— A method of lighting buoys by gas has been discovered and reduced to practice in England. The cost is inconsiderable, and it is found they will burn from six to twelve weeks without refilling. To vessels entering harbours at night the discovery will prove to be a great benefit.

— At the Toronto General Hospital a young man's leg was recently amputated at the hip by a platinum wire raised to a white heat by an electric current. The great heat contracted the ends of the arteries as the limb was cut by the wire so that it was necessary to tie the larger ones only.

— The wooden frigate Charybdis, recently presented to Canada by the Imperial Government as a training ship for boys, had just arrived in England from a nine years cruise in Chinese waters, and is of course, not in the best of condition. The Charybdis is 23 years of age and is 1507 tons gross.

No good preaching.

No man can do a good job of work, preach a good sermon, try a law suit well, doctor a patient, or write a good article when he feels miserable and dull, with sluggish brain and unsteady nerves, and none should make the attempt in such a condition when it can be so easily and cheaply removed by a little Hop Bitters. See other column.

A Good Passage.—Allan's Royal mail steamship Peruvian, arrived at Boston at 1 o'clock July 22, from Queenstown, Capt. Ritchie reports that he left Liverpool at 8 p. m., on the 12th, and Queenstown at 6 p. m. on the 13th, making the passage from Queenstown to Boston, in eight days and eleven hours; also experiencing a detention of eight hours by fog.

— The Salem Register tells of a Lowell liquor-dealer who advertised a free lunch at his restaurant every day. A lady took seven ragged and hungry boys to the saloon on the first day, nine the next, and twelve the next. The beer-seller soon concluded that the free lunch was an expensive advertisement.

Iron Shipbuilding in Maine.—Bath is moving in the matter of iron shipbuilding. A public meeting has been held and considerable enthusiasm aroused. One gentleman offers to give $100,000 toward establishing an Iron shipyard on condition that the citizens will raise $200,000 more. He also promises to give the new company a contract to start on, taking $25,000 himself, and perhaps more, in the first vessel.

A Very Rare Jewel.— A citizen of Atlanta has in his possession a rare natural curiosity in the shape of an amethyst recently found in Rabun county. The peculiar feature about this amethyst is that it contains a drop of water in the centre of the stone. There is a specimen of white crystal on exhibition in Philadelphia containing a drop of water, but this is the only instance on record of an amethyst so peculiarly formed.—Atlanta (Ga.) Appeal.

— The "Dunkards" have just closed their Annual Convocation, held this year at Ashland, Ohio. One of the exciting questions before the body was the relief of the sisters in the matter of the old-fashioned Quaker bonnet. It was moved by some kind-hearted brother that "they be allowed to wear a plain hat." One delegate, who evidently had studied the subject, said: "If these sisters are allowed to wear a plain hat, before we knew it there will be a feather in it." That settled the business. The old bonnet still rules.—Richmond Advocate.

— A gentleman just returned from a trip through Quebec, states that the hay crop is a failure, through want of rain, in that province, and farmers are selling off their cattle as they will not be able to keep them. Reports from Western Ontario state that the wheat crop will be nearly all housed by the end of this week, and though the yield per acre will not be above the average, the great breadth sown will make the crop larger in the aggregate than in the previous year.

— A bride died in San Francisco last week under peculiarly sad circumstances. With the consent of her parents she had been married to an estimable young man at her father's house. The marriage was kept a secret, to indulge the innocent whim of the lady, who wished to surprise her friends by the announcement of her wedding reception. But a day or two after the wedding she fell down stairs and was so seriously injured that she died. The cards that had been prepared for her reception were sent around among her acquaintances summoning them to her funeral.

HANLAN AND TRICKETT.

Tornnto, Ont., July 22nd.—Hanlan has commenced easy practice with a view of preparation for the future. He says he will only row two races this year—one against Ross and the other in the Toronto regatta, to be held September 8th and 9th, where $4,000 will be given in prizes. At present the champion scales at 172 pounds, but he says he could very speedily bring himself to his rowing weight. He is enjoying the best of health, and is just in the right trim for setting out on a period of training. As to the Ross challenge Hanlan says he will row the New Brunswicker anywhere for $2,000 a side if the town profiting by the race adds a liberal bonus. He would prefer that Ross should come to Toronto Bay, as he thinks he has a right to demand, but he will give and take, and consent to his old rival naming the water for the race if he is permitted to name the stakes. He has already received offers from Erie, Pa., of $1,000 for the race, and of $2,000 from Montreal. He does not think it right that Ross should have it all his own way, and name both the location of the race and the amount for the stakes, not even offering to allow expenses. Some time ago it will be remembered, Ross' friends offered to put up $3,000 for a race between the two on any water in New England. Now they offer to back their man for only $2,000, by which operation, it will be seen, they would save a clear $1,000. It is generally believed here that the whole thing is a mere speculation on the part of Kennedy, Davis & Co., of Portland, Me., who expected to make a handsome thing out of the railways and privileges. One thing is certain if the pair come together Canada will once more "go broke" on Hanlan.

