THE ASHES OF SIR HENRY IRVING NOW LAY WITH ENGLAND'S IMMORTALS

Thousands Attend Impressive Service as Remains of Great Tragedian Are Deposited in Poets' Corner of Westminster Abbey.

London, Oct. 20. — Beside that other great actor, Garrick, and under the shadow of the statue of Shakespeare, as the interpreter of whose plays he won fame, the ashes of Sir Henry Irving were today buried in Westminster Abbey, thus being accorded in England's great tribute to her dead. The services were of an impressive character, and were conducted in the presence of a congregation which included many from the highest official life of England, eminent representatives of all the walks of life, and all the representatives of that gallery to which Irving was so invariably attentive, who could find seating-room in the abbey. King Edward was represented by Gen. Sir Dighton Probyn, keeper of the private purse, and the Prince of Wales was represented by Lieut.-Col. Wm. H. P. Carrington, comptroller of the prince's household, while the cabinet ministers and ambassadors attended in person. Whitelaw Reid, who is visiting in Scotland, came to London purposely to testify America's regard for the dead tragedian.

Immense Crowds Gather.

Long before the hour set for the service immense crowds gathered around the abbey, and those having cards of admission were in their seats as early as 10 o'clock. Those who were unable to secure admittance remained about the entrances until the conclusion of the ceremony, when, in common with thousands of others, they passed through the Poets' Corner to see the burial place.

Short and Simple Service.

The service, although short and simple, was most impressive. Sharply at noon the procession started from the chapel of St. Faith, where the casket containing the remains had lain over night and passed through the corridors to the space between the choir and the sanctuary where the casket, covered with the pall of laurel wreaths, was placed on a catafalque.

During the procession the choir sang a hymn. Then followed the Psalm, "Lord, thou hast been our refuge." The lesson was read by Canon Buckworth, the sub-dean of Westminster, who was assisted in the service by Bishop Weldon, Archdeacon Wilberforce and Canon Hensley Henson. The anthems were "Crossing the Bar" and "Weep Ye Not For the Dead." After the anthems the casket was born to the grave as the organ pealed forth the funeral march from "Coriolanus."

The only mourners were Lady Irving and the sons of Sir Henry Irving. A few intimate friends and the pallbearers, Sir Squire Bancroft, the Earl of Aberdeen, Lord Tennyson, Lord Burnham, Sir Alexander Muir-MacKenzie, Beerbohm Tree, Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, Sir James Dewar, Arthur Wing Pinero, Mr. Burdett-Coutts, M. P.; Sir Charles Wyndham, John Hare, George Alexander and J. Forbes Robertson followed the casket to the grave.

Flowers From the Queen.

Of the mass of floral pieces sent by friends and admirers of Irving, but four had places during the service. One of these was a cross of lilies from Queen Alexandra, bearing the words: "To Sir Henry Irving from the Queen—Into thy hands, O Lord, into thy hands."

That the death of Irving is considered to be a national loss is shown by the universal mourning throughout London. Scores of thousands of people stood in the streets for hours around the abbey, as the only means of paying a last tribute, while for those who were unable to get into Westminster Abbey services were held in several churches of the city.

Upon his arrival in London from Scotland today Whitelaw Reid sent the family of Sir Henry Irving a message conveying his personal regard for Sir Henry and sincere condolences in behalf of the American nation.

INDIAN BAND ON A BIG BENDER

A Two-Days' Drunken Carousal in the Woods Surrounding South Essex.

Leamington, Oct. 20.—Liquor license inspectors of South Essex and West Kent have obtained full confirmation of the alleged drunken carousals held by a band of Indians at Renwick, a small village on the border line between Essex and Kent Counties. The Indians gathered in a grove near the village and for two days had a high old time. Plenty of whisky was in evidence. White people were frightened away from the vicinity of the grove, and the Indians sobered only when their supply of whisky ran out. The Government will now have special officers try to learn where the whisky was procured. It is an offense punishable by imprisonment and a heavy fine to give liquor to Indians.

