LABOR WILL OPPOSE REDUCTION IN WAGES, SAYS CONGRESS HEAD

Moore States Pay Advances Still Behind Cost of Living.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22. — Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, speaking at the weekly luncheon of the Canadian Club today, made it clear that organized labor would not tolerate any reduction in wages. He argued that although in some cases there might have been unusually generous wage advances, in most trades the wage advance had not kept pace with the cost of living, so that organized labor was not prepared at the present time to consider talk of reductions.

Mr. Moore laid it down that "of all irrational actions workers can attempt there is nothing more irrational than a general strike."

Mr. Moore added that with low wages and unemployment, he knew of no country outside of Russia more liable to revolutionary movements than Canada, with its employing classes generally one generation old, made up of enterprising men and the employed class largely comprised of adventurers and immigrants who could easily be stirred to trouble should conditions become too bad.

ASSEMBLY WILL SEEK MEDIATION FOR ARMENIANS

Will Try To Find Nation Willing To Undertake Go-Between Job.

GENEVA, Nov. 22.—The assembly of the League of Nations decided today without a dissenting vote to appeal to the powers in the hope of finding a government willing to undertake mediation between the Turkish Nationalists under Mustapha Kemal Pasha and the Armenians.

An earnest debate preceded the vote on the resolution which was presented by M. Viviani, former premier of France, inviting the council of the league to take the action indicated. It threatened at times, however, to justify the predictions of the league's opponents that the work of the assembly would founder on the rule requiring a unanimous vote.

Lord Robert Cecil, A. J. Balfour, Rene Viviani, Hjalmar Branting, Dr. Nansen, the Hon. C. J. Doherty (Canada), and M. Stalaiovich (Jugo-Slavia) participated, but the real contest was between M. Viviani and Mr. Balfour.

Explains Future.

Mr. Balfour explained the failure of the league council to find a mandatory for Armenia. He referred to the refusal of the United States to accept such mandate, and hoped that the committee of the assembly might do better.

The former French premier pleaded warmly for prompt action, provoking the first enthusiastic demonstration of the assembly. He declared that if the assembly was unable to do better than name another committee it would proclaim its own impotence.

Cecil Applauds.

It was remarked that Lord Robert Cecil applauded vigorously from the South African bench, while the English delegates, Mr. Balfour and H. A. L. Fisher, remained stolidly indifferent. It seemed evident that Mr. Balfour was fighting against an eventual military expedition more than against mediation as proposed by M. Viviani.

Although Mr. Nansen was the only one to speak boldly in favor of an expeditionary force to deal with the Turkish Nationalist leader, Mustapha Kemal Pasha, all the others, with the exception of Mr. Balfour, approached as closely as they could to the eventuality without actually saying so.

The general impression after the debate was that the assembly favored fighting Kemal Pasha if no other way was found to end the conflict in Armenia.

GENEVA, Nov. 22.—A resolution presented by M. Viviani, inviting the council of the League of Nations to confer with the various powers with a view of constituting a force sufficient to put an end to hostilities in Armenia, which has been joined to Lord Robert Cecil's resolution along the same lines, was adopted by the assembly of the league this afternoon.

STRAY BULLET HITS ENGINEER

Neil Lee of St. Thomas Was Rendered Unconscious.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 22.—Struck by a stray bullet when his engine was pulling the Wolverine through the M. C. R. tunnel, Neil Lee, residing at 667 Talbot street, St. Thomas, was knocked unconscious on the floor of the electric locomotive and revived later at Grace Hospital, Detroit. Mr. Lee received a bad cut on the forehead and bruises on his side. An investigation is being made of the cause of the accident. His engine was at the American end of the tunnel, and Mr. Lee was leaning out of the window. As soon as his condition will allow Mr. Lee will be brought to his home in St. Thomas.

Death of Robert Down.

Robert Down, a pioneer resident of Southwold, passed away at the residence of Mrs. William Wallis, Talbotville, last evening in his 92nd year. He was a native of Devonshire, and is survived by four daughters and two sons, Mrs. Henry A. Berdan, Shedden; Mrs. William Wallis, Talbotville; Mrs. James Fothergill, Nethersville, Sask.; Mrs. R. Firth, St. Thomas; Samuel Down, Frome; John Down, Carstairs, Alberta. The interment will be in Talbotville Cemetery.

Found Dead in Bed.

Living alone and unmarried, north of the village, Robert Holmes, Vienna, was found dead in his bed yesterday, and apparently passed away on the afternoon previous. He was seen downtown during the day with no symptoms of illness, and on his return home must have succumbed, as there was no light burning when the body was discovered. His brother-in-law, a Mr. McDonald, took charge of the body.

