$7.50 CWT. FOR HOGS

A Few Loads of Hay Sold at $16 a Ton on the Local Market.

The only offering of any size on the local market today was the shipment of live hogs. The price today was $7.50 per cwt., which was slightly higher than the prevailing prices in the surrounding shipping points.

A few loads of hay were sold at the same prices as last week, the average selling price being $16.00. Last week nearly one hundred loads were sold, but as the demand was as large as the supply the prices did not change. The offerings in the hay market last week were the largest during the past six weeks. One load of straw was sold today at $10.00 per ton, and a few loads of oats at $1.15 per bushel.

The fruit section was rather small, the only offerings being a few lots of grapes, which were quoted at 15 and 20 cents per basket, and apples which were quoted at the same prices as prevailed during last week.

ALLOW WOMEN TO MONOPOLIZE THE WORK

Rev. Canon Tucker Says Men Are Laggards in the Churches.

"Why do you men stand in the background and allow the women to monopolize the work of the church? Is it not the highest privilege that you can enjoy to uphold the hands of one who is the representative of God and the church in your midst?" asked Rev. Canon Tucker during the course of an able sermon delivered last evening at the anniversary services in St. George's Anglican Church. Dr. Tucker urged those before him to reach out for eternal and spiritual things, stating that as a nation or individual grasps these, so it may look for true progression and strength.

In the morning Rev. R. W. Norwood, rector of Cronyn Memorial Church, occupied the pulpit, and spoke of the relations of the churchgoer to the house of God. He emphasized the need of a greater reverence for the church, stating that as a visit to a friend's house reveals that friend's personality to us, so the interior of God's house should be a sacred symbol of his presence.

Special music was rendered by the choir under the leadership of Miss Minnie Raymond, and at night Mr. Westman's quartette also sang most excellently. "Oh, God, Omnipotent."

AMUSEMENTS

"The Comedy of Errors."

"The Comedy of Errors," known, perhaps, as Shakespeare's most humorous play, was presented by the famous Ben Greet players in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium on Saturday night, and proved a most worthy attraction. The seating capacity of the house was taxed to its utmost, not an empty seat remaining, and a number who arrived late preferred to stand in the aisles rather than miss the performance. And it was well worth remaining to see.

The male members of the cast were exceptionally clever, and left nothing to be desired. Antiphilus of Ephesus, and Antopholus of Syracuse, were well represented by George Seybolt and William J. Keighley. Percival Vivian and F. Creighton-Hale, as the two Dromios, were real funmakers in their conception of a difficult role, and the audience was kept convulsed throughout with their antics. Aegeon, merchant of Syracuse, father of Antipholus, was given an excellent portrayal by Leonard Shepherd.

Grace Halsey Mills, as Adriana, and Anne Thompson as Luciana, her sister, were both graceful and beautiful women.

The entire play was well presented, and caused a good wholesome laugh from start to finish. The audience proved themselves thoroughly appreciative of its merits.

BURWELL STREET LADY DIED, AGED 94 YEARS

Mrs. Jane Muttart Passed Away on Saturday Afternoon After Week's Illness

Mrs. Jane Muttart, widow of George Muttart, who predeceased her many years, and was one of the pioneers of Huron County, succumbed to an attack of paralysis at her home, 350 Burwell street, Saturday afternoon, in her 94th year.

Mrs. Muttart was born in Fifeshire, Scotland, Dec. 27, 1818, and removed to this country with her parents when a child. The family located in Huron County, where she remained until removing to this city many years ago. She was the mother of eleven children, six of whom survive. Mrs. Muttart was an adherent of the Presbyterian Church.

She was active and retained all her faculties until one week ago, when she was stricken with paralysis.

Funeral services were conducted at her late residence Sunday afternoon by Rev. Mr. McKenzie, of Ottaway Avenue Christian Workers' Church, and the remains were forwarded on the London, Huron and Bruce train at 8:30 this morning to Exeter, where interment was made this afternoon. Rev. Mr. Martin, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, of South London, who was in Exeter today, officiated at the grave.

