A GREAT EQUITY CASE.

PROCEEDINGS TO REMOVE J. MACGREGOR GRANT AND HIS SON

From the Trusteeship of the Nicholson Estate—A Sensational Letter Which Forms Part of the Proceedings.

This morning was opened in the Equity court, before His Honor Mr. Justice Palmer, a matter set down for today, and which is of more than ordinary interest because as well of the facts as of the nisi points involved in the case. It is a matter directly relating to the management of the estate of the late John W. Nicholson, formerly an extensive liquor merchant in this city, who died on or about the 31st of January, 1883, whose estate was by his will placed in the hands of trustees for the benefit of the widow and children of the deceased, and the petition read in court today recites inter alia extravagance by the present management, and asks the removal from their positions as trustees of the estate of J. Macgregor Grant, uncle, and R. Cameron Grant, cousin of the petitioners.

The petition was read by J. Douglas Hazen with whom is associated Dr. Barker, and after some introductory matter recites that Mr. Nicholson, to, whom together with J. Macgregor Grant and Simeon Jones the said real estate, real and personal was bequeathed in trust, departed this life on or about the first day of February, A. D. 1884 and that shortly afterward the petitioners (who are Olivia Mary McLaren, formerly Olivia Mary Nicholson, Murray McLaren, Sara Eleanor Nicholson, Isabella M. Nicholson and Ida St. George Nicholson were informed by their uncle than "it would be necessary for them to name some person to act as trustee in the place made vacant by their mother's death," and were further informed by him "that a relative would be preferred." That the said James Macgregor Grant also informed them "it would not do to name as trustee a person residing outside the province," and they having no other relative in the province in any way suited for the position, suggested their cousin Ronald Cameron Grant, a son of the said James Macgregor Grant, "and that the said James Macgregor Grant said he thought his said son would make a very good trustee and told the petitioners to write to the said Ronald Cameron Grant and ask him if he would accept the position of trustee which they did and the said Ronald Cameron Grant accepted such position and was appointed thereto."

The sixth paragraph of the petition recites that the said Ronald Cameron Grant was only twenty-one years of age at the time of such acceptance by him, had always resided with his father and was altogether lacking in business experience and at that time and for some time afterwards was attending the law school at Harvard University, in the United States; that the petitioners were entirely inexperienced in business matters and were in an agitated state of mind in consequence of their mother's recent death; that they were not advised in the matter by any one except the said J. Macgregor Grant nor were they told by him that it would be prudent and right for them to obtain advice from a disinterested person before deciding in the matter, nor did he inform them nor did they know that under the terms of their father's will the number of trustees could at that time have been increased from three to five, nor were they informed by any body nor did they know that any one of the heirs who was of age could have been legally appointed a trustee in their mother's place.

The seventh paragraph recites the management of the estate by James Macgregor Grant, Simeon Jones and Ronald Cameron Grant since the latter's appointment.

The eighth paragraph relates to the receipt of a letter by the said Olivia Mary McLaren, then Olivia Mary Nicholson, at Digby, from the said James Macgregor Grant, stating that in the interests of the estate it was desirable that the said Ronald Cameron Grant should be appointed agent thereof at a salary of $1500 a year, and that such a step was in the interests of economy as the said Ronald Cameron Grant would for that salary attend to all the business of the estate, and, being a lawyer would also be able to do certain work for which legale xpenses were previously incurred and asking her consent to such appointment, and the said Olivia Mary Nicholson acting wholly without any advice except that of the said James Macgregor Grant, and not considering at the time how improper it was or as she now believe that its was contrary to the intention of her late father's will the that position of agent of the estate should be held by one of the trustees signed a consent prepared, as she believes, by the said James Macgregor Grant to having the said Ronald Cameron Grant appointed agent of the said estate "and a similar consent was signed by Sara E Nicolson and Isabella. M. Nicholson.

The ninth paragraph recites the salary of Andrew Dodds, who was bookeeper and clerk of the estate before the appointment of the said Ronald Cameron Grant as agent.

The tenth deals with the custom of the trustees to pass their accounts in the Probate Court annually, that the petitioners never sttended such passing of accounts nor were they represented by a proctor, nor were they advised by the said James Macgregor Grant they should be so represented, and no detailed copy of the accounts was ever furnished them, although they were furnished by the agent with an abstract of the residuary estate account and a balance sheet occasionally, and in February, 1889 the agent in writing called the petitioners' attention to the fact that the net residuary estate in the year 1888 was less by $2,324,83 than in the previous year, and advised steps be taken to avoid any further reduction of the residuary estate.

