the young lady.

"Why, I thought old Armour couldn't write," urged "P. D." in apparent surprise.

"Well, he's got brains," retorted the young lady. "If I had his brains I wouldn't care whether I could write or not."

"P. D." smiled and passed. In a few minuties Rev. Frank Gunsalus, who helps Mr. Armour find good ways to spend his money, came back to the booth and handed the young lady an envelope with a $50 bill and "P. D.'s compliments.

The August Gall of August Gall.

August Gall, a Camden pretzel baker was adjudged guilty of disorderly conduct for using profane language to a neighbor by Recorder Braker yesterday morning and sentenced to pay a fine of $3 and costs.

"I didn't cuss my neighbor," roared the defendant. "I just damned the boys for stealing my pretzels."

"That's all the same; cussin' is cussin" replied the Recorder," and you must stand committed until the fine is paid.

A long string of oaths was the pretzel baker's reply.

"August, that string of red, white and blue will just cost you $10 more," mildly announced the Recorder.

The additional fine brought the defendant to his senses, and he fell upon his knees and begged of the Recorder to remit the $10 fine with so much arder that the Recorder weakened and accepted $3.—Philadelphia Times.

The Best Pills. — Mr. William Vanderwoort, Sydney Crossing, Ont., writes: "We have been using Parmelee's Pills, and find them by far the best Pills we ever used." For Delicate and Debilitated Constitutions these Pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor. 4

OUT OF THE GINGER JAR.

It was a grammatical old lady who was overheard to declare that there weren't many men as rich as the Rothschildren.

Some people are born to ill-luck. An old woman who has pasted nearly five thousand medical recipes in a book during the past forty years has never been ill a day in her life, and she is growing discouraged.

"There's nothing like fresh air," said the business man. "I used to think that," said his partner, "till the new clerk came here. He has an air about him that is altogether too fresh."—Washington Star.

"Bulwer says that the secret of fashion is to surprise, not to disappoint," mused McSwatters as he glanced over his wife's last millinery bill of $60; "but sometimes fashion does both."—Syracuse Post.

Johnny—Pa, what's the difference between cannibals and other folks? Pa—Cannibals, my son, eat their enemies; other people generally go no farther than to live on their friends and relatives.—Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Houser (hearing tremendous noise in the kitchen)—Great goodness, Bridget, what was that, an earthquake shock? Bridget (calmly picking up the pieces of glass)—No, mum, only a fruit jar."—Buffalo Courier.

Patient (complainingly)—I can't make out a word of this prescription, doctor. Physician (grimly)—Never mind. You'll find my handwriting perfectly legible, I'll warrant you, when I send in my bill.—Somerville Journal.

Lecture upon the rhinoceros.—Professor—"Gentlemen, I must beg you to give me your undivided attention. It is absolutely impossible that you can form a true idea of this hideous animal unless you keep your eyes fixed upon me."

H. R. WELTON, Vendor's Solicitor, 46665 Toronto Chambers, Toronto. Dated the 8th day of September, 1894.

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or diarrhea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking and green fruit is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced. 4

Tips From Wall-Street.

The pool in Chicago Gas is said to have sold out.

London sold St. Paul to-day and bought Chesapeake.

Earnings of Mo. P. for first week of September decreased $15,000, and those of Northern Pacific increased $44,00.

Henry A. King & Co.'s special wire from Ladenburg, Thalman & Co., New York: Taking into consideration the complete absence of outside interest and the general bearish inclinations of the professional element, prices are remarkably firm. The attack of the bear forces on the granger stocks was renewed today, though the impression, except in the case of Burlington, was small. The last named stock, it was true, yielded somewhat, but in spite of the gloomy talk about the condition of cor ni nNebraska the West bought the stock, and people who sold it a couple of points higher were evidently covering shorts to-day. The impression is cultivated that the Sugar insiders are opposed to any advance in the stock and that the dividend was kept at 3 per cent. with reluctance.

Favorable reports about the progress of the Reading reorganization and an upward move in its securities aided in rallying the general market in the afternoon and giving it a strong tone. Sugar, though attacked in the early trading, rallied, and later on showed the presence of supporting orders close to 105, while reports that there was serious trouble over the dividend found no favor at headquarters. The weak feature was Distillers', which yielded on the news that holders of rebate vouchers are organizing and have abundant cause for dissatisfaction. At the same time the stock was supported at 15, and its break had no effect on the general market.
