TAXES.

RATEPAYERS OF THE CITY OF London are requested to take notice that for 1894 they may, if desired, pay their taxes in two installments, the first of which must be paid during the first 30 days of August, and the second during the first 30 days of October. Ratepayers paying the installments as they become due according to the above dates, will not be charged interest, nor will discount be allowed. If either of the said installments is not paid during the time above specified, a 5 per cent charge will be immediately added thereto. Any ratepayer paying the whole of his taxes during the first 30 days of August will be allowed a discount of 3 per cent off the second installment, the payment of which he might have deferred till October. Rates amounting to less than $6 are not subdivided. The collectors are not authorized to receive the second installment until the first installment, with all charges thereon has been paid. Special attention is directed to the fact that in order to enable the council to satisfactorily close its own financial year, the collectors have been directed by bylaw to return the rolls for 1894 to the city treasurer on the 15th day of December next, so that if the installments are not paid as above specified, they must be collected previous to December 15th, with the 5 per cent added. When paying your taxes, bring marked check or even change. Do not wait to pay your taxes till the 30 days have nearly expired; by so doing you will run the risk of being crowded out in consequence of the inability of the collectors to receive same. Pay as early in the month as you can. The 5 per cent charge must be added after the expiration of the 30 days without considering the cause of or reason for non-payment. By order

MRS. BOOTH IN LONDON.

A Noted Woman Visits the Forest City.

Sketch of Her Busy and Eventful Career.

Mrs. Commandant Booth, of the Salvation Army, visits London and addresses mass meetings tomorrow and again on Monday.

The distinguished visitor will arrive by the 8 o'clock C. P. R. train tonight, and will be given a grand reception at the station by the officers and soldiers of the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Herbert Booth is the wife of the commandant of the Salvation Army in Canada. She is the daughter of Monsieur and Madame Schoch, of Holland, and a descendant of a Swiss family, the members of which had for several generations served the cause and kings of Holland in high military positions.

After four years in the military academy Monsieur Schoch wintered at the court of the King of Naples, where he first began to grow dissatisfied amidst the gay scenes he daily found himself mixed up with. Returning to his garrison in Holland he determined henceforth to serve God. Here, too, his marriage took place with a young heiress, the daughter of a Dutch colonel—who, by the way, against the French, and successfully defending the citadel of Antwerp, won the golden opinions of king and country.

FOUGHT IN THE BATTLE OF WATERLOO,

At the garrison town of Hertogentosch their second daughter, Miss Cornelie Schoch (now Mrs. Herbert Booth), arrived to brighten their home, in the midst of every luxury and comfort that heart could desire, where her parents spared no pains to provide her with the very best teachers and governesses. She finished her education in Germany, having learned to speak in four different languages with ease.

From childhood she was noted for her early devotion, and most especially for her great gift of music and song. Then, as the years rolled on, with this and her largeness of heart, she became more and more a universal favorite amongst both rich and poor, in the mansion of the courtly aristocrat or the hovel of the pauper.

In conjunction with her especial friend, the Hon. Miss Hartsen, the daughter of the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Holland, she threw herself whole-heartedly into charitable work, amongst factory girls particularly, also sustaining a library for poor boys and a soup kitchen, visiting the sick and singing to the dying.

At last the Salvation Army arrived in Amsterdam, when M. Schoch not only came to their aid financially, but afterwards himself joined these despised people, and allowed his beautiful and clever children to work with them—to the great astonishment and contempt of his distinguished friends. Miss Corry Schoch was at once asked to translate for the English officers traveling from town to town and living in the poor little quarters with them; but it was not until after the visit of the general to Holland that she donned the bonnet and became a full-fledged Salvation Army captain.

She was summoned to London, and after passing through her training she was appointed to assist in the command of Regent's Hall, winning her way wonderfully in the hearts of the people. Here it was she met the general's youngest son,

COMMANDANT HERBERT BOOTH.

At this time Mrs. (Gen.) Booth was lying at the point of death, and no doubt the wedding took place a little earlier than it would otherwise have done owing to the wishes of Mrs. Booth, whose precarious condition increased her desire that her son should not longer delay the completion of a union which from the first gave her much satisfaction.

Only ten days before the death of the "Army Mother" this remarkable marriage service was performed in the Clapton Congress Hall, when over 6,000 people were present, and when the London daily papers wrote with enthusiastic terms of the "sweet modulated soprano" of the bride.

Mrs. Herbert Booth at once took her stand by her husband's side in the war, a devoted Salvationist, not only singing and speaking in public, but helping him through all the difficulties of work.

BEHIND THE SCENE,

in the office, or traveling through the country with him. Knowing that Canada was involved in some peculiar difficulties the commandant volunteered a year or so after the wedding to shoulder the responsibility, and sailed for the Dominion.

DEATH OF DR. LYNCH.

A Pioneer Physician of Manitoba—Once Honored in This City.

Dr. Lynch, one of the pioneer physicians of Manitoba, died in Winnipeg a week ago from blood poisoning and inflammation.

The Winnipeg Tribune says: "Dr. Lynch was born near London, Ont., in 1841. He was educated at Toronto University and chose the study of medicine. After spending some time as surgeon on the Allan Line he decided to strike into the Far West, and arrived in Fort Garry in 1869. He was taken prisoner by Riel six months after arriving in this country, along with Lieut.-Governor Schultz, J. H. Ashdown, Archibald Wright, William Hallett, Thomas Scott, Geo. Faulkner and others. He was rescued after three months of imprisonment, and made his way through Minnesota and Dakota to London, Ont., where he was presented with an address by the mayor and council and received as a Canadian patriot. In 1870 he returned to the Province, took up the practice of his profession at Portage la Prairie and shortly after removed to Winnipeg, where he had since resided. He contested Marquette for the Dominion House with Mr. Angus McKay, now Indian agent at Norway House. The result was a tie, and both were declared elected. They proceeded to Ottawa received the oath as members and sat one day in the House. The peculiar case was then referred to the committee on privileges and elections, which decided that it was best to hold a new election. Dr. Lynch did not contest the seat a second time. For twenty years Dr. Lynch had been the surgeon of the Hudson Bay Company. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss.