Trickett is enjoying himself immensely, and is really a great favorite here. Every day he practices in his new Toronto-made shell with Hanlan. He has received no challenges and has given up excepting any. He is very disappointed that the dates for more regattas have not been fixed, and says he would like to know when and where any are to take place that he may arrange his place for the season. He is among the dozen entries already received for the regatta here, which also include Courtney, Wallace Ross, Warren Smith, Hosmer, Riley' and any other of any note. Trickett will remain yet two or three weeks with us, and then will join his trainer and friend, Henry Kelly, at Saratoga, who, he says, is rapidly recovering from the effects of his broken leg.

— The scales used for weighing gold in the Assay office at New York are so delicate that when brought to a balance with two pieces of paper of equal size in the pans, the mere writing of a name with a lead pencil on one of the pieces of paper will add enough weight to the paper to turn the scales in its favor.

—The wonders of postal work in a single city are illustrated by the following figures:—The letter-carriers of New York (nearly 500) make seven deliveries, and eighteen collection trips each, daily. In a single month they deliver, in round numbers, 10,847,000 parcels. Of these 47,000 are registered letters,—each, of course, containing money, or some other valuable articles; 4,500,000 are letters by mail from a distance; 800,000 are postal-cards by mail; 3,000,000 are local letters; 1,000,000 are local postal-cards; and 1,500,000 are newspapers and other packages. In the same interval they collect 8,400,000 parcels, of which 6,000,000 are letters, 1,200,000 are postal-cards, and 1,200,000 are newspapers and other mailable packages, all of which are handled and received in or sent out of the great New York Post Office, at the lower end of the City-Hall Park. The wages of these letter-carriers amount to $37,000 for this month's work.

— An eccentric old gentleman in Lincolnshire, England, is so firmly convinced of the approaching end of the world that he has prepared a great balloon, by means of which he hopes (although he is now 83 years old) to behold "the end of all things here below." The balloon is provisioned for three years, the stores including such creature comforts as brandy, soda water and claret. He is of opinion that among the debris of the world will be several large fragments, on one of which he will be able to effect a descent at an opportune moment and find a refuge for his few remaining years. The old gentleman proposes to take with him a game-keeper, who has been long in his service, and for whom he has a great regard, and, having made these arrangements, is perfectly calm, and, indeed, cheerful. He expects, he declares, to get on better without the world than with it.

— Among the new ideas is that of a French engineer who proposes a system of cold air distribution in cities, through pipes as gas and water are now distributed—a very pleasant theory in these hot August days. The plan is to compress the air to five or six atmospheres, and cool it before sending it through the pipes to the various points of distribution. By the turning of a cock this pure air may be admitted to cellars, living rooms, or wherever needed, serving either to prevent the fermentation or putrefaction of organic matter, or to render stores, factories, or dwelling-houses cool and refreshing during the sultriest weather.

Be wise and happy.

If you will stop all your extravagant and wrong notions in doctoring yourself and families with expensive doctors or humbug cure-alls, that do harm always, and use only nature's simple remedies for all your ailments—you will be wise, well and happy, and save great expense. The greatest remedy for this, the great, wise and good will tell you, is Hop Bitters—rely on it. See another column.

Fog Bell in Boston Harbor.—Washington, D. C., July 21.—Notice is given by the Lighthouse Board that hereafter there will be sounded during thick and foggy weather at the Narrows light station, Boston Harbor, Mass., a fog bell struck by machinery at intervals of twenty seconds.

Infernal Machines.

THE NEW HORROR OF OCEAN TRAVELLING.

