Notice to Creditors.

IN THE MATTER OF ROBERT M. BURNS, of the City of London, in the County of Middlesex.—Notice is hereby given that the above-named Robert M. Burns has made an assignment to me under the provisions of Chapter 147, R. S. O., 1897, of all his estate and effects in trust for the benefit of all his creditors. A meeting of the creditors of the said estate is hereby convened, and will be held at the law offices of Gibbons & Harper, London, on Monday, the 23rd day of September, A.D. 1901, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, for the appointment of inspectors and the giving of directions with reference to the disposal of the said estate. All creditors of the said estate are hereby required to file their claims with my solicitors, Gibbons & Harper, London (as directed by the said statute), on or before the day of such meeting. After 1st November, 1901, I shall proceed to distribute the said estate, having regard only to such claims as I shall have notice of, and I shall not be responsible for the assets of the said estate or any part thereof, to any person or persons whose claim or claims shall not have been filed. Dated the 17th day of September, A.D. 1901. GIBBONS & HARPER, solicitors for assignee, London. C. B. ARMSTRONG, assignee. 79u

MANY WERE HURT!

Fifty Women and Children Injured in the Crush at the Capitol Doors in Washington.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The opening of the doors of the rotunda of the capitol in order to permit an inspection of the remains of President McKinley yesterday caused a rush of the vast throng that had been congregated on the east side of the building since early morning. The result was that fully 50 women and children were badly hurt.

The crowd brushed by the police cordon stationed at the foot of the steps as if it had been chaff.

A terrible congestion on the capitol steps and at the entrance door followed. At the latter point there was such extreme pressure that numbers of women fainted. Many who thus became helpless were lifted up bodily and carried over the heads of the crowd, while others, less fortunate, were trampled under foot and seriously bruised. Of the latter 12 or 15 were taken into the capitol.

The room immediately under the rotunda, where the president's remains lay in calm and peaceful repose, was a temporary hospital, filled with screaming women, lying prone on improvised couches.

One of them had a broken arm, and another had suffered internal injuries, which caused excruciating pains.

The office of the captain of police also was used to accommodate the injured, as were several other places about the building.

It is estimated that no fewer than 50 women and children were injured to some extent, but most of them were able to go to their homes. A few were taken to the Emergency Hospital.

Inadequate arrangements for handling the crowd seem to have been responsible for the crush.

FOR HIS OLD HOME

The Remains of William McKinley Removed to His Old Home in Canton, Ohio.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The close of the religious service in the capitol yesterday was an affecting moment. Robley Evans, advancing with silent tread, placed a beautiful blue floral cross at the foot of the casket. There was a pause while the ushers cleared the aisles and the assemblage began to withdraw. First to retire was President Roosevelt. Almost twenty minutes were required to clear the Rotunda sufficiently to permit the opening of the doors for the admission of the general public. Most of the flowers were removed from the casket. The lid was lifted from over the face, and at 11:35 the people began to file by, coming into the building at the east door and passing out through the west door. The people passed on both sides of the casket. No one was allowed time for more than a hurried glance.

START FOR CANTON.

All that is mortal of William McKinley is speeding to its last earthly resting place at his beloved home in Canton, after the nation had officially and with state ceremony paid its tribute of respect and love to the memory of its stricken chief magistrate. The funeral train left over the Pennsylvania Railway at 8:20 p.m. yesterday.

The bronze doors of the capitol in which the body had lain in state and been viewed by 55,000 people, had closed while there were still thousands of people waiting to get a last glance at the casket. The casket was lifted once more upon the shoulders of the bodybearers, and by them borne to the hearse at the east steps of the capitol. The escort to the depot consisted of companies from the army and navy and two squadrons of the 11th Cavalry. It was a quiet, noiseless journey, without music.

TWENTY CARS REQUIRED.

At the Pennsylvania Railway station there was a dense throng, and the remains were received by large delegations of army and navy officers. There the soldiers and seamen carried the casket from the hearse to the observation car, placed in the second section of the train. The casket was placed on standards draped with the national colors. It was covered with floral emblems. No less than 20 cars were required for the transportation of the funeral party to Canton.

MRS. McKINLEY.

The friends of Mrs. McKinley are seriously alarmed about her. They speak with grave apprehension of the days that are soon to come when she will be borne up no longer by her sense of duty and the sustaining force of her desire to perform her full part in the ceremonies that the national character and tragic end of her distinguished husband may be appropriate. They dread the approaching days in the quiet of her home at Canton, when her "Beloved Major" will not be near to comfort her in the reaction that will follow inevitably after the present shock. Yesterday afternoon she gave vent to her grief more freely than at any time since the tragedy. She sobbed and cried for a long time, and these paroxysms sapped her strength to quite a degree. Still there is no present sign of collapse.

PENSION FOR MRS. McKINLEY.

