J. L. STEWART,.....EDITOR.

MONDAY EVENING, NOV. 10, 1873.

The air is thick with the names of aspirants for Parliamentary honors. Edward Willis is said to be feeling the County. Gilbert R. Pugsley has designs on the City. Wm. Wedderburn is talked of for one of the constituencies. Charles N. Skinner would be brought out for the County if his consent could be obtained. The active men of the Confederate party are enthusiastically preparing to elect Lester Peters to oppose the Government, if he will run. It is confidently said in Liberal circles that Henry C. Fairweather can be easily elected over the head of the New Minister of Customs. The very latest is that the Government party in Ottawa have agreed to put John V. Ellis forward as their candidate for the city, and that he will run. We know that it is a great temptation to Liberal aspirants for Parliamentary honors to take advantage of the bitter feeling against Mr. Burpee, but they should restrain themselves. No self-nominated candidate can hope to succeed against the prestige of the Cabinet office and the cash of the candidate. A meeting, formal or informal, of leading Liberals must be had, and candidates selected. If men for whom the leaders of the party cannot work persist in putting themselves forward the chance of returning two Liberals will be lessened.

Here is a very fair review in brief of the new Government:

I. Mr. Blake has taken office, although in his Riversdale and Walkerton speeches, and again in his recent speech in the House of Commons, he said nothing could induce him to do so.

II. Mr. Mackenzie, in the person of Mr. Cartwright, has taken a Conservative into his Cabinet.

III. Mr. Mackenzie has made a member of his Government, in the person of Senator Christie, a man who has large interests in a foreign country.

IV. He has given office to three men who openly deserted the late Government, Messrs. A. J. Smith, Coffin and Burpee.

V. He has paid off, by office, another man, in the person of David Laird, who had promised to support the late Government.

VI. He has left out Joseph Cauchon, who had sold his party in the expectation of securing a Cabinet position.

The Mail, from which the above is taken, would have added Mr. Scott's name to Mr. Cartwright's as another Tory member, if his appointment had been announced at the time of writing.

It is to be hoped that there will be a good gathering of representative men at St. George on Thursday. The Shore Line Railway from St. John to Bangor should be built, and will be built if the people on the route give sufficient encouragement. St. John would be greatly benefited, directly and indirectly, by having another through line to Bangor, and it is to be hoped that the attendance of St. John men will show that this community is alive to the importance of this project. Everything seems to be in train for the building of the road from the Penobscot to the St. Croix, and the manifestation of a determination on our part to build from the St. Croix to the St. John would stimulate the movement across the line.

The Tribune, on what authority we do not know, refers to a rumor that the Hon. Peter Mitchell may, ere long, join the Government ranks. Mr. Mitchell took no part in the debate. St. John Telegraph.

Why does the Telegraph continue attacking the Liberal-Conservative party in this underhand, and disreputable style? This style was necessary while the paper was on the fence, but it is free to adopt a more honorable course now. THE TRIBUNE referred to a rumor that "Mr. Mitchell is to be offered the office he has so ably filled since Confederation." Mr. Mitchell will not desert his party, even though the deserters desire his countenance.

Judging by the following from the Mail, the renegades in the Cabinet have trouble in store for them:

Those who now compose Her Majesty's Opposition in Canada had a most enthusiastic meeting Thursday. Sir John Macdonald was unanimously asked to lead them, and he accepted the position. The determination was arrived at to give no factious opposition to the Government, but to act in every respect in the best interests of the country. On one point, however, a most decided expression of opinion was made, that no quarter should be given to renegades and traitors.

The situation at Ottawa grows daily more critical for the Grit Government. A conflict has arisen between them and the Governor General on the question of confirming or cancelling the late appointments, Having assented to the appointments His Excellency does not desire to stultify himself by cancelling them without cause. It seems probable that a general election is at hand. We hope it won't come yet, as we believe that three or four months' of Grit governing will immensely strengthen the hands of Sir John Macdonald, Peter Mitchell, Dr. Tupper and the rest of the old Ministers.

Nova Scotia News.

On Friday morning last a boy, aged 12 years, son of Mrs. King of the Central Hotel at Annapolis, accidentally cut two of his fingers off his left hand with a hay cutter.

Near Antigonish a seam of coal, which resembles, and possibly is, Albertine, has been recently discovered. Steps have been taken and a lease secured to open up the mine.

In Antigonish, Friday morning, a child three months old, the daughter of Donald McPherson, was found dead in bed. The private opinion of the doctors is that the use of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup had injured the health of the child.

The grain thieves, who were admitted to bail at North Sydney, are missing, and on account of some irregularity in the proceedings, the whole town is ringing with indignation. The people feel that by some one's mistake the place is disgraced, and will gain for their port abroad no enviable reputation.

