

sion. - Interior trials endured at this time by Sister Bourgeoys. Bishop de Saint Vallier. - The Venerable Sister finally obtains permission to lay aside the burden of the superiority. - Sister Marie Barbier, second Superior of the Congregation of Notre-Dame. - Sister Bourgeoys' joy on this occasion..... 158

CHAPTER SIXTEENTH.

Sister Bourgeoys' Life at this time. - Difficulties concerning the Congregation. - The pious foundress answers these difficulties. - Bishop de Saint-Vallier and the Ursulines. - The Rule of the Congregation. - Sister Bourgeoys' firmness in adhering to the primitive spirit of the Congregation. - Mr. Tronson and Sister Bourgeoys. - Bishop de Saint Vallier returns from France, visits the city of Ville-Marie, and the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre-Dame. - The Rule at last. - Its solemn acceptance..... 166

CHAPTER SEVENTEENTH.

The 25th of June 1698. - Sister Bourgeoys' emotions on this occasion. - A second ceremony. - Same privilege granted to the Sister missionaries, in the district of Quebec. - Sister Bourgeoys' request to the Bishop of Quebec. - Humility and disinterestedness of the pious foundress. - Favors bestowed upon her Congregation. - Bishop Saint Vallier visits Miss LeBer for the first time. - Two strangers of distinction are admitted to the cell of the recluse..... 179

CHAPTER EIGHTEENTH.

Result of Sister Bourgeoys' interior trials. - Occupation of the venerable foundress in her seventy-eighth year. - Last crosses borne by the heroic Sister. - She instructs her Sisters concerning the different degrees of charity, towards God, and towards our neighbor. - How Sister Bourgeoys prayed for her Congregation, and what she asked of God for its members, for its future. - "Go, and I never abandon thee."..... 187

CHAPTER NINETEENTH.

Sister Bourgeoys' pious industries to encourage her children in the path of perfection. - Her idea of perfection. - The rule of necessity and the rule of perfection. - The interior and the exterior rule. - Detached maxims concerning the spiritual life, written by Sister Bourgeoys and bequeathed to her Sisters. - Duties of a Superior. - Sister Bourgeoys' devotedness to her community 202

CHAPTER TWENTIETH.

The Holy Saturday of human life. - Kind Heaven listens to the prayers of Sister Bourgeoys' children. - The last hours of 1699.