NEWS SUMMARY.

Dominion.

— The immigrant arrivals at Winnipeg for March were 6,637, as compared with 2,600 in March, 1891.

— After the grip Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore your strength and health, and expel every trace of poison from the blood.

— Quite a destructive fire occurred in Yarmouth on the night of Wednesday, 13th. The burnt district extended from Kelley's Corner to C. C. Richard's drug store.

— Hon. D. L. Hanington was sworn in a judge of the Supreme Court of this province by the Chief Justice, and took his seat upon the bench on Wednesday last.

— It is reported that work on the Chignectomarine railway will be shortly resumed and will be pushed to completion. It is expected to have a vessel passed over the road next fall.

— A party of farm delegates from Michigan arrived in Winnipeg last week to examine this country. If well satisfied a hundred and fifty families will move over in the autumn.

— Dr. DeBertram and Philadelphia parties interested in the Buctouche and Moncton railway have been inspecting the road, with a view to putting it in better shape and extending the line to Richibucto.

— The town council of Amherst has decided to accept the tender of Rhodes, Curry & Co. for the new academy, cost $27,600, provided the rate-payers vote $7,000 additional to the sum of $25,000 already voted.

— A. W. Atwater, Q. C., has received instructions to proceed at once against the many authorized lotteries which have sprung up of late in Montreal, and which Attorney General Casgrain states must be exterminated.

— Prince Edward Island Legislature has passed a resolution asking Lord Knutsford, colonial secretary, to interpose his good offices in preventing Newfoundland enacting discriminating duties on Canadian products.

— The Allan steamer Mongolian brought to Halifax eight hundred and fifty passengers, among whom were three Canadian bishops, viz., the bishops of Nova Scotia, Toronto and Arthabasca. Bishop Courtney, who was abroad for his health, says he feels very well.

— In the Ontario Legislature the bill to permit the Law Society to admit women to practice as solicitors was adopted by a non-partisan majority of 49 to 27. Mr. Meredith declared that the natural sequel to the measure would be the admission of women to the bar and the bench, and Mr. Mowatt replied that he was willing to see them admitted to the practice of the law in its fullest extent.

— It is stated that the sales in Canadian Pacific Railway land department this season are very large. The total for the week ending April 9 was nearly 20,000 acres. The sales of the first quarter of the present year compare with the corresponding period of 1891 very favorably, but the second quarter will be even more. For the first quarter of 1891 the sales aggregated 15,000, and for January, February and March of the current year a total of 89,000 acres, an increase of 433 per cent.

— Chas. Bent, of Amherst, sustained serious injuries to his head and face through an error of judgment in looking down into a well before a blast which he had put in had exploded. While in the act of looking down the well the explosion took place, throwing large pieces of rock into the air. A piece of the rock struck him on the forehead, inflicting a deep wound and slightly breaking the bone. Also on the chin, tearing it open. Although very serious, his injuries are not thought to be dangerous.

— The news of Mr. Mackenzie's death, although expected, was received with most profound regret at Ottawa. Flags were flying at half-mast on the parliament buildings, clubs, hotels, etc. The members of the cabinet were dispersed for the Easter holidays, but they were summoned to meet on Monday, when it was expected they would decide upon the offer of a state funeral for the deceased statesman. The House of Commons resumes Tuesday, but an adjournment will immediately take place till after the funeral.

— An offer of a modus vivendi, made through Lord Knutsford, having been pigeonholed by an officer of the colonial office, the Dominion Government yesterday made a direct offer by cable to Newfoundland for an interim arrangement on the lines of that suggested to Lord Knutsford, both countries to revert to the status quo of 1885, pending a conference between representatives of the two governments. Meanwhile, according to advices received by the government yesterday, public feeling in Newfoundland appears to be setting strongly against the Whiteway government.

— An Ottawa despatch of April 14th says: A great victory on behalf of the principle of responsible government has been obtained by the North-west Territories Assembly. No further deadlocks nor misapprehensions as to the manner in which federal grants shall be expended can occur. It is understood that the supplementary estimates will contain a bulk sum to be expended as the Territorial assembly shall see fit. This arrangement has been recommended to the council by a sub-committee composed of Messrs. Dewdney and Foster and sure to be adopted. No further conflict or misunderstanding between the assembly and the Lieut.-Governor will arise.

— A British Columbia special says: "It is feared trouble is to be experienced up north. Indians from upper Skeena threaten to kill the government agent there if an Indian whom he has in custody charged with murder is sent down to Victoria for trial. The Indians are greatly enraged about the matter and threaten dire vengeance."

— The maple sugar industry in York County, N. B., has proved almost a total failure this spring. Last year a number of the farmers in Kingsclear and Queensbury had a most profitable season, and they, with others, made extensive preparations for the work this spring. The product has scarcely paid them for their extra expense. They give as a reason that the sap movement occurred during the warm weather in February.

