LORD JOHN RUSSELL ON THE PAPAL AGGRESSION.

To the Right Rev. the Bishop of Durham:

My dear Lord,—I agree with you, in considering the "late aggression of the Pope upon our Protestantism" as "insolent and insidious," and I therefore feel as indignant as you can do upon this subject.

I not only promoted, to the utmost of my power the claims of the Roman Catholics to all civil rights, but I thought it right and even desirable, that the ecclesiastical system of the Roman Catholics should be the means of giving instruction to the numerous Irish immigrants in London and elsewhere, who without such help, would have been left in heathen ignorance.

This might have been done, however, without any such innovation as that which we have now seen.

It is impossible to confound the recent measures of the Pope with the division of Scotland into dioceses by the Episcopal Church, or the arrangement of districts in England by the Wesleyan Conference.

There is an assumption of power in all the documents which have come from Rome—a pretension to supremacy over the realm of England, and a claim to sole and undivided sway, which is inconsistent with the Queen's supremacy, with the rights of our Bishops and Clergy, and with the spiritual independence of the nation, as asserted even in Roman Catholic times.

I confess, however, that my alarm is not equal to my indignation.

Even if it shall appear that the ministers and servants of the Pope in this country have not transgressed the law, I feel persuaded that we are strong enough to repel any outward attacks. The liberty of Protestantism has been enjoyed too long in England to allow of any successful attempts to impose a foreign yoke upon our minds and consciences. No foreign prince or potentate will be permitted to fasten his fetters upon a nation which has so long and so nobly vindicated its right to freedom of opinion, civil, political and religious.

Upon this subject, then, I will only say that the present state of the law shall be carefully examined, and the propriety of adopting any proceedings with reference to the recent assumptions of power, deliberately considered.

There is a danger, however, which alarms me much more than any aggression of a foreign sovereign.

Clergymen of our own Church, who have subscribed the Thirty-nine Articles, and acknowledged in explicit terms the Queen's supremacy, have been the most forward in leading their flocks, "step by step, to the very verge of the precipice." The honor paid to saints, the claim of infallibility for the church, the superstitious use of the sign of the cross, the muttering of the Liturgy, so as to disguise the language in which it is written, the recommendation of auricular confession, and the administration of penance and absolution—all these things are pointed out by clergymen of the church of England as worthy of adoption, and are now openly reprehended by the Bishop of London in his charge to the clergy of his diocese.

What, then, is the danger to be apprehended from a foreign prince of no great power, compared to the danger within the gates from the unworthy sons of the church of England herself?

I have little hope that the propounders and framers of these innovations will desist from their insidious course. But I rely with confidence on the people of England; and I will not have a jot of heart or hope so long as the glorious principles and the immortal martyrs of the Reformation shall be held in reverence by the great mass of a nation which looks with contempt on the mummeries of superstition, and with scorn at the laborious endeavours which are now making to confine the intellect and enslave the soul.

I remain, with great respect, &c.

Downing street, Nov 4. J. RUSSELL.

MELANCHOLY AND FATAL ACCIDENT TO LADY CARDEN.—The following is from the Venagh Guardian:—"It is our painful duty this day to record the death of Lady Carden, wife of Sir John Craven Carden, Bart., of the Priory, Templemore. This lamentable event occurred on yesterday (Tuesday) evening, whilst sitting on a rustic seat with her husband and his brother, just before their princely mansion. The gentlemen had been out shooting rabbits, and on their return were seated beside Lady Carden when one of the fowling pieces fell, exploded, the contents entered the back part of her head, and in a few minutes life was extinct. Lady Carden was universally beloved, mild, gentle, affable, and bountifully charitable.—She was an English Lady, and will be deeply and sincerely lamented by her doting husband and family, and a large circle of friends, to whom her many amiable qualities endeared her."

Lady Carden has left a family of three young children, who are now bereaved of their youthful and affectionate mother.

Reports are in circulation of the probability of a Brevet promotion taking place early in the next year; and, although we are unwilling to permit them to pass unnoticed, we are unable to any more at present upon the subject than that the impression is general that those reports may prove well-founded.

EXTRAORDINARY SUBSTANCE FOUND IN THE STOMACH OF A HORSE.—A short time since a horse belonging to a Mr Moates, of Spalding, Eng., died and was opened, when a stone about the size of a man's head, or rather in shape and appearance exactly resembling the wig block used by barbers, was found in the stomach. It weighed eight pounds, and seemed as a flint stone, and extremely polished and beautiful. Another stone of the shape and size of a horse's foot, was found in the stomach. These wonderful formations are produced in the stomach, no doubt much in the same way as stone in the bladder, a nucleus being first formed. The polish would be caused by the motion of the stomach in the course of digestion, or perhaps by the friction of one stone against the other. How any animal could live and work with such productions within its stomach is most astonishing. A very large sum is offered for the productions.

IMPORTANT TO TANNERS.—Henry W. Elsworth, Esq., says the La Fayette Journal, has shown us several specimens of Leather which were tanned under his own eye in the space of ten minutes, by a process of which Marmon Hebbard, of Rochester, New York, is the inventor.—This statement appears incredible when it is considered that 6, 8, or 10 months are required to tan Leather by the ordinary process. Mr. Elsworth has in his possession a pair of boots and a pair of shoes made from a raw hide in less than a day and a half tanned by this new process. The Leather is tanned by a compound of chemicals, and in time and materials is a saving of at least five thousand per cent. over the present slow method of making Leather. The right, says the Journal, for Connecticut and Massachusetts, was sold for $500,000; Ohio, for $150,000; Michigan, for $100,000. This is one of the greatest improvements of the age.—Hunt's Magazine for Oct.