Her surviving children are three sons —Robert E., of Goodells, Mich., George, of Rainy River, and Victor J., of Wisconsin; and three daughters Mrs. Wm. Howard, of Mineola, Man., Mrs. A. M. Connor, of Norwich, Conn., and Miss Janet, at home.

C. D. BURDICK OWNS THE HIGGINS FARM

Purchased the Land for the Sum of $32,000.

It has been learned that Mr. C. D. Burdick, formerly manager of the Helena Costume Company, has purchased the Higgins farm, in East London, for the sum of $32,000. It is his intention to break it up into building lots and factory sites.

The McCormick Company are endeavoring to secure options on several pieces of property for the proposed new factory. Some time ago they did bond a number of suitable locations, but the federal square idea did not then appear likely to be fulfille, so the options were allowed to lapse. The definite offer of the Government to contribute $130,000 to the scheme has caused the company to again secure options, if possible.

In the meantime the real estate activity in the eastern portion of the city has made prices of land soar, and the company could not secure the land for twice the money asked some time ago. It is understood that some locations have been bonded, and they are being held, pending the result of the vote on the federal square.

CRUMLIN MAN

strong grip upon his throat, compelled him to turn over. The money and his watch were taken out of his pockets, but the latter was thrown on the ground with the remark, "I don't want that."

The robber then broke away and ran across the farm towards the C. P. R. tracks, but investigations on Sunday morning showed that he had taken a circular course and had returned to the scene of the tussle to recover his hat, which had fallen off during the scuffle.

Mr. Wilkinson, as soon as he was able, went to the house of his nearest neighbor, Mr. Payne, on the sixth concession, and the constable at Thamesford was communicated with, and upon his advice High Constable Hughes, of this city, was notified, and given the particulars of the robbery.

Badly Beaten.

Mr. Wilkinson, although badly bruised, was at work today on the farm of Mr. Wm. Smith, lot 3, con. 5, and was interviewed by a representative of The Advertiser. He stadted that he was considerably the worse for the encounter and his throat was very sore from the grips of the assailant. He was able to get a good description of his assailant and it is expected that the police will soon have the suspect under arrest.

Carefully Planned.

The robbery was one of the most carefully planned and carried out that has been brought to the attention of the police of this county. The man suspected of the assault was seen riding a bicycle from the city about three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, and was observed by several people riding back to the city about 8 o'clock in the evening. Sometime previous to Mr. Wilkinson's arrival home he entered the stable and prepared for the attack. He so arranged the stable doors that he could have a complete view of the yard, and had unlatched the door between the cow stable and the horse stable so that he could easily make a getaway if Wilkinson was accompanied by another man. As soon as he saw that he was unaccompanied he entered the stable and secreted himself in the stall.

An Ugly Weapon.

The weapon used in the attack was a piece of rubber hose about twenty inches long and two inches in diameter, which was lying in the yard, havingbeen discarded from the threshing outfit.

The man suspected of the crime has been in the neighborhood for the past four weeks. He was seen by a large number of the people on Saturday, and his description tallies with that of the assaulted man. Mr. Wilkinson states that his assailant was a man of about 5 feet 7 inches in height, and weighed about 160 pounds. The suspect was seen in London on Sunday wearing a new overcoat, and his arrest is expected momentarily.

Searching for Robber.

Mr. Wilkinson is very popular in that section of the county, and a large number of the men were searching the county all Sunday for the assailant. If he had been caught he would have had a very warm reception. Mr. Wilkinson is an unmarried man and lives alone, but quite often he is visited by some of the neighbors. They said today that if the man had asked for some financial assistance he would surely have received it as Mr. Wilkinson has often helped those in financial straits.

IS ACCOMMODATION SHORT IN LONDON?

Statement Issued By License Commissioners on Hotels of City.

