BARTON TP. MATTER SUBJECT TO SCRUTINY

Won't Supply Water For Awhile—Burlington Man Is Arrested on a Perjury Charge.

HAMILTON, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The city officials are going very carefully in their dealings with Barton Township, with regard to the newly annexed portion of the township to the city. The aldermen, at the meeting of the fire and water committee to-night, side-stepped the question of supplying water to the new district unutil the city has settled the pending suit between it and the township, by which the latter is trying to compel it to supply water to certain residents of the township. City Solicitor Waddell advised that by supplying water to the newly annexed part the aldermen might prejudice the city's case, so the matter was laid over. Action was also deferred on the purchase of electric pumps for the Beach pumping station, as Engineer Sotham did not have the specifications ready. A sub-committee was appointed to see what could be done towards building repair shops for the waterworks department, either separately or in connection with the board of works. A recommendation was passed for the building of a main to the east and disposal works at a cost of $2000.

Gertrude Fleming, a little girl who lives near Mountain-avenue, was struck by a Dundas car while crossing Aberdeen-avenue to-night. She escaped with only a severe shaking up.

Perjury Alleged.

Provincial Detectives Miller and Greer to-day went to Burlington, where they arrested Alfred Ireland on the charge of perjury. Ireland was to have been the star witness for the crown in a recent liquor stealing case in Burlington. He told Detectives Miller and Greer a very convincing story, which they considered sufficient to convict three other men who were under arrest, but when the case came to trial, Ireland went back on his original story. He was taken to Milton jail.

License Inspector Birrell is of the opinion that the hotelmen can keep their bars open on Sept. 16, when several money bylaws will be voted on. He says the act demands the closing of the bars only on dates of parliamentary, municipal and school trustee elections.

Thomas Lee Sing, a local restaurant keeper, is contemplating an action against Lee Hing, a laundryman, for damages for alleged wrongful arrest and imprisonment. Lee Sing was arrested on Lee Hing's premises recently and charged with theft, but was acquitted. It is said there is bad blood between the two Chinamen because they both loved the one girl and Lee Sing married her.

Mrs. R. S. Will of this city dropped dead in Burlington after arriving on the car from Hamilton.

Burglars Talked.

The attempt of two burglars to rob the office of the Meakins brush factory last night was frustrated by a woman, who lived nearby, overhearing the men discussing their plans. She notified the police, but before they arrived the men had received wind of the move and made good their escape.

It is possible that a new jail may be built instead of reconstructing the present one, to give more accommodation for prisoners. If such is done a new site will be chosen.

The police believe that the same men who robbed a number of dental parlors in this city carried on similar operations in Toronto and London, only on a much larger scale.

A Grave Charge.

David Weir, of Weir, a settlement near Dundas, was committed for trial by William Lawson, J.P., at Dundas this afternoon on the charge of procuring and sanctioning the defilement of his two daughters, Mabel, aged 11, and Ella, aged 7. Two men, Blasdell and Poulton, were committed for trial on a serious charge last week, in which the girl Mabel was concerned.

At Bennett's.

If hearty applause is a criterion, the crowd which filled Bennett's Theatre last evening fully enjoyed the bill. There is much to entertain in this week's bill, and it might appropriately be termed an almost continual laugh. Peter Donald and Meta Carson are funny in Alex. McLean's Dream. As might be supposed, Alexander is a Scotchman, returning, in a more or less hazy condition, from a ball. What happens to him and what he says were things which made the audience laugh heartily and most of the time. There is possibly more legitimate comedy in this turn than in any skit seen here in a long time.

Gavin, Platt and Peaches are the very opposite. They go to the extreme, and they are funny because so ridiculous.

The Willy Pantzer troupe is an astonishing acrobatic team. Feats of strength in themselves are usually interesting, but when humor is interspersed the effect is more catching. Hence the Pantzers got the warmest reception of the evening, the audience insisting on several encores. They do many strong things, and it can be said of them that they please.

Ed. Reynard, ventriloquist, put on a pretentious act, in which he makes his dolls get off some clever hits. The stage setting is appropriate, and the audience was not slow in expressing its appreciation.

Carbrey brothers, expert dancers, are a pair of the best artists seen here in a long time. Their dancing was clever and proceeded with that swing which denotes the expert.

Rado and Bertman appear in a skit entitled "A Little Bit of Everything." The title is no misnomer, for the turn includes most of the things found between such extremes as love-making and contortion work.

Verona Verdit, down on the program as a talented violinist, was quite acceptable.

The moving pictures are the most enjoyable and rounded off a very pleasing bill. 45
