TROLLEY CAR DISASTERS

Thirty Passengers Thrown Into a River at Elgin.

Motorman Kearns Badly Injured Near the Woodbine, Toronto.

Elgin, Ill., July 2.—One of the large interurban trolley cars running between Elgin and Aurora plunged through the bridge crossing the Fox River at St. Charles yesterday, carrying a load of thirty passengers into the river. With scarcely any warning, one of the spans of the bridge collapsed from the weight of the car and fell with the car to the river bed. The car caught for a moment on the stone abutment and lessened the force of the fall. No one was killed, but several persons were injured.

ACCIDENT NEAR WOODBINE.

Toronto, July 2.—Late last night a bad collision occurred between two street cars near the Woodbine. Owing to a break in the supply wire of the northern track at Balsam avenue cars were for a time unable to return by their proper track. Under these circumstances car No. 615, having passed the Woodbine "Y" on the southern track, was returning towards it, rear end first, when it came into collision with car No. 653, going east, in charge of Motorman E. Kearns, 75½ Shuter street.

The 35 passengers on board the eastbound car were shaken and somewhat frightened, but no one was seriously injured, except Motorman Kearns, who was badly hurt internally, and was driven home in a cab. Conductor E. O'Connor of car 615 was injured in the hand. Dr. Brown, of Coxwell avenue, attended them.

THE DEATH ROLL

Demise of Wm. M. Clarke, an Old-Time Newspaper Man.

Lansing, Mich., July 2.—William M. Clark, a former well-known newspaper editor of Detroit and Lansing, died here yesterday morning at the age of 65 years. He began newspaper work at the bottom and worked his way to a high position.

Hartford, Conn., July 2.—Leverett Brainard, ex-mayor of this city, and director in various large corporations, including the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, died today.

Brantford, Ont., July 1.—M. D. Baldwin, an old and highly respected citizen, passed away today, aged 81. Mr. Baldwin leaves a wife and daughter.

In the midst of Windsor's rejoicings, says the London Daily Mail, a draft of the 3rd Scots Guards quietly and unknown to the majority of the people left for South Africa.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA WITNESSED PARADE OF COLONIAL TROOPS

Over 2,500 Soldiers From the Colonies Passed in Review Before the Prince of Wales.

The Queen Greeted With Great Enthusiasm.

A MAGNIFICENT SPECTACLE

The Soldiers Led by the Duke of Connaught—Three Tremendous Cheers for the King.

London, July 1.—The reappearance today of Queen Alexandra as a participant in a public ceremony practically marks the end of the period of anxiety caused by King Edward's condition. Her presence at the review of the colonial troops by the Prince of Wales greatly increased public enthusiasm over what was in itself a picturesque and interesting event. Upwards of 2,500 colonials were brought in from the various encampments, and marched through great crowds down Constitution Hill, which was lined with troops, past Buckingham Palace, which for a week has been the center of such supreme interest, and along the Mall to the Horse Guards' parade. The contingent present represented all parts of the British Empire, with the exception of India, whose troops will be separately reviewed tomorrow. The Canadian detachment numbered 600 men, and was far the largest body on parade. The smallest detachment consisted of three natives of the Island of St. Lucia. Borneo, Ceylon, Fiji, the West Indies generally, Cyprus, the Gold Coast, Nigeria, Uganda and other remote colonies were represented by native troops, in clothing of striking variety, while straight from the fighting line in South Africa were details from the Canadian Scouts, Kitchener's Horse, and contingents from a number of local levies raised during the war.

THE QUEEN.