CITY ENJOYS A BOOM

Says the Statement, and More Accommodation Is Needed—New Hotel. Talk.

A report dealing with hotel accommodation in London was submitted to the board of license commissioners at a meeting held Saturday evening.

The document prepared by Inspectar A. R. Galpin shows that there are 26 hotels in London, having 733 rooms for guests, and accommodation, with double beds, for 879 people. The hotels have a total of 156 regular boarders. For unusually heavy business 395 cots are available.

During four nights of the week the leading hotels are very badly crowded, it is said, but there is no doubt in the minds of the commissioners that the situation will be relieved in the near future.

Extensive Additions.

It is said that the owners of three of the places are now having plans prepared for extensive additions, and that these expenditures are merely contingent upon satisfactory arrangements with the present lessee.

One man has informed Inspector Galpin that he is now ready and willing to Spend from $50,000 to $0,000 on his hotel, providing that certain little difficulties can be cleared up. Two others are working along similar lines, bute the works have been temporarily held up in anticipation of definite action by the syndicate, which some time ago secured the Western Hotel site, on which to erect a large modern hostelry.

The city hall location is said to have influenced the selection of the site on Richmond street north, and as the promoters claim that they were given to understand that the new municipal building would go to Richmond street they acted in that direction. However, since the Spencer block dealings, and the federal square proposition have taken form, little or nothing has been done on the Richmond and Fullarton street hotel question.

For a New Hotel.

Many inquiries are received from time to time concerning hotel conditions in London, and promoters are willing to come to London providing that they can be shown that a first-class place would do business. It is not thought that any endeavor would be put forward to increase the number of licenses here, any of the backers of any such scheme would have to purchase one of the existing permits.

The rooms in the different hotels in London maintained for the accommodation of the public are as follows, according to the report of Mr. Galpin: Tecumseh House 93, City Hotel 81, London House 30, Fraser House 29, Richmond Hotel 30, Dominion House 35, Western Hotel 22, Metropolitan 24, Duke of York 30, C. P. R. Hotel 18, Savoy Hotel 18, Walper House 36, Harrison House 26, King Edward 24, Hotel Cecil 18, Iroquois 20, Brunswick 19, Queen's 18, Clyde 16, Columbia 11, Windsor 22, Bank 24, Morkin House 21, Queen's Park 12, and Grand Trunk depot buffet only.

Statement Issued.

The meeting was attended by Chairman A. B. Greer, Commissioners Dr. F. P. Drake, and Thomas Jones and Inspector Galpin.

The commissioners after discussion the report issued this statement:

"We are informed that there are to be a large number of conventions to be held in this city in 1913. In June next the Canadian Medical Association meet here, when from 800 to 1,000 delegates are expected, and also the Canadian Order of Foresters, whose delegates will be at least 600, coming from all parts of the Dominion.

"From the report submitted by the license inspector for our consideration, we find London is sadly in need of more hotel accommodation, particularly at this time, as we recognize the boom the city is now enjoying, and the possibility of greater expansion of these business conditions. The commissioners are quite satisfied that the accommodation must be increased either by enlarging the present commercial hotels, or the building of a new and first-class up-to-date hostlery. We also find that at least four days a week the better hotels are crowded to excess."

A VICIOUS FIGHT IN THE NORTH END

The Wronged Man and Woman Mauled Man and Woman Who Caused Trouble.

A tale of domestic infelicity has been going the rounds in the north end during the past few days, and it is rumored that the climax was rather a violent scene in which the sinning couple were mauled without mercy by the other couple.

For some time the husband has suspected his wife and a certain well-known married man in the east end was figured out as the Beau Brummel. The latter's wife was also suspicious, and the two framed up a scheme to catch the pair.

The suspicious husband informed his wife that he was going away for a couple of days, and took his grip and departed. In the evening he met the wife of the man suspected, and they went to the suspicious husband's home.

