BIG MICHAEL O'BRIEN STARTED SMALL RIOT

Husky Nova Scotian and Friend Score Several Knockouts and Smash Bar.

POLICEMAN WAS KICKED

He Pluckily Held on to His Man Until Reinforcements Appeared, However.

Suddenly seized with pugilistic mania and a hatred of things in general, Michael O'Brien, a husky looking native of Nova Scotia, walked into the Royal Canadian Hotel, 110 East Front street, at 7.30 last night, and proceeded to "clean up" the bar. First of all he started an argument with a number of men standing around, and when anyone passed a remark or comment that did not meet with his approval he swung with all his might on their jaw or some other vulnerable point, with the result that a number paid a trip to dreamland.

Then the bartenders entered into the fray, and after a fierce struggle O'Brien was thrown out on the street. There he was joined by a companion of large proportions, who, like a true friend, expressed a desire to help him out, and a challenge was extended to all concerned. By this time the victims of O'Brien's wrath had recovered from their slumber, and, bent on revenge, rushed out on the sidewalk, where the two pugilists were standing, and shouted "Come on!" What happened afterwards was described by the bartenders as "awful."

Rushing one by one at the two men those from the bar were met with well-timed wallops on the jaw and down they went in the snow to dream again of fairyland. Those who had managed to escape "haymakers" made a speedy get away, and O'Brien and his friend were left in possession, like the king who yearned for more worlds to conquer. O'Brien walked into the empty bar and smashed the glass door and cleaned up the glasses on the counter.

A Call for Police.

Then from somewhere came a yell of "police" and the two fighters separated, running in different directions. O'Brien walked along to George street and then up to King street, proceeding east to the Clyde Hotel, where he was stopped by Policeman 385. Asked for his name he replied with a terrific kick which caught the policeman on the right side of the face and felled him. Picking himself up the policeman tackled the fighter and held on to him until reinforcements arrived and O'Brien was taken to Court Street Station. There he refused to give his name. He is charged with maliciously injuring property and assaulting the police.

A chase was started to find O'Brien's companion who made away in a western direction and down to the railway tracks, where he managed to evade his pursuers.

Maximilian Harden's Publication Said Kaiser Ordered Pardon for Her.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—(1.40 a.m.)—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Copenhagen says a rumor is in circulation there to the effect that Maximilian Harden's newspaper, Die Zukunst, published in Berlin, was suppressed recently because it published a statement that Emperor William had ordered that Miss Edith Cavell, the English nurse executed by the Germans in Brussels, should be pardoned.

PROVINCIAL CHARTER FOR AMERICAN LEGION

It Will Look After Ninety-Seventh Now and After War Also.

RECRUITING IS BRISK

Two Hundred and Thirty-Five Offer and Hundred and Eighty-Eight Accepted.

To fully equip the 97th (American) Overseas Battalion and to care for the families of the soldiers composing it, both now and after the war if need be, the formation of "The American Legion" has been decided upon. It will take out a Provincial charter under that name and be made up of honorary, service and active members of the 97th Battalion. This chartered company will receive the backing of influential and wealthy Americans of Toronto. The formation of the Company was finally decided upon at a recent meeting, and at a meeting to be held on Wednesday night the officers will be elected and committees appointed.

Recruiting is Brisk.

Recruiting for overseas service took a decided upward bound yesterday in Toronto, about 235 men offering to join the colors and 188 of them being accepted for enlistment. It was one of the most successful enlistment days for several months and came close to setting a record.

Of the 188 men enlisting, 115 joined the 124th Battalion, Col. Chadwick's command, 1 ing brought the strength of the 124th up to 256. The Royal Grenadiers Overseas Battalion is now up to 1000 officers and men.

Officers Will Recruit.

The 109th Regiment's officers met last night and appointed a committee to have charge of the recruiting campaign for the 169th, the overseas unit which the 109th will soon start to raise. The 109th's campaign promises to be a whirlwind one, and to take Toronto by storm.

King's Message.

King George's Christmas Day message to the soldiers and sailors of the British Empire was issued in the orders at Exhibition camp yesterday. The message tells of the gratitude felt by the King and Queen towards every soldier and sailor and states absolute trust is placed in their valor by both the King and all his subjects.

Capt. C. A. V. McCormack, second sergeant, junior major, of the 116th Overseas Battalion, has been promoted to rank of major in the C.E.F.

More Wounded Back.

A third contingent of returned invalided soldiers arrived in Toronto yesterday morning from Quebec. Their reception was not a very enthusiastic one, as only about fifty people, mostly relatives, were at the Union Station when the train bearing the war heroes arrived.

Sergt.-Major Geo. Crighton and R. T. Riddell of the hospital's commission extended to the men an official civic welcome. Plenty of motor cars were on hand to take them, first, to the military convalescent home on College street, and then to their own homes, where most of them will be on leave for a week or so. At the convalescent home the soldiers had a hearty breakfast and were addressed by W. D. McPherson, M.L.A.

Col. Bickford leaves on Thursday and will be absent six weeks, observing conditions at the front and the sort of training the troops there are receiving. He has letters of introduction to the chief of staffs of the Canadian, British and French armies.

The appointment of Major J. S. Campbell, 83rd Battalion, as inspector of training in county battalion areas is announced.
