FREDERICTON, N. B., JUNE 4, 1892.

BEHRING SEA.

The matter of arbitrating the differences that have arisen between Great Britain and the United States regarding Behring Sea has progressed so far that the dates have been fixed for the submission of the case and counter-case of the respective nations with the arguments of counsel, and the representatives of the United States have been selected.

It is true, as a general proposition that international arbitration would be useless as a system, for the reason that there could be no way of punishing bad faith on the part of the contestants and no way of enforcing the decrees of the tribunal of arbitration but when two nations like Great Britain and the United States, with whom fidelity to an agreement is a cardinal article of the national creed, decide to submit questions in dispute to an impartial tribunal, it is certainly infinitely better than to run even the chance of an armed conflict. Some of the newspapers of the United States complain that that nation has permitted itself to be out-generaled in this matter of arbitration, but when they see the case of the United States, as it will no doubt be prepared and presented by the men who have been chosen they will probably alter their opinion.

This arbitration will establish a precedent which may be followed to advantage, at intervals possibly long, but every case will add to the possibility of others. The example which will be set by the two greatest nations of the world cannot fail to exert some influence, and it must be on the side of a resort to peaceful means rather than warlike for the present generation in two such counties as France and Germany would consent to submit their differences to arbitration, but a new generation will soon be on the scene and in control, and it may see its way clear to follow the precedent set by England and the United States.

The report comes by cable that the Imperial Government has appointed Sir John Thompson one of the British arbitrators in the Behring Sea matter. Hon. C. H. Tupper, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has been selected to prepare the case on the British side. All the appointments, made on either side, would point to a satisfactory settlement of this tedious affair, and it will probably not be very long before matters are amicably arranged.

AUTHOR SULLIVAN.

John L. Sullivan, the pride of Boston, seems determined to exemplify the truth of the Shakespearian adage that one man in his day plays many parts. He has attained a world-wide celebrity as an exponent of the noble and manly art of self-defence; he has done his best to elevate the stage and preserve the best traditions of the robust school of acting, and now it is announced he has just completed a book of 300 pages, which is a history of his own life, and in which are related wonderful tales of adventure told in language no less remarkable.

This is certainly a laudible ambition, and nothing should be said or done to balk it. Every man's life has something of interest and wonder in it, and some of the most successful biographies the world has ever seen have been the plain and unbellished accounts of the daily and weekly and yearly transactions of men not half so remarkable as John L. Sullivan.

Sullivan has been a good deal of a traveller, and has been received with a distinction equalled by only one other American—and he, too, wrote a book—U. S. Grant. Wherever Sullivan has gone he has mingled in the very best society, at least the masculine portion of it, and has hobnobbed with princes and peers on the most familiar terms. Why, then, should he not give the world the benefit of his observations and experiences in his own way, which, while it may not be strictly classical, will doubtless be forcible and impressive?

ADVERTISE IN THIS PAPER

DEATH OF JUDGE SKINNER.

The sad drowing accident, which occurred on the Miramichi one week ago to-day, by which a highly respected and popular St. John man, Mr. R. C. Skinner, Judge of Probates, lost his life, was an extremely melancholy affair. The late Mr. Skinner was very widely known and much beloved not only in St. John but throughout the whole Dominion, and the blow to his many friends was a severe one indeed. It seems most unfortunate that accidents of this kind do so often happen, and although the victim of this sad accident was an excellent swimmer, yet it did not save his life under comparatively fair chances. Fishing parties cannot be too cautious in their selection of crafts on these streams where it is not the easiest thing to find too safe ones.

The rain of the past few days has started vegetation up at a rapid rate and the appearance of Fredericton is every day improving. The beautiful trees are putting on their summer garb and the green fields of the surrounding country present a handsome picture. With such attractive features this city should be the rendezvous for thousands of tourists during the next three months—but there is something decidedly wrong here, or it would be a magnificent summer resort. This paper has several times called the attention of our hotel people and others interested to the necessity of advertizing this place, and as they are the ones who must derive the benefit of an increase of travel, they should exert themselves to their utmost. Nothing can be done without advertizing and this applies most particularly to summer resorts.

It is stated that the applications for space in the machinery hall of the Great Columbian World's Fair, to be held at Chicago, are largely in excess of the amount of room provided, although the building and its annexes are on a much greater scale than those of any previous fair, not excepting the centennial exhibition held at Philadelphia in '76. The dilemma is to be met by constructing another special building in which only exhibits requiring the use of fire will be made. These and similar facts indicate that the Chicago fair is bound to surpass in every respect every previous exhibition held in the United States at least, and that it will not probably be rivalled for very many years to come.

A Fine Company.

