THE FARMERSVILLE REPORTER.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

That Occur in Various Ways During the Week.

Look out for some important announcements next week.

Our office will be removed to Victoria street in about two weeks.

Abel Stevens took his stallion "North Lincolm" to the Ottawa Fair.

Quite a number of our citizens are off to the Provincial Exhibition this week.

J.Justice is drilling a well for Isaac Robison. Isaac believes their is nothing like water.

Cheap John was at the Fair as usual, selling his wit and wares. Johnny always draws a crowd.

Mr. Amos Blanchard, who has been dangerously ill for some days, is slightly better this morning.

Frank Wiltsie has purchased the house and lot belonging to Wm. Allingham, and will at once move his family there.

The proprietors of the carding mill report a prosperous season's business. They are getting ready for cloth dressing and fulling.

Very few complaints were made this year about the partiality of the judges. There seemed to be general satisfaction with the result.

The High and Model school are fast filling up with pupils. The prospects are that there will be a large attendance this fall and winter.

A meeting of the board of directors will be held on Monday, Oct. 6th, at 1 p.m., when all business in connection with the late fair will be settled up.

Report says that there is a youth who lives away up on a street towards sundown who is so gushingly gushing that he is nearly worried to death with the attentions of the fair sex. He seldom appears on the streets now a-days without a lady hanging on each arm, and a long train of ardent admirers bringing up the rear.

The contract for carrying the mail over the new route between Farmersville and Mallorytown has been awarded to Wm. Mott. The mail will leave here after the arrival of the stage from the west and connect with the G. T. R. mail trains at Mallorytown going east and west. Wednesday next, October 1st, is the day on which the first trip will be made.

FROM THE COUNTIES.

Glen Buell.

Lines on the death of Elva Myrtle, infant daughter of John and Sarah Borthwick, who died September 4th, 1884.

God looked among his cherub band.
And one was wanting there,
To swell along the holy band
The hymns of praise and prayer.

One little soul which short had been
Half way 'tween earth and sky,
Untempted in a world of sin,
He watched with loving eye.

It was too promising a flower
To bloom upon this earth,
And God did give it angel power
And bright celestial birth.

The world was all too black and cold,
To yield it quiet rest;
God brought it to a Shepherd's fold
And laid it on His breast.

There, mother, in thy Saviour's arms;
Forever undefiled,
Amid the little cherub band,
Is thy beloved child.

L. L. L.

The following is a sample of the many letters we receive for our Lamb's Lubricating Liniment, and shows to the public its fame is fast becoming known abroad as well as home. One bottle will convince the most incredulous of its wonderful curative powers:

LANCASTER, June 20th 1884.

Mr. J. P. Lamb,

DEAR SIR:—Please send me one dozen of your L. L. Liniment as soon as possible, as I intend going away soon and I want to take some with me, it is such a good medicine to keep in the house for almost every complaint or accident. We think it will cure almost anything, and have, as you know, used it a long time, always giving the best satisfaction.

Mother is troubled with the rheumatism and it always helps her and the only thing she ever got to give her relief. We would not be without it for a good deal and hope it may become widely known that it may give relief to many sufferers.

Yours truly,
ANNIE J. NICHOLSON.
