GERMAN OR FRENCH?

Frenchman Says Britain is First Cousin to France.

London, May 16.—"English deserves preference over French on account of its literature, which excels that of France, both from the artistic and moral point of view; it appeals more nearly to our sentiment and understanding as a Germanic people. It is the most important language for Germany's international trade, and its grammar is easier than that of the French language."

These are the considerations which have induced the schoolmasters of Saxony to petition the government inspectors to make English an optional subject in all public schools in Saxony, and which M. Rene de Gas, editor of The Petit Parisien, carefully scanned yesterday with every outward appearance of calm and self-restraint.

"Yes," he said at length, "it is true that the English language has its uses—for business purposes. It is clear, it is short, it is telegraphic. But for imagination, for polish, for expression, what have you? We have three adjectives to your one. We have an arsenal of adjectives. English literature excels that of France? I beg to disagree absolutely. French literature immoral? What do I see when I open any London paper? Three columns of husbands and wives fighting. There are ten times more divorces in England than in France.

"In France the novelists like to analyze the matrimonial life—that is all. Here the literature is much in the hands of ladies. They do not like to analyze their sisters. It is not nice.

"As for the grammar, it is a positive advantage that the French grammar is more difficult. It makes one think. It makes one intellectual. You write an English article. It is easy; it is done in a few minutes. With French you polish and write again and polish once more.

"But do not forget—you are not a Germanic people. At this time it cannot be too strongly impressed that you are first cousins to the French. Fifty per cent. of the words in your language are French. Does not the Breton understand the Welshman? Has not the Normandy peasant the fair hair, the blue eye, and the temperament of the Kentish man?

"You talk of your American cousins! It is bosh. Most of the Americans are Germans, Scotch and Irish. England and France were once one country—one race. It is the French who are your first cousins."

WEST END Y.M.C.A. GROWING.

Annual Report Shows Increases—Goodby to Secretary Williams.

The report of the board of managers of the West End Y.M.C.A. was presented at the annual meeting last night. It exhibits a year of satisfactory progress, or, as the report itself says, "the hope that the work should prove an indispensable complement to the desire of men seems to have been largely realized." The increase has been the largest yet recorded, 102, making the present membership 860, of whom 312 are boys under 18. In the Bible study department the attendance has doubled, to 250 men and boys. A mission fund inaugurated plans to annually raise $75. The attendance at night school depreciated, but higher merit of work counterbalanced this.

G. F. Marter presided last night. Reports touching on the work in its social, religious, athletic, financial, educational and boys' work were read.

The meeting bade farewell to Secretary Williams, whose term of office has been four years, he having resigned to accept a similar position at Canton, Ohio. On behalf of the directors and members, he was presented by W. J. Lyod with a silver ros set. Speeches were also made by Ald. Hay, ex-Ald. Bates, Rev. Mr. Hassard and F. M. Pratt.

VENTRILOQUISM IN COURT.

London, May 17.—A novel scene took place in the Kingston-on-Thames Borough Police Court recently, when an old man named John Clements, a ventriloquist, was charged with being drunk and disorderly.

He was fined 10s., and was removed to the back of the court. As the magistrates were leaving the bench after hearing other cases, Clements caught their attention by calling out in ventriloquial style as tho to a boy in the basement, "Say good-day to the gentlemen, Tommy," the imaginary Tommy replying, "Good-day, gentlemen. You are very nice gentlemen, and I thank you very much."

Then, while the magistrates stood and laughed, he carried on a running conversation with Tommy until he was stopped by a policeman. Before being taken away from the court, however, he was allowed to go round with the hat and make a collection from those present.

T. C. Robinette, K.C., was compelled to temporarily postpone his trip to the old country, owing to the illness of his mother, who is to accompany him and Mrs. Robinette.

DEPUTATION GOES TO OTTAWA

Ald. Stewart Considers It is Unnecessary and Refuses to Accompany It on Its Way.

BLAIR REQUESTED FOR A VERDICT

In Favor of the Overhead Bridge at Ferrie and Wellington-Streets.