In the House of Commons on Monday Sir William V. Harcourt, Home Secretary, in reply to Viscount Sandon (Conservative), said the report of the discovery of infernal machines at Liverpool was substantially correct. He said the home office, on the arrivals referred to, had sent two detectives to Liverpool, and that six machines were discovered in one vessel and four in the other. The home secretary further stated that more than three weeks ago the government was informed of consignments from America to England of infernal machines, the names of the vessels being given. Investigations to discover the originators of the conspiracies, he said, are proceeding here and in America. He believed the conspiracies were connected with the avowed projects of the Fenian press in America. He stated that each machine contained eleven cartridges each of which was charged with nitroglycerine, and a compound of the nature of and similar to gun cotton. One of the supposed cement barrels had in all fourteen pounds of this dangerous explosive material in it, and it is impossible to estimate the fatal effects of even an accidental concession upon such a mass. The government, he said, are employing every measure to discover the consignors and consignees of the machines, having only received the warning a few hours before the steamer's arrival at Liverpool. For the last nine months open threats of such outrages have appeared in the Fenian press of America, and subscriptions have been openly collected for the purpose. He said he thought the principal origin of these attempts at assassination was the press. England had shown in the case of the Freiheit, that she was capable and ready to deal with criminals no less in our interest than that of foreign states, and it was the duty of every civilized government to cooperate in putting down with a strong hand these farineous attempts. After expressing confidence in the good will of the American government the Secretary said: 'It is to their interest as much as to ours, for the danger is as great to Americans as to Britons crossing the Atlantic. Her majesty's government have long been fully alive to their responsibility in this matter, and confidently count on the support of Parliament and the country, while they employ every engine of the law and the power of the executive to distroy these associations of assassins.

A Preacher Accused of Pilfering.

Providence, July 25th.—Methodist Episcopal circles were excited to-night by a publication in a local paper accusing the Rev. W. F. Whitcher, the leading Methodist clergyman of the city, of pilfering rare books from libraries and dealers in old publications. Investigation late this evening tends to confirm the story. Two months ago a Boston dealer of Cornhill noticed in the "Catalogue of Boston Book Sellers" one or two books of which he had copies, and which were very rare. He examined his shelves and found that his own books were missing. He examined those which were offered for sale, and, finding marks which enabled him to identify them, sought for the consignee. Learning that Mr. Whitcher was the person, he called upon the reverned gentleman, it is said, and, accusing him of the theft, forced him to make a settlement.

About the same time it is averred a Providence dealer in old books was notified of Mr. Whitcher's acts, and he in turn informed the trustees of the Providence Athenæum, who had been missing old books for more than a year. They were all Americana, principally town and church histories. Mr. Whitcher was accused of taking them, and did not make a denial. It was also learned that he had taken an exceedingly rare book, the "Roger Williams Key to the Indian Language," from Brown University library, and several others from the Rhode Island Historical Society. To each of these institutions he made the best restitution that he could. Some of the volumes he had presumably sold. All of the returned books showed that the library stamps had been ingeniously erased, so that the fibre of the title page was not broken.

Mr. Whitcher told one of his parishioners that he had a book entitled "Narragansett Church History," which he had luckily picked up in a junk shop, and that its title page was missing. This was one of the books from the Athenæum. Before the offence was actually fixed upon Mr. Whitcher he was noted for making wonderful finds in junk stores, old houses, and in antiquarian stores, of books of which it was known there were no copies extant outside of those belonging to noted libraries.

Mr. Whitcher is now at Martha's Vineyard, he having been granted a month's vacation by his parish. He has a salary of $2,000, and gets many large fees for marriages. His wife has a handsome income of her own, and his father is a wealthy New Hampshire lumber dealer. He is 35 years old, a preacher of ability, and well known in the Providence circuit. There will be no prosecution, but he has been advised to seek another field of labor. His church will take steps in the matter at once.

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it?—Eagle.

— The other day Mr. George Wood, of Albert County, came to Sackville to visit his sister, Mrs. Andrew Ford. The brother and sister, although they lived not a hundred miles apart, had not seen each other for thirty years. Neither of them recognized the other and had to be introduced.—Transcript.

