Chicago Gossip.

J. P. Bickell & Co. had the following:

Wheat—Higher—Strong foreign cables and reported liberal sales for export closed values ¼c to ½c higher. Outside trade is light, and receipts liberal, but foreign situation growing bullish. Trading position still advisable, good profits to be taken on bulges.

Erickson Perkins & Co. had the following:

Wheat—Market opened steady to ¼c higher, eased fractionally and then advanced over 1c per bushel, selling back later to last night's prices. The early advance was caused by the strength in the cables and reports of export business to the continent. There was some No. 2 hard wheat worked for Germany from here. Baltimore reports a cargo of No. 2 red sold to France. Philadelphia, also reports business done to the continent. There seems to be no doubt, therefore, but that Europe is prepared to buy some American wheats around the present range of values. A late message from Baltimore reports total business there for the day 400,000 bushels, including two full cargoes to France. The failure of the market to hold any marked advance to-day was due, we think, to skepticism regarding the foreign demand, besides which there was considerable profit-taking, which, to a large extent, offset the new buying. Unless speculation advances prices too rapidly, we are inclined to look for a steady demand from abroad. Should this prove to be a fact, it will stimulate values and give us a higher market.

Corn—Market opened strong, advanced to 65 for May, from which point there was a sharp setback with a subsequent rally at the close. Reports generally received to-day indicate a continued lessening of prospects as to the final outcome. Nebraska, particularly, was sending in rather gloomy estimates, some going as far as to predict only about half a crop for the state. We do not care to take the short side of the market, as with a continuation of such reports as have been received recently speculation could easily put prices higher.

Oats—Prices sympathized only moderately with the strength in other grains. The movement is so heavy from first hand that prices are under continued pressure. We feel, however, that the present range of values is a fairly safe one.

Cotton Gossip.

Erickson Perkins & Co. had the following:

Several bear drives occurred during today's session of the local market, but their effect was but temporary, and prices for the most part ruled slightly higher in response to the unfavorable advices from the southwest, where rains, altho often predicted, have not as yet been realized.

The balance of the belt, with the exception of Central Texas, reports favorable conditions, but the local market has been impressed with the Texas reports, and fluctuations rule entirely dependent on advices from that section.

Later on there may be some selling on the part of the large bull operators in anticipation of the September condition report, for there is a possibility of the Giles' semi-monthly report diverting the market from its present state of nervousness.

Bradstreet's Trade Review.

Montreal reports to Bradstreet's say there has been little change in the trade situation there during the past week. All lines of freight are moving freely, and the volume of merchandise going out is seasonably large. A fairly good sorting trade of summer lines of drygoods continues, and but little complaint is heard about the volume of business being placed for fall. Deliveries of cottons and prints from the mills continued on the slow side. Prices are generally steady. Silks are reported easier in tone. The movement in groceries is of normal proportions. New canned goods are showing a tendency towards higher quotations. Sugars are steady, with the demand still light on account of a short crop of small fruits. A continued good demand for all lines of hardware is noted, altho the movement of builders' supplies has been affected by the strike of the masons and some carpenters. Receipts of cheese continue fairly large for the time of the year, but reports to date show a fair increase over those of last year. Prices are firm, the money market continues to show firmness. Collections are generally fair.

Toronto reports say general business is moving satisfactorily. The volume is not heavy, partly as a result of the holiday season, and partly because there are at the moment signs of light buying in the west, where crops were to some extent damaged. It is expected, however, that there will be an improvement in the latter regard early in fall, when crops begin to move. A fairly good sorting trade in dry goods is noted, and the volume of hardware trade moving is excellent. The demand for builders' supplies continues brisk in all parts of the country, and in structural steel and iron there continues a good movement. Grocers report a good seasonable trade. Country business continues active, and city retail trade has shown some improvement during the week. Tourist traffic seems to have set in well. Frequent rains are benefiting root crops, but a week's dry weather would be welcome for the harvest. Collections are generally fair.

Winnipeg reports say wholesale business generally is moving nicely. Crop reports are rather more favorable than they have been for some time, and with a continuance of high prices the values should come well up to those of last year. Fall orders are generally reported good, altho some hesitation in placing business is noted. Receipts of merchandise are large, and the distribution of fall goods is going forward actively. Collections are generally fair.