The body of a young seaman named Newcomb was found a short time ago in the water alongside of a schooner lying at Maria Joseph. The body was interred without an inquest being held, as it was thought he fell overboard during the night. Rumors of foul play began to circulate, the body was disinterred, and an inquest held, when a post mortem revealed the fact that the breast was broken in, and a deep gash in the throat, and the face cut and bruised.

At Brighton, Eng., a few days since, a clergyman, the Rev. Frederick Scotson Clarke, was brought before the magistrates of the borough on a charge of having assaulted his mother-in-law, Mrs. Browne, and the Rev. William La Burte. The reverend gentleman denied the charges. He said that his brother clergyman had taken advantage of his absence in Germany to induce his wife to join the Sisterhood of All Saints in London. He also alleged that his mother-in-law had persuaded her daughter to institute proceedings against him for a separation on the ground of cruelty. Mr. La Burte said that he had never advised Mrs. Clarke in either spiritual or temporal matters. The magistrates fined the accused £5 for the assault against his mother-in-law, and £2 in the other case.

Alfred Saville, who died recently of yellow fever at Shreveport, was a telegraphic operator in the Confederate service during the war, and noted for his success in sending forged and misleading despatches to Union generals. On one occasion he took possession of the wires between Nashville and a body of Federals operating in Southern Kentucky, and telegraphed peremptory orders not to send any more troops, but plenty of provisions and ammunition. An old friend, then in charge at Nashville, detecting the peculiar touch or fingering of the bogus operator, flashed back to him this good humored answer: "Get out, Saville, or I'll send the cavalry after you." Saville volunteered his services at Shreveport after every resident operator had been stricken down, and he died at his post.

An Important Remark.

Among the large number gathered at the horse sale, Friday, was Col. Higginson, who is, as our Danbury readers well know, very deaf. Alongside of him stood a young man, a stranger, engaged, as was the Colonel, in watching the sale. During a lull he turned toward the Colonel, and politely observed: "A pleasant day." The Colonel saw the movement of his lips, but of course heard no sound, and not wishing to lose what might be a matter of vital interest, he said, "What's that?" "It is a pleasant day," repeated the young man, suddenly realizing the dreadful insignificance of the statement. "I did not quite hear you," explained the Colonel, leaning forward with some anxiety. The young man turned very red, and looked as if he was about to descend into the bowels of the earth with his hat on. "I said it was a pleasant day," he again stammered, raising his voice, and shivering at the sound. The Colonel's hand went up to his ear, "Really, sir," he said in a bland manner, "I am afraid you will have to speak a little louder." The young man grew redder than ever. How gladly he would have turned and fled; how utterly he regretted not keeping the information to himself. But the Colonel stood waiting; and raising himself by his toes, the young man shrilly screamed: "It is a pleasant day." The Colonel heard this, and promptly coincided, and the young man retreated amid the encouraging smiles of the populace.—Danbury News.

The Portland Assault Case.

The charge against Arthur and John Rogers and Nicholas Cunningham for assaulting John Nelson was concluded Saturday afternoon in the Police Court. After hearing the evidence for the complainant, on motion of Mr. Kerr John Rogers was discharged, as there was no evidence to convict him of being implicated in the affair. He was then called as a witness for the defence and swore that Cunningham had nothing to do with the row, but was in bed at the time. Mr. Doherty urged that the case be sent to the Supreme Court, but the Magistrate could see no reason for doing so, and disposed of it himself by fining Arthur Rogers and Cunningham $20 each. An appeal is spoken of in the case of Cunningham, who, it is claimed, proved an alibi.

The Dipper Harbor Breakwater.

The foundation of the Dipper Harbor breakwater, which was built in Carleton by Messrs. Clark & Stackhouse, left the harbor Friday in tow of three steam tugs. The water was very rough and when near Dipper Harbor those in charge were obliged to put back, and anchor in Musquash harbor. It will be there until the water is fit to take it to its resting place. The breakwater is 250 feet long, 36 feet wide and 18 feet deep and is a very unwieldy structure to move around, besides being very expensive for the contractors.

Government Work on St. John River.

The Sentinel contains a full description of the way in which the $3,000, granted by the Dominion Government to improve the navigation of the river, was spent under direction of Mr. Perley, the Government engineer. The result of the work is that in several places above Woodstock there has been a gain of from eight to fifteen inches of water, and the channel, formerly tortuous and dangerous, has been straightened and navigation made easy. The work was done under the direct superintendence of Capt. Duncan, an old river navigator, who knew all the troublesome places in the river from experience. The Sentinel concludes its account as follows:

"One might suppose at first thought that work performed under or in the water would not show for itself to the casual observer, and this is true. But every rock and boulder taken from the channel had, of course, to be put where it could never again be a source of trouble, and consequently they lie strewn along the shore mute, but weighty and numerous, evidences to the amount of work done. In a great many instances we saw rocks bearing the evidence of attempts to blast them years ago. The money was spent and the rocks remained where they were."

