Mining Stocks Make For Higher Levels---Small-Sized Boom

WHEAT NOT HURT BY COLD WEATHER

Reassuring Reports From the Southwest Give Market an Easy Tone.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Belief that the southwest would escape damage from the cold wave tended today to pull down the price of wheat. An easy tone prevailed at the close with quotations ranging from ⅛c to ¼c decline to a trifle advance, compared with the night before. Corn lost ⅛c to ¼c net, and oats 1-16c to ¼c. The outcome in provisions varied from 5c off to a gain of a shade.

Except for a short time at the beginning, little disposition was shown to carry the wheat market upward on account of zero weather.

Kansas correspondents in particular took the position that the fall-down crop had been well rooted and that talk of danger seemed absurd. An additional influence against the bulls was the fact that primary arrivals amounted to nearly double those of a year ago, 896,000 bushels against 457,000 bushels. There were also reports that New York had been overloaded with flour.

Deliveries Are light.

Light deliveries of wheat by farmers in the northwest helped prevent any serious backset in prices. War uncertainties too served as a check. Besides, export clearances were fairly good, 757,000 bushels.

Improved conditions of country roads led to an easy feeling in corn, the idea being that larger receipts would follow.

Oats likewise gave way, liberal selling orders more than offsetting various attempts to lift the market.

Provisions felt the effect of unloading attributed to one of the big packers. The bulk of the offerings tho came out only on hard spots.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET

At the St. Lawrence Market Saturday there were 15 loads of hay, 800 bushels of grain, 40 loads of mixed produce in the north market building, and a fairly large supply of butter, eggs and poultry in the basket market.

Prices were fairly steady all round. Hay sold for from $15 to $16 a ton for the best timothy, and $12 to $14 a ton for No. 2. Grain prices were unchanged. Apples were plentiful and fetched from $2.50 to $3.50 a barrel, and 25c to 40c a basket.

Butter was plentiful at 30c to 35c a pound, the bulk going at 32c and 33c a pound. Eggs were selling at 30c by the basket and 35c retail. Some were sold to special customers at 40c a dozen, but these were for invalid purposes.

Turkeys sold at 25c to 27c a pound. Geese fetched 17c to 18c. There were but few ducks on the market, and these fetched 20c a pound. Milk-fed chickens were worth 20c a pound, and other classes of chickens 17c to 19c, while old hens fetched 14c to 16c a pound.

Vegetables were plentiful and prices remained unchanged.
