THE CITY

Yesterday afternoon the regular monthly meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association was held, with a good attendance. The reports showed the society to be in a healthy condition.

The Behring Sea claims commission had another short session yesterday, the Sayward costs case being the principal feature of the day. Parts of other cases were also taken up and will be continued this morning.

Ah Tin, the defendant in the celebrated highbinder assault case now before the city police court, was not yet ready yesterday to produce the evidence promised in support of the alibi set up. The case accordingly went over until this morning.

St. Paul's Presbyterian church held a large and interested congregation on Sunday evening last, when the local lodge of Good Templars attended in a body to listen to an impressive and appropriate address by Mr. Tait, principal of the Victoria West schools.

A former resident of Victoria, John A. Lynch, died last week at Dr. Corsan's hospital in Trail. He was taken sick on the train near Northport and died soon after he had been taken to the hospital. Mr. Lynch was a native of Ottawa, and was at one time in the postal service at Winnipeg.

A peculiarity of the snow storm which visited Victoria on Sunday is that it was confined altogether to the southern end of the island. The snow came with a wind from the northeast and seemed to be in a streak, for while Victoria had a fall of ten inches, Vancouver on the one side and Duncan on the other escaped.

A telegram of yesterday from New Denver states that Frederick Nightingale died there suddenly of apoplexy. The late Mr. Nightingale had for the past twelve years ranched in the Chilcotin country, and was also well known in Victoria, where his genial kindly ways had won him many friends. His relatives live in England.

The Victoria Lumber and Manufacturing Company yesterday had their annual meeting, at which the only business transacted was the election of the officers, who are: Messrs. J. A. Humbird, of St. Paul, president; R.P. Rithet, vice-president; E. J. Palmer, manager; and W. H. Phipps, secretary. These, with D. Humbird, form the board of directors.

The shareholders of the Victoria Building Society will have a decidedly busy evening on Saturday next, when they meet to receive the directors' and auditors' reports for the past year, the secretary's statement and the balance sheet. After dealing with these they will elect their officers and directors for 1897, and draw for the 58th appropriation of the society.

The Philharmonic club gave a pleasant entertainment in their hall on Fort street last evening, an interesting programme being furnished consisting of the following numbers, followed by a dance, for which the Wolff orchestra provided good music: Character dance, Sammy Johnson and Carry Zeither; recitation, Rena Ure; piano solo, Carrie Voss; solos, Messrs. Sherbourne and Cave; and recitation, Miss Draut.

The Bank of British North America is showing its faith in the Kootenay country by allowing none of its rivals to possess superior facilities for transacting the business of the young but flourishing mining communities. Its branches at Sandon and Rossland, under Messrs. Kydd and Oliver respectively, are prospering, and now Kaslo has also a branch, of which Mr. H. G. Marquis, for some time accountant in this city, will be the manager.

The case of Macdonald v. the Trustees of the Metropolitan Methodist church opened yesterday before Mr. Justice Walkem and a special jury. In this case H. H. Macdonald is claiming some $6,000 for extras on stonework in the building of the church. Some of the evidence was taken, but plaintiff's case is not yet closed. Mr. A. E. McPhillips and Mr. J. P. Walls appear for the plaintiff; Mr. Thornton Fell and Mr. Hall for defendants. The case goes on again to-day.

Last evening the Young Liberal Association elected officers for the ensuing term as follows: Hon. President, Hon. A. N. Richards, Q.C.; Hon. Vice-President, E. V. Bodwell; President, George E. Powell; First Vice-President, C. A. Gregg; Second Vice-President, James Murray; Secretary, P. S. Lampman; Treasurer, Wm. McKay; and Assistant-Secretary, R. E. Burnes. There were appointed on an executive committee: Messrs. W. E. Ditchburn, F. B. Gregory, Graham Campbell, James Pilling, W. N. Carmichael, W. H. Langley, James Bell, John Bell and D. Ross.

The Chinaman who took sick of smallpox on board the steamship Victoria while that vessel was under way from Yokohama to this port, and who was landed at the William Head quarantine station on Saturday morning last, died on Sunday night. His case developed, as previously stated, the second day out from Yokohama on a trip that lasted 13 days. He was immediately isolated from the other members of the crew, and for this reason those who were detained with him at quarantine will not, it is said, be detained longer than another day or so. Telephone communication with the station yesterday afternoon failed to bring any information, but it is believed no new cases are likely to develop among those now detained.