Hamilton, May 16.—(Special.)—At a special meeting of the sewers committee this evening it was decided to build the west end sewer to drain 160 houses in the district bounded by York, Sophia, Lochearne and Breadalbane-streets. It will be built on the local improvement plan. It was also agreed to build a sewer on Park-street, between Murray and Barton-streets, at a cost of $360, which will be charged up against the owners of the block, who do not want it because they have already built private sewers. A sewer for Locke-street, north of King-street, will be advertised. Ald. Church was appointed acting chairman in the place of Ald. Wallace, who will leave in the morning, with his wife and daughter, for New York.

Still another civic deputation set out to-night, when Mayor Morden, Ald. Kerr and City Solicitor MacKelcan started for Ottawa to attend a meeting of the railway commission tomorrow, when the north end bridge proposition will be considered. Ald. Stewart, who took the ground that a deputation was unnecessary, refused to go.

About 45 north residents attended the mass meeting held at Durrance's store this evening, when it was decided to wire Hon. A. G. Blair, president of the railway commission, requesting him to bring in a verdict in favor of the overhead bridge at Ferrie and Wellington-streets. Ald. Birrell presided, and the civic deputation, which it was stated cost the city about $200, was roasted for not standing by the agreement between the city and G.T.R.

Mayor Registers a Kick.

Mayor Morden has refused to sign an order for the payment of a horse bought for the fire department by Ald. Birrell. He says the alderman was authorized to buy only two horses, and he purchased three. This is the second account within the past few days that the mayor has refused to sign for Ald. Birrell.

Mourned by All.

The city council, hospital board, St. George's Society, and the directors of the Bank of Hamilton attended the funeral of the late ex-Mayor George Roach this afternoon, in addition to a large procession of citizens of all ranks. Rev. Canon Bland and Rev. Canon Forneret conducted the service in Christ Church Cathedral. The honorary pallbearers were: Judge Teetzel, F. C. Bruce, M.P., William Hendrie, sr., Adam Brown, James Turnbull, F. Mackelcan, K.C., John Billings and Dr. Charles O'Reilly, Toronto. The active bearers were: Drs. Edgar, James White, Griffin, E. B. CHILD'S FREE TRAIN RIDES.

London, May 16.—A man who complained at Stratford that his twelve-year-old daughter was beyond his control, said that one of her offences was to "get in a railway train and ride till it stopped at night."

The Clerk—How many times a week does this happen?

The Father—Seldom less than twice. On Monday she rode about till midnight, and was brought home by a gentleman who had found her in the train.

The Clerk—She doesn't have a ticket?

The Father—Oh, no; she slips in somehow. This has been going on for five years.

A Magistrate—Why do you do this, little girl?

The Girl—I like train rides, sir.

The girl was remanded.

INVASION OF INSECTS.

London Invested by Hordes of Winged Pests.

London, May 16.—The superabundance of insect life that is now painfully in evidence in many outlying suburbs of London is fast developing from a nuisance into a positive plague.

Mosquitoes in swarms made a flank attack yesterday on some volunteers who were practicing at Bisley, and a squad of riflemen from a kilted regiment had their morale severely shaken and their score sheets spoiled by the onslaught.

Harrow was the first to report the invasion. Bright new paint is plentiful at this time of the year, and innumerable insects regard a newly grained and painted door as especially prepared for them as a suicide club. Harrow's particular plague is a spotted variety of gnat. In places where the roads dip between two hills they congregate in millions. One gentleman said yesterday that he ran into a swarm of them while cycling. From a distance they appeared like a brown cloud. Once in the midst of them, eyes, nose, ears, mouth, collar and sleeves were filled with the pests. Cigar smoke did nothing to alleviate matters, and their bite left little red spots, which, tho uncomfortable, disappeared in twenty-four hours.

Other districts, however, report the mosquito proper, whose bite causes an unsightly swelling, as well as a certain amount of pain. Victims must remember that rubbing increases the evil, tho it requires some self-control to abstain from this. All that can be done is to apply liquid ammonia on a rag, which brings speedy relief.