SAYS HE IS THE MURDERER

A Tramp Confesses to the English Tunnel Murder.

London, Oct. 20.—A tramp, who surrendered to the police at Luton yesterday, accuses himself of the murder of Mary Money, whose dead body was found in the Merrtham tunnel on Sept. 17. The authorities do not believe his story.

Paid for Friar Lands.

Manila, Oct. 20.—The question of the friar lands purchase was practically settled today, when the commission paid the Dominican order $3,225,000, which is the last payment. The sum of $7,000,000 was appropriated for the purchase of about 403,000 acres of land in the Philippine Islands belonging to the various Catholic orders and the titles thereto has now passed to the Philippine Government.

SAD TRAGEDY NEAR BRIGDEN

Mrs. David Cranston Falls into Well While Drawing Water, and Drowns.

Brigden, Oct. 20. — A sad accident occurred at the farm of David Cranston last evening, about 3 miles from here. While drawing a pail of water, Mrs. Cranston accidentally fell in the well, and was drowned. When discovered a few minutes later by Mr. Cranston, life was extinct. Mrs. Cranston was a young woman, and leaves a family of five small children.

SHIPPING IN YANKEE BOATS

North Sydney Fishermen Find Their Former Occupation Gone.

Halifax, Oct. 20. — North Sydney is thronged with Newfoundland fishermen from the Bay of Islands, Bonne Bay and other parts of the western coast, who have come by steamer to ship as crews of the Gloucester schooners now in port. The people of these parts of Newfoundland, now that they are forbidden to sell herring to the Americans, see starvation staring them in the face, as they have been in the habit of receiving their winter's supply as the result of the fall herring fisheries. At Bonne Bay and other places indignation meetings have been held, and the strongest representations made to the Newfoundland Government in favor of the repeal of the bait act. The treaty of 1818 allows American schooners to fish, but not to buy, and schooner after schooner manned with expert Newfoundland shore fishermen will leave North Sydney to prosecute the fisheries at Bay of Islands and elsewhere. Meanwhile the Newfoundland Government cruiser Fiona is at Bonne Bay, and it is somewhat doubtful how this method of evading the bait act will be regarded. Extra crews of Gloucester vessels are signing before United States Consul West.

OFFICIALS LAUGH AT THE CAPTURE

British Officers May Be Punished for Allowing Themselves to Be Kidnapped.

London, Oct. 20.—The Tangier correspondent of the Times cables: Officials here have not yet succeeded in obtaining any communication from the captured officers or the brigands, whose actual whereabouts is unknown. Native public opinion takes little interest in the matter, as the Moors are now accustomed to the perpetuation of these outrages, without having the least fear of reprisals. They have begun to look upon the capture of British subjects and subsequent concessions extorted from the Maghzen for their liberation as a safe and sure road to wealth and prosperity.

London, Oct. 20.—The unofficial attitude of British naval officers attached to the admiralty with respect to the capture and detention of Capt. Crowther and Lieut. Hatton by Moorish brigands is not much of an improvement on that of the general British public. I am informed that the admiralty officers regard the Moorish outrage as a decidedly good joke on Crowther and Hatton, and that the admiralty offices resound from morning till night with laughter at the expense of the two captives.

It is only a question of time, it is reasoned. The officers are quite safe, and will be set free sooner or later, so what's the sense in taking a serious view of the case? Furthermore, I am told that Crowther and Hatton, not only will have to do without the sympathy of their fellow officers during their captivity, but very likely when it is over they will be called on to explain why they put themselves in a situation that was equivalent to an invitation to the Moors to take them prisoner. "Do you remember," I was asked this evening, "the case of the man run over by a train on one of our roads a short time ago, who was arrested, as soon as he could leave the hospital, on a charge of trespassing on the company's property? Well, Crowther and Hatton are likely to get the same sort of treatment. They will be lucky if they escape severe punishment for falling into the clutches of those brigands."