Novel and Ingenious Experiment.—A cask of fine hardware and cutlery, says the Charleston Courier, accidentally fell overboard from the line ship H. Allen, lying at Boyce & Co.'s wharf.—The contents of the cask were valuable, and a reward of fifty dollars having been offered by the Captain of the vessel for its recovery, it was restored to the ship's deck yesterday morning, through the exertions of Mr. Angus Smith. Mr. Smith provided himself with what he called a diving bell, by sawing in half an ordinary oil cask, then placing it over his head and shoulders, and attaching heavy weights to the edges of the inverted cask, which being airtight, prevented the waterfrom rushing in, his head occupying the vacuum; then letting himself down, he was enabled to remain under water from ten to fifteen minutes.—Scientific American.

A private soldier of the 38th Regiment, named Arthur McQuade, was shot at in an attempt to desert at Cape Breton, on the 3d October last.—He died of the wound on the ninth of November.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 30.—One of the most appalling and destructive tornados which has been experienced in the Mississippi valley for several years, occurred about two o'clock in the afternoon. It swept over the town of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, situated on the Mississippi River just below St. Louis, and demolished some 70 or 80 buildings, many of them the finest and principal business houses in the place. The Baptist and Catholic churches and the Catholic convent were destroyed. Two of the large and splendid telegraph masts belonging to the St. Louis and New Orleans Telegraph Co. were cracked, shivered, and brought to the ground with as much ease as though they had been pipe stems. The steamboat Saranac, Number Two, which had just rounded the wharf, had her upper works completely blown off, and besides several persons on board, who were severely injured, it is probable that some were drowned.—The wharf boat was blown from her moorings and almost irreparibly injured. In order to give some idea of the tremendous violence of the storm, it may be stated that a cow was unceremoniously lifted off her feet on terra firma, and deposited on the top of a tree sixty feet from the ground. The loss of life by this awful visitation cannot as yet be ascertained, but it is certainly very great, as numbers are doubtless buried beneath the ruins of the fallen buildings. There are also many persons seriously injured, and some of them so crippled and maimed that they will never fully recover from the effects. The town is literally torn to pieces and looks truly woe begone

The Charleston Mercury contains a letter from Gen. James Hamilton to the people of South Carolina, which concluded as follows:—"I hope, fellow-citizens, you will pardon the extreme freedom of this communication. But I could not leave this State for the interior of Texas, where I may be detained for weeks, without admonishing you of the extreme peril of your relying on the sympathy and support of the other Southern States, and a no less great peril of acting seperately at the present crisis. I know your dauntless courage. God in his beneficence has never made a braver people. I know on your own soil, in your own defence you can whip twice your force, let it come from where it may!! but let us add to bravery discretion, coolness and self-possession,—a forecast as subtle as the stratagems which may be designed to circumvent us. I tell you wait with patience. A peaceful or bloody triumph is at hand, and I know you are prepared for either."

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—On Monday evening next the Rev. Mr. Casewell will lecture on "Milton."

DOMESTIC MANUFACTURE.—Our attention has been lately called to a Plough made by Mr. HENRY NICHOLS, of this City. It is considered by judges to be one of the best and neatest article of the kind ever produced in this country. When such implements can be procured at home, surely those requiring them, will give the preference to their own countrymen, and the rely encourage domestic industry, and prevent the transmission of money to foreign countries.

ANOTHER FIRE IN FREDERICTON.—Another fire broke out in Fredericton on Monday evening last, in a barn on the premises of James Taylor, Esq., on Charlotte street; but by the extraordinary perseverance of the military and a number of citizens, it was fortunately confined to the building in which it originated, which was consumed, with its contents, and also an adjoining shed, which was partly burned and thrown down to prevent a spread of the fire.

The casualty was evidently the work of an incendiary, and it is now beyond a doubt, that there are a set of worthless characters living in the town, whom it well behoves the peaceable and respectable inhabitants to ferret out and expel, commencing with the fellow by whose apparent carlessness the town has nearly been reduced to ashes.

FACTS TO BE REMEMBERED.

That Consumption is almost always produced by a cold that might be easily cured. That Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry will cure any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing. The milder form of Consumption itself is also cured by this Balsam. That it is conceded by many lawyers, clergymen and physicians, that this Balsam has never been equalled for efficacy in all affections of the Lungs and Liver. That scores now living in the possession of good health who, but for this Balsam, would have been in their graves—having been given up to die by their friends and physicians.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, of Crown Point, N. Y., in a letter says:—"In the course of my practice in this vicinity, I have tested in some good degree the good qualities of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY in Pulmonary Complaints, and now I wish to procure a supply of the medicine."

UNITED STATES ARSENAL.

DR. FOWLE—

Dear Sir: Having used several bottles of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry in my family, for the complaints for which it is recommended, with decided beneficial effect, I cheerfully advise my friends, and all others who may need a medicine of that kind, try it.

☞CAUTION.

THE great popularity the COMPOUND BONESET CANDY has obtained since its introduction to the Public about two years ago, has induced several persons (three of whom are known to the Proprietors) to issue a Candy made to look like and called by the same name as the true article, but in quality and composition differing from it in both.

The Subscribers would caution the public against such fraud as no person makes, or can make, the genuine except them, and further, the composition which they give the Confectioner to form into Candy is so prepared as to defy any attempt of Chemical analysis.

In future, as heretofore, each package of the Original will be accompanied by a circular with the signature of the Proprietors, FELLOWS & CO. without which none can be genuine.
