THIS BATTLE WILL END WAR RUSS FRONT TOO EXTENDED

Linevitch Attempting an Impossible Feat—Early Conflict Expected South of Tumen River, Where Opposing Scouts Are Close—Bad Weather in Manchuria.

London, Aug. 5.—The Daily Telegraph's Japanese correspondent at Moji comments upon the tremendous extent of General Linevitch's command, including, as it does, Vladivostok and Northern Corea, and doubts the Russian general's ability to have effective control of such a far-extended line, which is unprecedented.

He declares that the coming battle, unless it is averted by peace negotiations, will be on such a gigantic scale as to decide the war at once and for all.

CLASH INEVITABLE.

Tokio, Aug. 4.—It is reported that the advance guards of the hostile forces south of the Tumen River are within rifle range.

An early conflict is regarded as inevitable.

ADVANCE BEGUN.

Godzeyadani, Manchuria, Aug. 4.—Despatches received from Korea report that the Japanese have begun a simultaneous advance from Kuanchoderi against the Musariet and Platsabang Passes, but that both columns were checked under pressure of the Russian advance detachments. The Russian losses, the despatches say, were insignificant. Japanese warships are reported to be cruising off the mouth of Peter the Great Bay, on which Vladivostok is situated, their lights often being visible from Russian island.

Chinese arriving from the south say that the Japanese are most active in establishing trade relations in Southern Manchuria, that over a score of large business houses have been established at Yinkow, and that 5000 Japanese sutlers and larger traders follow close on the heels of the army.

RAIN A HINDRANCE.

Almost tropical rains are falling in Manchuria, and the hilly regions are impassable for trains or artillery. Every mountain path is a torrent and every valley a quagmire.

Important operations apparently will be impossible for a long time to come. The alternation of rains and torrid sunshine has a depressing effect on the health of the army.

30 Strikers Shot Down.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 4.—An official account received here to-day of the strike on the Novorossisk-Vladi-Kavkaz Railway, describes a sanguinary encounter between the troops and workmen who were attempting to prevent the departure of a mail train.

After one Cossack had been killed the strikers advanced menacingly, whereupon the infantry fired, killing 30 of the strikers and wounding 22.

MAP OF THE JAPANESE ADVANCE.

The Japs are driving back the Russians on Sakhalin Island, moving both north and south of Vladivostok and Oyama's main army now stretches from Mukden almost to Possiet Bay, south of Vladivostok.

WITTE SEES ROOSEVELT ROSEN HAS A COMPLAINT

Objects to Being "Snapped" by Photographers, and Secret Service Men Help Him Out.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 4.—The selection of Tuesday as the day for the opening of the Russo-Japanese peace conference has relieved the minds of many Russians, who feared that the conference might begin on Monday, which, to the Muscovites, is a day of evil omen. Definite information as to the nature of the Japanese terms is not expected before Thursday, as the exchange and verifications of credentials and other formalities, it is expected, will consume two days.

The first instalments of a fund raised among the officers and soldiers in the field for the rebuilding of the navy, subscriptions for which were voluntarily begun after the battle of the Sea of Japan, have been received here. Gen. Mistchenko's corps contributed $120,000, and that of Gen. Zerpitsky, the heroes of Mukden retreat, $76,000.

At Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, N.Y., Aug. 4.—Final arrangements were completed to-night for the reception by President Roosevelt of the Russian and Japanese peace envoys to-morrow. The reception, which will be a formal greeting to the representatives of the belligerent powers by President Roosevelt on behalf of the United States government will take place at 1.30 p.m. on the cruiser Mayflower, the finest vessel of her class in the United States navy. Every honor due to their rank will be paid to the envoys and a cordial greeting will be given by the president on behalf of the American people.

Sergius Witte and Baron Rosen, the envoys of the Emperor of Russia to the peace conference, were guests to-day of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill. They arrived at Oyster Bay unaccompanied by any other Russian official.