The series of attractions will be shown in the parochial hall. Mrs. J. W. Stewart presided.

TWO MEMBERS IN BRITISH COMMONS ENGAGE IN FIGHT

Sitting Is Suspended When Blows Are Exchanged.

OVER DUBLIN AFFAIR

Joseph Devlin Persists in Putting Question to House.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Two members of the House of Commons came to blows this afternoon during the question period with the Irish situation under discussion. They were Joseph Devlin, Nationalist, and Major John Molson, Coalition-Unionist. The sitting was temporarily suspended. Peace was made after Major Molson had apologized, Mr. Devlin accepting the apology.

The beginning of the trouble came while Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, was reading the details of yesterday's assassinations in Dublin to the House of Commons. There was a dead silence except for occasional shocked murmurs, and when he had finished appreciable time elapsed before a single member rose to ask a question. The speaker, in fact, had called Sir William Henry Davidson, who had given notice of an emergency question, when Mr. Devlin rose and was heard to say:

"May I ask——"

There immediately rose a chorus of angry cries of "No," "Sit down!"

Mr. Devlin did resume his seat, but apparently under a misapprehension, as directly upon Sir William rising to put his question the Nationalist member also rose. He was received with renewed cries of "Sit down!" and was the object of a hostile demonstration.

Ignores Request.

Mr. Devlin ignored the speaker's request that he resume his seat, although he was assured he would have another opportunity of speaking, as another question on Ireland was among the approved question papers.

The speaker called on Sir William again, and the member asked as his question, whether the premier was aware that the House was prepared at a single sitting to give him whatever power was necessary to stamp out "the atrocious murder campaign in Ireland," and whether he introduce the necessary legislation to enable persons found in the possession of arms and ammunition, without a permit, in any of the disturbed areas of Ireland, to be shot.

Mr. Lloyd George, rising, said he shared with the speaker the horror all felt at the cold-blooded murder of unarmed British officers. The Government, continued Mr. Lloyd George, had resolved to suppress murder and conspiracy in Ireland. It was realized by all that to suppress such carefully organized, highly subsidized plots would take time, but the Government was convinced that despite the recent happenings the Irish authorities were succeeding in breaking up the "gang of assassins."

Further Authority.

The premier, said, however, that should experience show that the powers possessed by the Irish Government had proved insufficient for that purpose the Government would have no hesitation in asking the Parliament for such further authority as might be necessary to achieve that end.

Mr. Devlin rose and asked why it was that when Sir Hamar Greenwood, the chief secretary for Ireland, was asked a question he recited the horrible occurrences which had happened yesterday, and yet said nothing about the appearance of a military force at the football match. He was interrupted with loud cries of "Sit down." Mr. Devlin retorted: "I shan't sit down," and continued "Why has the House not been made acquainted with a recital of these events, of the entry of the military into the football field, and the indiscriminate shooting of ten people?"

There were loud cries of "Oh!" from the House at this.

Sir Hamar replied emphatically that he had been asked nothing about that question, but that he was prepared to answer.

Angry Cries of "Sit Down!"

Mr. Devlin again arose, amidst angry cries of "Sit down!" and was endeavoring to speak, when a member below him endeavored to pull him down. Mr. Devlin lunged forward fiercely in an effort to shake off the hold of the member, and the latter, rising to his feet, the two closed with each other.

Other members came forward to separate the pair, but despite their efforts the two men struggled forward, Mr. Devlin losing his coat in the crush, but still holding his own, crying: "This is English courage and English chivalry to attack one man in 600."

After a minute or two the pair were forced into seats by friends and the speaker suspended the sitting. Upon resumption of the session Major John Molson, Coalition-Unionist member for Gainsborough division of Lincolnshire, who was Mr. Devlin's opponent, rose and apologized to Mr. Devlin, to the speaker and to the House, saying he was afraid he had allowed himself to be provoked and had forgotten himself.

Accepts Apology.

Mr. Devlin accepted the apology and assured Major Molson that in this or any other matter that affected him in the House he had no personal feeling. His complaint was against the growing practice of the members taking out of the speaker's hands the question of order in relating to questions. The question he wished to ask was why the chief secretary for Ireland had not recited all the incidents which occurred in Dublin Sunday instead of giving a part of the story. The minister had not told of the murder of ten or more civilians, Mr. Devlin pointed out.

Sir Hamar explained that although he had not been asked that question he was willing to reply, and said: "The authorities have reason to believe that Sinn Fein gunmen came to Dublin Sunday under the guise of attending the match, in order to carry out the murders. Consequently a mixed force surrounded the grounds. The force was fired on, and in firing back killed ten and wounded others."

