Key to Photograph of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

In making a key to pictures containing large numbers of figures or likenesses, it has been customary heretofore to prepare a sort of skeleton of the picture, with a number on each figure or likeness, corresponding to the number prefixed to each name on the printed list, but we have adopted the present plan as being much neater and far more convenient for reference than the old method.

The likenesses on the picture are arranged as nearly as possible in 22 rows, numbered from 1 to 22, commencing at the top. Each row is numbered from left to right, No. 1 on each row being at the left, and the highest number on the right, so that in order to find the name of any person whose photograph appears in the picture, it is only necessary to note the No. of the row in which it appears, and its No. in that row, and then turn to the printed list, where the name will be found without any difficulty. As the two lower rows (21 and 22) are not quite as straight as the others, a diagram of these two rows, and of the four central figures in the picture are added on page 26, which will be found very useful.

Parallel Occupation.

One solution of the Eastern question that has been proposed, is that if Russia wishes to seize a particular part of Turkey, any other power that is dissatisfied therewith may seize and hold some other position, instead of making war. This is called "parallel occupation," and is scarcely likely to be adopted just now. Very little change has taken place for several weeks in Eastern affairs. There is considerable talk about war, which very probably will not take place. Russia and Turkey however are making extensive preparatians, and Persia has placed troops on her Turkish frontier. A conference has been pretty nearly arranged, but the nature and probable results of it are still uncertain, indeed, its actual occurrence is doubtful. The integrity of the Turkish Empire seems to be the motto which British and Austrian statesmen have decided upon; but then we are told that integrity does not necessarily mean independence. The feeling of sympathy in England, appears to vacillate in its object, sometimes towards Mohammedanism, and at other times towards Christianity, as these exist in Turkey. This variation of sentiment does not, however, indicate any change of opinion. It just depends upon whatever party has the most to say, and speaks the loudest at any particular time. The feeling in England is just as strong as ever against Turkish treatment of Christians. The expression of it is kept back just now with the hope that something will be done to prevent a recurrence of such shocking barbarities. For ourselves we have seen nothing which could induce us to alter a single word we have said on the subject.

The only possible excuse the Russians can have for going to war with Turkey, would be to secure good government for their Slavonic brethren. England and Austria could very easily prevent even this excuse, by at once demanding from Turkey the local self-government of Bulgaria and the other Christian Provinces. Should Russia declare war in order to secure this, England and Austria will, most probably, not interfere, unless Russia should threaten Constantiple or attempt to force the Bosphorus. She is not likely to do that; should she however attempt it, the whole available power of the British Empire would, if necessary, be brought into requisition to counteract what would then be, Russian aggression. The Times has a powerful editorial, condemning past British policy, and remarks that—"If Russia took up the war from Servia's failing hands, English opinion would no more justify armed opposition to Russia than it did justify armed opposition to Servia. The diplomacy of Russia would show itself altogether deficient in the sagacity attributed to it, if it did not so describe the objects of the war and restrict its operations, so as to prevent the occurrence of any sufficient reason for our interfering."

"Old age is even a nobler sight than a ship completing a long, long voyage. On a summer's evening the setting sun is grand to look at. In his morning beams the birds awoke and sang, men rose for their work, and the world grew light. In his mid-day heat wheat fields grew yellower, and fruits were ripened, and a thousand natural purposes were answered which we mortals do not know of. And in his light at setting all things grew harmonious and solemn. But what is all this to the sight of a good life in those years that go down into the grave? It will begin again. Sublimer than the setting sun is the old age of a just and kind and useful life.

'And the pure soul, emancipate by Death,
The Enlarger, shall attain its end predoomed,
The eternal newness of eternal joy.'

Special Notices.

A DOCTOR'S OPINION.

Messrs. Craddock & Co, 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia,

You will perhaps remember that I sent for three bottles of East India Hemp about ten years ago, when I had a severe cough, and every one thought I was fast going into CONSUMPTION, especially as my physician told me I could never get well. After taking your medicine I found myself cured. Lately I have not been feeling well, and, having good faith in the Cannabis Indica from what it did ten years ago, I again order three bottles.

Respectfully,
HENRY B. SPANGLER.

MONTROSEVILLE, Lycoming Co., Pa., Sept. 20, 1875.

N.B.—This remedy speaks for itself. A single bottle will satisfy the most skeptical. There is not a single symptom of Consumption that it does not dissipate. $2.50 per bottle, or three bottles for $6.50. Pills and Ointment, $1.25 each. Sent at our risk. Address, Craddock & Co., 1032 Race Street Philadelphia.

READ! READ! READ!

In opening the Annual ADVERTISER Fall Campaign for 1876-7, we do so with the full intention of making it the most successful one yet entered upon. We want to add at least 10,000 new subscribers to our roll this year

The ADVERTISER, in the future as in the past, will be found advocating every true Reform and every really Liberal measure. Among other reforms it advocates an elective Senate and the passage of a Prohibitory Liquor Law.

TO AGENTS.—In order to make this paper the very best and most remunerative one in Canada to canvass for, we will present to every subscriber for 1877 a copy of the great steel plate engraving entitled "Wellington and Blucher Meeting after the Battle of Waterloo," size 18 x 40 inches. It is, beyond doubt, one of the finest engravings ever produced, being the premium of the London (Eng.) Art Union for 1875, and sold strictly at one guinea in England and six dollars in the colonies. This magnificent pure line engraving was executed by Lumb Stocks, R.A., from the wall painting in the Palace of Westminster by Daniel Maclise, R.A. It occupied six years of this celebrated painter's life, and the steel plate by the equally renowned engraver occupied five years more, costing the sum of £3,150. The best critics throughout England and Canada unite in praising this wonderful picture of the culminating point in the battle of Waterloo

☞ We also give the balance of this year free to all new subscribers for 1877.

WHAT WE OFFER.

CONSTITUTIONAL

CATARRH REMEDY.

LITTLEFIELD & CO.,

PROPRIETORS.

CATARRH

Cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a weakness of the constitution, developing itself in the nasal organs first, afterwards extending to the throat and lungs, ending generally in Consumption, if not checked by proper remedies. Pains in head, back, loins, and weakness of kidneys are its attendant diseases. More people have Catarrh than any other disease. It is easily cured. Thousands of cases, some of FORTY years standing have been entirely cured in New Hampshire and the Dominion the past three years, by the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. Certificates to back the above, and a treatise on Catarrh sent free on application to T. J. B. Harding, Chemist, Brockville, Ont. Send name on postal card, and it will cost only a cent. Price, $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sent to any address on receipt of money.

WHAT NEXT?

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.—When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. JAMES was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of INDIAN HEMP, which cured his only child of consumption. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. HEMP also cures night sweat, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address CRADDOCK & Co., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia, naming this paper.