The troubles between Thomas Caulbeck and his wife Martha were happily terminated yesterday without coming up in court. It seems that the charge made against Mr. Caulbeck of saying he "would use strychnine on his wife" was wrong and the result of a misunderstanding of what he really did tell her. Consequently that relieves the case of its serious features, and when in court Magistrate Macrae said it was unfortunate to see husband and wife quarrelling, Mr. H. E. A. Robertson, who appears for Mr. Caulbeck, quite agreed that family squabbles might happen even in the best regulated families, and perhaps this trouble might be settled privately if His Honor would consent to use his tact and genial advice as peacemaker. Mr. Bennett, for Mrs. Caulbeck, was equally willing to try the sunny ways of conciliation, and the result was that the whole trouble was amicably disposed of out of court.

INVERTAVISH ESTATE.

Offer Made to Sell It to the City as a Park Addition.

Legislature to Be Asked to Exempt Militiamen From Revenue and Road Tax.

The new city council disposed of the business before them so expeditiously last night that by twenty minutes past nine they were ready to go home. As one of the aldermen jokingly remarked afterwards, unless the newspapers forbore from mentioning the adjournment time, he never could plead "council meeting" as a reason for not getting home till the small hours.

An important question came before the council in the shape of a letter from the Hon. J. S. Helmcken, offering to sell the city the Invertavish nursery and gardens, which would afford a favorable opportunity, the letter pointed out, of extending the park. The estate consists of a little less than five acres, filling the whole space between Humboldt street and the park. On the property are the Manor house and another; there are extensive greenhouses and the grounds are well stocked with flowering and other shrubs and ornamental trees, borders and beds of flowers, bulbs, plants and perennial springs of soft water. The conditions on which Dr. Helmcken would dispose of the property were (always premising that the corporation would remit the civic taxes thereon):

"1. Save and except the Manor house standing on a portion of the land, having a frontage of 150 feet on Heywood avenue with a depth of 240 feet. I offer to make over the rest of the estate to the corporation on its agreeing to pay me my executors, heirs or assigns from the date of agreement $1,000 per annum for 16 consecutive years; provided further that the land above mentioned and all buildings now thereon or that may be hereafter erected shall be free and freed from all civic taxation and imposts whatever.

"2. For a cash payment of $15,500 combined with the privileges next mentioned, namely, that a provision be made in the transfer that the land mentioned and the Manor house or other buildings which may be erected thereon shall belong to me, my heirs or successors and shall be free and freed from rental and all civic taxation for a number of years (say ten years), I will make over the whole of the estate to the corporation of the city of Victoria. In either case the rents received from the house which may be extended to other structures on the estate must be put to the credit of the corporation."

As this was a matter that could not be dealt with off hand the letter was laid on the table for further consideration.

Hon. B. W. Pearse drew attention to the bad condition of Cadboro Bay road near Oak Bay avenue, and reminded the council that the agreement with him when he granted a strip of ground to the city, had only been carried out by the city in so far as moving his fence back, but that the roadway had not been fixed as agreed upon. The streets committee and city engineer will report on the subject.

The necessity of taking some steps towards protecting Dallas road and the seaward side of the cemetery from encroachment by the sea was brought up in a resolution by Ald. Partridge who, seconded by Ald. Stewart, moved that the city engineer report on the best method of protecting the land from being wasted away. None of the aldermen were averse to having the report, so long as it did not commit them to an expenditure on the Dallas road portion, and the suggestion that the engineer should at the same time give an estimate of the cost was accepted by the mover, the resolution being then carried.

Of special interest to militiamen was a report from the finance committee, in which all the council concurred. This report recommended that a presentment be made to the provincial government recommending that the revenue tax act be so amended as to exempt the militiamen of the city from the payment of that tax, and also that the city be given power to exempt them from the road tax.

An offer from Lee & Fraser to sell three acres adjoining the cemetery for $3,5000 was referred to the cemetery committee, Ald. Partridge pointing out that more cemetery room is needed.

A batch of resolutions came next. The notice anent telephones by Ald. McGregor was presented as a resolution in a modified form, only the chief of police and poundkeeper's telephones being mentioned. This was carried, as also Ald. Kinsman's motion that tenders be called for Old Men's home supplies; Ald. McCandless', that tenders be called for printing and binding the annual reports, and Ald. Partridge's that leave be granted to introduce a by-law to borrow $120,000 in anticipation of the revenue.

The bylaw referred to was put through several stages, and in reference to the printing, a request from the Trades and Labour Council that no printing be given to establishments that did not employ at least one journeyman, was referred to the printing committee for their consideration.

The whole of this business was over at twenty minutes past nine, and the council adjourned.

