THE WARDEN A WITNESS.

MR. MASSIE'S EVIDENCE BEFORE THE C. P. COMMISSION.

How The Meat Was Selected—An Improvement on the Old System—Other Testimony for the Defence—It Still Continues.

On the resumption of the Central prison investigation yesterday Mr. Idington commenced calling witnesses for the defence.

Robert Hunter said that he was buyer of cattle for food for government institutions, and that he was very careful in the selection of his animals, allowing only the best to be slaughtered. Patrick Kinnear and Thos. Crawford, wholesale cattle dealers, swore that Mr. Hunter was very particular in buying cattle and would accept nothing but the very best. Dr. Clarke of the asylum and Mr. Laird of the Mercer reformatory testified as to the good quality of the meat supplied to their respective institutions.

Warden Massie testified that at the time of his appointment the meat was furnished by contract, and that on two occasions he was forced to complain to the contractor about the bad quality of it. After his complaints there was a change for the better. Under the new system of buying the meat is sent for to the slaughter house twice a week, and immediately on arriving is put in a large refrigerator well supplied with ice. Since the memorable trouble in 1883 there has only been one complaint from the prisoners about the meat, and that was utterly unfounded. Up till June of this year the potatoes were good. After that date some lots were received which were not strictly first class, but were certainly not rotten. There have been a few batches of sour bread, owing to the old system of buying flour by contract. The flour is now bought by the warden wherever the best can be obtained, and the bread is consequently excellent. The warden was examined on several other points such as the washing of bedding, the bathing of prisoners, etc., and suggested regulations which, in his opinion, would tend to the greater comfort of prisoners and a higher state of discipline in the prison.

Mr. Quinn, prison storekeeper, said that his instructions from the warden were not to serve out any food which he would not eat himself. The same food furnished to the prisoners was used by the guards and the warden himself. Mr. Wheeler, the prison bursar, corroborated his statement.

Mr. Clarkson the prison engineer said that some time ago acting on instructions from the warden, he had examined the baths and found the water supply abundant and the accomodation in other respects good.

Guard Clancy and Nolan gave evidence as to the proper management of the baths. The prisoners could always have fresh water to bathe in if they would wait to have the tubs refilled.

William Davidson of the observatory staff testified from his books that on July 7, 1883, at the time of the bad meat affair, there was a continuous thunderstorm. Mr. Idington pointed out that the warden had said that there was a heavy storm at that time, and that Mr. Awde had said that brine would be soiled by such a storm in three hours.

Thos. R. Woods, chairman of the board of underwriters, was foreman of the grand jury at the last spring assizes and visited the Central prison. The food and general accommodation were excellent, and much better than that enjoyed by an ordinary day laborer.

Mr. Massie was recalled and gave evidence regarding the system of punishment in the prison.

A lengthy discussion arose as to whether the warden was justified in confining a prisoner in his own cell for an indefinite length of time. Judge Sinclair said that he had no right to do so, while Mr. Massie's counsel contended that according to the bylaw he had the right. The matter was not decided.

The Rupert's Excursion.

ON BOARD STEAMER RUPERT,
MONDAY MORNING, Aug. 17, 1885.

To Captain Lunday and Purser Wilkie, of the steamer Rupert;

We, passengers to Rochester and return on your boat, take pleasure in offering you this slight acknowledgment and praise for the very kind and courteous treatment received at your hands. While well aware of the many and diversified difficulties which will "crop up" under the most careful management on excursions of this kind, we feel justified in tendering you this tribute of respect for attentions shown us on this occasion:

A. F. Stevenson, W. Schadel, Herir Herr, Miss Thrig, Miss M. Thrig, George Grupe, William Edde, F. C. Hagaman, Jno. F. Wood, C. Campbell, H. Finniory, Jos. Connors, H. K. Freeman, J. White, Wm. Wymul, M. O. Connell, John Dandie, M. Carmody, Max Bavmon, Walter Beaven, Mrs. Guiles, Miss Vanderschauff, J. Holland, Geo. Luanton, Edward McWade, Miss Mary Veith, Mrs. Johnson, W. H. Thurston, Chas. Lettan, James Seymour, John McCaul, Thos. Anderson, H. P. Hearick, C. Rowland, Ed. Dent, Oakville, Mrs. C. R. Orr, Oakville, Mrs. J. Reid, James Walsh, jr., Jas. Mooney, Frank B. Boll and over fifty others.