British and Foreign.

— A London despatch of April 13, says: A great strike in the Lancashire cotton mills was put in force to-day, several mills closing. To-morrow the majority of the mills will close. The market does not seem to be greatly affected by the movement, and the indications seem to point to the belief in the trade that the stoppage will not last over a fortnight, when a settlement is expected.

— A special cable letter to the World from London says: The Princess of Wales and her daughters will not be in London at all during the season. The Prince of Wales and Prince George will be here during June, while the yacht "Osborne" is fitting out for their Norway cruise, but they will accept no invitations. Well-informed people who have seen the Prince and Princess on the Riviera say that the reports as to their physical breaking down over Prince Albert Victor's death are not exaggerated in the least.

— The Rev. Arthur T. Pierson, now in England, and who supplied Mr. Spurgeon's pulpit during his illness, denies the report that he has been chosen to fill the pulpit of London Tabernacle. In a note to the Voice he says: "Take no stock in reports about me. They are all pure and simple conjectures. I hope to sail June 4—maybe a little earlier, possibly later, though not probably. Mr. Spurgeon never used the words attributed to him in his illness, 'I have fought a good fight,' and at his funeral it was expressly stated that he did not."

— Mr. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, tells the British Parliament that there is a revenue surplus this year of £1,067,000, or about $5,000,000. This is a much better exhibit than was at one time expected, and proves that, in the main, Great Britain is financially doing well. The receipts from tea have increased, showing, Mr. Goschen thinks, that the masses of the people are more prosperous. He estimates that the receipts from spirits will amount the coming year to £4,350,000, or about $21,000,000, which figures, representing nearly one-fourth of the entire revenue, remind us of the enormous drink bill that Great Britain annually pays.

— The Great Western railway of England will exhibit in the Transportation Building of the Chicago World's Fair the famous old locomotive, The Lord of the Isles, which was built at the company's works in Swindon, in 1851, from designs by the late Sir Daniel Gooch. This locomotive was a notable exhibit at the first World's Fair in London, in 1851. From that time until July, 1881, it was continually in service, and ran during that period a distance of 789,300 miles without being fitted with a new boiler. As a pioneer of early railroading, and as a contrast to the powerful modern Mogul, this old locomotive will attract much attention.

United States.

— Neal Dow has been making scrapbooks for many years, and he has now twenty-three very large and thick volumes. He proposes to bequeath them to collections of archives to be placed in the Temperance Temple in Chicago.

— The Mississippi Legislature has just passed a Scientific Temperance Instruction bill, by which every grade in the schools is now compelled to teach the subject under exactly the same regulations which govern every other study in the schools.

— A terrible explosion occurred in the Moosic powder mills, 20 miles from Wilkesbarre, Pa., on Wednesday last. The shocks were felt over a radius of 40 miles. Thousands of people in the surrounding towns rushed out of doors thinking that an earthquake had taken place. The mills were blown to the smallest atoms. No fragments were found larger than a foot long. Seven men were instantly killed, and two fatally injured. The loss will reach $200,000.

— The "irrepressible conflict" has assumed an active phase at Epping, N. H. There is a strong saloon influence in that town that has been antagonized by the Congregational church, and the pastor—Rev. W. P. Clancy—has vigorously denounced the saloons. Recently an attempt was made to burn the church, and on Sunday the Congregational parsonage and barn were burned by an incendiary fire. The town is greatly excited, and the result will probably be a still more vigorous warfare upon the saloons. The good people of the town are now ready to move forward, and the saloons must go!

A Remarkable Family.

Prominent among the members of the Baptist church in Lower Aylesford, N. S., so long under the pastoral care of Rev. Charles Tupper, D. D., were the late Alexander Wilson, and his wife Elizabeth. The former died Sept. 10, 1875, aged 81, and the latter March 5, 1875, aged 85. Their ten children are all married, and live near their old home; and when Dr. Tupper preached the funeral sermon of both parents he alluded to the remarkable fact that the ten children—the six daughters with their husbands, and the four sons with their wives, twenty in all—were all present on both occasions. No death had occurred during those long years to break the family circle. Nearly nineteen years have passed since the death of their father, and the ranks are still unbroken. The eldest of the ten children is 75, and the youngest is 59. Their united ages is 680 years. They all professed religion when young, and united with the Baptist church, of which they are still faithful members. Nine of these children married Baptists, and one a Methodist. On January 8, 1889, the eldest sister, the wife of Deacon Gardner Tufts, celebrated her golden wedding, and all her brothers and sisters—except one, who was detained by sickness—together with their families, met with her on that occasion.

