TO REORGANIZE THE PURCHASING DEPT.

Government May Make Radical Changes in the Printing Bureau.

Ottawa, July 4.—What has been a great local mystery and one on which there has been much diversity of opinion, is now cleared up by the finding of the body of Frank S. Gouldthrite, the missing superintendent of stationery. It is safe to say that the great majority of Ottawa people did not accept the theory of suicide, nor did the Dominion police, but all doubts on the subject are now removed.

It is known locally that if Frank Gouldthrite had followed the counsel of his wife he would have stood his ground. Before he went away so suddenly he had threatened to take his life and had gone to the Chaudiere Falls, but his nerve deserted him. The knowledge that he was being sought by the Dominion police was the evident climax to his determination to end his life.

The letter which he sent to his wife from Detroit was a brief note conveying a last message. In it, as in the one he left on the steamer, he said he was going to jump into the Detroit River, and that his body would be found there. He added an affectionate passage of good-bye to his wife and his little boy. The text of the letter has not been given out, but the Dominion police who have seen it confirm the statement that this is all it contains.

A Shake-Up.

The passing of the principal figure in the revelations at the bureau is regarded here as affording relief to some other people connected with the case, but these connections with the case, conclusively established, now that the man who had the most to do with them and who could tell all has passed. Hardly anyone who knew Gouldthrite believes that he initiated any graft himself. There is a concensus of opinion that he was importuned into the system which has operated to his undoing.

There is much local speculation as to what will be the next development in the case now that the principal witness is gone. The others who were dismissed, are all here, but not charged, it seems, with any graft. Several of them are printers. The bureau officials so far as they will talk, claim that the investigation has shown that the irregularities with which Gouldthrite was connected, date back only since the beginning of 1907. An estimate of the frauds commited can be obtained only when there is expert valuation of the supplies and comparison with prices paid.

Mr. Murphy has not been at the bureau for some days. It is stated at the state department that during the summer the purchasing system will be reorganized and several changes in officials are looked for. A new head of the department will be appointed without delay and some others will likely be superannuated.

HOLMESVILLE YOUTH ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

Clinton, July 5. — Albert Proctor, aged 18, living at Holmesville, was instantly killed yesterday while at play with another lad named Palmer. Each of the boys had a shotgun, and in some way Palmer's discharged when he was close to his companion, the latter receiving the full charge in the head, dying at once. There is no doubt but that the tragedy was accidental, but a coroner's jury was summoned, and visited the scene. It will meet again on Monday, Palmer, who is 13 years of age, was a nephew of the dead youth.

LIQUID SPRINGS ON NEW CANNON

Unprecedented Results Are Said To Have Been Attainde by Unique Device in England.

London, July 4.—A new cannon with liquid springs, which is said to have achieved unprecedented results, is shortly to be delivered to the British war office from the Elswick firm of Sir W. E. Armstrong, Whitworth & Co. The experiments which have recently been carried out at the firm's range, Silloth, Cumberland, are said to have resulted in the weapon answering every call made upon it, and to have more than realized the expectations of the inventors.

The gun is a 14.3-pounder, similar in make to the latest pattern breech-loading guns, with the exception that in this latter springs are used in the recoil apparatus. These have been done away with completely in the new weapon, and a liquid, which is the firm's patent, and air have been substituted in the recoil cylinders. By this means it has been proved possible for the gun to remain in the same position while ten shots are being fired. The gun needs only laying once to insure this feat, and while the experiments were in progress all the shots hit the object aimed at. In fact, all of the shots went through practically the same hole in the bullseye—a remarkable result, never achieved before in the annals of gunnery.

In place of the two recoil cylinders on the gun carriage, which carried the running-out rods and springs, there are five chambers containing the liquid and air.

AFTER WHITE SLAVERS

National Council of Women Discuss Fighting Traffic.

Halifax, July 4.—"Stern logic and indisputable evidence shows the existence of the 'white slave traffic' in every part of the civilized world." So the National Council of Women were informed today by Miss Gaulick's report. Fearlessness, determination and courage, were needed to wipe it out. "Let us attack it at a vital point," urged the special committee.

Figures were adduced to show to what extent the traffic exists in the various provinces. The report from British Columbia expresses fear that it is conducted there by Chinamen. In Winnipeg a campaign, also against Chinamen, is being conducted.

In Toronto 700 fallen girls were cared for the hospitals. Distressing happenings in Ottawa, facts as to different parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were embodied in the report.

The fullest publicity in pulpit and press was asked for and the need of more stringent legislation set forth.

HUNG ON LIVE WIRES

Chicago Boy Suffers Terrible Torture Before Being Rescued.

Chicago, July 4.—Stretched across live wires at the sanitary district power plant with 12,000 volts of electricity passing through his body and blue flames shooting from his extremities, Nicholas Maronich, 19 years old, of Evanston, lay for half an hour while efforts were made to rescue him. He was taken down finally, burned so badly that both his legs had to be amputated.

His 16-year-old brother, Joseph, who had attempted to lift him and had fallen from the top of the 50-foot pole as the result of the shock, was also taken in charge by physicians.

It is not believed the older boy will live. The younger brother has a chance to recover.

No one knows how Nicholas happened to climb to the perilous position. Both the police and fire departments were notified, and men hurried to the scene. A large crowd had gathered and witnessed the lad's torture while attempts were being made to raise the fire department's longest ladder. It failed to reach the hanging legs of the boy.

A half hour had passed since the boy had been discovered on the wire. Suddenly his body was seen to relax and hang limp. This was the first signal the crowd underneath had that the current had been shut off.

The boy was then lowered with ropes to the ground and removed to a hospital along wtih his brother. He had not lost consciousness the doctors declared, until the current was shut off.