The Queen's appearance while on her way from the palace to the Horse Guards, was greeted with salvos of cheers, which increased in strength as the spectators noticed that the ordeal of the past week had but little affected her majesty's health, and noticed the absence of any signs of anxiety as she cheerily acknowledged the congratulations of the public at the uninterrupted progress of the King. The Queen was seated in an open carriage. Beside her was the Prince of Wales, and opposite her majesty were the Princess Victoria and Prince Charles of Denmark. Several carriages, containing the Duke of Cambridge, the Duchess of Connaught, and others, followed. The Prince of Wales was accompanied by the Crown Prince of Denmark, Prince Frederick, Prince Charles of Denmark and their suites, and by the foreign attaches. The Duke of Connaught and Lord Roberts, the commander-in-chief, surrounded by brilliant staffs, rode behind the Prince of Wales' party. The long lines of troops completely filled the Horse Guards' parade, and their variegated uniforms stood out in vivid contrast with the trees in the park. Thousands of spectators filled the stands or stood behind the police. Among the interested onlookers was Prince "Eddy" and the other children of the Prince and Princess of Wales.

THE PREMIERS.

All the Colonial Premiers, Indian Princes and other guests of the nation were present, to say nothing of peers and members of the House of Commons without end.

The troops quickly marched past the Queen's carriage, the Prince of Wales receiving the salute. The Queen then drove slowly in and out of the lines, and the Prince of Wales closely inspected the troops and dismounted and conferred medals and crosses on those who had merited the honor, shaking hands with the recipients of the Victoria Cross. Then followed the most picturesque feature of the day. The Duke of Connaught, at the head of the troops, and facing the Prince of Wales, in clear tones gave the command: "The parade will give three cheers for the King." He himself started the "Hip, hip." In a second the refrain was taken up, and there rose cheers such as London seldom hears, the sound of which must have reached almost to the royal sick room, half a mile away. Helmets, caps and campaign hats rose in waving confusion at the bayonet's point, and the assembled crowds joined in with equal vigor. A man in the Canadian ranks shouted at which the troops and crowd once more yelled themselves hoarse. It was the first occasion since the announcement of the King's illness that the general public had an opportunity to give free vent to their feelings, and the people took advantage of it. After these the Life Guards rode up to the Queen's carriage, to the accompaniment of "God Save the King," and cheers, not unmingled with tears of the women, many of whom were deeply affected. The Queen drove slowly past the troops to Buckingham Palace, constantly bowing and smiling acknowledgments of the people's greetings. The Prince of Wales and the other members of the royal family followed, the colonials reformed in columns, and, amidst hearty cheers from the crowds, returned to their encampments.

"AND A TIGER,"

Subsequently the Canadian troops signalized Dominion Day by gathering at the Canadian Arch and Whitehall, where they went through a series of evolutions and were afterwards photographed. The arch will be illuminated tonight.

GOOD REPORTS OF THE KING'S CONDITION ARE POSTED TODAY

His Majesty Has Passed Another Excellent Night—Making Steady Progress in All Respects.

Wound Less Troublesome and Beginning to Heal.

THE DOCTORS WELL SATISFIED

With the Royal Patient's Steady Progress Toward Convalescence—Public Thanksgiving Services Suggested.

London, July 2—10 a.m.—At Buckingham Palace the following bulletin was issued at 10 o'clock this morning on the condition of King Edward:

"The King had another excellent night, and is making steady progress in all respects. The wound is much less troublesome, and is beginning to heal.

"(Signed) Treves, Laking, Barlow."

The Buckingham Palace bulletins continue to be of a satisfactory nature, but the doctors evidently wish the nation to understand that a considerable period must elapse before the coronation can take place. The official statement that the King is easily fatigued by the least exertion, is understood to imply that his majesty will not, even under the most favorable conditions, be able to take part in any important public ceremony for some months.

London, July 2.—It is reported that by the King's desire his coronation will take place at the earliest date possible. The ceremony will be much quieter than was originally intended, and its religious character will be strongly emphasized. The representatives of foreign governments who will attend will be to a great extent restricted to royal personages intimately connected with the royal family.

THE TUESDAY BULLETINS

His Majesty's Improved Condition Steadily Maintained.

London, July 1.—The following bulletin was posted at 10 o'clock this morning:

"The King passed an excellent night of natural sleep. He has gained strength and made substantial improvement in all respects. — Treves, Laking, Barlow."