The eleventh shows the petitioners were represented by a proctor at the passing of the accounts on the 26 May last and that among the items charged in the accounts of the trustees were $362.67 paid Charles W. H. Grant, a son of the said James Macgregor Grant, being commission at 2½ per cent for collecting interest and rent for the estate and that the petitioners up to that time had believed the income of the estate was collected by Ronald Cameron Grant as agent.

The twelfth shows other items charged were $12.50, Accident Insurance premium for James Macgregor Grant; city directory, $2.50; washing office, $13; boy's wages, $68, and office rent, $100. Although the said Ronald C. Grant and James Macgregor Grant occupied the same office, &c., that while the income of the estate for the year 1889 amounted to $24,159, the expenses of management including trustees commissions amounted to $4,462.90, exclusive of the annuity of $400 to James Macgregor Grant as managing trustee.

FIRST EDITION.

The thirteenth relates to the deposit of securities in a bank and their removal and alleges such removal was always made by the said James Macgregor Grant and Ronald Cameron Grant and not by the said Simeon Jones and one of the said Grants and that the said Simeon Jones is unable to have any charge in management or reduction of expense as he has always been opposed by the said Grants.

The fourteenth alleges the writing out of a letter on the 6th of August last to the said J. Macgregor Grant by the petitioners in reply to one received by them from him, in which letter they state their desire to have everything done justly and fairly to both trustees and heirs and the estate managed on the same basis as estates of the same kind in this country; that they knew when Andrew Dodds was bookkeeper at a salary of $1000 per year a collector was also employed, and that R. C. Grant being agent at a salary of $1500 per year they were surprised to learn of the charge of $362,67 for collections in the city.

The fifteenth alleges that Sara E. Nicholson in answer to a request by the said J. Macgregor Grant, for an informal chat in which the business relationship alone was considered, wrote the heirs would meet him at Mrs. McLaren's and advised the presence of the other trustees, but that her proposal was declined by the said J. M. Grant.

The sixteenth recites an interview on the eleventh day of August last between the petitioner and the said James Macgregor Grant, when on the suggestion of the said Simeon Jones it was proposed that Olivia Mary McLaren be appointed an additional trustee, that on the 16th a letter was received by the said Olivia Mary McLaren from the said James Macgregor Grant, stating the matter would require much consideration by the trustees, and he would advise of their views; that on the 18th they wrote him again and on the 20th received a letter which contained the following: "I am directed by the trustees to call your attention to sec. 860, page 15, of the will of your deceased father, by which it would appear that the trustees have no power under existing circumstances to appoint another trustee and further to inform you that if you desire a written legal opinion on the subject the trustees will be happy to obtain such for you." That in reply Sara E. Nicholson and Isabella M. Nicholson wrote for a definite answer to their proposal that Mrs. McLaren be appointed a trustee. On the 21st of August Mrs. McLaren also wrote for a definite answer and received a note in reply from said James M. Grant as follows: "In reply to your note of this date I can only state that I am of the opinion that the trustees have not at present the power to appoint you an additional trustee and in the face of this opinion the (question of willingness or otherwise does not enter into the matter."

That on the receipt of this letter the petitioners consulted their solicitor and wrote the said J. M. Grant informing him of what their solicitor had said, and that on the 27 August the said Mrs. McLaren received a letter from the said J. M. Grant, in which he said that, although personally he should not have the slightest objection to raise to her appointment as a trustee, he felt himself in duty bound as a trustee to oppose any further interference with the terms of her father's will, and saying that the opinion of the other trustees on the subject would not influence him in the least. That on receipt of this they sent the following letter to the trustees.

To James Macgregor Grant, Simeon Jones and Ronald Cameron Grant, Esquires, trustees of the estate of the late John W. Nicholson.