The most reasonable explanation of the plague seems to lie in the late arrival of the martins and swallows, who make war on such insects.

GREAT SEA POWERS.

How Britain Compares With Other Fighting Nations.

London, May 16.—A return of the numerical strength of the fleets of the chief naval powers issued the other day as a parliamentary paper enables the following interesting comparison to be made of the fighting power of the Anglo-Japanese and Franco-Russian alliance:

	Great Britain and Japan.	France and Russia.
Battleships, 1st class	55	36
Battleships, 2nd class	5	13
Battleships, 3rd class	2	2
Coast defence vessels, armored	3	28
Cruisers, armored	36	23
Cruisers, protected, 1st class	21	12
Cruisers, protected, 2nd class	61	19
Cruisers, protected, 3rd class	40	19
Cruisers, unprotected	17	4
Torpedo vessels	33	25
Torpedo boat destroyers	143	71
Torpedo boats	169	400
Submarines	8	27

The figures for France and Russia do not allow for Russian losses in the far east, which are at present four battleships, four cruisers and four destroyers.

Arranged by types of warships the following are the comparative figures for the greater nations:

	Battleships.	Armored cruisers.	Protected cruisers.	Destroyers.	Torpedo boats.
Britain	55	28	102	124	87
France	30	15	40	24	233
Russia	21	8	10	47	167
Germany	30	4	22	37	86
Italy	16	5	18	11	128
United States	12	2	20	20	34
Japan	7	8	20	19	82

The figures given for submarines—namely, Britain 8, France 26, Russia, Germany and Italy 1 each, United States 5 and Japan none—do not tally with later information, and therefore are not given in the above abstract.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

"Old Lavender."—Grand.

A comedy drama of the kind which held the American stage a score or more years ago, is that which gave a large audience at the Grand last night something to think over, as well as be amused by. Edward Harrigan has a reputation as an actor and author, which goes back a long time. "Old Lavender" was his first play. It has the familiar melodramatic elements of love and hate; right and wrong; the rich and the poor. But Harrigan's own deft touches to the characterization of "Old Lavender" are as quaint and pathetic now as in the palmier days.

Here is George Coggswell, growing old, cashier in his brother's bank, good hearted, lured into cashing a forged cheque and turned adrift from his employment with the stigma "a drunkard and a thief." He becomes a vagrant of the street—"a soldier in God's army of adversity, yet never despairing, but obeying His orders." A scene on the river docks, a chance meeting, and the saving frim drowning of his brother's wife, also a victim of the villain's wiles. Then a plot to rob the bank, the return of tottering "Old Lavender" to the ornate threshold, to find his brother a bankrupt; now, able to prove his own innocence and, by the discovery of mining shares thought worthless, to be real gold, to place the banker on his feet again.

Edward Harrigan has many friends in Toronto. It was shown in the heartiness of his reception last night. To see his as Od Lavender is to see better in heart and soul. He makes the creation a vivid reality. His several songs were received with great favor. The support is good, with George Merritt, in a comic negro role, being prominent. The play is well worth seeing and will be enjoyed.

"To Die at Dawn."—Majestic.

There is certainly a melodramatic flavor to the name of this week's attraction at the Majestic, and the piece itself lives well up to any and all expectations aroused by the name. It is in four acts, with the scenes laid in Kentucky. The plot involves a mother's hate for her daughter, as well as the love story of Bob Nester, "a true son," and Nellie Millward. There is plot and action a-plenty. Nellie is thrown under a big mill wheel, but is rescued, and Bob is arrested for a murder committed by the villain. Then follows a realistic stage picture of the Mammoth Cave and a horse-whipping scene, followed by a thrilling ride to save Bob from execution. The drama ends with a counterfeiter's death and his assistants in the hands of the law. Elsie Crescy is a handsome heroine, and is well worth the honest love of George Padison, the manly hero. E. Lawrence Lee, author of the piece, plays the villain, Drake. There are a number of typical characters played by a competent support.