When Mr. Witte and Baron Rosen reached Sagamore Hill, and the former had been presented to the president, Baron Rosen entered a vigorous protest personally to the president against the annoyance to which they had been subjected by the photographers at the Oyster Bay station. The president called two secret service officers and gave them directions to go to the station and endeavor to avert the annoyance on the return of the envoys to take a train for New York.

Corean's Freak Errand.

President Roosevelt to-day received Syngamon Rhee and Rev. P. K. Yoon, two Koreans, who arrived here last night to present to him a memorial, asking him to look after the interests of Korea in the proceedings of the forthcoming peace conference. Mr. Rhee is a student in the George Washington University at Washington, and Mr. Yoon is the pastor of the Korean M. E. Church at Honolulu. They represent practically only themselves, and as they have neither official nor diplomatic standing the president could do nothing for them. He suggested that they present their memorial to the Korean legation in Washington and have it passed on to the state department in the usual course.

CHEQUE WAS N. G.

That's Why Walter E. Fish Was Arrested Last Night.

Walter E. Fish, a cigar traveler, who resides at Beach-avenue, was arrested yesterday morning early by Detective Wallace. Fish and George McSweeney have been working together selling cigars around town. Fish went into the Gurney Company's store at 231 Yonge-street and bought a gas stove for $10. He turned over for payment a cheque for $36, signed by McSweeney. Fish received $26 in change. The cheque was no good and Fish was arrested and will be tried on Wednesday next on a charge of fraud.

MURDERED IN HIS HOME.

Wife Returned to Find Him Dead and is Now Crazy.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 4.—A brutal murder was brought to light at Bishop late to-night, when the dead body of Joseph Barr, aged 36, a coal miner, was found lying in his room with his skull crushed into a shapeless mass. The authorities have absolutely no clue to work on to secure the arrest of the murderer.

Barr had been confined to his bed for two weeks from an accident in the mines.

To-night Mrs. Barr went to the house of a neighbor, leaving her four children playing around the house, and when she returned she found her husband murdered, and is now raving crazy. The children knew nothing of the tragedy until their mother returned.

DOG BARKS AT GIRL; SHE DIES OF FRIGHT

Hasbrouck Heights, Pa., Aug. 4.—Miss Lizzie Schultz, 19 years of age, was frightened to death by a barking dog yesterday. Miss Schultz was on her way to the office of Dr. Conover, with Mrs. John T. Bulmer, a neighbor, whose baby was ill. They had got within half a block of the doctor's office when a dog owned by William Hess began to bark at the women as they passed.

"Oh, there is that dog," said Miss Schultz. "It often jumps on me when I pass, and I am so frightened!"

Altho the dog did not come out of the yard the woman was so shocked for fear it was going to leap upon her, that she became ill on reaching the doctor's office. Dr. Conover gave her stimulants, and she was able to walk home. Soon afterward, however, she collapsed and became unconscious. She died in a few hours, the doctor says, of heart failure, caused by fright.

BULLETS REPLY TO STONES JEWS REPELLING ATTACKS

St. Petersburg, Aug. 4.—In consequence of disorders in Ekaterinoslav, the governor of that district has issued a proclamation warning the people that the strictest measures will be taken to preserve order.

In several of the riots Jewish houses were bombarded with stones, and the inmates replied with bullets.

Several persons were wounded, altho no fatalities have been reported.

