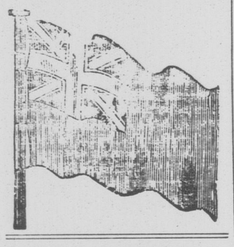
FREDERICTON, N. B., NOV. 26, 1892.



HON. A. G. BLAIR ELECTED.

The Hon. Attorney General Blair has been elected by the people of Queens county by a sweeping majority over J. DeV. Neales, who was induced through the efforts of Mr. Pitts and his supporters to oppose Mr. Blair, the victory being an overwhelming one for the Attorney General; every parish in the county giving him a majority. The opponents of Mr. Blair used the religious cry for all it was worth, but the electors of Queens were not to be taken by any such filthy bait, and showed their disapproval of such despicable canvasses by electing Mr. Blair by a majority of nearly 900 votes. The Presbyterians at Chipman, which place is also a strong orange parish, whom Rev. Mr. Thompson thought to influence by the Bathurst school question, gave Mr. Blair a rousing lead at that poll.

Following are the returns compared:

	Blair	Neales	Ferris	Woods
Brunswick	57	23	45	28
Cambridge	228	35	181	52
Canning	98	22	75	42
Chipman	196	42	228	39
Gagetown	117	86	89	184
Hampstead	176	134	110	137
Johnston	197	101	155	104
Petersville	184	177	147	251
Waterborough	158	57	153	84
Wickham	154	14	81	81
	1583	691	1254	968

It will be seen from the above figures that Mr. Blair's majority was 892 against a majority of 286 for Mr. Ferris, a month ago. The votes polled numbered 2,274 against 2,222 at the general election, so that the result was not due to any decline in the interest felt by the public. The meaning of the election is that 52 persons who did not vote at the general election came out to vote for Mr. Blair Tuesday, while 272 persons who voted for Mr. Woods a month ago voted for Mr. Blair. Mr. Neales failed to poll one half as many votes as Mr. Blair and loses in his deposit of $100.

The day has gone by when the religious cry should be used in this province, and the men who attempt to array creed against creed, merely for personal gain, are men only in name. Such persons are more good to a church, society, or their country, when they are conspicuous by their absence.

LABOUR STRIKES.

Within the last two decades labour strikes have been unusually common. Capital and labour from time to time have come into serious conflict, both sides alternately carrying the day, while the immense losses to business and the immediate community have been incalculable, and the blow falls the heavier upon those the least able to resist it, that is the working men. The Homestead Carnegie strike has just come to an ignominous end after a five months struggle, loss of several millions of dollars, and the sacrifice of a dozen lives. The workmen were at length obliged to surrender, not only so, but in going back to their places the men are calmly told that it must be on reduced wages. This dear bought experience ought to be a lesson to all hot heads, those who instigate strikes in a gambling spirit, who interfere with men who are satisfied with their positions, yet forced to strike because others do so, in hopes that they themselves (the instigators) may profit by the venture, after a miserable shiftless set of "scabs," incompetent workmen, too often dissipated, but belonging to the combination they are connected with and share alike the gains of their craft to the disadvantage of their more provident and meritorious confrares. It should be remembered by such organizations, that labour like anything else can never fail of meeting with a fair compensation, like water it will find its level. A good work man has nothing to fear, he will like an article of merchandise, command the market according to its worth—while a poor workman, or a shiftless one, will always be a laggard, and only make head way he thinks by hanging on to the others and gaining as they gain. As well might our merchants combine and purchase up all the sour flour they can find and fix a price upon it and compel the community to purchase from them, or go without. This would create a panic for the time until other methods are worked to bring in a better article independently of said combination. So with mechanical strikes. In punishing their old employers they are punishing themselves more so—but, as the world is broad and its resources are great the panic soon subsides—with the incoming of new appliances the trouble gradually passes away and the normal stage is once more reached, while the real sufferers are those who raised the standard of revolt, and lost their situations. Unions are all very well in a certain sense. If men combine to aid their fellows in sickness or distress of any kind it is humane and well; but when they attempt to dictate to their employers whose capital alone provides the employment, they go out of their way and run their heads against themselves. It is through thrift, prudence enterprise and intelligence that men accumulate capital to enable them to set up business for themselves. Unlike the men they employ whose capital is the labour of their hands, they have involved in their business large sums, perhaps twenty, thirty or forty thousand dollars, and that business is in competition with others, all vieings with each other for some particular contract—so that the capital thus invested rests upon anything like a sure foundation. Take the carpenter or the mason—in large cities such men are often working upon capital of fifty and a hundred thousand dollars. Sometimes they make quite a profit, as they should upon a risky undertaking—at other times they lose upon the contract, so sharp is the rivalry. Employment is given, through the enterprise of such men, to hundreds of workmen. Is it fair then to combine to the injury of such men, to kill the hen that lays the golden egg, when, as remarked above, skilled labor will always find its reward. In the one case the man who provides the employment is sought to be crippled by the man who gives nothing but his labor, which he can carry about with him from one town to another—not so the capitalist, for where his property is there he has to remain, a benefit to his neighbors and all those who supply his living needs. Nor do we mean to say, at the same time, that the daily toiler is not entitled to a fair and full consideration. While wages are regulated according to the law of demand and supply, as in all other cases the wage problem will regulate itself in accordance with quantity and quality. Combinations or unions are therefore of no benefit to employers or employees, but rather an injury, specially if pushed to a revolutionary point, and we know of no better illustration of this than is contained in the collapse of the Carnegie strike at Homestead, Pennsylvania. Innocent families suffer by those inconsiderate strikes more than the strikers themselves.

