The New Residence District.

These who would like to secure a building lot in Toronto's choicest residence district should make a point of being on hand at Coolican's, near the Poetofflee, at 2 o'clock this day week. The lots to be sold are part of Toronto Annex, the property of S. H. Janes & Co., and the location is at the head of Spadina avenue, next north of Bloor street. The block has for its western boundary Spadina road, which is a continuation of Spadina avenue; its eastern boundary being the continuation of Huron street. The street cars now run to the head of Spadina avenue, which touches the southern houndary of the block, so that even now, without any, further extension of the track, residents would be very well accommodated. The locality is over a mile neares to the corner of Queen and Yonge, streets than is Parkdale; a fact which let intending purchasers consider. The astural advantages are not to be surpassed—a fine level, with just enough fall for easy firstly and the surface of the track residents would be very well accommodated.