Vancouver and Victoria reports say the movement of merchandise continues large. Good orders for general lines continue to arrive from the interior. Fruit crops are looking well. A feature is price-cutting in provisions, by which the trade has to some extent been disturbed. The shipping trade continues active. Considerable activity is noted in real estate, altho firmness in the money market has a tendency to curtail business in this line. Prospects for fall business continue bright.

6 YEARS AGO

Between 6 and 7 years ago some business men of Cobalt sold out, believing that the pot had simply boiled over and left only a sprinkling of silver.

3 YEARS AGO

About 3 years ago a number of brokers quit the business, others decided to quit, but before they could wind up their long-date deals a bull market set in:

$300 A SHARE

During that time I was agent for T. & Hudson Bay stock, and saw it rise from $1.50 a share to $300.00.

$2 A SHARE

I was also agent for Temiskaming stock, and saw it sell from 25c a share to $2.00.

$179,000

Temiskaming, I am informed, has the deepest shaft in the camp, about 530 feet deep, and the equivalent to $179,000 in the treasury (now for our dividend) and a dollar a share for the stock. Queen and Foster are slumbering, but Crown Reserve, Temiskaming, Rochester, Beaver, Little Nip and others have come up.

Cobalts at a Standstill With Firmness to Bid Prices

Many of the Transactions Represent Professional Dealings, But Many New Buyers Are Beginning to Enter the Market.

World Office,
Friday Evening, Aug. 12.

As far as prices were concerned the market for Cobalt stocks to-day was practically at a standstill. As a rule most of the transactions were in the hands of professional traders, who are still willing to take small fractions of a point as profits on either side of the market.

There is very little interchange of real stock in these dealings, and values are therefore governed purely by sentimental grounds rather than as between actual sellers and buyers.

The one important feature of the market continues to be the solidity shown by the higher-priced stocks. Kerr Lake has naturally suffered a reaction from the recent quick advance, but La Rose and Nipissing are holding decidedly firm.

The half-yearly statement issued by the Timiskaming Company appears to have been partly discounted in the advance made in the company's shares in the last couple of weeks, and some profit taking by those who had advance information on the statement accounts for the steadiness of the prices of the shares.

A certain amount of feeling of distrust exists in regard to a number of the low-priced issues, and this is having its influence on the market for these shares, and prevents them for the time being from feeling the influence of the investment securities.

There is a stronger disposition extant in regard to the early future of the Cobalts, and many who have been out of the market for months are now re-entering in the belief that there is only one way for prices to go and that is to a higher level.

Gold Found in Temagami Reserve.

COBALT, Aug. 12.—According to an urgent wire demanding Mr. Sol White's presence on the property received yesterday afternoon an important strike of gold has been made on the Cunningham claims in the Temagami Reserve, two miles from Temagami. The properties comprise eighty acres and work started on them last fall. Little work was done at the time, but a gang of men were put to work this spring, but the the showings were promising nothing of importance was found until this week. The wire to Mr. White reads: "Have struck it rich. Come down at once."

Dome Mining Company Keeps Payments Up.

Mr. E. H. Edwards, who owns the claims being developed by the Dome Mining Company, says: "I can say without violating any confidence that the Dome Mining Company have taken up every payment they have to make so far, and in every case the payment was not made on the last day, but several days ahead of time."

DRILLS CEASE WORK

Nova Scotia Curtails Operations Because of Litigation.

COBALT, Aug. 12.—Six drills have been withdrawn from operations by the Nova Scotia management owing to the fact that the territory in which they were working has again been thrown into litigation by the fact that the Peterson Lake Company appealed its case against the Nova Scotia. The case is a famous one in the history of Cobalt mining disputes.

Two current rumors which have been circulating around the camp and percolating to Toronto to the effect that the Nova Scotia have shut down are not true, and at present this is not likely to occur. With the exception of the six drills already mentioned and a general curtailment of work in the contested area, the operations are going on with the usual vigor. The surface crew and the mill force are working full blast.

Cannot Break King's Will.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 12.—Counsel for Princesses Louise, Clementine and Stephanie, daughters of the late King Leopold of Belgium, yesterday took preliminary steps to see if the Baroness Vaughan, morganatic wife of the late king, cannot be dispossessed of her property if she carries out her announced intention of wedding Emmanuel Durieux, a retired French merchant living at Neuilly-Sur-Seine.

The baroness' lawyers declare, however, that the king's will was drawn in such a way that it cannot possibly be broken.
