Russo-Tibetan Political and Trades Alliance Gives Access to Hitherto Forbidden Markets—British Embassy Views Advances With Dismay.

St. Petersburg, July 19.—The Czar and the Dalai Lama of Tibet have agreed definitely on a joint policy of future action. It is stated here on good authority that a Russo-Tibetan political and trades alliance has been practically concluded, and that in consequence the Tibetan envoys are bringing their visit to an end.

It is stated that the commercial treaty accords Russia free access to hitherto forbidden markets in Tibet, particularly that of the sacred capital Lhassa. The date for the ratification of the treaty has been set for 1902.

There is little doubt in inspired court circles that the Czar will soon enter an acknowledged protectorate of the Tibetan kingdom.

The British embassy here views with dismay the undoubted advantages that Russia has gained from the visit of the Tibetan envoys.

Mission Arrived July 4.

A Buriat, from Transbaikalia, named Akhorambo Atchwan Dorshieff, who has gained the favor of Dalai Lama of Tibet, came to Livadia last October and was received by the Emperor. He returned to Tibet and succeeded in persuading the Dalai Lama to send a special mission to St. Petersburg to open friendly relations with this country. This mission arrived on July 4 under the guidance of Dorshieff and was received by Count Lamsdorff. It consists of four persons, one of whom is the Dalai Lama's second secretary. It brings an autograph letter from the Regent of Tibet to the Czar.

Significance of Journey.

The Russian newspapers attach much importance to this journey and no doubt properly. It marks another step in the extension of Russian influence towards the Indo-Chinese possessions of France. The Russians regard the establishment of a chain of communications across the rear of the Indian empire and the permanent isolation of India from the Yang Tse Kiang as practically assured.

Protection of Tibet.

The "Novoe Vremya" regards the sending of this mission as proof that the prowess of Russian in Manchuria has penetrated to Tibet and there is no reason to doubt that active communications are maintained between Urga in Mongolia, where another Dalai Lama sits as Regent, and Tibet. This journal thinks it only natural that Tibet should seek in Russia a protector against the "greed of fierce England" or that other outlying territories of China should turn their faces towards the "White Czar." A good part of this and much more of the same sort in other papers is no doubt written for the Tibetan visitors.

WILL BUILD NICARAGUA CANAL REGARDLESS OF BRITISH OPINION

Representative of United States Determined to Press This View on the Minds of England's Statesmen—Support Is Promised From Europe in Any Event.

Chicago, July 19.—The Record-Herald's London correspondent writes: Further pressure will immediately be brought to bear on the British cabinet to induce it to consent to the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

That representative American whose conferences with Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Minister; Rt. Hon. Arthur Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, and Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Colonial Secretary, on this subject several weeks ago, were related, returned to London to-day after a tour of the European capitals. He intends to see Lord Salisbury, who was absent during his former visit, and frankly assure His Lordship that it is the determination of the American people to build the isthmian waterway regardless of British opposition, should such opposition develop.

Promise of European Support.

The Vienna correspondent of The London Times sent his paper, July 1, an anonymous letter on this subject, and described its author as "a personage whose intimate knowledge of American and European affairs gives exceptional value to his views." That personage is the man who is now about officially to press on the British Premier his version of American feeling on the Nicaragua question. The letter says:

"Several continental statesmen recently assured representative Americans of their sincere sympathy with the attitude of the United States, exemplified in the vote of the Senate, demanding absolute and exclusive control by the American government of any or all isthmian canals. Assurances have been given the United States repeatedly that even such an extreme measure as a one-sided repudiation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty would be regarded as entirely justifiable and a proper exercise of national prerogative.

Inspired By Jealousy.

"Of course the transparent object of such declarations is to goad the United States into some action that would irritate British public opinion, with the result of mutual recriminations. This would inevitably end the warm feeling of friendship for Great Britain which prevails in and which was so strikingly manifested thruout the United States on the occasion of the death of Queen Victoria.

"It may safely be assumed that the greatest possible disappointment that could happen to the many open and secret continental enemies not only of Great Britain but also of the United States would be the agreement of the American and British governments to a peaceable abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, for America's exclusive control of any or all isthmian canals and equal treatment for British and American commerce, at least for a term of years, along with the necessary consequence of the absolute neutrality of such a canal during any war in which the United States might not be engaged."

It is understood that the author of the foregoing letter intends to issue an important manifesto on the Nicaraguan question after he has completed his negotiations with the British ministers.

