CLEARING YARDS HERE BECAUSE OF U. S. STRIKE

G. T. R. Orders All Freight Shipments at Owners' Risk.

IN EFFECT TONIGHT

Order Says Delay in Delivery Up to Shipper Only.

MEANS MUCH TO CITY

Local Roads Have All Big American Connections.

With the American railway strike situation growing blacker every moment, Canada, and more particularly London, is already feeling the effects.

In anticipation of the congestion that is sure to follow any tie-up of American connections, the Grand Trunk has already ordered what is tantamount to an embargo on all freight. Following instructions received from Montreal late this morning, Division Superintendent W. S. Davidson has sent out instructions to all agents of the company. These instructions place the onus of shipments delivery on the sender and not on the carrier company.

Becoming effective at midnight tonight, the instructions say, no Grand Trunk agent can accept any freight traffic save on the owner's risk of delivery. All bills of lading must be so indorsed. Unless so indorsed, the shipment will be refused.

Over Entire System.

These instructions are being sent to all agents over the entire system and are not merely effective on the London branches alone.

Preparations are being made, so far as possible, by the G. T. R. locally to meet the emergencies that are anticipated if the American strike materializes.

At local divisional offices the only statement given out was the one referring to the acceptance of freight, but this is in itself regarded as a most important move. It was frankly stated that it had been occasioned by the impending labor troubles across the line.

Until late this afternoon local officials of the Canadian Pacific were still ignorant of any similar action to the G. T. R. freight embargo to go in effect on their road.

G. T. R. President's Statement.

President E. J. Chamberlin, of the Grand Trunk Railway System, speaking of the effect of a general railroad strike in the United States made the following statement in Montreal today:

"Railroad labor on the Grand Trunk system will, so far as we know, remain unaffected, and operation of trains, passenger and freight, will continue over the sections of the Grand Trunk which run through United States territory, with the exception possibly of those passing over the Niagara frontier to connect directly with lines affected by the strike. The Grand Trunk train service employees in the United States are responsible to a Canadian brotherhood and the railroad's relations with this organization are amicable. There is no cause for apprehension that sympathetic sentiment with men on strike would crystallize into action among the men working under the Canadian agreement.

Little Interruption.

"Business routed from one point to another on the Grand Trunk lines in the United States would not, therefore, be generally interrupted, while traffic could be shipped from these American points on the system to Canadian ports and to the eastern termini of the Grand Trunk system in New England. There would, of course, be some derangement of traffic between United States and Canada, and the Grand Trunk would have to refuse all through freight dependent on American roads for ultimate delivery, and would also have to refuse the large volume of freight now routed from Chicago and other lake points, via the Niagara frontier, for re-entry into the United States, at Suspension Bridge, as the American roads at that point would not be able to receive it.

George Bury, first vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, intimated that he had no statement to make.

Local Roads Sure To Be Affected.

The majority of railways here, including the Grand Trunk, C. P. R., Michigan Central, Pere Marquette and Wabash have large connections on the other side. In fact, a lot of their passenger and freight business through this part of the country had its initiation in the United States and passes through Canada.

Canadian business for Canadian points only can be handled, so there will be a reduction of staffs here, for a time at least.

Whether or not Canadian railwaymen belonging to the union would handle business brought to the borders by non-union crews has not been decided, and that is a question of considerable moment at this time. It is understood that they will handle traffic that has its origin in Canada, nothing more. The men here are waiting for some definite information relative to the strike, and will not commit themselves to an opinion until a strike is actually ordered.

Passenger business to distant points in the United States has suffered considerably because of the rumor that a strike will take place.

Will Help Feed Detroit.

The Detroit proposition, so far as provisions are concerned, should the strike be declared, has a direct local bearing. The announcement was made in the City of the Straits last night that the city would look to Western Ontario to feed it should the labor trouble materialize. This means that heavy shipments of foodstuffs would have to be made from this district over both C. P. R. and G. T. R. Unofficially, it is said that both roads are already making provisions to meet this emergency.