PROOF OF IMMORTALITY

Celebrated Physician Says Spiritualism Has Solved It.

New York, Oct. 20. — Positive assertion that the theory of immortality is susceptible of proof was made last night by Dr. O. B. Burgess, a San Francisco scientist, at the opening of the fall meeting at the Medico-Legal Society at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Dr. Burgess read to an audience of noted physicians a paper on "Demonstrative Proof of Immortality," and drew upon the demonstrations of spiritualists for his material. He declared that the Herbner spiritualistic demonstration, which he has watched closely, is not a fraud, and that the reports of communication with tenants of an after-world are true, thus pointing to existence after death.

The paper was read to closely attentive listeners, and gave them much food for discussion.

The sincerity of Dr. Burgess and his standing in the profession, guaranteed a respectful hearing.

Stables Burned.

CLASSIC IN CRIMINAL ANNALS IS STORY OF ARCH BIGAMIST

New York, Oct. 20. — A classic in criminal annals, the real story of how Dr. George A. Witzhoff, the arch-bigamist, lured thirty-two women into matrimony for their money and then deserted them, comes in cable dispatches from London. Witzhoff has written to Miss Alice Bel, whom he married and abandoned in New Cross, near London, telling her what he asserts is the unvarnished tale of his career. The letter is dated Bucharest, Hungary, but it is suggested that Witzhoff is in New York and that he sent his story to England through an accomplice. He declares that he has bitterly repented his crimes, and intends to settle on a Roumanian farm.

Witzhoff, according to his story, had the germ of crime in him long before he began marrying. His father was a surgeon of excellent practice and reputation. Upon the parent's death, when an inheritance fell to the son, he studied chemistry. He established a pharmacy in Chicago in 1889. He says he met a renowned surgeon who was engaged in illegal practice in Chicago, and that they practiced jointly until 1895, when they were arrested, Witzhoff jumping a bond of $5,000 and going to Canada. Nicola Padillo furnished the bond. Witzhoff, as a Montreal dentist, took the name if Dr. C. Colby. He identified himself with the Christian Science movement.

Early one morning Padillo aroused Witzhoff and demanded the $5,000. Not receiving it, the bondsman, the letter says, suggested that Witzhoff visit a widow of wealth and matrimonial inclinations. The deal was made and the men were to divide after the $5,000 had been paid. Thus the marriage career began because of the necessity for [illegible] the woman told him that she had a child in Pittsburg. He offered to get the baby, and cajoled the woman into letting him have $4,000.

Witzhoff says he paid Badillo part of the debt and fled to this city, opening a dental office on Fourteenth street. In two weeks he had another wife, but he discovered that she had no money, went to Philadelphia and by another marriage got $500.

Witzhoff went to Springfield, Mass., advertised for a wife and got one with $500. Her name was Mrs. Westfield. Witzhoff says it hurt his soul to marry her, as she was not to his liking. He returned to the New York wife and a week later he went to St. Louis and married a farmer's daughter, whom he deserted in a week, with $350, with which he set up as a dentist in Detroit.

Mrs. Piser was the next victim. Witzhoff left her after six days, going to Pittsburg, and five days after meeting a seamstress daughter—"the ugliest I ever had," he says—married her, got her money, and went to Cleveland.

There he received 22 answers to a matrimonial advertisement and selected only three wives, a Mrs. Moore, a Mrs. Kreidman, and a nurse. The nurse gave him $100. He came to Brooklyn, where Cleveland detectives found him and took him back.

Even in jail he married, the wife giving him $200, which he used as bail. Four days later he got $400 from the father of a woman he was to marry, but had to flee. A farmer's daughter, with $1,000, was the next victim, also of St. Louis, and in six days Witzhoff sailed for Roumania, where he lived as Dr. F. A. Shotz. He again married, getting 2,000 francs.

SAW IRVING'S ASHES

Thousands Pay Last Respects to the Dead Tragedian.