Robert Hilliard—Shea's.

One of the cleverest one-act plays that have been seen here is that entitled "Number 973," and presented to the patrons of Shea's this week. Robert Hilliard and Edwin Holland collaborated on this artistic little production, and it was received in an enthusiastic manner by two large houses yesterday. Indeed, the applause was so hearty that Mr. Hilliard, who had the chief part in the drama, appeared before the curtain and acknowledged his gratitude. The show from beginning to end merits the highest praise. There is not a poor turn. A novel feature is the performance of Rawson and June, experts at arrow-shooting, and boomerang throwing. The opening number of the bill is a burlesque on the sleight-o'-hand performer, and clears up a number of mysteries of legerdemain in a way to create considerable amusement. The Parros brothers, equilibrists, do some surprising feats, and a comedy skit cled "A Skin Game," by the Barrys, is funny all the way thru. John D. Gilbert, monologist, is as funny as ever, and has some new things on this trip around the circuit. The Schuyler sisters have some pretty songs, and then the kinetograph concludes. Judging from the reception the various numbers were given last night, the house is assured of good patronage during the balance of the week.

Sylva With Wilson.

The central figure in the original world's fair poster, entitled "A Deed of the Pen," represents a young woman of handsome face and figure, the same being posed for by Marguerita Sylva, the handsome silver-tongued soprano now with Francis Wilson in "Erminie," booked for the Princess Theatre next week. The design of the poster is a very attractive one, and was first published in one of the St. Louis papers March 13, 1904. The design was approved by the world's fair commission, and copies of the poster are now being circulated thruout the civilized world. It is a Hannerty idea. The design of the poster is being used, too, as the frontispiece of the world's fair march, "A Deed of the Pen."

Change of Date.

On account of the great demand for Ben Greet's company in the university cities of the United States, their arrival in Toronto has been postponed one day, so that they will begin their performances at Toronto University on Thursday afternoon, June 9. Owing to the change, instead of four performances there will be five, giving on Thursday afternoon, June 9, "As You Like It"; evening, "A Midsummer Night's Dream"; Friday evening, "Much Ado About Nothing"; Saturday afternoon, "Twelfth Night"; evening, "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

"She Stoops to Conquer."

Pupils of the School of Expression and Dramatic Art gave a creditable performance of "She Stoops to Conquer," in the hall of the Toronto College of Music last night. The cast was: Mrs. Hardcastle, Miss Frank Neilley; Miss Hardcastle, Miss Gertrude Philp; Miss Neville, Miss Phoebe Wilson; maid, Miss Virginia Young; Sir Charles Marlow, Landlord Diggory, E. M. Burwash; Young Marlow (his son), T. W. Lobb; Hardcastle, Dr. Richardson; Hastings, Benjamin Brick; Tony Lumpkin, M. C. Lee.

The sale of seats for the moving pictures, including the first production of animated views of the Russo-Japanese war, begins on Friday morning at Massey Hall. The 48th Highlanders' Band will play each evening.

Boarding House Adds Big Revenue and Will Soon Be Debt Free.

Last evening the Young Women's Christian Association held its thirty-first annual meeting in the association building on Elm-street.

There was a good attendance. The reports of the various officers told of the most prosperous year in its history. The association has been steadily paying off the mortgage on the boarding home and the time will soon be when it stands free from debt. The report of the treasurer, Miss Atkins, showed total receipts of $15,241.01, of which $14,710.81 was the revenue from the boarding home. The expenditures amounted to $15,171.37.

Addresses were delivered by the chairman, His Honor W. Mortimer Clark, Rev. Canon Welch, Rev. J. L. Gordon, Dr. Sowerby, E. Gunther, Rev. A. Esler, Hamilton Cassels and others.

READY FOR LONG STRUGGLE.

The battle between the Brewery Workers' Union and the O'Keefe and Reinhardt Breweries continues. The International Union have guaranteed all funds necessary for a prolonged struggle. The strikers received their pay on Saturday from the union and will continue to do so.