M. C. R. Embargo On.

The Michigan Central placed an embargo on all perishable goods today, and other roads in Michigan will probably follow suit. Meanwhile, efforts are being made in Detroit to get into touch with producers throughout Michigan and Canadian territory reached by the interurban system, and already, tonight, several commission men have "hooked" several Canadian producers.

Detroit's Situation.

Manufacturers and other users of coal will be in serious straits in Detroit in case the strike lasts more than a fortnight. While there are huge quantities of coal on hand, Detroit's consumption is in excess of what population would indicate because of the industrial character of the city. The Detroit United Railway, as one of the main factors in Detroit's business life, however, is in splendid shape and if a strike is declared it will likewise be an important factor in milk and fresh food supply.

JUDGE ORDERS MONEY BE PAID INTO COURT

Gootson Award Will Be Settled as Soon as the Titles Are Settled.

Judge Macbeth this morning granted the application of George S. Gibbons that the amount of the Gootson award $7,960, be paid into court by the London and Port Stanley Railway Commission operating the L. and P. S. Railway.

An order will be made by Judge Macbeth tomorrow authorizing that the amount be paid into court forthwith.

Owing to several complications pertaining to land titles, which will be first settled, the money due Gootson will not be paid out of court until that question is first settled.

Gootson was awarded the abovenamed amount as a fair valuation of land and buildings expropriated by the commission for the purpose of erecting car barns on the site.

CONSERVE YOUR FUEL SAYS G. T. R. OFFICIAL

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, Aug. 30.—"Conserve your fuel supply" was the advice handed out today by J. A. Dalrymple, vice-president of the G. T. R., discussing the effect of the threatened strike in Canada.

Mr. Dalrymple said the fuel problem would be the most serious trouble for Canada, as the clal used in Ontario and Quebec came from the United States. There was not a great quantity of coal on hand.

WEATHER MINIMIZES SPREAD OF SCOURGE BUT CARE IS URGED

"Don't Relax Vigilance," Is M. O. H. Advice.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE

School Inspectors Provided With Lists of Quarantined Houses.

With the approach of cooler weather the spread of infantile paralysis has decreased in New York City and other places where the disease has been an epidemic for the last eight weeks.

Notwithstanding that weather conditions may be less conducive to the disease now than during the hot, humid weeks of the past, doctors advise that parents be watchful.

Do Not Relax Vigilance.

"Although it is admitted that cooler weather helps to check the spread of the disease, at the same time parents should not relax vigilance yet, but should use every precautionary measure until such time as it is fully assured the danger is past," said Dr. H. W. Hill.

The following letter has been sent out by Dr. H. W. Hill, medical officer of health, to Inspector of Public Schools C. B. Edwards, and to Inspector Sullivan of the separate school board:

Must Have Permit.

Please find inclosed a list of the families of London now in quarantine on account of the presence of a communicable disease.

We are sending you this list so that steps may be taken to prevent the children of these families from returning to school without a health department permit. As before the holidays, we shall in the future notify the principal of each school of any case of communicable disease that may develop amongst the children of his or her school.

Three diseases, namely, measles, whooping cough and anterior poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis), should be especially called to the attention of all principals, teachers, school nurses and also the children themselves.

Measles Epidemic Died Out.

The epidemic of measles has practically died out, there being only eight families at present in quarantine for this disase. But now that the schools are soon to reopen there is a danger that these cases, or non-immune children exposed to them may become focl of a secondary epidemic if they are allowed to return to school before the danger of infection is past. Principals, teachers and nurses should refer all suspicious children to the health department for diagnosis.

Regarding Whooping Cough—At present there are 27 families in quarantine for this disease Our recent experience of finding many unreported cases (especially in families with no attending physician) undoubtedly means the presence of many unreported cases at the present time. A close lookout should be kept for spasmodic coughing amongst the children, especially in the kindergartens. Any child showing such a cough should be sent home at once and referred to the health department.