The amusement loving people of St. John are enjoying a real dramatic treat in the productions given by the Summer Stock Company now playing at the Opera House in that city. The plays so far include the latest and best American successes, such as "Sweet Lavender," "Kleptomania," "All the Comforts of Home" and "The Marquis." The company includes among its number some very fine people and in the regular theatre season in the States the combined salaries of such a company would be in the vicinity of two thousand dollars a week. From this it may be understood that the engagement of so strong a company cannot fail to give the greatest satisfaction and from the accounts in the daily papers such would appear to be the case. The company includes among its number Mr. T. D. Frawley, H. D. Blakemore, Eugene Jepson, Miss Emma Maddern, Miss May Hampton, Mr. William Lee, Miss Marion Carl, Miss Jennette Lowrie, Mr. Hudson Liston, Mr. E. Hastings, Miss Harriet Ford, Mr. E. S. Mackay and Mr. George S. Fleming. Several Fredericton people have seen the above company and pronounced it the best they have ever seen in the province. Arrangements are being made for a visit from this company to Fredericton, sometime soon, and our citizens will undoubtedly show their appreciation by a most liberal patronage.

Will Asiatic Cholera Follow?

Mr. Joe Howard's theory that, one horror of a similar nature follows another to the number of three, has a chance for confirmation this coming summer if certain predictions prove true. First it was La Grippe: "A whim" the French define it. second came deaths by scores from its after effects, or from the many atmospheric changes of the past few months. Severe cases of pneumonia, bronchitis, intense catarrh, and general loss of strength were the results, until death was almost welcomad as a relief to the sufferers. So that this epidemic and its sequence has proven to be the most terribly realistic whim that ever infested this country. And now for number three; the theory is said to be advanced that the Cholera is very likely to find fertile soil in the generally debilitated constitutions of our people resulting from the effects of such a winter and spring as has just past. Whether the theory of three will be confirmed in this case or not, remains to be seen. At any rate it behooves every active person still effected by any of the complants due to these climatic changes and epidemics such as catarrh or bronchial troubles, to look well to themselves and see that every trace of the trouble is removed this present month; before the heat of summer still more debilitates their system. For years we have found that simple old remedy Johnson's Anodyne Linimentf used as directed, to be the most certain remedy for all forms of lingering summer colds, catarrh or bronchial affections, as well as a preventive and cure for all kinds of summer complaints. It is absolutely certain that a remedy that has survived for eighty years as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment has done, must have more than average merit. We suppose there is not a family in this country but what has this good old fashioned remedy in the house. If there is, not we advise them to get it at once or write the manufacturers I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass., for a pamphlet describing its various uses for the last eighty years. Now is the time. Delays are dangerous, and an ounce of prevention is worth many pounds of cure.

NOTES AND NOTIONS.

Running Comments on Passing Events.

Sundrv Ebullitions in Prose and Rhyme.

How the Domestic, Social and Literary World is Wagging.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, who recently died in Glasgow, left $2,500,000 to charitable institutions in that city.

Jane Hading, the famous French actress, receives on an average thirty manuscript plays a day from would-be dramatic authors.

Miss Grant, the niece of the late president of the Royal Academy, has just completed a bust of Parnell, which is said on competent authority to be an admirable likeness.

The jewels of Mrs. Astor, widow of the multi-millionaire who has just died in Paris, are probably the finest in America. At times she has appeared in public wearing precious stones valued at between $50,000 and $100,000.

Mrs. Lynn Linton has almost finished a new novel to be named, 'In Haste and At Leisure.' She has been working at it nearly two years. 'In Haste and at Leisure' will be a study of the modern woman at school and college.

Mrs. Cornelia K. Hood of Brooklyn, who is well known as a lawyer, writer and lecturer, is a woman of charming personality. She has soft brown eyes, a wealth of dark hair, and is a gifted conversationalist. She is president of the Kempin club, the only women's law club in New York.

The woman in Memphis who was reported to have given birth to six children one day last week, sends word to the North that the story was a 'fake,' and that she had twins—merely twins. Moreover, that she wouldn't have had more if she could. And this after the many pleasant congratulations of the press!

General Theatrical Notes.

Fay Templeton is to sing Drogan in a grand production of 'Genevieve de Brabant' next season.

Guille is the tenor of Hinrich's grand opera company playing in the East.

Sims and Buchanan's latest drama, 'The White Rose,' is a free dramatization of 'Woodstock.'

Annie Clarke of Boston is going to refrom the stage.

Margaret Mather intends next season to revive 'A Winter's Tale' on an elaborate scale and to produce a new play by Alexander Duman. She will go to Europe this summer.

A leading European music critic, Otto Neitzel of the Cologne Gazette, refers to Vladimie de Pachmann as 'that talented piano clown.'

