ALTAR CROSS IS STOLEN DEED ONE OF FANATICS

Rector of St. Margaret's Believes Spite Prompted Removal of Sacred Emblem.

Is religious fanaticism responsible for the disappearance of a massive, beautifully designed altar cross from St. Margaret's Church, Spadina-avenue?

"This is the only conclusion at which we can arrive," said the rector, Rev. R. J. Moore, last night. "There were a number of other things, including vases, brass reading desk and offertory plate that might have been taken, but they were left untouched. It may have been the act of a crank, as there are always some cranks to be found."

Rev. Mr. Moore said that the theft occurred last Tuesday afternoon. A meeting was in progress in the basement, and the side door was left open for ten minutes. Some one was heard moving about in the church, but this did not cause any uneasiness.

As the cross weighs about 50 pounds, the act of making away with it was one of considerable daring. It was specially designed by W. A. Langton and presented to the church, 20 years ago. The rector says it will cost $100 to replace it.

NEARLY HALF MILLION FOR COLLEGE BUILDINGS

Board of Governors Permitted to Spend $450,000 for School of Pedagogy.

The application of the board of governors of Toronto University to be permitted to raise funds on the security of their property for the purposes of the new faculty of pedagogy has been approved by the government.

An act was passed last session limiting the amount the board might raise to $2,000,000.

All the expenditure, however, is subject to the approval of the government. In the present instance the amount required is about $450,000. Of this, $100,000 will go for the site of the new demonstration schools on Bloor-street, between Spadina-avenue and Huron-street. The building will cost about $150,000, and $200,000 will be needed for other purposes.