Shipping Notes.

A Valuable Prize.—Friday evening steam tug brought into Halifax the ship R. Robinson, of New York, laden with valuable cargo of cotton, grain and oil cake. The vessel was abandoned at sea and was fallen in with on the 3rd inst. in lat. 45.10, long. 63, by the Cunard steamship Abyssinia, from New York to Liverpool. The latter towed the abandoned ship to Sambro, and having placed a crew on board, a tug took the prize in to port. The number of fire-arms lying about, some loaded and others unloaded, gives rise to the supposition that a mutiny had occurred on board the abandoned ship. The R. Robinson has fourteen feet of water in her hold.

THE VICAR OF BRAY.

[Dedicated to Wm. Elder, Esq., of the Presbyterian Advocate and Telegraph.]

In good King Charles's golden days,
When loyalty no harm meant,
A zealous high-churchman was I,
And so I got preferment.
To teach my flock I never miss'd
Kings were by God appointed,
And lost are those who dare resist,
Or touch the Lord's anointed.
And this is law that I'll maintain
Until my dying day, sir,
That whatsoever King shall reign,
Still I'll be the vicar of Bray, sir.

When roya' James possess'd the crown,
And popery grew in fashion,
The penal laws I hooted down,
And read the Declaration:
The Church of Rome I found would fit
Full well my constitution:
And I had been a Jesuit,
But for the Revolution.
And this is law that I'll maintain,
Until my dying day, sir,
That whatsoever King shall reign,
Still I'll be the vicar of Bray, sir.

When William was our King declared,
To ease the nation's grievance;
With this new wind about I steered,
And swore to him allegiance:
Old principles I did revoke,
Set conscience at a distance;
Passive obedience was a joke,
A jest was non-resistance.
And this is law that I'll maintain
Until my dying day, sir,
That whatsoever King shall reign,
Still I'll be the vicar of Bray, sir.

When royal Anne became our queen,
The Church of England's glory,
Another face of things was seen,
And I became a Tory:
Occasional conformists base,
I blam'd their moderation:
And thought the Church in danger was,
By such prevarication.
And this is law that I'll maintain,
Until my dying day, sir,
That whatsoever King shall reign,
Still I'll be the vicar of Bray, sir.

When George in pudding-time came o'er,
And moderate men look'd big, sir,
My principles I chang'd once more,
And so became a Whig, sir;
And then preferment I procur'd
From our new faith's defender;
And almost every day abjur'd
The Pope and the Pretender.
And this is law that I'll maintain
Until my dying day, sir,
That whatsoever King shall reign,
Still I'll be the vicar of Bray, sir.

Th' illustrious house of Hanover,
And Protestant succession,
To those I do allegiance swear—
While they can keep possession:
For in my faith and loyalty,
I never more will falter,
And George my lawful King shall be—
Until the times do alter.
And this is law that I'll maintain
Until my dying day, sir,
That whatsoever King shall reign,
Still I'll be the vicar of Bray, sir.

A Note Case.

Two men excitedly rushed into Mr. McKeever's barber shop, Saturday night, and asked him to hold $10 until a bet was decided. McKeever looked at the money and said there was only $6,—$5 and a $1 bill, and refused to hold it. Both the parties—McCrackin, a workman in Hilliard's shipyard, and Gray, a stranger—claimed the $5 note, and after some talk, the latter had McCrackin arrested by Supt. Gibson. The case was, by request of both parties, investigated this morning before Judge Tapley. Evidence was taken on both sides and seemed rather to favor McCracken, but one of the witnesses swore that the note put down by Gray was the darkest. The notes were produced, the $5 bill was the darker, and a decision was about to be given in favor of Gray, when the same witness gave it as his opinion that the $1 note was the darker. Supt. Gibson also said that in gas light the $1 bill certainly looked the darker of the two. It was decided to leave the question as to the ownership until evening, when the gas is lighted, in order to be sure. McCracken said that he had only one note—the $5 note produced—in his pocket Saturday, and could not have made a mistake, while Gray had other notes. Gas light will decide the question.

City Police Court.

Eleven prisoners sat in the dock this morning, which was a small number for Monday morning. "Oh, what a falling off is there," was the exclamation. Almost as large a crowd as usual of spectators had, however, assembled to witness the proceedings of the court. At a little after 10 o'clock the wheel of justice commenced to turn, and in a few minutes all the cases were disposed of.

William Cleaveland confessed to being drunk in Main street and was fined $8.

James Gordon, arrested while lying drunk in a doorway in Duke street, was fined $8.

Robert Burns was found in Germain street, a victim to indulgence in the ardent, and fined $8.