5:18 p.m. — The Associated Press learns that King Edward spent an excellent day and that he continues to improve. Sir Frederick Treves this afternoon expressed entire satisfaction with the patient's condition.

The following bulletin was posted at Buckingham Palace at 7 p.m.:

"The advancement in the King's condition is maintained. His appetite is improving and the dressing of the wound is less painful. His majesty is still easily fatigued on the least exertion. (Signed), Treves, Laking, Barlow."

The steady progress of King Edward is fully maintained, and his majesty takes light nourishment, with keen enjoyment. He is allowed a light cigar a day. He evinced the greatest interest in the arrangements for today's review of the colonial troops, and he was eager that his people should be in some way compensated for their disappointment because of the postponement of the coronation.

PUBLIC THANKSGIVING SERVICE

There is some talk in official circles of a public thanksgiving service at St. Paul's Cathedral, when the King is sufficiently recovered to attend, but nothing has been definitely settled. This proposal, if carried out, will be quite apart from the coronation, which, when it takes place, will be largely confined to the religious ceremony. The invitations to foreign powers to send representatives will be considerably curtailed, being restricted to countries connected with Great Britain by ties of blood or special friendship.

THE CELEBRATION OF DOMINION DAY

In Old London and Various Other Localities.

A MESSAGE FROM THE QUEEN

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Lord Strathcona, Lord Minto and Others Among the Speakers.

London, July 1.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian High Commissioner in London, presided tonight at the Canadian Dominion Day dinner. Among the 600 guests present were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier; Sir John Gordon Sprigg, the Premier of Cape Colony; the Right Hon. E. Barton, the Premier of the Commonwealth of Australia; all the Canadian statesmen now in London; the Earl of Minto, the Governor-General of Canada; the Duke of Argyll, former Governor-General of Canada; the Earl of Aberdeen, late Governor-Gentral of Canada, and all the agents-general in London.

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal read a letter from Queen Alexandra, in which her Majesty explained how deeply touched King Edward had been at the outburst of sympathy for him throughout the Empire, and in which she added her thanks to those who had joined her in prayers for the King's recovery.

Sir Charles Tupper, formerly High Commissioner for Canada in England, who was also present, proposed the health of the royal family, and said he hoped the conference of colonial premiers, now being held in London, would result in the same system of preferential trade throughout the Empire.

The Earl of Minto, referring to the South African war, said the greatest landmark in Canadian history of the past four years was the sailing of the first Canadian contingent for South Africa. This, the speaker said, was notice to the whole world that it would hereafter have to reckon with the fighting manhood of the world-wide Empire. The Earl of Minto said also that he thought that the war would have a great and favorable influence upon an Imperial career in the future.

The Duke of Argyll proposed a toast to the Dominion.

Responding to this toast, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it was Canada's pride to be first in devotion to the motherland. The colonies came to her assistance, said the Canadian Premier, not because Great Britain needed help to fight her own battles, but in order to prove henceforth the unity of the Empire. In conclusion, Sir Wilfrid said that already he foresaw a new South African confederation, with equal rights for all races.

AT HOME.

Petrolia, Ont., July 1.—Our town celebrated the first in good style. The east end of our town, headed by Chief of Police Ferguson and our town band, made a procession, consisting of calithumpians, etc., which was witnessed by hundreds, and gave entire satisfaction.

Ottawa, July 1.—Dominion Day was loyally observed in Ottawa. Business of all kinds was suspended for the day and excursions by rail and boat were generously patronized. The parks and suburban summer resorts were thronged, and the ideal summer day, after so long a period of wet and cold weather, was thoroughly enjoyed. At noon the Second Field Battery fired a salute of 21 gune from Nepean Point. There was no sport of any kind in the city except a lacrosse match between two local junior teams and a cricket match between Ottawa and Montreal teams. The only accident reported was to a small boy, a son of Mr. Parker, of the Parker Dye Works, who was severely burned by his clothing catching fire while setting off firecrackers, and a little son of James Ogilvie, who suffered concussion of the brain by being knocked down by a wagon.

