The working men of Grand Rapids, Mich., have started a new daily, entitled the Grand Rapids Daily Union. It hoists the name of N. P. Banks for President of the United States, and advocates eight hours as a day's work.

In order to protect themselves against burglars and horse theives, whose depredations have become frequent of late, a number of citizens of Perry, Ralls County, Mo., have formed themselves into a Vigilance Committee, and style themselves the Perry Rangers.

The Chicago Times, a bitter Democratic paper, is disgusted with Mr. Johnston, and thinks it should be seriously considered "whether his continuance in office does not furnish an excitement and cause for clamour to the ruling party without which it could not sustain itself."

The Austrian man-of-war Elizabeth, has arrived at New Orleans with a large number of refugees. It was at first supposed she would convey them home, but it is now ascertained that they will go to New York by a merchant steamer, as Admiral Tegethoff will probably need the war vessel.

☞ Sir J. Pakington has stated that 216,223 rifles had at present been converted, and 133,177 remained to be converted. 350,000 would be converted by the end of March next, and the process was going on at the rate of about 1,000 per day.

☞ The newspapers of Chicago are writing up a vast monster, part fish and part serpent, said to inhabit Lake Michigan. He has been seen by several parties. The animal is between forty and fifty feet in length, his shape serpentine, and the seize of his body about that of an ordinary flour barrel.

☞ The collection of newspapers in the new library at the British Museum occupy 9,982 superficial feet. The space is thus divided: London newspapers, 1675ft; provincial ditto, 1059ft. 8in.; Scotch ditto, 288 ft. Irish ditto, 369; foreign ditto, 744ft.; total, 4,162ft. 8 in. An English tourist writing from Ireland says:—"Their courtesy and politeness were something surprising. In dialect, also, the peasant is very superior, his language being pure, simple, and easily understood, and swearing seems scarcely to exist as a perceptible habit. I regret to say that, as regards courtesy and politeness, the peasant class seemed superior to many of those I met in the ranks above them. Frequently on leaving an hotel in the morning did I reflect that in Ireland nature must have made some mistake, and given all the land and property to men and women, but left gentlemen and gentlewoman poor indeed!"

From London Society.

In the August number of London Society published by Hurd & Houghton, we find the following:

The head of an illustrious house, whom I shall call Lord Skinflint, had given one of his cast-off hats to a certain lackey in his service. Recognizing this hat a few days afterward on the hall table, where it had been deposited for a moment, my lord inquired to whom it belonged, and was at once reminded of his lordship's gift.—"What!" cried he "did I give you such a good hat as this?" The man explained that he had it relined and 'done up.' 'Umph!' says my lord, 'I never thought of that. Pray what did you pay for it?' 'Arf-a-crown, my lord,' answers Mr. Jeames. The nobleman mused for an instant, and looked at the hat again. 'I'll tell you what,' said he at length, 'I'll give you five shillings for it as it is.' 'If your lordship pleases,' answered the footman. (In fact there was nothing else for him to say.) The bargain was struck at once.—Lord Skinflint put on the hat, and, for ought I know, he may wear it still.

Descent of an Enormous Meteor in Lake Ontario.

A GRAND AND STARTLING SPECTACLE.

From the Hamilton Times, Aug. 23rd.