The wronged woman made a beeline for the other, and mauled her until she screamed for help. The irate husband pitched into her paramour, and manhandled him until he was a sorry-looking wreck.

After the job was completed to the satisfaction of all, the man was kicked out into the street and allowed to go. It is rumored now that two couples will secure the services of P. M. Judd to arrange separations.

P. S. R. is the connecting link for all the towns in Southwestern and Southeastern Ontario, and it means more to London than all the transcontinental lines mean now or ever will mean. The great strength of this city lies in the fact that it stands in an unrivalled position in the rich townships adjoining London.

What It Means to Shippers.

"The railways affected by this latest move of electrifying have more mileage and more stations than you have on the following lines, which include practically all the lines within London's reach:

	Miles.	Stations.
London to Sarnia, G. T. R.	59	10
L., H. and B. to Wingham	74	15
G. T. R. to Wiarton	106	22
G. T. R. to Stratford	30	6
G. T. R. to Paris	47	8
C. P. R. to Galt	56	12
G. T. R. to Windsor	110	20
St. Marys to Sarnia	74	12
Stratford to Goderich	46	9
Harriston to Southampton	53	9
Durham to Palmerston	26	6
Listowel to Kincardine	66	11
Stratford to Guelph	40	8
Wyoming to Petrolea	6	3
Totals	792	146

"So that taking the figures that appeared in your paper Saturday that there are 815 miles and 200 stations on the P. M., M. C. R. and Wabash, you see that in all these other lines we have fewer miles of railroad and fewer stations.

Keep the Connections.

"We have every reason in the world to keep these connections, and outside of the connection it affords us, with these lines, the London and Port Stanley Railroad is nothing more than a coal and fish haul. Mr. Gabey may be all right on electricity, but he cannot tell me anything about the earning power of the London and Port Stanley road—and I think these experts have a good deal of effrontery to attempt to cram such nonsense down the throats of the businessmen of London. I am glad to see that the jobbers and manufacturers, who are most interested in the line, are coming to the front and opposing the scheme.

"Another point that strikes me: Are the working people of London to lose their 30-cent fares to the lake? Figuring it out from the report it is not possible for this line to carry anyone to the lake and back for less than 50 cents. So that there's another big advantage we would give up. One thing must be said for the Pere Marquette—that they have voluntarily reduced fares to the lake during the summer to 30 cents for every day, something that they were not compelled to do.

"They have greatly increased the value of the road, and as one who has ridden over the line for so many years, I feel that they should get something more than abuse."

EAST LONDON NEWS

35TH ANNIVERSARY

Successful Service Held in the Adelaide Street Baptist Church.

A successful anniversary service was held on Sunday in the Adelaide Street Baptist Church. It was the 35th anniversary, and the management endeavored to have all the charter members attend the morning service who are now living in the city. Eleven of the 76 original members were able to be present on the occasion, and a few who were unable to attend sent messages of loving remembrances.

A feature of the service came in the pastor's request for all the charter members who were present to rise and face the congregation, and the whole body sang the hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Some of the pioneer members also spoke briefly on the early history of the church. Among these were Mr. Wm. Platt, of Petrolea; John Hyslop, and Wm. Gurney, the present clerk.

The choir rendered several pleasing anthems, and Mrs. A. E. Brown favored with two solos. At the close of the evening service, two young ladies were administered the rites of baptism.

Chelsea Green Funeral.

Real Estate Deal.

Mr. H. Frank Whetter, of Chelsea Green, has sold several lots off his property at the corner of the Wellington and the Thompson roads, near the village to a Mr. Thornton, of Toronto. The latter will rect dwelling houses on the newly-acquired property, with a store on the corner lot.

Although no sales have been reported as yet, several speculators have been spying out the land in Ealing with views of making purchases in that vicinity. They complain that the price the Ealing people are wanting for their land makes it almost impossible to purchase any. With the coming of annexation, the people feel that their land is valuable, and have boosted prices accordingly.