The Toronto friends of Mr. T. F. Sinclair, who for several years carried on business as a contractor in this city and has still extensive interests here, are very anxious in regard to him, having had no word from him since he left the Ontario capital for Chicago more than a month ago. So apprehensive are they that some harm has befallen him that they have induced Chief of Police Badenoch, of Chicago, to take the case in hand and he and his officers are now making a search for the missing man. Mr. Sinclair is known to almost everyone in Victoria and has the general reputation for hard-headed common sense that the majority of Scotsmen possess. His disappearance for that very reason is sufficient to convince his friends that some mishap has occurred to him.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood.

ADAMS V. M'BEATH.

Word was received yesterday from Ottawa that the Supreme Court of Canada had upheld the decision of the Full Court of British Columbia in the appeal in Adams v. McBeath. This case attracted much attention locally when it first came up, and great interest was taken in the trial. Samuel Adams, a man of 84 years, died in Victoria, leaving his property, some $2,000 in money and a considerable amount of realty to Duncan McBeath. Thomas Adams, a nephew living in England, brought suit to set aside the will on the ground that undue influence had been used in having it made in McBeath's favor.

The trial took place before Mr. Justice Crease in 1893, and lasted seven days, judgment being given for plaintiff, setting aside the will. Then came an appeal to the Full court, which reversed the judgment of Mr. Justice Crease and decided in favor of McBeath. Next, Adams appealed to the Supreme court of Canada from the decision of the Full court.

The Supreme court, as is already stated, have confirmed the judgment of the Full court with costs. Messrs. Hunter & Duff, with Mr. J. P. Walls as solicitor, are counsel in Victoria for Adams (appellant); and Mr. E. V. Bodwell and Mr. Thornton Fell, with Mr. Hall as solicitor, for McBeath (respondent).

A DARING RESCUE.

Alaska Steamer Brings Word of the Rescue of Convict William Birch.

Condemned Sealers to Be Sold at Auction—Fined for Attempted Smuggling.

Having to land only the Victoria mail, the steamship City of Topeka, arriving from Alaskan ports on Sunday morning, made a very short stay in port during which no passengers disembarked. The principal item of news appearing in the Alaska papers concerns the escape from custody of William G. Birch, a notorious character who some time ago was sentenced to three years in San Quentin on conviction of the crime of mayhem. Sheriff Williams had the prisoner in his charge at Juneau, and one day responding to a knock at his door was confronted by three masked men, who held him at bay with revolvers until Birch escaped. A sloop waiting in Juneau harbor is supposed to have facilitated the plans of the fugitive and his friends, for their sudden disappearance from the city can be accounted for in no other way.

According to the Alaska Mining Record, the second lot of Yukon mail has been despatched inland by Jack Hayes, who has the carrying contract from the American government. The mail comprised 1,000 pieces and weighed 75 pounds.

A STRANGE SHOOTING.

"A somewhat curious revolver accident happened on New Year's day to Mr. Challoner, late second engineer of the N.Y.K. steamer Yamashiro Maru," says the Japan Advertiser. "He was in the act of sitting down when the revolver, which was in his right side trousers pocket, went off and the bullet passed down his leg, remaining embedded in the vicinity of the knee. He was removed to the hospital at Yokohama and Dr. Munro will make a search for the ball by means of Roentgen rays."

UNDER THE HAMMER.

The last chapter in the seizure cases of the schooners Beatrice and Viva will be enacted on Tuesday next when the two condemned schooners will be sold by the sheriff in accordance with the order of the Admiralty court. It will be remembered that the option was given the owners of paying fines of £400 in each case. Under ordinary circumstances these would of course have been paid, but with the heavy losses consequent upon the decline in prices before them they did not see their way to do so. Therefore the sale.

HEAVY FINES IMPOSED.

On the arrival of the steam collier San Mateo at Union from San Francisco last week, Captain Fletcher, her master, was fined $400 and George Howe, a local hotelkeeper, $100, for endeavoring to smuggle tobacco into the Dominion. A considerable quantity of tobacco was found aboard, and Collector of Customs George Rowe at once took the action above recorded.

THE CUT IS NOT CONFIRMED.

Among the passengers for this city by the Umatilla, due to arrive from San Francisco to-day, are W. S. Watson, G. W. White, F. J. McCombs and wife, P. P. Chance, W. J. Stockand, Mrs. Jessie Rennie, Mrs. Swalwell, Mrs. Vansterm, Mrs. E. L. Shaw and daughter, H. J. Wasson and E. H. Austin. The company's agents here have as yet had no advice as to a decline in freight rates.

A GROSS FRAUD.

How to Avoid Deception and Loss.

Some dealers in Canada buy package dyes that are so poor and weak that it requires fully three packages to give the depth of color that is obtained from one single package of the Diamond Dyes. These weak dyes, worth from four to five cents, are sold to consumers at ten cents per package, same price as the full strength Diamond Dyes.