HUMAN TOBOGGAN SAVES GIRL'S LIFE

With Miss Rawson in His Arms Professor Slides Down Mountain Side.

Tacoma, Wash., July 19.—By the daring of Prof. McElfresh, Miss Bethel Rawson, one of a party of 21 mountain climbers on Mount Hood, was saved from death on Tuesday. When every other means failed he made himself a human toboggan and shot down the frozen incline with the young woman to safety.

When the party was within 300 yards of the crater a fierce blizzard struck the mountain, and the cold was extreme. Miss Rawson became unconscious, and all efforts to revive her were futile.

A start was made for the foot of the mountain, Miss Rawson being carried on an improvised stretcher. It was slow and dangerous work, and it was seen that unless she could be speedily taken to a warmer temperature there was no hope to save her life.

Prof. McElfresh proposed to have himself strapped flat on a rough board, and have Miss Rawson bound to him, and then shoot down the mountain. Holding the young woman in his arms, the professor started, and the fearful journey was made in safety.

At the timber line medical aid was procured, and Miss Rawson is now on the way to recovery.

IMPORTANT TO THE EMPIRE

Gathering at the Time of Coronation May Be Fraught With Great Results.

REPLICA OF JUBILEE CELEBRATION

All the Colonial Governments Will Be Represented and Will Hold a Conference.

Montreal, July 19.—The Star publishes the following special cable from London:

London, July 19.—Much interest is aroused by the statement that the gathering at the time of the coronation may have important results for the Empire.

It is practically certain that the precedent of the Jubilee demonstration will be followed to the extent that representatives of all the colonial governments will be asked to take part in the procession, and the Prime Ministers of the different colonial states will likely be invited.

There will probably be a conference on a number of questions of general interest, especially concerning the commercial relations between Great Britain and her various dependencies.

COMPANY ISSUES CIRCULAR

Say Trackmen Held Mistaken Impressions Concerning Their Proposals as to Pay.

MEN HAVE ALREADY WON FIGHT

Settlement Will Be Made Without Union President Wilson Figuring Prominently.

Winnipeg, July 19.—(Special.)—In an interview to-day General Manager McNicoll stated that, owing to mistaken impressions among the men as to the company's proposals in the matter of hours and rates of pay, a circular had been issued to the trackmen. One foreman who had returned to work thought he was striking for $55 per month, the amount the company had proposed to pay under the new conditions which were inaugurated June 1 last.

"But did not the men know from actual experience what pay they were getting?"

"Many of the men went out on strike June 17, before they had received their pay for that month. There has no doubt been considerable misapprehension in the matter, and the circular will explain the situation."

One of the striking trackmen in conversation with a reporter to-day claimed that the men had already won the fight. He said there was no doubt of the fact that the company was beaten at every point and would be only too glad to get the men back on the terms they had proposed. But they would not get them all back, as even yet the wages were too low, and the men could do much better with the farmers.

He predicted a settlement in a few days. The men, he said, were jubilant and stronger to-day than ever. A week ago they had weakened on some sections, but they were all out again. He believed that the reason the C.P.R. had not already come to terms was that the officials detested Mr. Wilson, the president of the union, and did not wish to acknowledge him.

The arrangements would probably be come to in some way in which Mr. Wilson would not appear prominently.

DUCHESS AFRAID OF GHOSTS

Hence Houghton Hall Has Been Relinquished as Duke of Cornwall's Future Home.

SPIRITS THAT HAUNT THE PLACE

Two Duelling Brothers and Lady Dorothy Walpole, the "Browne Lodge."

Philadelphia, July 19.—Wilberforce Hay, cabling The North American, says: It is now stated that Houghton Hall, Norfolk, concerning the lease of which I cabled you yesterday, has been relinquished as the future home of the Duke of Cornwall, on account of an unexpected cablegram from the Duke.

The reason given is that the Duchess of Cornwall cannot live in a haunted house.

Houghton Hall is said to be doubly haunted. Two brothers fought a duel there 300 years ago, and one of them was killed. His spirit haunts the billiard room.

The other ghost is a "browne ladye," the spirit of Lady Dorothy Walpole, who is believed to have been smothered by her husband, Lord Townshead.

The ghost of Lady Walpole haunts the magnificent State chamber. When George the Fourth was a visitor to Houghton Hall he slept in this chamber, and next morning was found furiously angry. He declared, with many oaths, that he would never again pass the night "in that cursed house."

"I have seen," said he, "that which I hope to God I may never see again."

