NEWCASLE LABOR REPORT

In the September issue of the Labor Gazette, Mr. James Falconer, correspondent for Newcastle District, reported as follows:

There was little change in the labor market; every branch of business was extremely quiet. At the present there is only one new house in course of erection, which will cost from nine to ten thousand dollars when completed. Outside of that there are only a few barns being erected and general repairs being done. Every other branch is quiet.

AGRICULTURE.

Farmers have been busy for some time. They are through haying and the crop was a fairly good one, not quite equal to last year, but is about 90 per cent. Last year was extra good. Every farmer is now busy harvesting and the crop is a good one; wheat is good but not so much sown in this section. Oats are a full crop if not a little above the average. Potatoes are looking fine and if there is no rot will be a full crop. turnips and other root crops are fine.

FISHING

Fishing has not been up to the average, at least not quite up to last year, with the exception of mackerel, which has been plentiful and of fine quality.

LUMBERING

The sawmills are still running full time, but there is no demand for lumber. Logs were sold for $3.50. For a long time they had been bringing from $10 to $12 a thousand. This will lessen the winter operations and there will be fewer men employed in the lumber camps.

PARTICULAR TRADES.

Bricklayers and masons had a very quiet summer. Carpenters were not quite as bad, as there is a little doing in their line. Painters were fairly busy. Plumbers and steam fitters are now busy preparing for the winter.