Sirs,—

We as heirs of the estate of the late John W. Nicholson beg to state that after due and careful consideration and advice, have come to the conclusion that it is decidedly improper and wrong that the office of agent of the estate should be held by one of the trustees who is thus able to pronounce judgment upon his own actions and such a state of affairs is inconsistent with the intention of our late father's will. It is true that we assented to Mr. Ronald C. Grant's appointment, first as a trustee and afterwards as agent of the estate, but when we gave such assent we were ignorant of and inexperienced in business matters and acted wholly without advice and were never informed by you or any body else that it was improper that the position of agent should be held by one of the trustees nor were we told that it would have been legal for one of the heirs to have been appointed a trustee to fill the vacancy caused by our mother's death. Further, that it was represented to us by Mr. J. M. Grant that the appointment of Mr. R. C. Grant as agent at fifteen hundred dollars a year, half as much again as the previous bookkeeper and clerk had been receiving, would, from the standpoint of economy, be in the interests of the estate, and that that salary would cover all the duties that an agent should render besides certain legal expenses. We regret to have to say, however, that these representations have not been justified by the facts. Under these circumstances we now hereby formally withdraw any assent given by us at any time to Mr. Ronald C. Grant's appointment as agent and also as trustee. We do not wish, however, to interfere with Mr. Ronald C. Grant's means of livlihood and will for the present withdraw our opposition to his continuing to occupy the office of agent if he retires from the trusteeship. We therefore ask that a meeting of the trustees may be called at which Mr. R. C. Grant retire from the office of trustee and unless this request, which to us seems a reasonable one be complied with by you we will be under the painful necessity of taking such steps as may be necessary for its accomplishment. To this letter the said James Macgregor

Grant replied he was not aware of any steps he could take in the matter and the said R. C. Grant replied that having been duly appointed a trustee he had no intention under any circumstances of resigning the trusteeship, and the said Simeon Jones replied under date 3rd. September last. "I waited yesterday to see if Mr. Grant or Ronald would give notice of a meeting of the trustees but not receiving any such notice I called at Mr. Grant's office where I saw Mr. Grant and Ronald and mentioned to them the letter I had received and asked them if they would call a meeting of the trustees to consider the matter. In reply Mr. Grant said he would not call a meeting of the trustees to consider the retirement of Ronald C. Grant from the trusteeship and Ronald said he would not attend such a meeting if it was called, and certainly he had no thought of retiring from being a trustee."

The seventeenth paragraph describes another consultation with the solicitor of the petitioners and sets out at length a letter received on the 22nd day of September last by the said Olivia Mary McLaren during the absence from home of her husband which letter is as follows:

ST. JOHN N. B. 22ND. SEPT 1890.

Confidential.

"My Dear Ollie.—When I perused the joint letter of yourself and sisters dated 1st Sept. and addressed to the Trustees collectively I could not help being shocked at its contents. It was not only a threatening letter but also a cowardly and insulting one such as you ought never, under any circumstances, have sent to your uncle whom you have so repeatedly acknowledged as a true and faithful and valuable friend to yourself and sisters and to whom you all pretended to be so affectionately attached. Futhermore it showed a venom worse than contemptible, for it threatened injury to your own first cousin, the chief mourner at your father's and mother's funerals, the playmate of your childhood, who never did you the slightest injury or ever said an unkind word to you. Furthermore your conduct was neither honorable or dignified in seeking information on estate matters in an underhand way from Mr. Dodds and other persons in the city as I repeatedly told you that the estate books were always open for inspection. I have known every movement of yours in this matter as the very people from whom you were seeking information, were disgusted at the flimsy way in which you disguised your object. If I chose to retaliate, as you richly deserve, I could put the Dominion government in possession of information which would justify them either now or at any time within fifty years in seizing the books and property of the estate and leaving you all simply paupers with the reputation of the family irretrievably ruined and the public astonished with a revelation of twenty years of most successful fraud not only on the government but on themselves as customers. The question has often been put to me, how has Mr. Nicholson accumulated such a large fortune when other liquor dealers could not. I and four others in St. John could answer that question and tell how night after night, the shutters of the store would be put up, the door carefully locked and barred, all lights extinguished except on the lower story all clinks in the windows covered over, the nuts cautiously taken off the copper hasps of the "Customs Bonded Warehouse," the doors opened, cask after cask rolled out, one fourth of their contents transferred to empty casks ready in the "duty paid" warehouse, the quantity abstracted replaced with alcohol, water and coloring mixture, the adultered casks markedwith chalk on the chine, rolled back into the bonded warehouse and afterward sold to the public and the government defrauded of the duty on the quantity abstracted. Every cask that came into the store whether of brandy, whiskey, wine or gin was treated in this manner and the profit of every quarter cask averaged $25. and the invoice books in my possession will show that the estate is liable to the Dominion government for nearly $300,000, or in other words the duty on one fourth of every cask of liquor imported.