Sir Hamar also gave details of the finding of revolvers and the crushing to death of a man and a woman, which latter he regretted.

Everything Normal.

The statement made by the secretary for Ireland earlier in the session in reply to a question regarding yesterday's events was that he hoped "that this series of cold-blooded, carefully-planned atrocities would bring vividly before the House and the public the cruel reality of the Irish situation. We are fighting," he said, "an organized band of paid assassins, whose plans, recently discovered, included destruction of life and property in this country as well as in Ireland."

As to present conditions in Dublin, he stated he had received at 1 o'clock a telegram saying everything was apparently normal in that city, no fresh disturbances having developed.

After Mr. Devlin had made his concluding statement there was a passage at arms between Jeremiah MacVeagh, Nationalist member for South Down, and Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, during which Sir Edward called the Nationalist member a "liar" for saying Sir Edward had "begun the use of rifles" in Ireland. Mr. Bonar Law, the Government leader, brought about peace among the members at this period by announcing that Wednesday will be given over for a discussion of the Irish question in the House of Commons.

FIERCE FIGHT IN BOOZE RAID

John Holland of Port Stanley Is Held For Assault.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 22.—John Holland, fisherman, of Port Stanley, is locked up at the county jail, charged with resisting arrest and assaulting a constable at the barn of Fred Pollock yesterday. A raid was made by the license inspector and a posse of officers from St. Thomas late in the afternoon, and Holland, to save half a dozen of his friends who were alleged to have been drinking in the side room of the barn, attacked the entire force and held them at bay until his companions escaped. After wounding the entire party one way or the other, Holland was backed into the bedroom and the door locked. A S. O. S. was sent Chief MacIntosh, and on his arrival the inspector, the posse and the chief, slipping into the side room, found Holland asleep and put the handcuffs on him. Holland again charged the crowd, but was overpowered. A couple of bottles of whiskey were found on the premises. The others of the party will be summoned.

JUDGE HOLDS THAT DEAL WAS STRAIGHT

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 22.—At a special session of the Oxford court today the case of Henry Pellon vs. Catharine Legg of St. Marys was heard before Judge Wallace. The case dealt with the transfer of a 100-acre farm in West Zorra. Pellon bought the land from Mrs. Legg, who is 84 years of age, for $5,700. Friends pointed out to Mrs. Legg that the farm was worth more money, and after Pellon had made the first payment she refused to complete the deal. Pellon is suing Mrs. Legg not alone to complete the deal, but also for $500 damages for not allowing him to get on the land last spring. The judge found that the transaction was fair and aboveboard, but reserved judgment on the question of law.

IRRITABLE NERVES RESTORED AND HEALTH REGAINED IN A SIMPLE WAY

The man or woman who is rundown, not feeling up to the mark, perhaps irritable, nervous or sleepless, can well afford to learn about the wonderful results the newly-discovered blood-food is giving to folks that use it.

There is wonderful power in this new blood-food, and every weak, pallid person can be quickly nourished back to health that uses it as directed.

After each meal, with a sip or two of water, you simply take two little chocolate-coated tablets, sold in all drug stores under the name of "FERROZONE."

The effect is noticeable at once. You feel happier, brighter, more contented. That old-time feeling of weariness departs—you forget your "nerves" and no longer get irritable or cross over trifling annoyances.

There is a reason for this change and that reason consists of the fact that Ferrozone contains blood-making materials you can get in no other way.

Ferrozone makes the blood tingle and sing with new vitality. This insures lots of nourishment and strength being supplied to every part of the body.

No wonder the eyes brighten and the cheeks radiate color and happiness: With abundance of strength, a keen appetite, good digestion and plenty of sound sleep—all the result of Ferrozone—you quickly feel as if life held new charms and pleasures.

To Get Rid of Wrinkles and Bad Complexions

Most cosmetics clog the pores. In cool weather, when one does not perspire freely, this interferes greatly with elimination of waste material, injuring instead of aiding the complexion. Ordinary mercolized wax serves all the purposes of creams, powders and rouges, giving far better results. It actually peels off an offensive skin, at the same time unclogging the pores. Minute particles of scarf skin come off day by day, causing not the least discomfort. Gradually the healthy, younger skin beneath peeps out, and in less than a fortnight you have a lovelier complexion than you ever dreamed of acquiring. Mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is spread on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings. One ounce usually suffices.

For removing wrinkles, without stopping the pores with pasty stuff, here's a never-failing formula: One ounce powder saxolite, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. Every line will quickly disappear.—Advt.