Some months afterward the King unwillingly confessed that he awoke during the night and found beside his bed a little woman dressed all in brown, with dishevelled hair and ashy features. She was, the King said, apparently endeavoring to present a petition.

Nothing was said about Houghton Hall being haunted during the long residence there of the American millionaire, named Bishop, who astonished the county by the splendor of his entertainments, and who had as his guests the Prince of Wales, now King, and also the Duke of York, now, also, Duke of Cornwall.

DETECTIVES AFTER HIM.

Man Who Said He Was an Official of C.P.R. Wanted in Montreal.

Montreal, July 19.—(Special.)—There is a good deal of interest here in the case of one S. Malette, who went to the French newspaper offices and reported that he had been appointed mechanical superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway at a salary of $8000.

Of course it was an invention, but the railway authorities did not take the trouble to deny the story until Malette, it is alleged, began to trade upon his so-called superintendency. He at once fell in love with a girl of good family, and it would have likely been a match had not the game been thwarted by the publication of a denial of all those trumped-up stories.

Malette also borrowed money from friends after his alleged appointment had been noised abroad, and now the detectives are on the tracks of the man who was going to run the mechanical department of Canada's big road.

Accident on the C.P.R. Early Yesterday Morning at Cross Lake.

Winnipeg, Man., July 19.—(Special.)—An accident occurred early this morning at Cross Lake, on the C.P.R. east of here, which has seriously delayed the westbound Imperial Limited. There were several rumors afloat making the accident appear to have been a serious one. The passenger train was said to be ditched and the track torn up for considerable distance.

Mr. Leonard, the general superintendent, when questioned on the matter, said that he was the only person who had information on the subject, and the rumors spoken of were simply guesses. He had not yet received a full report on the matter, but five or six cars of a freight train running in front of the Limited had left the track for some reason at present unknown, and that there was nothing serious, no one having been injured.

RHODES IN ENGLAND.

Arrived With Dr. Jameson at Southampton—Milner Soon Leaves

London, July 19.—Cecil Rhodes and Dr. Jameson landed at Southampton this afternoon from Cape Colony. They were met by Alfred Beit, the financier, and B. A. Hawksley, counsel for the British chartered South African Company and other friends. Messrs. Rhodes and Jameson declined to discuss South Africa, saying they were no longer public men.

DEATH SENTENCE COMMUTED.

Cape Town, July 19.—Lord Kitchener has commuted the sentence of death passed on 34 prisoners of war to penal servitude for life at Bermuda.

MILNER GOING BACK.

London, July 19.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Colonial Secretary Chamberlain stated that Lord Milner, Governor of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, would return to South Africa on Aug. 10.

FRIENDLY TO FINLAND.

Policy of Antagonizing Finns Will Not Be Pursued Further.

St. Petersburg, July 19.—The Russian press as a whole has recently displayed much more moderation and benevolence in its treatment of the Finnish question than at any time since certain elements in Russia conjured up the spectre of Finnish separation. It is no secret that the views of the highest circles in Russia have undergone a change in regard to Finland.

While there is no reason to believe there will be a restoration of Finnish liberties, probably the policy of antagonising the cultivated people will not be pursued further.

FAMINE AT JERUSALEM.

Scanty Water Supply of City is Causing Suffering.

London, July 19.—"Death and famine threaten the Holy City," says the Jerusalem correspondent of The Standard in a communication dated July 6, "on account of the scanty water supply, due to the insufficient rains of last winter. The Sultan has granted permission to the municipality to bring water from the pools of Solomon thru iron pipes into the city along the line of Solomon's stone aqueduct. The new works were begun to-day on telegraphic orders from the Sultan. They will be finished in two months."

ABANDONED FIVE BABY BOYS

Heartless Traffic in Infants in Toronto Unearthed By Detective Forrest.

MARY O'ROURKE UNDER ARREST

Charged With Child Desertion—Unique Scheme for Avoiding Liability to Prosecution.

March 1—Male child, 2 weeks old, found at 193 Sherbourne-street.

May 3—Male child, 2 weeks old, found at 109 Duke-street.

June 1—Male child, 1 week old, found at 337 Ontario-street.

June 20—Male child, 8 days old, found at 173 Berkeley-street.

July 16—Male child, 2 weeks old, found at 183 Duke-street.

Police records for the past five months were searched last evening by Detective Forrest of the Wilton-avenue Division for information touching a number of cases of child desertion which occurred in the East End. The search was made immediately after the arrest took place of Mary O'Rourke, a widow woman, 37 years old, who will to-day be charged with the offence of abandoning the above five infants.