Since the announcement that Paderewski breakfasted, dined and supped on eggs and lemonade it has been discovert that Rubenstein lives on tea and cigarettes.

A second Joseph K. Emmet jr. comes into view. The sister of the original 'Fritz' Emmet is Mrs. Denis Devoy of St. Louis. She has a son, Joseph Emmet Devoy at first, but now Joseph K. Emmet jr., who has made a private debut before his St. Louis friends, and seems to have astonished them by his mimicry of Emmet's songs, dialect, dances and mannerisms. This newest Emmet will make his appearance on the stage in the fall.

Shakespeare's birthday was celebrated at the Forest Home with a dramatic entertainment which delighted the veteran actors of the institution. The programme included Othello's defense, recited by Frederick Robson; Portia's quality of mercy speech by Mrs. Booth; a recitation by Julia Arthur, card tricks by Burr McIntosh, humorous remarks by Marshall Wilder, and other pleasing features.

ZALDIVAR THE FIEND.

Charges Against the Central American Ex-President—His Career.

The Diario Official, of San Salvador, publishes a list of the crimes for which ex-President Zaldivar was about to be sentenced by the Supreme Court when the proceedings were stolen. Among other things it was charged that forty-four men and five women were executed by his orders and 195 men and twenty-two women were flogged. Of the women three died as the result of the flogging.

Rafael Zaldivar was born in Central America about 1830. He was educated as a lawyer and soon took an active part in politics. In 1876 when the government of Andres Valle was defeated by the Guatemalan army, led by General Rufino Barrios, the Salvador junta de notables assembled in accordance with the capitulation of April 25th and nominated Zaldivar as provisional president and in May he was elected. His administration was progressive and enlightened. He fostered the planting of cocoa, rubber trees and the maguey or American agave for the fiber industry, and founded an agricultural college and a model experimental farm.

In 1883 he was re-elected, and the next year made an extended trip through the United States, England, France and Spain, and when he returned in September, 1884, held an important interview with the Presidents of Guatemala and Honduras relating to a proposed union of the five central American republics. When Barrios suddenly issued, on Feb. 18, 1885, his famous decree proclaiming himself provisional chief of the restored Central American Union, Zaldivar seemed to accept the idea cheerfully and came near forcing President Bogran of Honduras to subscribe to it, but was compelled to desist owing to strong opposition from his own country as well as Nicaragua and Costa Rica. War with Barrios was at once declared, and on March 30th battles took place at Chalchualpa and San Lorenzo, in the latter of which Barrios was killed. On April 14th peace was declared and on the 21st Zaldivar proposed to Barillas, President of Guatemala, the formation of a Central American union with a congress of delegates to meet on May 15th at Santa Rosa. The proposition was rejected, when Zaldivar turned over the government to General Figueroa and left for France, where he has since lived.

TO LOSE HIS THRONE.

Emperor William Must Soon Retire for a Regency.

A despatch from London says: Emperor William of Germany is a very sick man. Europe must be prepared for starling news concerning him. A high personage connected with the court in Windsor Castle is authority for the statement that the Kaiser is suffering not only a bodily ailment but also from mental derangement.

By a special courier who arrived the Queen was informed that her illustrious grandson was in a fainting fit for four hours from 1 A. M. to 5 A. M. on Friday of last week, and that the court physicians at one time feared he would not come out of the ordeal alive. The greatest consternation reigned at Potsdam when these facts were made known there, his sickness occurring in East Prussia.

On Friday morning the physicians held a consultation and it was their recommendation, it is understood, that formed the basis of the courier's message received in London.

Briefly, the medical men advise that if the Emperor wishes to prolong his life he must temporarily resign control of the Government and retire for a long sojourn to the Swiss mountains, in absolue freedom from all state business.

After the doctors had had their say the Kaiser sent for Chancellor Caprivi, and the latter suggested a six months' regency by Prince Henry. Caprivi made his suggestions with evident reluctance, as he is deeply attached to the Kaiser, but this very reluctance led the ruler to consider the idea favorably. He said he would try to take his projected yachting trip, and if this did not restore his health he would yield to a regency.

Plenty of Time.

The conductors on the Sunset route, in Texas, are a very bright set of men. A traveller asked one of them:

"Will I have time to get something to eat at the next station?"

"Yes, you will have time enough if you are not going any further on this train."

Miss Vassar of Boston—Which do you consider was the more heroic, Mr. De Punster; Joan of Arc, or Maria Antoinette?

De Punster—Maria Antoinette, of course.

Miss Vassar—Why? She surely did not have to undergo the torture at death that Joan of Arc did.

De Punster—Oh yes, she did; much more. Joan of Arc was given a hot stake while Maria Antoinette was obliged to be contented with a cold chop!—Soundings.