Any woman who is urged by a dealer to buy these adulterated and weak dyes should refuse at once to be swindled. Such dyes are only a source of profit to the merchant who happens to sell them; they are certainly snares and deceptions to the woman who buys them. Loss, trouble and fraud can be avoided by asking for the Diamond Dyes. Examine each package, and be sure you see the name "Diamond." Working with the "Diamond," you are sure of good, fast, brilliant and lasting colors.

The correspondent of the Times at Constantinople says that the Sultan is dejected at the prospects of his Mohammedan subjects backing the European demands. His grand vizier and foreign minister are both exhausted with worry from the palace, and the grand vizier is seeking permission to resign.

A FLOURISHING ORDER.

District Lodge of the I. O. O. F., M. U., in Annual Convention—Officers Chosen.

The Wealthiest Friendly Society in All the World—Juvenile Forestry.

The annual meeting of the British Columbia district of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Manchester Unity, was held in the public hall, Metchosin, recently, the event having caused much interest among the local brethern, and the hall being very prettily decorated. Delegates were present from all the Mainland and Island lodges, and S. J. Wade, P.P.G.M., presided. The secretary's report showed an increase of members, and a determination among the lodges to double the membership during the year. Several notices of motion were dealt with, all tending to place the district in a better position. The following officers were unanimously elected for the year 1897: Dr. M. S. Wade, prov. G.M., Kamloops; John Foster, D.P.G.M., Metchosin; Robert G. Fitton, P.C.S., Victoria, the latter being re-elected for the fourth year. The officers were duly installed by Bro. S. J. Wade, P.P.G.M., and it is intended to organize and open lodges during the year in the interior of British Columbia. The next meeting will be held in Vancouver in January, 1898.

After the annual meeting was closed the delegates were entertained at the residences of Bro. Foster, D.P.G.M., and Bro. W. H. Hayward, N.G. In the evening a ball and supper were held in honor of the visit of the district lodge, and the attendance of visitors from the city far exceeded the expectations of the promoters, and made it one of the most successful dances that the local lodge has held. During the evening a rousing speech was delivered by Bro. S. J. Wade, in which he stated that the wealth of the Manchester Unity exceeded £9,000,000, or $45,000,000—a sum that is not reached by any other friendly society in the world. During the present year it is expected that the membership in British Columbia will be more than doubled, as already among the local lodges, especially Occidental lodge, No. 7177, Victoria, many applications have been received for membership.

On the 12th of February the ladies of Hope lodge No. 1, Degree of Honor, hold a St. Valentine's masquerade. Six handsome prizes will be given to the best dressed, the best sustained, and the most original characters, lady and gentleman, and during the evening, for the benefit of the spectators, tableaux will be presented between the dances. Another drawing feature will be Wolff's orchestra of five pieces.

The youthful Foresters held their annual re-union at Philharmonic hall Saturday evening, the proceedings taking the form of a banquet, followed by a pleasant impromptu concert, and concluding with a steropticon entertainment by Mr. Maynard.

KAMLOOPS MINES.

The man who made the third mining location on the Coal Hill discoveries at Kamloops is Mr. William Baillie, who is now staying at the Oriental. Indeed, he narrowly missed being first in the field. Coal Hill gets its name from the fact that a company in which Mr. Baillie was interested prospected there three or four years ago for black diamonds. Then he let the matter drop, and it was after he had visited the great mining camps of the province and got an idea of the formations that he bethought him again of Coal Hill last summer, and in July he hurried up just in time to get the third location. Now there are three hundred claims staked, seven of them being steadily worked with most promising results. The Python, owned by a Kamloops syndicate, has a shaft down fifty feet with a crosscut of thirty-five feet, showing up an immense body of ore. A United States Eastern syndicate has made a big offer to bond this mine. Then comes the Iron Mask, in which Clarke Wallace is interested. The ore seam on this property is fourteen feet wide, with a breadth between the vein walls of thirty feet. Two shifts are making the rocks fly in great shape. The Canada Boy, owned by Kamloops people, is bonded to an English syndicate; the Smuggler, three mines owned by ex-Mayor Lee of Kamloops, and two other claims are being opened up. Mr. Baillie has specimens to show of the ore, and fine looking stuff it is, running from 10 to 40 per cent. in copper and $4 to $18 in gold. A syndicate with plenty of money behind it is prospecting for coal in the vicinity. The coal is there, and they are putting on a diamond drill to find out whether it is in sufficient quantity to work.

"ALABAMA GEORGE."