By the arrest the police say a somewhat new scheme has been unearthed, by which keepers of maternity homes could get rid of infants, and certain persons who took them make a comfortable living by keeping them for a few days and then leaving them on doorsteps.

This, in addition to throwing the expense of maintaining the infants on the city, is what the police claim Mrs. O'Rourke did during the past five months, with considerable success, until yesterday, when she was arrested.

Where They Came From.

It is stated that the police will attempt to prove that all the five above-mentioned foundlings were secured by Mrs. O'Rourke at a maternity home conducted at Deer Park by Mrs. MacCartney, and that the former was paid to take and care for the youngsters.

The arrest of Mrs. O'Rourke was made about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after Detective Forrest had conducted an investigation and had done a lot of hard work on the case.

The woman was found at 263 East King-street, where she keeps a candy store, and where she has license to maintain a baby farm.

Two More Waifs.

When Detective Forrest went to the address he found the woman's two children, a boy and a girl, aged 9 and 8 years, respectively, and two others, 3 and 5 months old, together in the yard at the rear of the premises. The child, who is 5 months old was to all appearances very ill, and Forrest, before taking Mrs. O'Rourke to the Police Station, arranged with the Morality Department to have the children cared for.

Four Children Cared for.

Staff Inspector Archibald telephoned to the Children's Shelter, and Superintendent Bustard, accompanied by Mrs. Whiddon, the police matron, drove to the home of Mrs. O'Rourke. The four children were secured, and taken to the Shelter on Adelaide-street, where they will be kept until the cases of child desertion are disposed of in the Police Court.

It is understood that Detective Forrest got the clue in the case from the fact that four of the children left on the doorsteps were wrapped up in clothing of the same material.

It is also stated that the woman will attempt to justify her actions by pleading that in none of the cases did she leave the vicinity where the children were deserted until they were taken away in the patrol wagon to the Infants' Home, and, therefore, their lives were not endangered by their abandonment.

KING SITS FOR PORTRAIT

If It Is Satisfactory Replicas Will Be Ordered for the Colonies.

MANY EVENTS TO BE COMMEMORATED

Reception of Sultan's Embassy and Conferring War Medals Two of Them.

London, July 19.—King Edward, like Napoleon Bonaparte and his restless nephew, the German Kaiser, has a high appreciation of the historical importance of the events in his reign, and is giving orders to eminent painters to commemorate them upon canvas for the benefit of posterity, while the persons participating are still alive.

The King is now sitting two hours a day to Luke Fildes for a portrait in the robes that he wore at his accession. He has ordered a picture of heroic size of the scene in the House of Lords on that occasion, and has commissioned another artist to paint a scene which occurred at St. James' Palace the other day when he received an embassy to deliver the congratulations of the Sultan of Morocco upon his accession to the throne.

Another picture will be painted of His Majesty in the act of delivering medals to the heroes of the South African war. This will introduce 18 or 20 of the most important military figures in that episode of British history. If the portrait of Mr. Fildes is satisfactory 30 or 40 replicas will be ordered for the various colonies of the British Crown. Hence the order involves the work of several years and will bring a large income to the artist.

WHERE IS JOHN STARK?

London, July 19.—The police are trying to locate John Stark, whose son, Frank Stark, met with an accident which will probably prove fatal at Lorraine, Ohio, on Monday night. The young man fell into the hold of the steamer Onoko, and fractured his skull. So far the father has not be located. The young man said his father lived in London, and had a relative in Brighton.

Paris, July 19.—M. Santos-Dumont's balloon is now repaired and is being filled. This operation will take two days.

After that M. Santos-Dumont will be ready to fulfil his promise and appear above the Place de l'Opera and again start for the Deutsch prize.

NOT GETTING ENOUGH MONEY

Commercial Travelers' Mutual Benefit Society Will Increase the Assessment.

Rates in All Classes Must Be Raised to Put Society in Sound Financial Position.

A special meeting of the Commercial Travelers' Mutual Benefit Society has been called for the purpose of raising the rates in all classes. It will be held on Saturday evening, Aug. 3, in St. George's Hall. The reason for this, given by the board, is that in consequence of the increased death rate during the last five years the board has been advised by expert actuaries that it is absolutely necessary that the rates shall be increased so as to place the society in a sound financial position.

The proposed amendments provide a new table of assessments for old members, with a high percentage of increase over the old rates; and a new table for new members.

Bylaws will also be submitted empowering the Board of Trustees to levy special assessments "to be known as additional assessments." These are to be levied after three mortuary benefits are paid out of the reserve fund.