THE ST. JOHN ELECTION.

The election held in St. John on Tuesday last, to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons, caused by the resignation of C. N. Skinner, resulted in favor of Mr. John A. Chesley, who defeated the liberal conservative nominee Mr. George Robertson, by two hundred and thirty-one votes. The contest seems to have been very interesting, not many more than half the qualified voters considering it worth the trouble to cast their ballots. The result was rather a surprise to most people, as it was thought that Mr. Robertson, backed as he was, by what is known as the government machine, as well as whatever influence could be brought from Ottawa, would have an easy victory. Though the liberals did not put up a man to contest the seat, they have gained exceedingly by the election of Mr. Chesley on Tuesday last. The conservative party in St. John at the present time is in anything but harmony and it looks now as if the liberals at the next general election, with two men in the field, will sweep the constituency. Mr. Chesley announced himself as an independent, and says that he will be in the field at the next general election. If this should be the case the liberals will have a great advantage, as Mr. Chesley's support will be entirely from the conservative ranks, and this vote drawn from the regular conservatives would most assuredly elect the liberals. Mr. Chesley will not accept any nomination from the conservative party and he is not a man that can be put aside, especially now, since the conservative machine has done everything to defeat him in the present campaign.

The working of the conservative party in St. John will be watched with much interest by outsiders, and unless something very unforseen should turn up, it looks as if toryism in the metropolitan constituency has received a blow from which it will take many years to recover. In the meantime the liberals will look on with amusement and by the time of the next election will be able to make things most interesting.

NOTES AND NOTIONS

Running Comments on Passing Events.

Sundry Ebullitions in Prose and Rhyme.

How the Domestic, Social and Literary World is Wagging.

George Grossmith, the great English comedian is at present in New York There is a likelihood of his being seen in Montreal shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendall are again to make a tour of the States—under their own management. It is said their American plays are not proving successes in England. "The Senator's wife" had a very indifferent reception, and "Clyde Fitch's Marriage" has been slated at Glasgow.

E. S. Willard will open an extended engagement at the Star Theatre, New York, next week.

"Mavourneen" has made a big hit at the Yonkers' Opera House, New York, with Chauncey Olcott in the part originally played by W. J. Scanlon.

Alexander Salvini has just closed one of the most notable engagements at San Francisco in the history of the California Theatre. It was of three weeks' duration, and every night the theatre is reported to have been packed. Mr. Salvini made a pronounced success, and the press united in praising his excellent qualities as a romantic actor.

Edwin Booth reached his 59th birthday Nov. 13. He passed the day quietly at the Players' Club, New York, where he resides, and he was the recipient of many congratulatory letters and floral tributes. About seventy-five members of the club appended their autographs to a testimonial of felicitation to the distinguished actor.

"The Fringe of Society" will be produced for the first time Nov. 29, at the Globe Theatre, Boston, by John Stetson. Joseph Hawort, Theo. Roberts, Jane Stuart, Carrie Turner, Harry St. Maur will be in the cast. It is an adoptation of Dumas' "Le Demi Monde."

Lewis Morrison is playing the Devil in Philadelphia this week, and he has a dispensation from the Pope to play Richelieu in St. Paul next month. E. J. Swartz, the Philadelphia playwright, has furnished a new comedy called "The Syndicate."

Mr. Paderewski has recovered from his illness, but will give no more public performances until he goes to America.

Mr. Lawrence Irving, son of Mr. Henry Irving, is collaborating with Mr. Seymour Hicks, on a new drama for his father.

Mr. Lavigne, of Sohmer Park, tells a good story of mistaken identity. That gentleman while at the Windsor recently, was addressed by a party of strangers as "Hon. Mr. Chapleau," who insisted on his having a champagne supper in honor of the meeting. Mr. Lavigne who is fond of a joke and who, by the way, is almost the "counterfeit presentiment" of the Minister, succeeded in disguising his identity during the repast and left his friends that night in the fond belief that he was "the other fellow."

WHAT MR. COSTIGAN SAID.

Remarks on the Manitoba School Question That Were Misconstrued.

As some remarks have been made concerning the statement made at the banquet Thursday night by Hon. Mr. Costigan on the Manitoba question, it may be of interest to give his exact words, which will be found a sufficiently diplomatic answer to the question put to him. After mentioning that he had been asked to state the position of the Government on the Manitoba case. Mr. Costigan said: "A committee of the Executive Council has been appointed to hear the case that has been prepared by the minority in Manitoba. The very fact of the Government having appointed a committee for that purpose ought to show that until there has been submitted and reported upon, no Minister would be ass enough to declare the policy of the Government in advance." Mr. Costigan left Saturday morning and will proceed to Ottawa by way of the Temiscouata railway—Transcript.