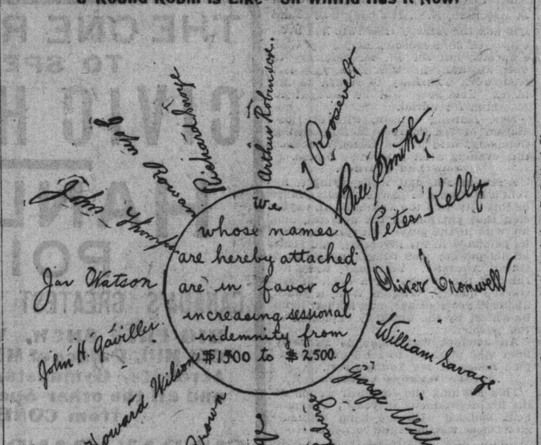
The Indemnity Round Robin

F. R. Lalor, M. P., Says He Saw It, But Would Not Sign It—What a Round Robin Is Like—Sir Wilfrid Has It Now.



Since the salary grab, at Ottawa has come into public discussion, a great many people want to know exactly what a round robin is like. The World cannot say that the round robin signed at Ottawa was like the illustration above, as they take various shapes, but it must have been something very near it from what one reads in the newspapers. The object of a round robin is to make all the signers equally responsible, and to convey no hint by its form who was the originator and who was the first signer. It gets over the situation of "I'll sign after some one else has signed."

Here is the fullest account of the Ottawa round robin that has yet been published. It is from the pen of F. R. Lalor, M.P. for Haldimand. It is addressed to The Cayuga Advocate, replying to an attack of that paper on his position in regard to the salary grab:

Editor Advocate, — Having noticed your article in last week's issue of your paper, headed: "Mr. Lalor's Salary Grab," I feel it my duty to make an explanation of my position in reference to the increased indemnity, and hope you may do me the honor of publishing my explanations.

I feel sure that you do not desire to do me an injustice, that your article was published in ignorance of the facts of the case, and that you will be sufficiently fair to withdraw the imputation that I am a "salary grabber."

In the first place let me explain that some features of the government bill should be acceptable to every true Canadian, while other features are equally objectionable. I am heartily in accord with the proposed increase of the premier's indemnity, as I do not believe the prime minister will be overpaid, considering the importance of his position and the cost of maintaining its dignity. I also believe that the leader of the opposition is fully entitled to receive from the government sufficient salary to enable him to devote his time to the interests of his party and the Canadian people.

So far as these features of the bill are considered, I am in sympathy with it, but the increased indemnity to members of parliament and senators, and the annuities to retired ministers, I am opposed to in the strongest possible manner, and in this connection I believe your word "grab" is fully justified.

As regards my own connection with the bill, I may say that a "round robin" was drawn up at Ottawa, by whom I cannot say, and the members were solicited to sign it; it was signed by nearly all the members, Liberal and Conservative alike, and day after day those who refused to be a party to the "grab" were waited upon by deputations and by personal friends among the members, and urged to be a party to the increase. I am proud to be able to say that I am one of the very few men the document, and, altho urged to sign, the document, and altho urged to sign, and abused for not doing so, I persistently and positively refused to do so.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has the document in his possession, and if my name is signed to it I will resign as member for this county. I will go further and say that I will support a resolution moved by either side of the house, Conservative or Liberal, in condemnation of the measure, or for the purpose of repealing the act.

Ten days before the close of session I was compelled, thru sickness in my family, to return home. When I left Ottawa it was generally understood that the government refused to introduce the bill unless those who had refused to sign the round robin would do so. My answer to all threats and entreaties was: "I am opposed to the measure, and if you wait for me to sign the increased indemnity will never be granted. I flatly and positively refused to sign the document.

When I returned home I fully believed that the refusal of myself and a few others to sign had stopped any chance of the bill being brought down, and the first I knew of the measure was reading it in The Toronto Globe on, I think, the Monday of the last week of the session the day before the bill passed the house.

I believe the government is fully responsible for the bill and should be condemned for passing it. I hope that my refusal to sign a document sanctioning a measure, which, I believe, is not acceptable to the people of Canada, may at least receive the support of the people of the county which I have the honor to represent in parliament.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) F. R. Lalor.

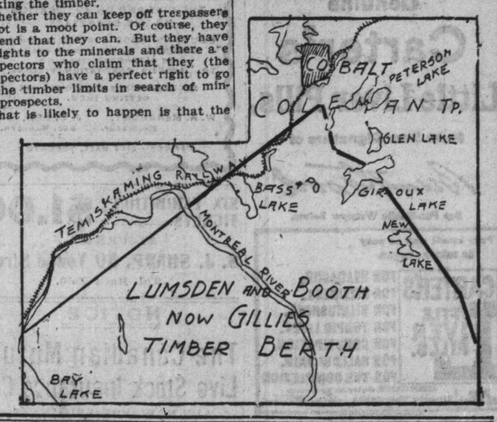
Who Shall Have the Minerals?