I am not desirous of attempting to injure you as you have attempted to injure me; fortunately none of my family were ever engaged in the liquor traffic and therefore any exposure, although it might be intensely gratifying to the St. John public, would be harmless to myself and family, but you can now see that your own selfishness and base ingratitude may at any time place you all in an unfortunate position, and so serious is the offence in the eyes of the law, that had the particulars been divulged in the life time of your father, it would have cost him his liberty. I do not intend that either you or any of your sisters shall become trustees, and I think that a rigid cross-examination in court would prove the undesirability of it and you shall not, as you impertinently express it "deprive Ronald of the means of a livelihood" although you may well blush from the source from which you derive your own. Wealth accumulated by fraud and the misery of others will probably eventually prove to be more of a curse than a blessing. I am now about leaving the city for a week, but on my return I will send each of your sisters excepting Dora, a copy of this letter as I prefer to make the copies in my own handwriting and keep the matter "confidential" among ourselves, but I shall place a copy of it together with suudry papers appertaining to it in a sealed envelope in my private safe.

Your affectionate uncle,
J. MACGREGOR GRANT.

Mrs. Murray MacLaren and sisters (excepting) Dora.

The eighteenth paragraph shows the petitioners had always acted on the advice of Mr J. M. Grant, who they had looked up to as acting in their father's place.

The 19th sets forth that Ronald C. Grant's income as trustee and agent last year amounted to $2,150.60 a larger sum than received from the estate by any of the children except Sara E. Nicholson.

The 20th. recites a belief that Ronald C. Grant is entirely under his father's control.

The 21st recites that the estate management is practically in the hands of J. M. Grant, that the petitioners have lost all confidence in him, that they could not meet him on business or have any correpondence with him and that his threats would keep them in a constant state of anxiety and unrest. The 22nd and last recites that at the 2 of May last the accounts showed the executors were indebted to the estate in $322,872.46, and that this amount does not include the real property belonging to the estate.

In conclusion the petitioners pray for the removal of said James Macgregor Grant and Ronald Cameron Grant as trustees under the last will of the said late John W. Nicholson and that others be appointed in their stead.

The petition is dated 8 Nov., 1890, and is signed

The further hearing of the case was adjourned till 4th December next.

Baring Bros. Say Their Position is Stronger Than Ever.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Financiers here are now taking a pessimistic view of the situation.

LONDON, Nov. 17, 12.30 p.m.—At this hour foreign securities are depressed, consols steady, American securities weak, the rate of discount in open market is nominally the same as the bank of England rate.

Foreign securities and American railway securities are flatter and prices continue to recede. Consols and English railway securities are steady.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Randall & Weirum, stock brokers have failed. Liabilities small.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Gregory Ballon & Co., brokers, have announced their suspension on the stock exchange.

In Wall street the stock market opened this morning with a comparatively small volume of business and almost entirely free from the excitement of the past few days. But feeling was still uneasy though the market is generally firm.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Everything is quiet about the Baring Brothers financial house to-day. The members of the firm state that all their acceptances and other liabilities will be met as they fall due. They also say the position of the firm with the Bank of England at the back is stronger now than ever before.

PARIS, Nov. 17th.—M. Leroy Beaulieau, the Erench economist, declares the Argentine Republic will be a great sufferer from the embarrassment of Baring Bros. & Co. She will be compelled to suspend the payment of the coupons on her debt.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The markets for foreign and other securities show a better tone. Consols are higher, and America railway securities very excited. The Pall Mall Gazette says negotiations for guaranteeing all of Baring Bros. acceptances which was placed at 15,000,000 pounds are progressing favorably.

LOCAL MATTERS.

BRIGT. ECHO has been placed on Ring's blocks, Carleton to be reclassed.

GOOD RUN.—Schooner Anna Currier, Capt. Welsh, which arrived at this port to-day from Boston made the run here 36 hours.

SHORE LINE RAILWAY.—The civil engineers Messrs. McKenzie and Thompson left to-day by the Shore Line Railway for Musquash, where they will survey with a view to making some alterations in the road at that place. The track is to be moved so that there will be fewer curves in the vicinity of Musquash. Some of the bridges are also to be taken away.

THE LOWEST TENDER.—Mr. B. H. Appleby has made the lowest tender for erecting the crib-work, on the Shore Line railway. His figures have been referred to the managers of the line at New York, and will doubtless be accepted. Four others, besides Mr. Appleby tendered for the work.

THE AYR.—Captain E. C. Elkin, came home yesterday morning from New York, where he has been for the past couple of weeks looking after the schooner Ayr, which was ashore at Watch Hill a short time ago. Some few repairs were put on the vessel and she is now on her way to this port, where she will receive a thorough overhauling.

THE ST. JOHN BRIDGE & RAILWAY EXTENSION CO., have had a shanty built at the Acadia street crossing for a winter shelter for the trestle watchman. The fences on each side of Portland street are being lowered so that persons can have a full view of the track both ways when they are about to cross it. The much needed gates have not been placed there yet.