There was talk yesterday of the men in the other five breweries going out. This is not likely, according to the officers in charge. They prefer concentrating their efforts upon the two breweries and when successful there they will turn their attention to the others.

It was stated by the same officers that they are doing nothing to influence the railway teamsters in any way, but for refusing to haul some of the beer under the ban several of them were discharged by both the cartage companies last week.

TYPOS MEETING AGAIN.

There is something going on in the affairs between the master printers and the Allied Printing Trades Union, but what it is no one but those directly interested is permitted to know. Last night negotiations were renewed after having been broken off for nearly six weeks. A meeting of the joint committee was held and lasted for several hours.

BOY ARTIST HONORED.

London, May 15.—The Royal Academy was opened the other day. The youngest exhibitor this year is only 17 years old. His name is Austin O. Spare, and he is the son of Philip Spare, until recently a constable in the City of London police force. He sent two black and white drawings to the academy, both of which were accepted, one being hung. They were executed when the artist was 16 years of age.

Spare was born in December, 1886. He was educated at St. Sepulchre's School, Snow Hill, and St. Agnes School, Kennington Park, and received his first art training at the Lambeth Evening Art School under Mr. Macady. There, before he was 12, he took three first-class certificates. At the age of 14 he won a £10 county council scholarship, and one of his drawings was selected for the British art section at the Paris International Exhibition.

When he was 15 some work which he was doing for Messrs. Powell, the stained-glass manufacturers, attracted the attention of Sir William Richmond and Mr. Jackson, R.A., and these gentlemen recommended the youthful artist for a free scholarship at South Kensington Art School. There at the age of 16 he won the silver medal in the national competition and also the £40 scholarship. Some drawings executed by him a year ago form part of the art exhibit of the British section at the international exhibition at St. Louis.

Drowned at Huntsville.

Huntsville, May 16.—Robert Swan, a young man employed as lumberman for the Muskoka Wood Manufacturing Company here, was drowned to-day about 1 p.m., while going over logs to take up the slack in the boom. Ross Mantle, one of his fellow-workmen, got him out on a log, but the log rolling, they both fell in. Mantle had hard work to save himself, but Swan went to the bottom, and when taken out about ten minutes later, he was dead.

Found Dead.

Novar, May 16.—Daniel Stewart, an old resident of the district of Parry Sound, was found dead on the street here to-night. Mr. Stewart had been engaged splitting wood for a resident of the town during the day, and was seen by several persons at work a short time before being found dead. Heart failure, no doubt, was the cause of his death, brought on by over-exertion. The remains were conveyed to the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Wilder, who resides in the village. The coroner, Dr. H. L. Barber of Burk's Falls, has been notified, but it is not likely that an inquest will be held.

Killed at Fernie.

Fernie, B.C., May 15.—A fatal accident occurred in No. 2 Mine, Coal Creek, in which a driver named William E. Patton met instantaneous death. Patton was on the front car, and when going down an incline in the tunnel the line became wrapped around his foot, jerking him from his seat. He fell in front of the car, breaking his neck and one leg. He was quite dead when picked up. Deceased came from Westville, Pictou County, N.S.

LOSS OF $10,000.

Winnipeg, Man., May 16.—Popineau Bros.' saw mill at St. George, near Fort Alexander, Man., was destroyed by fire last week; loss, $10,000; no insurance.

Manufacturers looking for information about Ottawa should write Alfred Wood of The Ottawa Free Press.

He will answer any question relating to any department of the Government — Customs, Trade and Commerce—and will send a copy of The Free Press Book on Ottawa and its water power. This book contains a history of the capital, a map of the water power locations within a 30-mile radius and a history of Ottawa. Send 10 cents to pay postage. That is all.

Anything you wish to know we will be glad to find out.

The Free Press parliamentary reporters are experts. The paper is the oldest evening daily in Canada, and is read by everybody who wants to know "who's who" and "what's what" at the capital. They will tell you just what you want to know.