London, Oct. 19.—For hours today thousands of people, forming a constant stream, filed past the casket containing the ashes of Sir Henry Irving, which rested in the dining-room of Baroness Burdett-Coutts' residence.

Surrounding the catafalque was a wealth of floral tributes, American and continental, as well as British.

Tonight the plain oaken coffin containing the ashes was removed to the Chapel of St. Faith, Westminster Abbey.

There is an open grave in the Poets' Corner.

KAISER IN COLLISION

His Auto Ran Into by the Car of a Plebeian Cabman.

Berlin, Oct. 19.—Emperor William had a narrow escape from serious injury this evening.

His majesty was crossing the street in front of the castle in his auto car, when an automobile cab approached at high speed.

The chauffeur of the Emperor's car saw the cab when it was almost upon his, and turned his machine sharply.

The cabman at this moment also saw the danger, and threw on the brakes with full force.

Nevertheless, the two machines collided with considerable shock.

Emperor William's car took him into the court of the castle. The other machine was disabled.

MOTORIST IN TROUBLE

An American Charged With Manslaughter Over Killing of Child.

New York, Oct. 20. — A cable dispatch from Paris says: Elliot Fitch Shepard, a son of the late Col. Elliot F. Shepard, and a grandson of the late W. K. Vanderbilt, was arraigned yesterday on a charge of manslaughter. On Aug. 28 he was automobiling in company with Tom Thorne, a race horse owner, and the car which Shepard was driving struck and killed a girl. Ex-Minister Poincarre conducted the prosecution. He made a scathing attack on the prisoner, which aroused some of the audience to such an extent, that the president of the court threatened to clear the room. Witnesses swore that at the time of the accident the car was traveling 80 miles an hour. They asserted that the prisoner was fully aware of the accident, but did not stop.

Shepard and Thorne testified that the automobile was going only seventeen miles an hour. They did not know that an accident had occurred until they read of it in the newspapers. The court deferred decision.

HENDRIE WITHDRAWS

Decides He Cannot Legally Tender for Public Works Bridges.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—Hon. Col. Hendrie, of Hamilton, member of the Ontario Government without portfolio, has asked the Government to allow the Hamilton Bridge Company, of which he is president and manager, to withdraw its tenders accepted by the public works department for two bridges.

Mr. Hendrie said tonight that he thought the act was amended in 1902 so as not to debar shareholders of an incorporated company receiving public contracts from sitting in the House.

GALE DOES DAMAGE

Blows Down Trees, Snaps Off Branches and Levels a Chimney.

The gale which struck London at a very early hour this morning was the tail end of the storm which was yesterday reported coming this way from the west and northwest.

At times during the day the wind blew a regular hurricane, reaching from 40 to 50 miles an hour. In various parts of the city trees were blown over or had branches snapped off, but the damage, considering the severity of the gale, was comparatively small.

A sheet iron chimney at the mill of the City Sash and Door Company, on King street, was blown down, occasioning a loss which will not cause the owner of the place to make an assignment.

BEAUTY CHASED BY POLICE

Caught With Smuggled Pearl Necklace and Pays $13,000.

New York, Oct. 19.—Within the last two weeks a young society woman of this city and Newport has led secret service agents of the treasury department of the United States Government a chase of nearly 3,000 miles, in an effort to escape them and prevent their seizing a pearl necklace valued at $22,000, which was smuggled into the country through the customs house for her, within the past two weeks.

The chase led from this city to Philadelphia, thence to Chicago, and to Boston. From there the young woman, believing she had shaken off her pursuers, came to New York, and went to her town house.

The dramatic end of the chase came last night, when the young woman suddenly found herself confronted by two secret service agents, in a box in the Madison Square Garden. About her neck was a string of pearls.

She was threatened with arrest unless she surrendered the pearls at once.

Overcome with humiliation, the young woman swore that the necklace she wore was a valueless bauble, compared with the original, which she had caused to be smuggled through the customs house. She said that the gems were paste, and begged that she be not publicly disgraced by being taken in custody before the audience and her own friends. She promised to surrender the smuggled necklace at the office of Colector Stranahan this morning.