Quebec, July 1.—Dominion Day was quietly celebrated in Quebec. The weather was far from being propitious. It rained part of the day. In spite of the weather there was a large picnic of the Oddfellows to Cape Tormentine. At noon the usual salute of 21 guns was fired from the King's Bastion at the Citadel. The banks, public offices and courts were closed.

Britain at the Fair.

St. Louis, July 2.—A copy of Lord Lansdowne's letter to Ambassador Choate, accepting the invitation to participate in the World's Fair, has been received from the Secretary of State. The display to be made by Great Britain at the fair will consist largely of educational and art exhibits. Opportunity also will be afforded British manufacturers to make exhibits.

Delightful, Healing, Refreshing.

"Hazeline" is the only toilet lotion that is absolutely safe to use on broken or irritated skin. It is essential to children's health and comfort, a luxury for ladies' toilet, delightful after shaving, cooling for sunburn, nettle-rash, prickly-heat and all conditions of the skin requiring soothing treatment. Hazeline is an aid to beauty. Only 25 cents.

INDIA'S SOLDIERS PASS IN REVIEW

Before His Majesty and the Prince of Wales.

A PICTURESQUE GATHERING

Over 1,300 Dark-Skinned Troops March Past to the Music of "Hands Across the Sea."

London, July 2.—The review of the East Indian troops today was largely a repetition of yesterday's function, but the varied colors of the uniforms of representative corps from all parts of Hindustan formed an altogether more picturesque spectacle. Queen Alexandra was again of the proceedings, and the public welcomed the opportunity to testify once more its sympathy with her on account of her recent anxiety, and its congratulations at the good news regarding King Edward's condition.

The review procedure of yesterday was followed. About 1,300 dark-skinned troops, headed by a detachment of the Body Guards of the Viceroy of India, Lord Kurzon of Kedleston, reached the Horse Guards' parade to the strains of "Hands Across the Sea."

The members of the royal family who reviewed the colonials yesterday, traversed the lines of the soldiers of the Indian Empire. The Prince of Wales, representing the King, standing at the side of his mother's carriage, took the salute, and the proceedings ended like those of yesterday with led by the Duke of Connaught, the Indians drawing their swords and waving them wildly as they joined in the cheering.

On returning to the palace, the Queen appeared at an open window and took several snap shots of the Indian troops as they marched past on their return to camp. The Indians recognized the Queen-Empress, and each detachment cheered as it passed.

The British fleet, which assembled off Spithead for the proposed coronation review, dispersed this morning.

THE STRIKE SITUATION

On the Canadian Northern Railway Is Little Changed.

Serious Labor Riot in Cleveland—Stones and Pistols Used.

Winnipeg, Man., July 2.—The strike situation on the Canadian Northern is not much changed. Many sectionmen are out along the line, but others apparently have heard nothing of the trouble, and are still working. The company will make an effort to replace the strikers, but with what success remains to be seen.

RIOTING IN CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, July 1. — The first serious conflict between non-union employes and sympathizers with the striking tugmen took place last night, with the result that Michael McDonogh, president of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective Association, is now in the hospital with a bullet wound in the leg. The tug Chris Grover, manned by non-union men, was stoned by men on shore, and a number of shots were fired.

MINERS' STRIKE.

Birmingham, Ala., July 2. — Over 12,000 miners have quit work, and a strike, which means serious discomfort to the Birmingham district, has begun. At a recent meeting of the operators and miners the latter demanded an eight-hour day, a two-weeks' pay day and 60 cents per ton as the maximum price for mining coal, an increase of 5 cents. The operators refused to grant these concessions.

BEAUTIFUL BUCKLES

We are showing handsome floral and enameled patterns. The latest New York styles. One of them will give your summer costume the delightful finishing touch.