TELEGRAPH NOTES FOR THE WEEK

London, July 22.—It is difficult to obtain an accurate idea of the position of affairs in Tunis and Algeria. The rule compelling the correspondents of French papers to submit their letters to military censorship is still in force, and the correspondence from the seat of the insurrection which is printed in the Paris papers is for that reason exceedingly meagre and one-sided. It is positively known, however, that the French troops who captured Sfax are unable to advance further inland. The vast stretch of country extending from Sfax inland to the boundary of the Algerian province of Constantine and northward to the Medierda Valley is in the hands or at the mercy of the rebels. Khairoan, the holy city, inland from Susse on the Gulf of Hammamet, is the rendezvous of the Arab tribes, and there are not less than 30,000 men, well armed irregular cavalry, within call of the Mussulman authorities there. The Arabs openly declare that the Bey has betrayed the Regency, and that it is for them to fight for Mussulman supremacy. The agitation in Tunis is increased by the arrival of Tripolian tribes, whose headmen assert that France has decreed the conquest of all the Barbary States and Egypt, and that the Sultan has called upon the followers of the Prophet to battle against this threatened spoliation. At this season of the year—and the summer is an unusually hot one—it would be quite impossible for any European force, no matter how strong, to attempt to penetrate into the interior. The French can do nothing, therefore, but hold Sfax until reinforcements arrive in the autumn. France must either subjugate the marauding tribes or evacuate the country. The generals in Tunis have asked Governor Albert Grevy for Algerian troops, but the state of affairs there is so critical that men cannot be spared. Later details of the capture of Sfax say that 100 French were killed or wounded. A portion of the town is held by the Arabs, who fire from the houses and prefer death to yielding. The expedition to proceed against the rebel chief Bou-Amena in the autumn will consist of three columns, each composed of 1,200 men. One column will start from Sauda, another from Sebdon and the third from Geryville, all joining in the Ksour region and marching thence to Figuier. These columns will be composed of troops inured to the Algerian climate and will be replaced in the garrisons by fresh soldiers from France.

London, July 27.—The Viceroy of India telegraphs that the Ameer of Afghanistan has been totally defeated at Karez, Atta. All his baggage and 18 guns were taken. A Khelat regiment and his Candahar horse have deserted to Ayoob Khan. The Ameer's General has fled toward Cabul. Sirdar Shamsuddin is still at Candahar with four hundred Cabuls and some police.

In the House of Commons to-night Mr. Gladstone read a telegram confirming the report of the defeat of the Ameer.

The Telegraph says that the defeat of the Ameer of Afghanistan implies the complete overthrow of the only remaining representative of British influence in Afghanistan.

New York, July 28.—A new torpedo boat, which successfully works under water, has been built here by an inventor named Holland, who is believed to be a Fenian. The boat is 31 feet long, 6 feet in diameter, cigar shaped, driven by a propellor, and makes six miles an hour under water. She was built by the Delamater Iron Works, and is now at Bergen's wharf, Jersey City. Everything in connexion with her has been kept secret, but it has been ascertained that two wealthy Irishmen of Philadelphia are the owners.

Astonishing accounts of the eruption of Mauna Loa, Sandwich Islands, continue to come from Hawaii. The latest tidings expressed the fear that the Island of Hilo was on the brink of a great calamity, as the lava stream had then (June 30th) broken out of the woods, and streams of lava thirty feet wide and almost as liquid as water were rushing down the beds of streams, pouring over fertile land, and carrying destruction with it everywhere. The roar of burning grass and ferns, the explosions and concussions were fearful, writes a spectator. The populace were chiefly employed in watching the boiling mass as it hastened toward their homes. The scene at night is described as terribly grand beyond description.

— The excursion steamboats in Massachusetts and the adjoing New Hampshire coast last year carried over 11,000,000 passengers without any accident.

Terrible Scene at sea.

As was telegraphed at the time by Lloyd's agents at San Francisco, the Eustace, a schooner of 146 tons, bound from San Francisco for Mazatlan, was destroyed at sea by fire about the middle of last month. From information since received, the vessel, it appears, was set on fire by the cook in a fit of insanity, and, there being 2,300 kegs of gunpowder on board, was very soon utterly destroyed. The incendiary, before firing the vessel, had murdered the captain by stabbing him in the abdomen with a butcher's knife. The crew were fortunately able to save themselves in the ship's longboat, and, after rowing sixty miles in a stormy sea, landed at Ceta, fifty miles north of Mazatlan, on the 15th of June. The Eustace had on board a cargo valued at about £15,000, but the loss on both vessel and cargo is nearly covered by insurance.

A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the Throat Troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25c. a box everywhere.

Read this Twice. Five to thirty drops of Thomas' Eclectric Oil, will cure common Sore Throat. It never fails in Croup. It will cure a cough or cold in twenty, four to forty-eight hours. One bottle has cured Bronchitis of eight years standing; recent cases are cured in three to six days. It has restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper in five years. As an outward application in all cases of pain or lameness, nothing like it has ever been known. One bottle will cure any case of lame Back or Crick in the Back. For diseases of the Spine and Contraction of the Muscles it is unequalled. In Rheumatic or any other pain the first application does you good. It stops Earache and the pain of a burn in three minutes, and is altogether the cheapest medicine ever offered to the people—the cheapest, because it takes so little to do you good. It is composed of six of the best oils known, and nothing but oils. Is worth its weight in gold. Why not buy it to-day?—A. B. Des Rochers, assistant postmaster, Arthabaskaville, P. Q., writes: "Thirteen years ago I was seized by a severe attack of Rheumatism in the head from which I have nearly constantly suffered. After having used "Thomas' Eclectric Oil" for nine days, bathing the forehead, I have been completely cured, and have only used half a bottle. This I can certify under oath if you wish."——Rev. J. Mallory, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes, "Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured me of Bronchitis in one week."