— By a personal inspection of the establishment of W. H. Johnson, Esq., 121 and 123 Granville street, Halifax, we see that this house deals in first class goods, for which Mr. Johnson obtained a special diploma at the late N. S. provincial exhibition. The one price system of trade is to be commended.

A New Newspaper Directory.

The Canadian Newspaper Directory, recently published by A. McKim & Co., Montreal, is a very respectable looking volume of some 400 pages. One of the most interesting features of the work is a history of Canadian journalism, in which an account is given of the first papers published in each province, with a sketch of the rise and progress of the most noteworthy papers down to a comparatively recent period. Many curious facts are given about these early papers, and the sketch, which contains much material that has not hitherto seen the light, is the most comprehensive one yet published on the subject. Accompanying the history is a fac-simile of the first newspaper printed in the Dominion. It was supposed that the Quebec Gazette was the first Canadian newspaper, but the Halifax Gazette here reproduced, appeared in March, 1752, twelve years before the Quebec paper saw the light. It consisted of only two pages 9 x 15 inches, and it is a lamentable fact, strikingly illustrating the mortality of the early newspapers, that not a single copy of the Halifax Gazette is known to exist in Canada. A copy, supposed to be unique, is in the library of the Massachusetts Historical Society, in Boston; and after some trouble and expense, Messrs. McKim & Co. obtained a photograph of it. This souvenir alone is worth the price of the book, which is $2.00. To give an idea of the labor required in a work like the Canadian Newspaper Directory, it may be stated that the book contains 30,000 separate facts, apart from its history. The compilers have been at considerable pains to gather facts regarding newspapers of the past, and they have framed what appears to be a very complete table of the newspapers of all the provinces as far back as 1864—just three years before confederation. There were then in all British North America only 298 papers, of which 12 were in Newfoundland. At the end of 1891, these had increased to 1,044, including Newfoundland, which now has 11.

GARDNER.—Suddenly, at Villagedale, Shelburne Co., Feb. 21st, James G. Gardner, in the 70th year of his age, leaving a widow, one daughter and two sons to mourn their loss. But they mourn not as those without hope, for although the messenger came suddenly, yet we know he was ready.

WATERMAN.—At Middlefield, Queens Co., N. S., March 31, James D. Waterman, aged 81. Bro. Waterman was one of the oldest members of the Brookfield (Queens) church, and his life and death illustrated the Gospel as "the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth."

STEWART.—Fell "asleep in Jesus," April 6, at Red Point, P. E. I., Maggie, aged 28, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McDonald and wife of Jason Stewart. Our departed sister leaves a husband and an infant son, besides many relatives and friends deeply bereaved by her sudden death.

LEARY.—Mrs. Mary J. Leary, wife of Nelson Leary, and daughter of the late W. Ryan, of Point de Bute, Westmorland Co., died at her home, Hopewell Cape, on March 18. She was baptized into the fellowship of the Hopewell Baptist church by the late Rev. J. F. Kempton. She spoke very confidently of her interest in the Saviour's blood. The occasion of her funeral was improved by the writer on the following Sunday from the words, "I am the resurrection and the life."

ODELL.—At Smith's Cove, Digby Co., N. S., on the 7th inst., Mrs. Grace Odell, relict of the late Winslow Odell, aged 80 years. Sister Odell united with the 2nd Hillsburgh church (Smith's Cove) in 1849, and held fast her profession to the end. According to the testimony of those who knew her, she walked worthy of her vocation and died trusting in the merits of her Redeemer. She was followed to the grave by her four surviving children, who deeply mourn the loss of a faithful and affectionate mother.

WEAR.—At Smith's Cove, Digby Co., N. S., on the 9th inst., Richard Davenport, youngest son of Mr. Joseph Wear, aged 23 years. While recovering from an attack of la grippe he took cold, which terminated in quick consumption. He was a steady, thoughtful, amiable young man, beloved by a large circle of relatives and friends. During special meetings held in February he was much interested, but made no profession. On his sick bed the Lord heard his prayers, and enabled him to trust in the promises and submit to the Master's will. He was followed to the grave by a large gathering of sympathizing friends.

HUBLEY.—At French Village, Halifax Co., April 8th, of pleurisy, Jennie C., beloved wife of Robert T. Hubley, passed into rest, at the age of 37 years. Early in life our sister experienced a hope in the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, and was baptized by Rev. W. E. Hall into the fellowship of the church here fourteen years ago. Her Christian character was consistent with her profession; and her sudden death has filled our hearts with sadness. When she realized the hand of death was upon her, with perfect resignation she committed all her cares into the hands of her heavenly Father. A lonely husband mourns the loss of a dear companion, and nine children will sorrow the loss of the best of earthly friends.