What to Look For.

Regarding Anterior Poliomyelitis.—There are no school children in quarantine for infantile paralysis, and the only case in quarantine will be released September 6. Nevertheless, any signs or history of recent paralysis in any child should be reported to the health department at once, the child being sent home.

Things to look for amongst the children:

1. The red eyes, running nose, slight hoarseness, etc., of measles.

2. The spasmodic coughing, etc., of whooping cough.

3. The fever, pains in limbs, intestinal trouble, weakness or paralysis of poliomyelitis.

All the facilities of the health department will be at the service of the schools in the future, as in the past. This, along with the excellent work of the school nurses, should insure a minimum of disease.

ONE KILLED; ONE WOUNDED IN CITY, QUOTA OF OLD 70TH

East London Boy Gives Life for King.

PTE WALSH DIES IN ACTION

Pte. Charles Dengate Listed as Suffering From Wound in Right Leg.

Pte. Joseph Michael Walsh, late of the 70th Battalion, was today added to the city's honor roll of those who have given their life for their king. In a telegram to his father, Edward Walsh, of 141 Sackville street, he is officially reported as having been killed in action on August 25.

Pte. Walsh was a well-known East London boy and was born in this city. At the time of his enlistment he was employed as a salesman in the William McPhillips music store, Dundas street.

Brother Overseas Too.

Pte. Walsh's younger brother, Pte. Leo, is now overseas, having gone over with the first special service company of the 71st Battalion. He was with Pte. Joe in the trenches, having been "claimed" by the latter under the transfer regulations. T. E. Walsh of the advertising department of The Advertiser, is another brother.

Pte. Walsh is in addition survived by two other brothers, William and John; two sisters, Agnes at home and Sister Edith of the Order of St. Joseph, and his father and mother.

Just Out of Hospital.

A letter received only yesterday from the dead soldier said that he had just come out of hospital and was going back to the trenches.

Pte. Charles Thomas Cole, another well-known Londoner, has been wounded, according to a telegram received this morning by his wife, Mrs. Emma Cole, of 13 Market square. The telegram was from the officer in charge of the record office, and stated that Pte. Cole had been hit in the right leg and was at present in the war hospital at Guildford. Further particulars would be sent later.

Was Bank Employee.

Before enlisting, Cole was employed at the Molsons Bank as night watchman. He was in that position for over nine years. He was a member of the 7th Regiment and belonged to the band of that unit for ten years. He enlisted with the 70th Battalion and went overseas with it. In England he was transferred to another battalion and has been in France for some time.

In a letter to his mother only a few days ago, he described the terrific fighting which the battalion was going through. High explosive shell, he stated, were falling so steadily that the ground never ceased shaking. He regarded it wonderful that so many were coming through it unhurt.

WILL CONFER WITH AID COMMISSION TO SETTLE DIFFERENCE

Returned Soldiers' Association Decides on This Move.

PRESIDENT HAS RESIGNED

Goes to Toronto to Live—Other Associations Being Formed in District.

At a meeting of the Returned Soldiers' Association last night in Moose Hall it was decided to leave further discussion of the situation, which has arisen between the Returned Soldiers' Association and the soldiers' aid commission until the next general meeting of the latter organization.

It was announced at the meeting that a suitable position had been secured for Pte. C. A. Graham, and that further employment was in sight for other returned men. Shoe laces were proposed at the last meeting to be supplied to the returned men to sell on the streets if no other employment was found for them. These will not, however, be given out until a discussion of affairs is held with the soldiers' aid commission.

A communication was received from Sergt. Nightingale, formerly president of the association, resigning his position, as he intends moving to Toronto. He will, however, remain a member of the London association. A vote of appreciation of the president's work was passed, and there will be a meeting held next Tuesday night to elect a new president.