This arrangement was agreed to. She did not appear at the office of the collector of the port, and secret service agents were sent to her home.

They were informed by servants that she was not at home. A watch was set on the house.

At noon today an attorney representing the woman called at the office of the collector of the port asking what was the amount of duty.

He was told that the pearl necklace must be surrendered to the treasury department. The attorney objected, saying that the young woman would never consent.

Collector Stranahan insisted that the surrender be made, and, tearfully, the young woman gave up the jewels. Her attorney agreed to pay the amount of the duty, plus the added penalty for smuggling. He deposited a check for $13,000.

LEAGUE WANTS SECOND READING

Temperance Workers Will Ask Council to Submit Bylaw to Ratepayers.

The petition of the local Temperance League, asking for a reduction in the number of hotel licenses in London, has not yet reached the office of City Clerk Baker. The document, however, will be submitted before the next meeting of the council.

The league wants the council to give a second reading to a bylaw for the reduction in the hotels, and before giving it a final reading to submit it to the ratepayers for their approval. In the spring an application for a reduction was voted down by the aldermen, and there is every prospect that the latest move of the league will meet strong opposition. In some quarters, the feeling exists that it will be defeated, and that the people will not have a chance to say whether or not there should be fewer hotels.

Ald. Gillean will take the same stand as he did in the spring. Then he contended that the matter of licenses was in the hands of the Government, and that it was the place of the license commissioners to make whatever reduction they saw fit.

"I can't see any reason why I should change my views in the matter," said Ald. Gillean today.

There is a movement on foot in Toronto to bring about a reduction of 25 licenses, and the same method is being adopted there as in London. The temperance people are asking the council to give the bylaw two readings, and then submit it to the people for their approval before giving it the third. The question of the legality of such a step is being raised there.

WORST GALE OF THE SEASON SWEEPS OVER LOWER LAKES

Navigation at Detroit River Suspended—Big Freighter Goes to Pieces Near Cleveland.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 20. — The lower lakes were swept last night by the heaviest storm of the season. Navigation across the Limekilns Crossing at the mouth of the Detroit River is entirely suspended today for all but light draft craft, the 40-mile southwest wind last night having lowered the stage of the water at the Crossing to the lowest in many years. The wind reached 40 miles an hour here last night, and today is blowing 30 miles, and slowly increasing in velocity. Lake Huron is being lashed by a 42-mile gale off Alpena, while reports from Lake Erie today are that the wind is blowing 38 miles an hour. Grand Haven reports to the weather bureau here that a 60-mile wind prevailed last night on Lake Michigan.

The Buffalo and Cleveland boats arrived safely, two and four hours late respectively.

Big Freighter Ashore.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 20. — During a fierce storm on Lake Erie early today, the steamer Sarah E. Sheldon went ashore four miles east of Lorain. She carried a crew of thirteen men, a number of whom jumped overboard when the vessel began to go to pieces. It is believed that at least two of the crew were drowned. The Sheldon will be a total wreck. The steamer Wisconsin, while leaving the Lorain harbor late last night ran upon a partially completed breakwater, and for a time the vessel was threatened with destruction by the heavy sea. Later she was pulled off, and it is now believed the boat has not suffered great damage.

The steamer Sarah E. Sheldon was loaded with coal for Detroit River, and left here late last evening. She was caught in a heavy gale that set in shortly after she left this port, and is thought became unmanageable as a result of a broken rudder. The boat finally struck on the rocks four miles east of Lorain and at once began to go to pieces. The Sheldon is a wooden vessel built in 1875, and is owned here.

The steamer F. H. Prince, a freight-carrier, which left here last midnight, narrowly escaped striking the breakwater as she was leaving this port during the height of the storm. The big vessel was thrown on her beam ends repeatedly. She finally managed to turn and re-enter the harbor.

"PINCHED" AGAIN

Man Known to London Police Goes to Kingston for Second Term.