There died in Victoria on Saturday night a man whose nick name, "Alabama George," recalls the famous Confederate cruiser which played such havoc among the Northern shipping in the civil war in the United States. "Alabama's" proper name was Hagbert Hansen, and he was a Norwegian by birth. In his young days he joined the Alabama, and as one of her crew helped to capture quite a number of Yankee vessels. Only a few days ago he recalled the fact that when the Alabama was off the coast of England a short time before she met with the Kearsarge, a tug came off the coast and took him and several others of the crew ashore, as they were paid off. His share was $1,200 in prize money. "Alabama" lived in a little cabin behind the Jubilee saloon and on Saturday evening, while sitting in a chair in the saloon, was suddenly taken ill. A policeman was called and "Alabama" was picked up and carried to his bed, but died almost instantly and before medical aid could be secured. Heart disease was the trouble and an inquest has not been thought necessary. "Alabama" had been asked by a brother of his in North Dakota to go there to live and only a few days before his death a ticket came, of which he had intended this week to make use.

HEARD IN THE HOTELS.

Mr. W. T. Dawley, a West Coast merchant, having stores at Clayoquot, Nootka and Ahouset, is at the Queens, having arrived here on the last trip of the Tees. Speaking of the trade of the West Coast, Mr. Dawley says that it is gradually increasing owing to the advent of new settlers and mining operations. At Clayoquot some excellent ores have been located. From one ledge, owned by Mr. Poole and others, excellent assay returns were had, and a couple of tons of ore were shipped to Tacoma for a mill test. Ore bodies are found all along the West Coast. On Bear river, emptying into Clayoquot Sound, placer mining has been carried on for some years, principally by Chinese, though last year claims were also recorded by white men. A hotel is now being erected at the mouth of Bear river, which will provide accommodation much needed by the prospectors. Mr. Dawley says the Indians are still holding out for $4 per skin, but he believes they will eventually sign at the rate offered by sealing schooner owners. Many of the Indians have funds on hand, which makes them somewhat independent.

J. D. McInnes is one of the prospectors whose adventures in search of gold on Graham island were told the other day. Sitting in the Occidental office a day or two ago, talking over his claim on Graham island, Mr. McInnes said that he had something else in view that other people had tried for years to find. This was some rich placer ground, of which he had heard from the Indians. It was in the interior of one of the northern islands, and in his nine years' experience among the Indians he had heard many stories as to its richness. However, it was not till a few months ago that he had found Indians who could really show him where this much desired placer ground lay. It was then too late in the year to make the trip, but he had made arrangements to meet the Indians in the spring, and they would then conduct him to the spot. It was really a lake in the mountains, high above sea level, but so easy to reach that a canoe could be pushed in from the coast and launched in its waters. The placer ground was at the end of this lake, and marvelous stories of the wealth of gold are told by the Indians.

According to Mr. A. W. Vowell, superintendent of Indian affairs, who has just returned from an official visit to the Mainland agencies, the Indians around Chilliwack are taking great interest in the dyking of the lands around Cocoppel slough, and are now waiting to commence their share of the work, for which the government will provide them with the necessary implements and tools.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Mr. S. Fader, of Vancouver, who invented and patented the new bicycle brake and who went East a few weeks ago in connection therewith, has disposed of the Canadian rights in the invention to the Massey-Harris Co. for $5,000. Mr. Fader is also in negotiation with an American firm of bicycle manufacturers for the right to use the brake in other countries, and it is said has been offered $35,000 with a royalty for those rights.

A special dispatch from Winnipeg announces that Charlie Johnson, who rowed No. 3 in the Winnipeg four last year, has been an artisan, and so is not qualified to row at Henley. When the crew goes to England his place will be taken by Flett, who is on the Winnipeg Victoria hockey team, and who rowed with the Winnipeg juniors last year.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—The city council this afternoon opened an Indian famine relief fund. The city will subscribe.

Dr. CHASE CURES FATHER AND CHILD

Both afflicted with Eczema of a very troublesome type and cured in a remarkably short while by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg; the itching was something terrible; would scratch until the blood came. How I came to know the value of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT, I have a little girl two years; when she was one year old the same disease began to show upon her face. It wasn't long before her face became literally covered with it. In order to keep her from scratching it we had to bandage her hands up. I tried several doctors, but got no relief. Seeing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT so highly advertised I made up my mind to purchase a box, which I did from one of our leading druggists. The first application I noticed a change. It was then I began to think about myself. With four or five applications, to my surprise, I am completely cured, no sign of the disease, and my little girl's face to-day is clear of all the scabs. I am only too glad to inform any person what a blessing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT has proved itself.