Capt. Turner, of the shooner Algerine, who arrived in the city this morning, reports having witnessed, at about the hour of eleven o'clock Wednesday night, a terrific and splendid phenomenon in the descent of an immense meteor into Lake Ontario, which struck the water not more than three hundred yards from his vessel. The captain states that he had come up from his cabin on deck, and was standing at the main hatch. The vessel was on the starboard tack, sailing along fively with a light southwest breeze for Port Dalhousie, and about twelve miles off the Niagara lighthouse, bearing S. S. W. Presently his attention was attracted by a sudden illumination from the north-west, which almost instantly increased to a dazzling brilliancy. On turning he beheld a large body of fire in the heavens, which seemed to be approaching at a descent of about thirty degrees, and growing rapidly larger as it came nearer, the observation of time being so brief as hardly to admit of computation in seconds. The momentary impression of Captain Turner was that certain and complete destruction awaited his vessel and all on board, as the terrific missile seemed to be directed to strike the vessel broadside. The time for reflection, however, was brief, and the light emitted was so blinding in its effect that the man at the wheel and another of the crew on deck, fell prostrate and remained for some time completely stupified with terror. The captain himself, as he states, remained transfixed, and saw the fiery body enter the water some three hundred yards ahead of his vessel, about two points to the windward. A loud explosion attended the contact with the water, which was sharp and deafening, equal to a thunder-bolt close at hand, and a large volume of steam and spray ascended into the air, which was noticed for some moments afterwards. In the confusion of the moment, Capt. Turner was unable to comprehend what had occurred, and the crew were inclined to believe that the phenomenon was an explosion of lightning, the sky being perfectly cloudless at the time. The captain estimated, as well as he was enabled to judge from the brief time for observation afforded, that the meteor was a body of about twenty feet in diameter. A long tail of flame of the most intense brilliancy was noticed as it struck the water. As Captain Turner describes his sensation, his faculties for the moment were all compressed in the sense of sight, so overwhelming was the light from the fiery object, but he believes he was sensible to a terrific whizzing, howling noise, similar to that made by the steam issuing from the escape pipe of a steamer, which attended the meteor previous to the grand explosion on striking the water. Capt Turner arrived at Port Dalhousie on Wednesday morning. He assures us that his nervous system did not recover from the shock experienced for many hours afterwards.

Importance of Learning A Trade.

The advantages of having learned a trade are strikingly demonstrated in seasons like the the present. The Philadelphia Ledger has the following pertinent and appropriate remarks on this subject:

In referring yesterday to the large number of persons who have no trades, and who are now seeking employment, there was one branch of business left untouched. It is that connected with clerks, book-keepers, and office attendants of both grades. There is a growing tendency among short sighted parents to put their boys in offices, under a false impression that such occupation is more genteel than the learning of a trade. This is likely to entail upon their children troubles and sorrows and heartburnings during all the rest of their lives. All business is subject to fluctuations, which the wisdom of men and of governments have thus far been unable to control and when a commercial or financial depression occurs, those who are first to suffer, and among the most helpless victims, are book-keepers, clerks, copyists and office attendants of all kinds. At such times the workman in a number of the mechanical trades can find employment on his own account. The shoemakers can make shoes or mend them; the painter and glazier the carpenter, the bell hanger, the locksmith, the plumber and the gas fitter, and many others that will occur to the readers, can search for and find odd jobs that will give them at least the means of living. The skilled man, with tools at his command is in most respects master of the situation But the clerk, the book-keeper, the office attendant, are helpless. They cannot establish mercantile, commercial or manufacturing houses, to give employment to themselves. They must wait many and many a weary day until the season or the years of depression are over, before they can find that employment for their pens which they have unfortunately made their sole means of livelihood. All this is another of the lamentable results of having learned no trade in childhood. The subject, is indeed, one so wide in its ramifications, and so profoundly important in its consequence, that it is time it had engaged more thorough and more systematic attention on the part of the people who are so deeply interested, and it is for this reason that we have made use of three days' experience in a single business establishment, referred to yesterday, towards doing our part in procuring for the subject the strong and instant attention it deserves.

The Great Rain Storm to the South and East.

While this section of country has been suffering severely from droughts, they have been, to the south and east of us, almost drowned out by heavy rain storms. On Wednesday evening a great rain storm set in at Baltimore, extending to Washington, Philadelphia, New York, and other places. A Philadelphia despatch of Friday evening speaks of the violent rain storm of the last seventy hours as having just then ceased. Bridges, houses, &c., have been swept away and an immense deal of damage done. There was boat navigation in the streets of Baltimore, cellars being of course flooded. At Albany red rain fell on Thursday, very much to the astonishment of common people and to the delight of students of natural science. In Massachusetts the rain continued forty eight hours. The storm extended from Savannah to Richmond all along the Atlantic coast, and over the extent of the Atlantic itself to an unknown distance.