Vincent Latremouille, well known to the police of this city, has been sentenced by the magistrate at Hamilton to three years in the penitentiary for highway robbery.

Latremouille, who is the son of a respectable resident of Toronto, was arrested here several years ago for burglarizing the store of Charles Depper, corner of the Hamilton road and Adelaide street, in company with a notorious character, known as Baltimore Whitey. Whitey escaped, but Latremouille was run down after a long chase by the local officers. He was given three years. Whitey was afterwards arrested in New York State for murder, and was sent to the chair.

Since his release from Kingston, Latremouille has been arrested, both in Buffalo and Toronto, and only a few days ago he returned to Hamilton, which is his native city.

Colored Woman Charged With a Violation of Medical Act —Rosa Committed.

Jules E. Rosa, alias Murrell, was committed this morning before P. M. Love on the charge of forgery. Mr. Thomas Gillean explained the transaction, and told how the young man represented himself to be the chauffeur of Mr. Christie, the biscuit manufacturer of Toronto. Rosa got a diamond ring and $10 in cash in return for a $75 check, and was to return the next day for the remainder. Detective Rider recovered the ring in a Port Huron pawnshop, where it had been pawned by the prisoner for $20. Rosa afterwards sold the pawn ticket for $3. He elected to be tried by the judge.

Mrs. Susan Laburtis, a colored woman from Woodstock, was charged with a breach of the medical act. She sells patent medicines, and it is charged that she prescribes for her patients. She has been under arrest several times in Woodstock, and convictions have been registered against her. Some of the cases have been appealed, but most have been settled. It is alleged that a London woman who has been ill for some time and whose chances of recovery were slim, all the physicians having given her up, sent to Woodstock for Mrs. Laburtis. The latter, it is said, treated the London patient, with the result that she is completely recovered. The medical authorities became aware of the affair and caused the arrest of Mrs. Laburtis. She is defende by Mr. E. Meredith, while Mr. S. G. McKay appeared on behalf of the medical council. Inspector Rose, of Toronto, laid the information.

Mrs. Laburtis is said to be a voodoo doctor. The defense allege malicious prosecution.

Pennsylvania Woman Bought That of Aunt at Auction.

Connellsville, Penn., Oct. 20.—At the sale of the personal property of the late Bertha R. Ottawa, Oct. 20. — W. Mackenzie and D. Mann, of the Mackenzie & Mann system of railways, were in the city today. Mr. Mackenzie says that the Canadian Northern is within 30 miles of Edmonton. By the end of the present week the road would handle 6,000,000 bushels of wheat, and before the season was over, it would reach nearly 20,000,000. Last season they marketed 8,000,000 altogether. Before many years the Canadian Northern will carry 100,000,000 bushels to market.

OH JOY! KID M'COY ERASES HIS PAST

Celebrated "Pug" Marries and Will Have No More of the Lurid Sporting Life.

New York, Oct. 20.—The Herald says: Norman Selby, who during his career as a middleweight pugilist in the prize ring, was known as "Kid" McCoy, was married last night at the Algonquin Hotel here, by the Rev. James L. Lee, of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, to Mrs. Lillian E. Ellis, widow of the late Edward C. Ellis, of Schenectady.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. Selby said that he had dropped the name of McCoy for ever. He remarked:

"I promised my wife that when we married, the sporting life I have led would be left behind. I have seen everything. Nothing in the long experience I have had with sporting people appeals to me. With that kind of life I am done. I intend to drop the name of McCoy forever. I want my friends to know that it will offend me if they so address me. I am now going to be a business man."

It is Mr. Selby's fifth matrimonial venture. He was twice divorced from and three times married to Julia Woodruff. It was during his stay at a farm at Saratoga that Edward C. Ellis and his wife, who was formerly Lillian Earl, an actress, became acquainted with Mr. Selby. Ellis was a man of wealth. He inherited a fortune upon the death of his father, the founder of the Ellis locomotive works at Schenectady. His wealth was willed him.