Owners of Timber Limits in Cobalt Area Would Like to Have Prospectors' Privileges, But Government Is Inclined to Take Possession and Relet the Claims.

Gillies Bros., the well-known lumbering firm of Renfrew, some time ago bought from the Booth Lumber Company a big timber limit in the Temiskaming country, a portion of which is in or adjoining the Township of Coleman, where the Cobalt mining centre is now located. This timber limit is supposed to carry cobalt, and everybody is anxious to prospect on the limit. A number of people imagine that in some way the owners of the timber limit have something to say as to the minerals. As a matter of fact, they have not. All their rights are confined to the timber, to the cutting of timber, and to access to the land for the purpose of working the timber.

Whether they can keep off trespassers or not is a moot point. Of course, they contend that they can. But they have no rights to the minerals and there are prospectors who claim that they (the prospectors) have a perfect right to go on the timber limits in search of mining prospects.

What is likely to happen is that the Ontario government will make an arrangement with the owners of the timber limits immediately over the mineral belt to surrender that portion of their claim on some reasonable terms to the crown, who will then be in a position to put the belt on the market at a competitive price. Of course, there is a movement on now to try and get some sort of a prospector's claim covering the land in this timber limit, but so far the government have refused to register anything of that sort, and it is likely they will pursue a policy of having the lumber company take off its timber and allow the land to revert back to the government, and that it will then be put up for public competition.



POET AUSTIN'S WARNING TO BRITAINNIA.

London, Aug 4.—The campaign led by Field Marshal Earl Roberts against the unpreparedness of the British army for war has been reinforced by Alfred Austin, the poet laureate, who contributes to the newspapers four verses, the first of which is typical. It reads:

England, supine on couch of peace
And pillowed on your splendid past,
Think you from wars mankind will cease
Or goodness undefended last?
Glory and fame
Decline to shame
And towering empires pass away,
If front be gold, foundation clay.

THREE TOUCHING TALES PICKPOCKETS NEAT HAUL

One Man Relieved of $400—Another of $60 and the Other Loses His Watch.

The nifty pickpocket did nicely for himself with W. W. Calhoun, a western visitor, who came over on the boat from St. Catharines last night. Mr. Calhoun is from Carthage, Missouri, and he is with his wife for a trip to the St. Lawrence, the pleasure of which was marred by the loss of his pocketbook, containing over $60 and his return tickets from Toronto to Buffalo and his baggage checks from Pittsburg to Buffalo.

Just before the boat landed last night he had his pocketbook with him. He picked up a couple of valises and walked across the gang plank. Then he missed his valuables. He at once reported the loss to P. C. Bell, who looked the passengers over, but did not locate the thief. Mr. Calhoun said he would have to wire for some more money.

The pickpocket was likely a visitor to the regatta, for at Port Dalhousie dock before the boat pulled out J. N. Ross of St. Catharines was touched for his gold watch.

A more serious loss than this, however, occurred to William Toms, a Danforth-ave. milkman. His loss is about $400 and he thinks he was relieved of it—all money—at Merritton. He went with the East Toronto firemen on their excursion on Thursday and didn't mean to take the money with him. Mr. Toms does not bank his money and he had intended to leave the four hundred at home, but overlooked it till he got to the wharf. When he did get home he hadn't got it and all he can remember that would have anything to do with its disappearance is his having been jostled at Merritton.

"JIM" WALLACE FOR MEXICO.

Well-Known Street Railwayman Went South Last Night.

The past two days have been disastrous ones for the street railway. First there came the remarks of Judge Snider, which, summed up, mean about $18,000 less in the company's exchequer. There came also another loss last night, which isn't to be reckoned in hard dollars.

