The Pleasant Spring has Come.

BY ISAAC F. SHEPARD.

The pleasant Spring has come again,
Its voice is in the trees,
It speaks from every sunny glen,
It rides upon the breeze
The scattered flocks are lowing
Beneath each shady tree.—
The gentle winds are blowing;
Oh, come, rejoice with me!

The pleasant Spring has come again,
I hear the river's roar,
It sparkles, foams, and leaps, as when
My summer skiff it bore!
Stern Winter's chain is rended,
The gushing founts are free,
And light with water blended,
Is dancing o'er the sea!

The pleasant Spring has come again,
All nature's heart is glad,
The mountains rise like giant men,
And smile with beauty clad!
The pretty flowers are springing
In every greenwood shade,
There perfums round them flinging,
As sweet as Eden made.

The plesant Spring has come again,
The ploughman's songs arise,
While woodland echoes mock, and then
The thrilling cadence dies,
The merry birds are singing
Afar the music floats,
And every vale is ringing
With soft and mellow notes.

The pleasant Spring has come again,
Its voice is in the trees,
It speaks from every sunny glen,
It rides upon the breeze!
The pretty flowers are springing,
The gushing founts are free,
The merry birds are singing;
Let all rejoice with me!

According to Dr. Playfair, at London prices, a man can lay a pound of flesh on his body with milk at 3s; with turnips at 2s 9d; with potatoes, carrots, and butcher's meat, free from bones or fat, at 3s; with oatmeal, at 2s 10d, with bread, flour, and barleymeal, at 1s 2d; and with beans, at less than 6d.

The congregation who worship in one of the most gorgeous churches at the west end, are about to construct a separate and cheaper place of worship for the poor. This is making steerage passengers of the poor on their voyage to eternity.

In all the operations of nature is a view to the future; it should be so with the actions of man; and those pursuits which have no other aim beyond mere present gratification, are unworthy of him.

As lowness of spirit proceeds oftener from the state of the stomach than that of the mind, it would be as well for intending suicides to try an emetic, before having recourse to arsenic, prussic acid, rope, or razor.

He that instructs one that thinks himself wise enough to instruct himself hath a fool for his master.

Among the many properties of human nature, which almost exceed comprehension, comes the parsimony of the rich, and the extravagance of the poor.

TRIUMPHANT SUCCESS OF

Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life,

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR

Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and Consumption.

THE most celebrated and infallible remedy for Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and every form of Pulmonary Consumption, is the HUNGARIAN BALSAM OF LIFE, discovered by that eminent medical chemist, Dr. Buchan, of London, England, and extensively known as the 'Great English Remedy.

It has been tested for upwards of seven years in Great Britain and on the continent of Europe, where it is universally considered the great and only remedy for this awful malady, and is now introduced to the public under the immediate superintendence of the inventor. Within three years it has been distributed from Maine to Florida, and from Canada to Wisconsin, and its effects are every where alike ASTONISHING AND TRIUMPHANT.

As a preventive medicine, and an antidote to the consumptive tendencies of the climate, it is invaluable. As a remedy for severe and obstinate coughs Inflammation of the Lungs, croup, &c. it is unrivaled. But the Proprietors so confident of the merit of this great remedy, in the worst forms of consumption, that he prefers to have it used by the DYING INVALID, rather than by persons afflicted with some simple and less dangerous disorder of the throat and lungs:—this may seem strong language, but it is the result of experience in thousands of cases, sustained by the most intelligent and unimpeachable testimony. It is not pronounced an infallible remedy in all cases, but it is THE MOST INFALLIBLE remedy known to the civilized world. It is the best preventive of hereditary consumption—it is the best defender against the influences of climate—it is the best remedy for incipient consumption—and it is the great and only remedy for that fearful softening of the lungs—inflammation of the membrane, and tuberculous decay, which are the last effects of that dreadful scourge, and which are erroneously supposed to be beyond the reach of medical aid:—the agent or proprietors of other medicines dare not claim for their preparations a power like this: they know that in no case have such effects been produced:—the grand object and purpose of the common 'remedies' is simply to give relief—not to cure: this is easily done by an intelligent Physician or Druggist; but while dallying with these delusive compounds, the patient rapidly declines, and every day places him farther and farther beyond the reach of hope.

Such is not the case with the Hungarian Balsam It is always salutary in its effects—never injurious. It is not an opiate—it is not a tonic—it is not a mere expectorant. It is not intended to lull the invalid into a fatal security. It is a great remedy—a grand healing and curative compound; the great and only remedy which medical science and skill has yet produced for the treatment of this hitherto uncontquerable malady. It is in fact the best remedy in the world!

[From the John Bull newspaper, London.

There is certainly some mysterious and occult virtue in the Hungarian Bals