H. C. Dixon's Picnic.

Editor World: I saw in your issue of yesterday a short account of the picnic of H. C. Dixon's bible class. At the conclusion it was stated that all returned after spending a very enjoyable time, and after partaking of tea, etc. Kindly allow me to reply to this. I, as well as several others, had nothing whatever to drink at the time the tea, etc., were served. I asked no less than a dozen times for something to drink, but my asking was in vain. I'll admit I had all that I could eat, but it is nice to have something of a fluid with which to wash it down. Whether we were not worth serving or not is a question, but if I understand things right I and my friends who were with me had as great a privilege as any there, and should have received proper treatment. Now, Mr. Editor, I do not wish to hurt in any way the picnic or its head, but I do and always will speak plain when partiality is shown.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

An Answer to E. E. Knott.

Editor World: Allow me to say in reference to E. E. Knott's letter is this morning's World that the statements from the beginning and every one of them are infamous lies. Some transactions between him and myself might be explained by me, did it not necessitate connecting the names of some respectable business men in Toronto and elsewhere with his, already so badly tarnished. Some of the many persons he has defrauded of large and small sums of money may speak for themselves. His career in the township of Euphrasia—his former home, is anything but enviable. It is an easy matter to holler from over the border that he is coming back to pay all. His action in leaving looks peculiar. Should he decide on coming he may be assured of a warm reception. W. O. SMITH.

Good News for Red-headed Girls.

"Auburn tresses are in high fashion," writes an Asbury park correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. "I counted thirty-six red-headed girls at Asbury this afternoon, during a ten minutes' promenade. Yesterday, at the bathing hour, the surf seemed to be all the while breaking out in bright spots, so numerous were the red heads bobbing up in the sea. They tell me here that the red-headed girls nearly all come from Trenton. New York sends but a few, and Philadelphia contributes none at all. Why the Jersey capital should be such a nursery of heads of flame, so to speak, I can't imagine. The girls are all vain of their hair, and are the envy of the shore. The color isn't a plain, dull brick, but nearer that of a ripe, freshly picked Jersey strawberry. After they have had a dip in the surf the girls parade up and down the beach with their long, bright tresses flowing over towels down their backs, and when several of these strawberry-headed girls gather in a group the spectacle is an interesting one. Big, deep blue eyes and clear, fair skins—without a freckle—go with the Trenton hair as a rule. A manicure here, who also dresses hair, tells me that the yearning for red hair is just intense, and young women are coming in every day to enquire what under the sun will give blonde and black tresses a strawberry hue. So far no process has been ascertained, but if one should be found out before the summer is over its discoverer will be likely to make a dollar or two if he will kindly come to Asbury park. Vanitas vanitatum! But isn't it strange that red heads should become the rage?"

He Lived in Canada.

From the Hamilton Times.

"Do you know Peter Snyder?" asked a Boston man of a Hamiltonian, to whom he had been introduced.

"Where does he live?"

"Oh, he lives in Canada."

"In what part?"

"I don't know where, but I thought if you came from Canada you would know him."

This conversation is an actual occurrence, and is a fair sample of many Boston people's ideas about Canada. Some of them thought the party traveled part of the way to Boston on shoeshoes.

WANTED.

HIGHEST PRICE PAID AT THE

CIGAR STORES,

337 and 191½ Yonge street.

THE GENUINE PIANO,

Manufactured by Rainer & Co., Guelph, Ont.

The undersigned respectfully announce that on the 9th day of April, 1884, Joseph F. Rainer dissolved partnership with Frank Sweetnam and John Hazelton, as piano manufacturers, and that said Joseph F. Rainer, with his son, will continue to manufacture the original cross-scale Pianos, of which the said Joseph F. Rainer is the sole inventor.

Since the above dissolution, Mr. Rainer, sr., has greatly improved the small Cross-scale Piano by adding one string more to each note throughout the middle, making three strings to each note instead of two, thus giving the Piano a third more power of tone throughout the middle. There will be fifty-three notes from the treble down that will have three strings instead of twenty-four notes from the treble down as formerly. The undersigned will give to wholesale and retail customers the benefit of this improvement by letting them have these Pianos for the same price as the ones formerly made with two strings.

These Pianos have now been before the public for 23 years, and have always ranked among the very best, and are celebrated for quality of tone, great power and durability of action, prompt elastic touch, fine finish and elegant style of case, combined with every known improvement. Thousands are in use, many of which are on record, embracing a period of 30 years, and made up of 28 first prizes, medals and diplomas, received at the principal exhibitions in Canada—Montreal, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton and London. At the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia, in 1876, we secured a medal and diploma for our piano. The great favor with which the cross-scale pianos have been received for so long a period, and the reputation they bear, has induced others to imitate them. We therefore caution intending purchasers and dealers wishing to obtain the original cross-scale piano to see that the name of "Rainer & Co." is on each instrument. We make the Upright and Square Grand Pianos.

For further particulars, Price List, &c., address RAINER & CO., Guelph, Ont.