Beware of Imitations.—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cts. PROSPECTUS!

The subscriber has, after six years of labor in research and in the collection of the necessary materials, prepared for publication and has now nearly ready for the press, a work entitled

"A HISTORY —OF THE— County of Annapolis,

Its Townships and other Settlements.

FROM 1604 TO 1867."

This book will comprise about 400 or 500 pages of matter, and will be printed on good paper and clear type. The initial chapters will relate the story of the discovery of the basin and river and of the foundation of Port Royal, in a connected narrative from 1604 to the conquest of 1710, by Nicholson. The 2nd part will describe the events which form its history under its new name of Annapolis Royal, from the latter date to the years of the expatriation of the French inhabitants (1755); and an additional chapter will connect the period from 1755 to 1760 the year of the advent of the Massachussetts settlers in the present township of Annapolis and Granville. From this period the history of these townships, with those of Wilmot and Clements will be detailed in separate parts, and to these will be added an account of the first occupation and progress made in the various settlements outside of these divisions. Much attention has been paid to the genealogy and distribution of families. The earlier census of the the townships will be given in full, as also the Capitation Tax Act Returns, made in the last decade of the past century, together with a full copy of the Muster Rolls of the United Empire Loyalists of 1783-4 which have recently been recovered after a lapse of nearly a century. These documents, none of which have ever been heretofore printed, will give the names of nearly all the original settlers of the County, and it is presumed will be found of great personal interest to the many thousands of their descendants now occupying the County, the pioneer laborers of whose ancestors have made the Annapolis wilderness to "blossom as a rose."

The subscriber has also very nearly ready for the hands of the printer another work entitled

"Memoirs of the Members of the Assembly of Nova Scotia,

WHO HAVE HELD SEATS FOR THE COUNTY OF ANNAPOLIS AND THE TOWNSHIPS OF ANNAPOLIS AND GRANVILLE FROM 1758 TO 1867."

This work will, it is believed, prove of great interest to the general reading public of the present generation. It will embrace more or less extended biographies of some of the cleverest men who have assisted in moulding the Institutions and Laws of the Province, as well as in shaping the Social and Religious aspects of the times in which they lived. Among these may be specified the names of Alexander Howe, Thomas Barclay, Thomas Millidge, Benjamin James, James Moody, Colonel Lovett, Abraham Gesner, Thomas Chandler, Halliburton, John Johnston, Thos. Ritchie, Joseph Winniett and James William Johnston.

These memoirs will make a volume of over 300 pages, and will also be printed on good paper and clear type, and will be delivered to subscribers only at one dollar and fifty cents per copy, stitched in paper covers. The first named work will be delivered in the same style at the same price, and to subscribers only. These books will be delivered as early in 1882 as they can be furnished by the printer.

COOLEY CREAMERS.

The subscriber has purchased the patent right for Annapolis County for the manufacture and sale of the COOLEY CREAMERS, which have received the HIGHEST AWARDS for the best butter in the United States and elsewhere. The "Cooley System" gives sweet cream and milk all seasons of the year; raises cream in 10 or 12 hours; keeps milk and cream free from flies and dirt of all kinds; does not cost as much as milk pans; saves more than half the labor, and makes butter all one uniform color.

Testimonials,

Mr. Spinney—Dear Sir: I used the cans I got of you last summer, to good advantage. Have used some of them all winter. My wife thinks that they are a very great convenience. Any person having a good supply of water near should not hesitate to purchase. Yours truly, JOHN STODDART.

East Dalhousie, March 11th.

Mr Spinney—Sir: We have used your Cooley can and find it satisfactory. I consider it a good advantage in warm weather to farmers.

Yours truly, CHAS. W. ROOP.

Springfield, March 18th, 1881.

C. E. Spinney, Esq.—Dear Sir: We like your cream coolers very much. They prove better than you recommended them. In fact I think every farmer ought to have one.

Yours truly, SIDNEY SAUNDERS.