Henry Waterman and Cliff Anderson were given in charge by Capt. Christiansm, of the Dutch ship Thorald, for desertion. The vessel is to leave at 4 o'clock, and they were sent to the Station until she is ready for sea, when they will be sent on board. A policeman went with the captain to get their clothes from the boarding house master where they stopped.

Thomas Benson and John Orr were charged with being drunk and disorderly on Walker's wharf. They confessed and were fined $8 each.

Oscar Kimpson was charged with drunkenness in Mill street and paid the same fine.

William Reed was arrested in Charlotte street for being drunk and disorderly—fined $8.

Patrick Redman accused of being one of a disorderly crowd in Queen Square denied the charge. Policeman Hamilton said they were playing leap frog, shouting and making a great noise. The young man's father said they were only playing hop-scotch and wanted the youth let off. A fine of $6 was imposed.

Joseph Nichel was arrested on application of Jane, his wife, who asked that he be required to give security to keep the peace. From his language and threats she believed her life in danger. He had threatened "to shoet her like Mrs. Doyle," had also beaten and otherwise illused her. He denied it most emphatically, said he had been a kind and loving husband, never struck her, nor used such threats to his knowledge, but said he drank two or three glasses of liquor last week. He was required to give personal security in $200 and two others in $100 each that he will keep the peace, before he can get his liberty.

LONDON, Nov. 8.

There is a decidedly better feeling in the market this morning; breadstuffs are quiet.

The Inman steamship City of Richmond, which left New York Oct. 25, for Liverpool, via Queenstown, now is several days overdue.

MADRID, Nov. 8.

A great victory of Carlists over the Government troops is announced, after a desperate fight, in the Province of Navarre. The loss of the Republicans was very great, including among the killed Lieut.-Gen. Primo De River. Gen. Monconco was wounded and taken prisoner by the Royalists with 41 other officers. The Carlists also lost heavily. Among the wounded on their side was Gen. Ollo, and other chiefs.

THE SITUATION IN FRANCE.

The Committee of French Assembly on the prolongation of the powers of President MacMahon was filled Saturday by the election of three candidates of the Left, giving the Republicans a majority of one. It is reported, however, that the Right, by making certain concessions, won over one Republican, and thus gained control of the Committee.

All the Ministers tendered their resignations to the President, Saturday, but they were not accepted.

THE ANCHOR LINE S. S. ISMALIA.

Intelligence is received at the office of the Anchor Line that the steamer Ismalia was passed off the coast of Nova Scotia on the 22nd of October, disabled, and under sail. She was out of coal and provisions, which were supplied by the passing steamer.

THE CUBAN FILIBUSTER.

No official information has been received by the United States Government of the capture of the Virginius, and, therefore, no action has been taken. It is considered probable, however, that Spain has violated the articles of the treaty of 1795, concerning the searching of vessels in time of peace.

An American war vessel has been ordered to Santiago De Cuba.

There is intense indignation among the Cuban sympathizers in New York, where a movement is already in progress to fit out an expedition to wreak revenge on the Spaniards.

A Critical Condition of Affairs at Ottawa—A Dissolution of Parliament Probable.

The following despatch to the News did not reach here until this morning:

(Special to Daily News.)

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.

The Citizen, Opposition paper, gives publicity to a rumor that the new Government, owing to internal dissensions and the strength of the Opposition, for Sir John leads a strong party, have decided upon advising His Excellency to dissolve Parliament.

It is also stated that Dr. Brouse will resign his seat in the House of Commons to give R. W. Scott a constituency, and the Doctor is to be rewarded by appointment to the Senate.

The Liberal-Conservative party tonight held an important meeting at which most of the leading citizens at Ottawa were present. They decided to form an association to advance the interests of the party, and will next week tender a grand banquet to Sir John A. Macdonald and his late Ministers.

The new Ministry, with an indecent haste, are discharging old servants of the late Government, and appointing Grits in their place.

There is a strong feeling that no Grit Government can be formed that will stand.

The publication of the official Gazette with the announcement of several appointments made by the retiring Ministry, was suppressed to-day after fifteen copies were issued, and the whole edition is supposed to have been destroyed to prevent, if possible, the appointments from being confirmed.

This was a preliminary step to advising His Excellency to cancel the appointments. This His Excellency refused to do, and a conflict arose between His Excellency and his Ministers. The latter, fearing dismissal, have attempted a compromise. They are willing to allow the appointments of Hon. S. L. Tilley and Mr. Crawford to Lieutenant Governorships, and Hon. Hugh McDonald to Judgeship of Supreme Court of Nova Scotia to stand, but advise the cancellation of all the others.

The result is not yet known.

Sir John A. Macdonald was at Rideau Hall at a late hour Saturday night.