"Jim" Wallace has gone. Everybody knows Jim, 15 years inspector and, perhaps, the most popular of the men who have been keeping the wheels of traffic going in all sorts of weather. For years he has been engineering things during the Woodbine and Exhibition rush, and the race officials and the fair management have found time more than once to compliment him in a tangible way for his headwork.

Incidentally he has one a host of other friends, and they will be sorry to lose him.

He is off to the land of the adobe and the sandhills, and Mackenzie and Mann have gained a valuable addition to their staff in Mexico.

ASHES FALL FROM SKIES WHITBY HAS QUEER "STORM"

Cinders of Leaves Cover the Ground Evidently Wafted From Distant Forest Fires.

Whitby, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—An extraordinary phenmenon in the air was observed by a number of citizens this morning in a fall of ashes.

It occurred about 8 o'clock. At first it appeared to be burnt paper from some neighboring house chimney, but on investigation was found to be cinders of leaves as of trees in a forest.

Many were so large and perfect as to show clearly leaf ribs and other characteristics of deciduous growth.

The strange shower continued some time, until fallen ashes were a conspicuous feature on the ground over an extensive area in the western part of the town.

Only the slightest breeze from northwest was stirring at the time and light clouds high in the air were drifting lazily from the same quarter.

These airy visitors must have come a great distance and from the scene of some forest fire.

PUT UP CRAPE FOR PET POODLE; CLOSED STORE

Cincinnati, Aug. 4.—Crape hung from the front door of the store conducted by Carl Schwartz, in the west end, this afternoon and evening, and business was suspended so that the proprietor and his family could pay fitting tribute to the memory of their pet poodle, whose body lay in state in a tiny casket within the house.

Two days ago the dog disappeared. Searchers were sent out, and a liberal reward was offered. This morning the poodle came back badly injured by a wagon, and it soon died.

Schwartz ordered all customers from the store, pulled down the shades and tacked up the crape.

To-night the bereaved members of the household accompanied the body to a secluded spot in the country, and there buried it. A slab affectionately inscribed marks the grave.

Those visiting Hamilton on Civic Holiday will be well repaid by taking the James-street Incline Car and then the Incline Railway to the mountain top, where you will see one of the finest panoramic views of America. There is a good hotel in connection, fine park, dancing pavilion and also first-class music for dancing.

ASK FEDERAL OFFICIALS TO ASSUME FEVER FIGHT

President Roosevelt Appealed to, In Belief That Government Supervision May Tend to Avert Panic That is Now Becoming Probable in Affected States.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 4.—With no intention of admitting the fever situation to be beyond control, but in the hope of reviving confidence here and elsewhere, in the south, official and business interests to-day decided to send a request to President Roosevelt to have the United States government assume full charge of the struggle now in progress to wipe out yellow fever from New Orleans and Louisiana. The public approves the action taken. Expectation is that within the next two days Surgeon-General Wyman, with all the resources of government, will be enlisted actively in the campaign.

The decision to ask the federal government to take control was reached at a meeting of officials and citizens, held late to-day at the cotton exchange. It was the consensus of the meeting that the government control would restore confidence thruout the other states in the south where there has been criticism of the city and state authorities for not sooner making public the existence of yellow fever. It was the belief of those present that Surgeon-General Wyman would be able to send a force of physicians to New Orleans thoroly equipped for the handling of the yellow fever situation because of their experience and unquestionable facilities to enforce a scientific campaign.

Trade Seriously Threatened.

When local health officers first took charge of the situation it was hoped that the fever could be stamped out within a reasonable time, but the infection has spread and so frightened have the people become in the south over the increase in the number of cases that New Orleans is threatened with a serious paralysis of trade by reason of radical quarantines.

Immediately after the meeting a telegram signed by the mayor and others present was addressed to Governor Blanchard telling him of the action taken.