The society has thousands of members thruout Ontario, and there is a possibility of some interesting discussion at the coming meeting.

A circular letter has been sent by Secretary Miles W. Green to all the members of the society, explaining the condition of affairs and urging attendance at the meeting, as well as impressing the fact that the amendments to the bylaws should carry.

TWENTY-FIVE MILLIONS OF GOLD

Man From Dawson Says Year's Output Will Be Larger Than Last.

Montreal, July 19.—(Special.)—Mr. G. P. MacKenzie, the principal of schools in Dawson City, arrived here this morning from the Yukon, the first to bring authentic news of the conditions and prospects on the gold fields this season.

Mr. MacKenzie is a Nova Scotian who has been in Dawson since 1898, attracted like many others by the reports of the fabulous wealth of the region. Beginning as a newspaper man on the local press and taking up his vocation of teaching as soon as the opportunity offered, he has been a keen and intelligent observer of Yukon affairs during the past three years.

As to the gold prospects, "the winter's cleaning," said Mr. MacKenzie, "is not, perhaps, as large as last year, but the year's output will be larger. The tendency is to do more work in the ground in summer than formerly, and there will, consequently, as I have just said, be a larger production for the year.

"The output last year was of the aggregate value of $20,000,000, and a conservative estimate places this year's production at from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000."

DID CHIEF DRINK?

Ottawa Police Investigators Spend the Day in Finding Out.

Ottawa, July 19.—The investigation of the charges against Chief of Police W. F. Powell was again taken up to-day, and most of the time was spent in hearing evidence about the chief drinking. The evidence was conflicting, and the prosecution did not appear to strengthen their case.

The impression is growing that the chief will be exonerated and be reinstated.

ANNUAL FINANCIAL REVIEW.

W. R. Houston has been engaged for the past two years compiling a work of reference on Canadian securities. The work, which is now published, is very complete, and includes the current annual statements of companies, the highest and lowest prices of stocks and bonds on both exchanges for each month for 10 years, number of shares sold each month for the past 18 months; rate of dividends paid for past years, and other important items in the history of the different companies, such as increases in capital stock, particulars of franchises, when bonds are redeemable, dividends payable, together with a mass of other facts. It comprises over 325 pages of solid information, well printed in a clear and concise manner, and is neatly bound in full cloth. It contains special articles on the formation of the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges. The work will be found invaluable not only to financial institutions, but also to the general investing public.

ARSON CASE DISMISSED.

St. Thomas, July 19.—The charge against Daniel Smith of Belmont, who was accused of setting fire to the residence of W. T. Nugent on Sunday night last, was tried before Magistrate McCausland yesterday afternoon. Mr. Nugent swore that, after a previous trial at Belmont, Smith went to his office and threatened to burn his house. Opposed to this testimony was that of Mrs. Smith, who said her husband was home all night, and two other witnesses, who said Smith went directly home. The magistrate dismissed the case.

GRACIOUS TO WOMEN.

St. Petersburg, July 19.—Women will in future be admitted to the University of Helsingfors on equal terms with men. In Russia women are not yet admitted to the Universities, but there are many women's colleges, some of which are similar in plan and organization to the Harvard annex.

WILL COME TO LONDON.

Chicago, July 19.—The London (Ont.) Old Boys' Association at a meeting in the Grand Pacific Hotel last evening reconsidered its decision of two weeks ago not to attend the annual reunion in the Canadian town, and decided to go. The action taken at the previous meeting was due to the attitude of the railroads.

'Twas in This Warm Weather.

It may be surprising that quite a quantity of furs were purchased last week, but such is really the case. Mr. Dineen says that he sold numerous fur garments during the torrid temperature of last week.

Many of the purchasers were visitors from across the line, who are getting ready for next winter at almost half the outlay that would be necessary for the same purchase in the United States.

Dineens', at Yonge and Temperance-streets, Toronto, have the finest fur display on the continent, and American ladies and gentlemen are apparently not slow to appreciate the fact.

Canadian furs are the best and the most popular.

Dineens' hats of all styles to suit all people are also a favorite attraction to tourists and residents alike.

CARRY IT TO A TRIUMPHANT CLOSE, ROSEBERY APPROVES WAR POLICY

Issues a Key to His Recent Speech and Hints That Some Day He May Go Back to Politics With a Following.