To the Free and Independent Electors OF THE NORTH RIDING OF HURON

GENTLEMEN:—

Having been nominated by the Reform Convention, held at Clinton on the 4th of this month, as a candidate for the Representation of your Riding in the Local Legislature of Ontario, and having received assurances of support from many friends, over the whole constituency, I have accepted the nomination then made, and in doing so I hope to receive a cordial and generous support from you, to whom is entrusted the privilege of the franchise.

My principles are not such as to satisfy every shade of political opinion; they are, however, as well known, to maintain what is good—to reform what is corrupt and obsolete, endeavoring to secure right government, in as economical a manner as is consistent with safety.

There are no questions before the public of great importance. Confederation having absorbed all others, it is my desire that it should receive a fair trial, trusting that it will be the means of allaying the sectional jealousies that have so long distracted the country.

Having been actively engaged for the last ten years in our municipal affairs, the experience I have gained may, if you see fit to elect me, prove useful in further improving our municipal and assessment laws. It might not serve any useful purpose to go into an immediate personal canvass, but I hope when the contest fairly commences, to meet you in various places over the Riding to make explanations, and set forth my views at greater length, and until that time, I would ask you to refrain from pledging your influence and support to any of my opponents, so that you may be in a position to judge for yourselves as to our respective merits,

I am, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

THOMAS GIBSON.

Howick, April 6th, 1867. w11tf

To the Free and Independent Electors of the North Riding of Huron

GENTLEMEN,

Under ordinary circumstances the term of the present Provincial Parliament would terminate in a few days, but since the last general Election, very great political and constitutional changes have taken place, which calls for an immediate dissolution of Parliament.

These changes were found necessary, in consequence of the many difficulties arising out of the proper carrying on, of responsible government under the Union Act of 1840.

In 1865 a Coalition Government was formed for the purpose of devising a remedy for the existing evils, and a Union of the British North American Provinces was proposed and agreed upon.

Under this arrangement we are to have a General Legislature and a Local Legislature, the former to have charge of matters of General Interests, affecting the United Provinces, and the latter to have charge of Local matters.

Under these circumstances, I have consented at the request of many warm friends of all political creeds in your riding to become a Candidate for the Local Legislature of your riding, and as one who has resided many years in the north riding, and who takes a deep interest in its welfare, I hope it elected never to betray the trust confided to me.

My politics are to support the hands of the coalition in carrying out honestly the intentions of the Quebec scheme, and also to support honest men and honest measures, and to do all in my humble ability to advance the interests of your riding and the welfare of this my native country.

I am well acquainted with many in the riding, but I shall shortly make it my business to call meetings in your different townships, when I shall explain my principles in detail and hope to meet other aspirants for honors when you can have an opportunity of judging as to the respective capabilities of the candidates.

I may say that I am an admirer of British connexion, and am prepared at any time to fight in the field or in any other sphere in life, to maintain that connexion.

I remain gentlemen,
Yours most obediently,

W. TORRANCE HAYS.

To the Independent Electors of the South Riding of Huron.

GENTLEMEN;—

Having received the nomination at the Convention held in Clinton, on the 15th inst., as Reform Candidate for the Legislative Assembly of Ontario, for South Huron, and having accepted the same, I am now prepared to take the field, and hope to receive a liberal support.

As the election will not, probably, take place for some time, I shall be able at the proper period to make a personal canvass of the Riding, when, at meetings to be appointed, the views of both parties can be heard and compared; and in the meantime, I trust you will not pledge yourselves by requisition or otherwise to any other candidate.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,

ROBERT GIBBONS,