It is said on high authority that congress will probably vote Mrs. McKinley $50,000, a pension of $5,000 a year, free use of the mails, pay all doctors' bills and other expenses in connection with Mr. McKinley's death and burial, including the cost of the funeral train and ceremonies in Buffalo, Washington and Canton.

SALUTED CLEVELAND.

Ex-President Grover Cleveland, accompanied by Vice-President Lamont, of the Northern Pacific Railroad, once Cleveland's secretary of war, arrived in Washington to participate in the obsequies of the late president. Cleveland refused to see callers. There was a crowd in the depot and most of them recognized him instantly and saluted him. A path had to be made for him through the waiting room. He decided not to go on to Canton.

Feelings of Sympathy.

THE DUKE'S.

Quebec, Sept. 18.—After landing, the Duke of Cornwall and York spoke briefly in the legislative chamber to the welcoming party. He said:

"The duchess and I share with you to the fullest extent the feelings of sympathy which you have manifested towards a people with whom we are connected by the ties of kinship and of national esteem, and our hearts go out to the widow and bereaved family of the late distinguished and beloved president."

CANADA'S.

Quebec, Sept. 18.—The following telegram has been received by the governor-general:

"Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—In the name of the government and the people of the country, I desire to make earnest acknowledgment of your message. The sympathy shown by Canada in our bereavement has been most gratefully felt.—(Signed)—John Hay."

THE SYNODS.

Montreal, Sept. 18.—The provincial synod of the Church of England in Canada sent the following:

"The bishops, clergy, and laity, representative of the Church of England in Canada, assembled in provincial synod in the city of Montreal, have learned with deep sorrow of the fatal issue of the late murderous attack upon the president of the United States, and desire to express their sincere, affectionate sympathy with the people of the United States in their great sorrow over their national calamity. They would also assure Mrs. McKinley of their Christian condolence with her in such a sad and painful bereavement, and of their prayers that God will sustain her with the consolation of His grace."

BRYAN REQUESTS RESPECT.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 18.—The fusion state conventions, democrat and populist, at a request, said to have been made by Wm. J. Bryan, will probably adjourn out of respect to the late President McKinley.

PREACHER ROUGHLY TREATED.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 18.—Joseph A. Wildman, a United Brethren minister, was tarred and feathered by a crowd of 100 Monday night. Sunday night he rose in a prayer meeting in one of the city churches and exclaimed: "I suppose there have been more lies told from the pulpit and sacred desk today than was ever known before. While I want to give all honor that is due Mr. McKinley, still, when he was living, he was nothing but a political demagogue." At this juncture, a number of people became so indignant that they rose and left the church. Later on the citizens decided on the above summary action. Wildman has no regular charge.

THE SCHLEY INQUIRY.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Schley court will resume Friday morning. Two sessions will be held daily.

BROOKLYN BRIDGE UNSAFE.

New York, Sept. 18.—Brooklyn bridge is said to be safe by so small a margin that immediate repairs are necessary.

JENNIE WADE'S MONUMENT.

Gettysburg, Sept. 18.—The monument to Jennie Wade, union army cook, and only woman killed during the battle of Gettysburg, was dedicated on Monday by the Women's Relief Corps of Iowa, assisted by Georgia Wade McClellan, a sister of the dead girl.

The rain has greatly interfered with the attendance at the Central Canada Fair, and if it keeps up it will be run at a loss.

DIRT FROM THE GUN

New York Expert Doctor Thinks It Poisoned the President.

New York, Sept. 18.—Physicians in this city are still much interested in the report of the postmortem examination made by the doctors who attended President McKinley. Several experts on gunshot wounds are quoted in the Times. Dr. Robert H. M. Dawbarn thinks Czolgosz shot the president with a dirty revolver, and that the bullets fired from such close quarters carried a considerable quantity of filth into the wound, poisoning the missile's entire track. He thinks ordinary microbes were introduced into the wound and that practically a culture cabinet for such microbes was supplied by the injured tissues. The result, he thinks, was the poisoning of the president's flesh through ptomaines and toxines. He doubts that the assassin intentionally poisoned the bullets as has been suggested in some quarters.

HENRY DICKENS HERE

Son of the Distinguished Novelist Visiting Canada for First Time.

Toronto, Sept. 18.—Henry Dickens, K.C., son of the distinguished novelist, the late Charles Dickens, with his two daughters, Miss Olive and Miss Elaine, was in Toronto over Sunday, and left yesterday for Niagara Falls and Buffalo.

Mr. Dickens, who is an enthusiastic imperialist and a supporter of the war, expressed himself as pleased with this, his first trip to this country, and with the unanimous feeling here in favor of the war policy. He is in favor of preferential trade, but thinks such a policy on England's part is impossible for some years, as free trade is deeply rooted.

Tersely Told.