Not Going out of Business

C. H. Thomas & Co of the Oak Hall clothing store deny the rumors going around the city that they intend going out of business. This report was started by the fact that last week you could not go to any part of the city without meeting a man or a woman with a bundle under their arms marked Oak Hall, but this is accounted for by the fact that last week was the week of the Big Cheap sale of Boys clothing at Oak Hall and that customers turned out in force to show C. H. Thomas & Co. that they appreciate their efforts to give the people good goods at low prices. This cheap sale of boys goods will be continued all next week and customers may depend on buying Boys Overcoats, Suits and Reefers cheaper than ever before.—adv.

SPORTING.

Notes.

Wm O'Connor, the well known Toronto oarsman died Wednesday afternoon after a short illness of typhoid fever,

On a kite shaped track, this week, Stamboul trotted a mile in 2.07¼, with rain falling at the finish. This breaks the world's trotting record for stallions.

Harold Hegan and McCormick will leave for Minneapolis about the middle of next week where they will immediately go into training.

Australian Billy Murphy wants to fight George Dixon at 115 pounds. Murphy is now matched to fight Tommy White of Chicago in San Francisco.

The father of James Corbett says the champion has agreed to retire from the ring after he has fought once more. He wants that fight to be with Mitchell.

A Mysterious Tragedy.

Intense excitement has been caused at Rome by a mysterious tragedy at San Paucreazri, a suburb of the city, where Father Blondet, a priest, lived with his sister. A laborer named Mazzieri, employed about the place, on Sunday entered the room occupied by Father Blondet. He had been in but a short time when he rushed out with blood pouring from wounds in his body. To his neighbors, who were passing, he declared that when he went into the room he found Father Blondet in a very excitable mood. The priest drew a revolver and shot him. As Mazzieri fled from the room he heard another shot and heard the priest fall. The people ran to the house and found the body of the priest's sister in one of the rooms, where she had been murdered. The body of Father Blondet was found on the floor. One theory is that the priest became insane and killed his sister. Another is that Mazzieri is himself the criminal.

It is particularly pleasant at this season to take a walk through the spacious store of Fred B. Edgecombe, for it has such an inviting appearance from the quantity of beautiful fall and winter goods displayed not only in the large show windows but everywhere about the store in the various departments. Almost any time you will find a crowd and a stir in the place, which is evidence in itself that the shopping public appreciate a business house where they can get their wants supplied as well as in a city ten times the size of Fredericton.

6TH HALF-YEARLY COMPETITION,

The Most Interesting Contest Ever Offered by the Canadian Agriculturist.

One Thousand Dollars in Cash, a pair of handsome Shetland Ponies, Carriage and Harness, and over two thousand other valuable prizes for the Agriculturist's brightest readers! Who will have them? According to the usual custom for some years past the publishers of THE AGRICULTURIST now offer their Sixth Half-yearly Literary Competition. This grand competition will, no doubt, be the most gigantic and successful one ever presented to the people of the United States and Canada.

One Thousand Dollars in cash will be paid to the person sending in the largest list of English words constructed from letters in the words "The Canadian Agriculturist."

Five Hundred Dollars in cash will be given to the second largest list.

A Handsome Pair of Shetland Ponies, Carriage and Harness, will be given for the third largest list.

Over one thousand additional prizes awarded in order of merit: One Grand Piano; $300 organ; $400 piano; Dinner Sets; Ladies' Gold Watches; Silk Dress Patterns; Portiere Curtains, Silver Tea Services, Tennyson's Poems, bound in cloth; Dickens' in 12 volumes, bound in cloth, etc.

As there are more than 1,000 prizes, any one who takes the trouble to prepare an ordinary good list will not fail to receive a valuable prize. This is the biggest thing in the competition line that we have ever placed before the public, and all who do not take part will miss an opportunity of a life time.

Rules—1. A letter cannot be used oftener than it appears in the words "The Canadian Agriculturist." For instance the word "eggs" could not be used, as there is but one "g" in the three words. 2. Words having more than one meaning but spelled the same can be used but once. 3. Names of places and persons barred. 4. Errors will not invalidate a list—the wrong words will simply not be counted.

Each list must contain one dollar to pay for six month's subscription to "The Agriculturist." If two or more tie, the largest list which bears the earliest postmark will take the first prize, and the others will receive prizes in order of merit. United States money and stamps taken at par.

The object in offering these magnificent prizes is to introduce our popular magazine into new homes, in every part of the American continent.

Every competitor enclosing 30 cents in Lamps extra, will receive free, by mail, postpaid, one to "The Canadian Agriculturist's" Elegant Souvenier Spoons of Canada.

Prizes awarded to persons residing in the United States will be shipped from our New York office free of duty. All money letters should be registered.