Another communication was received from the Oxford Returned Soldiers' Association, now forming at Woodstock, asking for advice in the formation of the organization, Pte. C. A. Graham of the local club attended a meeting in Woodstock. It was announced that another association had been formed at Windsor with a membership of 25.

The members decided to buy a piano for the clubrooms, and a committee was appointed to obtain prices. Two new members, Pte. H. Struard and J. Reid attended the meeting.

The cup which the association is presenting to the winning team in the military tug-of-war on Labor Day was on exhibition, and called forth the general approval of all present.

ATHENS IS CONSIDERING REMOBILIZING THE ARMY

New Cabinet May Be Formed Which Will Include Venizelos.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Aug. 30—3:20 p.m.—Remobilization of the Greek army is under consideration at Athens, says a Reuter dispatch from that point. The entry of Rumania into the war is said to have created a profound impression in Greece, and the question of a ministerial reorganization, providing for the inclusion in the Cabinet of former Premier Venizelos, has arisen. So far as can be ascertained no decision has been reached on these points.

RUMANIANS CROSS

Prussian can be spared for the Rumanian front.

Turkey Can Spare Few.

Col. Feyler, the Swiss military expert, doubts if Turkey can dispose of as many as 120,000 men for an outside expedition, but, he says, this outside participation by Turkey would be a logical move.

It is the general opinion among the Allies that Austria-Hungary is nonplussed with regard to the method of handling the situation caused by Rumania's decision to become an active adversary against her.

The Corriere of Milan says the Austrian political chiefs believed the nomination of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg as commander-in-chief of the forces on the eastern front would have sufficed to deter the Rumanians from taking the field, that the Prussian warrior would have served as a sort of bogey-man to scare them.

The Austrians have for some time been receiving warnings from prominent newspapers, including the Berliner Tageblatt and the Frankfurter Zeitung, that the kaiser cannot be expected to continue indefinitely making good the shortcomings of his chief ally in the military and diplomatic fields, or to send any more of his own forces to defend the Austro-Hungarian borders. This policy, if followed out by the Prussians, will leave the dual empire to take up the direct burden of the Rumanian war, with whatever aid it can obtain from the two remaining allies, Turkey and Bulgaria.

"The Austro-Hungarian front," Col. Feyler says, "is a special danger for Prussia, and Turkey must aid the Prussians in every region where she is in danger, for if Prussia is defeated Turkey is lost. The day that Austria-Hungary succumbs to an enemy's blows would see communication with Turkey broken. Therefore, the place for the Turks is at the side of the Austro-Hungarians. The distance that still separates the Russians from Constantinople permits the Turks to employ in this way their European forces.

"The question is, will their assistance be efficacious? To provide a force of 120,000 men would show a superhuman disinterestedness in view of their own needs in Arabia, Syria, Mesopotamia and Anatolia, not to speak of the menace from Gen. Sarrail's Saloniki forces."

He therefore concludes that it is not probable that the Turks can alter the strategic situation on the eastern front.

WILL SHORTEN FRONT.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, Aug. 30—Via London, 2:10 p.m.—An abandonment of part of Transylvania to the Rumanians is forecast in dispatches from newspaper correspondents at the Austrian army headquarters. Forecasting the strategy on the Rumanian frontier, the correspondents intimate that the central powers will not attempt to defend the entire border line, owing to its crookedness and to the large number of troops which would be required for the adequate protection of a front half as long as the Russian battle line. On that account, and in as much as Russia and Rumania are operating as a single unit, the dispatches say, it will be advisable to shorten the front by abandoning certain parts of Transylvania.

SEIZE RUMANIAN ASSETS.

Berlin, Aug. 30—Via Sayville Wireless.—The German authorities have issued an order attaching all assets of the Rumanian Government. German concerns are ordered not to pay money to Rumanian subjects or corporations.

A eBrlin dispatch dated yesterday said the military commander on the Danube region had published a decree ordering the sequestration of all property of the Rumanian Government in that district.