London, July 19.—Speaking at the City Liberal Club this afternoon, Lord Rosebery remarked that his recent manifesto, in which he said the Liberal party could not exist under the present conditions, had been followed by such an extraordinary hullabaloo that he felt convinced he had expressed, in this manifesto, the clear and exact truth in respect to the situation, and that not one of his allegations had been disproved or challenged.

An Impossible Existence.

The speaker said he wrote the manifesto because, after the meetings in Queen's Hall and at the Reform Club, unless some clear repudiation of the statement regarding the war was made, it was impossible for the Liberal party to continue to exist as a sound force, appealing to the highest sympathies of the country.

Approves the War Policy.

On the question of the war His Lordship said his starting point was that, in spite of the Jameson raid and in spite of the South African Committee, the Boers had invaded the dominions of the late Queen, and from that moment, altho he had criticized the methods of the government, yet on the main issue to carry the war to a triumphant close they would have his warmest support, and, "so far as I am concerned, has my unqualified approval."

Opposition's Opportunities.

The failing of the government should be the opportunity for the Opposition. If the Liberals would not undertake the task, another party would be created for the purpose. Lord Rosebery said, however, that he did not despair of seeing the Liberal party purged of all its anti-National elements, that the country was ripe for a domestic program, and that he believed the revolutionized Liberals would yet breathe new life into the dry bones of public office.

Would Gather Moss.

As to the statement that he would not voluntarily return to the political arena, Lord Rosebery explained that that had been his attitude since his resignation. His Lordship concluded by saying that at present he must proceed alone and plow his furrow alone, but that before he got to the end of his furrow it was possible he might find himself not alone.

Slashed the Government.

Lord Rosebery said the vote of confidence in Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, passed at the Reform Club meeting, was in the Earl of Beaconsfield's phrase: "Organized hypocrisy," and that his reason for disturbing the Olympian repose created by this vote of confidence was that the position was as perilous to the party as to the present government, and there was no impartial observer who remembered any government which had crowded such a frightful assemblage of error, weakness and wholesale blunders into its administration.

REVIEW OF TROOPS BY THE DUKE WILL REQUIRE AN IMMENSE AREA

Colonel Cotton, Quartermaster General, Inspects Sites at the Woodbine, High Park and Mimico, But Has Not Announced Choice—Public Must Also Be Considered.

Col. Cotton, Quartermaster-General, arrived in town yesterday morning to confer with Col. Otter, D.O.C., in connection with the monster military demonstration that will be held in honor of the Duke of Cornwall and York's visit.

The main object of his visit was to look about for a suitable place where the review might be held, and to this end he and Col. Otter visited the Woodbine, High Park, Mimico and several other places, but last night had not decided where the review would take place.

"We have rather a ticklish job on our hand," said Col. Cotton, when seen at the Toronto Club with Col. Otter last night. "There are two things to be considered. A large body of troops will be in Toronto at the time, and they will require a large parade place in which to manoeuvre.

"Then, too, we have to consider the public. Immense crowds will want to witness the ceremony, and their convenience will have to be taken into consideration."

Asked if any arrangements had yet been made as to where the outside troops would be quartered while in the city, Col. Cotton said there had not as yet. The first and the most important thing about the whole affair to be decided upon was the place where the review would be held. Once that was settled, the details would be quickly arranged.

The quartering of the ten thousand or so troops that will participate in the review would seem to be a big undertaking, but to the colonel's mind that was amere trifle. No difficulty would be experienced in that direction. This peaceful army of invasion may possibly be camped at the Exhibition grounds, altho that has not been settled either.

The two black chargers that are required for the Duke of Roxborough and Lord Creighton, equerries to His Royal Highness, who will ride on either side of his carriage, will be supplied, said Col. Cotton, by the Dominion government.

Col. Cotton leaves for Ottawa this evening.

SIXTY-TWO DAYS ADRIFT IN A BOAT

An Argentine Transport Picks Up a Farmer and His Son Off Falkland Islands.

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, July 19.—The Argentine transport Guardia Nacional has just arrived from a Southern trip. The transport picked up a little boat with persons in it—a man named Newman and his son John, 9 years old, of Falkland Islands.

They were carried away from Stanley in the little boat, and were tossed about for 62 days. They had in the boat a small supply of potatoes and turnips when they left Stanley.

Newman is a carpenter and has not the slightest idea about navigation. He had neither a compass nor any other nautical instrument. His little boat was not capsized. It was carried far south. Newman says he saw many icebergs. The current brought his boat back within the path of the Argentine transport.

Upon their arrival here the father and son were lionized. President Roca gave the boy money.
