George H Davis, a Fredericton druggist has fled the country leaving behind him financial obligations amounting to about $15,000. This was floated on paper purporting to carry the endorsement of Hon. F. P. Thompson and J. D. Phinney, M. P. P., brothers-in-law of Davis. Both gentlemen repudiate all paper bearing their names, and say Davis forged the signatures. Last May a young man named George Binney Dibblee, manager of the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian, attended the World's Fair and on his way home visited relatives in St. John. While in St. John he became engaged to a Miss Mary Robinson, a cousin of his own. On his return home, he decided to annul the engagement and wrote Miss Robinson to this effect. Her relatives induced her to sue for damages, engaging Mr. C. DeWolfe McDonald, of Halifax, to conduct the prosecution. Damages were placed at £5000 sterling. Rather sensational letters were written to the defendant. No attention was paid to these by the young man who placed the matter in the hands of a reliable barrister of his own city. The amount claimed, was too preposterous to be considered, and a settlement was finally arranged by the payment of £500 sterling to the young lady and £50 costs to C. DeW McDonald.

An interesting assault case was before Magistrate Ritchie in St. John, N. B. on Wednesday. The facts of the case are as follows: Captain Hazlette a quiet, smart and bright young man, has been a little sweet on young and pretty Miss Ricker who resides with her mother and step-father, Joseph Sproule. The courtship of the couple which has extended almost two years, has ripened into an engagement between the pair. Mr. Joseph Sproule who is a respectable and law abiding citizen, objected to the young man staying as late as 11 o'clock. On Monday night Mr. Sproule visited the kitchen where his step-daughter, and her gallant sat talking. He requested the young man to retire and to not call again. The captain proceeded to go and when they reached the front door a scuffle took place between him and Mr. Sproule in which both were badly punished. A warrant was issued for assault. When the case came up for trial the magistrate considered it one that should be settled out of court and requested the principals, with their lawyers, to retire to an adjoining room and come to an understanding. The following agreement was made: Hazlette shall come; he must court in the parlor and as coal is dear he must leave at ten o'clock.

Said a Lady

...to us a day or two ago, "You folks have got your name up for selling goods very cheap."

"We're going to keep it up" said we in reply.

The old-fashioned way of doing business was to charge as much as possible;—the new way, the way that draws the crowds, the way that is building up our big business, is to sell as cheap as possible.

We prefer doing a big business and selling goods cheap, to doing a small business and selling goods dear.

It Pays Us to Make it Pay You.

To buy from us and that's just what we're doing.

Our Fur Goods are desperately cheap and the balance of ou Jackets, Capes and Ulsters can be bought for the price of the cloth.

All kinds of Goods are cheap. You see we must have money to pay for the big stock of goods our buyer is now buying in the Old Country.

Buy now—the profits are yours not ours.

The Bangor Commercial contains the following: "Near Fort Kent in the northern part of Aroostook county," remarked a gentleman the other day, who had recently returned from a trip to that section of the state, "is a village called Connorville. This village was named for Rob Connor, a Scotchman who came from the old country and went up to Fort Kent with only a pack on his back containing a change of clothes. He went to work; by living economically for several years he was soon able to invest in a tract of land, from which he realized quite an amount of money in the sale of lumber and produce. He invested in more land and continued to increase his wealth. After a time he built a saw mill and began lumber operations. To make the story brief from the man's earnest labors there is a village today known as Connorville; and Rob Connor owns it. In the village there is a church a saw mill and two stores a post office and a number of houses including the fine residence of Mr. Connor. It is a fine exhibit of what can be accomplished in the old Pine Tree state by the go ahead thrift of a single energetic public-spirited citizen

This paragraph no doubt refers to our own "Bob" Connors, of St. Francis, who is unquestionably the leading citizen and the most enterprising man in the county of Madawaska, and king of the upper St. John lumbermen. Mr. Connors is not a Scotchman but a native of Prince Edward Island who after following the sea for a time took to the woods and settled on the upper St. John where now his name is a household word. Mr Connors is almost equally well known over the entire length of the St John River, in this city and in Quebec in both of which cities he has extensive business connections, and in both of which he is a frequent and a welcome visitor. A goodly portion of his operations are in the State of Maine, it is true, but our genial friend remains a faithful citizen of Canada and takes a keen interest in the politics of the section of the country in which he has lived for many years. He is a conservative and a long time supporter and friend of Hon. John Costigan, one of New Brunswick's representatives in the cabinet. [—St. John Gazette.

The Benevolent Irish Society of this city intend presenting Lieutenant Governor Howlan with an address of congratulation when he returns home.

As there were no criminal cases on the docket the sheriff presented the Chief Justice with a pair of white kid gloves.

WHY HOOD'S WINS.

President Lincoln said, "You cannot fool the people a second time. They are too quick to recognize real merit or lack of it, and cling only to those things which they find to be what is claimed for them.

It is especially gratifying that the sale of Hood's Sarsaparilla increases most rapidly in those sections where it is best known.

The inference is plain. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven that it possesses genuine merit. It maintains a high standard, which others cannot even approach. It is the people's favorite blood purifying and building up medicine, and is more popular this year than ever before. All this because Hood's cures.

It takes the moon two weeks to get full and two weeks to get over it. Whoo's he fun in that?

This invaluable quality is never more apparent in man or woman than when shown in his or her choice of periodical reading matter. It should be a paper like the Herald which gives all the latest Home News as well as all the General News, Political News and Market News, with seasonable Editorials on current topics. First—It should be a clean, wholesome paper that can safely be taken into the family. It should be illustrated with timely engravings.

Second—A paper that is entertaining and instructive while of sound principles. Its moral tone should be beyond question.

Third—A helpful paper, one that tells the housewife of home life, thoughts and experiences, and keeps her in touch with social usage and fashion.

Fourth—A paper abounding in original character, sketches, bright sayings, unctuous humor, and brilliant wit.

Fifth—It should contain good stories and pleasing matter for young people, that the children may always regard the paper as a friend.

Sixth—Literary selections and stories suitable for older people should be given, for they, too, like to enjoy a leisure hour.

Seventh—In short, it should be a good all round Family Journal, a weekly visitor which shall bring refreshment and pleasure to every member of the household.