Announcement that the federal government was to be called on to take charge at first created some alarm here, many taking such action as an acknowledgement that the situation had got beyond control. That alarm was allayed when it was announced that the object in turning over the direction of affairs to the Marine Hospital service was to renew confidence among doubtful persons and thus avert a panic.

ADOPT THE COMPROMISE.

Proceedings of the Court of Revision at Peterhof.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 4.—The council sitting at Peterhof on Tuesday approved the first thirty-four clauses of the National Assembly project without important modifications, despite the determined opposition of M. Pobiedonostseff, procurator-general of the Holy Synod, and his adherents.

At Thursday's sitting, after an animated discussion on the question as to whether bills rejected by the assembly should be referred to the emperor or merely to the minister concerned, the council adopted Count Bobrinsky's compromise resolution, which in effect was that bills rejected by a two-thirds majority should not be submitted to the emperor, but if rejected by less than two-thirds both majority and minority reports should be submitted to his majesty for arbitration.

WEALTHY MAN INDICTED FOR THEFT

Denies Accusation of Converting $14,000 to His Own Use.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 4.—Chas. F. Pfister, one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of Milwaukee, was indicted by a grand jury to-day charged with stealing $14,000 belonging to the Wisconsin Rendering Company of Milwaukee.

Indictments were also returned against John F. Dittmar, formerly supervisor, bribery; George F. Reichert, supervisor, bribery; Barney A. Eaton, state senator, bribery; Frank F. Schultz, formerly newspaper reporter, perjury.

The indictment against Pfister alleges that on March 30, 1901, the accused was callee of $14,000 placed in his hands to obtain a large contract from the city for the disposing of garbage. It is charged that the money was fraudulently converted to his own use. Pfister is a director of a leading bank, owns a large interest in a big tannery, is proprietor of a large hotel, and owns one of the leading newspapers of Milwaukee.

Mr. Pfister to-night said: "The charge is absolutely false and has no foundation whatever."

He told several friends that he once saved his uncle's cat from falling into the clutches of a gang of small boys. Figari was then in his teens. He said his uncle called him a good boy and assured him that he would never forget him. He is convinced that if it hadn't been for the cat the will would have been different.

GT.P. INVITING TENDERS FOR MAIN LINE SECTION

Contract for 275 Miles West of Portage La Prairie to Be Let by September.

Montreal, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—The Grand Trunk Pacific will probably have a section of their main line under contract in the near future.

It is officially announced that a number of leading contractors have been asked to take cognizance of the company's plans for some 275 miles of main line west of Portage la Prairie and tender for the same. These plans will be at the disposition of contractors from the 8th to the 28th of the present month at the headquarters of the company here.

After looking at the specifications it is quite likely that intending tenderers will have to go over the proposed section, but it now looks as if the first section of the Grand Trunk Pacific will be under contract by September.

It is understood that the company will accept tenders for the entire 275 miles, or for portions of the same.

The police were notified and Detective Wallace straightened things out and King got his boat back.

LUMBER TROUBLE ON AGAIN CANADIANS STORM GATES

Maine and New Brunswick Interests Have Differing Views on Lake Champlain.

Chesuncook, Me., Aug. 4.—The lumber war which attracted attention on the St. John River during the spring, has broken out again, this time at Chamberlain Lake, and serious trouble is feared.

According to reports received here to-day there was a clash at the lake yesterday between a crew employed by the St. John Lumber Company and the agent of the Marsh & Ayer Company, a Bangor firm.

It is reported that the St. John crew went to the locks, which dam the foot of the lake and attempted to raise the gates. These locks are controlled by the Bangor Company. The attendant in charge claims that the St. John crew used violence, took his rifle from him and raised the gates, despite his protest.

The agent of the Marsh & Ayer Company came here and reported the matter by telephone to his firm. The agent later returned to Chamberlain Lake with the intention of closing the gates.

It is feared that trouble will result if the gates are again closed. The St. John people want the water running to clean up their drives, while the Bangor firm wishes to hold it back for power purposes.

KILLS THREE DURING ONE TRIP.
