IRRESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT.

Prof. Goldwin Smith, in a short and incisive letter in this issue, brings home a matter of vital interest to the citizens of Toronto. The World regrets that it has had to come to the same conclusion that Mr. Goldwin Smith reaches, namely, that responsible government as carried out in Toronto is a delusion and is the most expensive and useless form that could be adopted. What cure of the evil the professor would suggest we do not know—he has not seen fit to outline one in the communication addressed to us, but we trust that he may favor the public with his views. Toronto must really make an effort to extricate itself from the system under which it is governed, or rather misgoverned. The constitution under which the city's affairs are administered can be greatly improved, but pending such improvement the existing system would permit of an immense improvement in the administration of the public business. The greatest defect in our municipal machinery is not that we are governed by aldermen, but that these aldermen assume duties and responsibilities which they are not called upon or expected to perform. They meddle in things which rightly do not come within their province at all. The city has a large and expensive staff of permanent officials. Some one of these men should be held responsible for the expenditure of every dollar of the people's money. If we have a building to erect the work should be delegated to the proper official, who should be held responsible for putting it up within a certain fixed price and in a given time. The chief of the fire brigade should be held responsible for the efficiency of the men under him. And so on thruout every branch of the city's service. But this idea of official responsibility is the very thing the aldermen will not tolerate. They arrogate the power to themselves, because it means patronage and profit for them without any concurrent responsibility. There is no way of getting at the individuals who led us into the Court House extravagance. It is useless to trace up the responsibility attaching to the St. Lawrence Market blunder, because, even if it could be brought home to certain of the aldermen, what recourse would we have against them? If the Council had referred the St. Lawrence Market improvement in its entirety to the Engineer and he had got us into the present muddle we could dismiss him. The fact that he was liable to dismissal would have made him careful in his plans, estimates and contracts. As it is, the responsibility attaches to no one, certainly to none of our officials. The purchase of the Athletic Club property is another instance of the same irresponsible system. The property was bought on the vote of the Council, but what redress will the people have against these aldermen when they find that the Technical School will cost them twice as much as the appropriation? The aldermen are here to-day and away to-morrow. Even with regard to those that remain in the Council it is useless to pursue them, because, in the first place, they are too numerous to bother with, and in the second place no tangible results would accrue from following them. The building of the proposed Technical School should have been delegated to the Engineer's department, the head of which would then be responsible for the erection of the building within the appropriation. Altho none of our officials was authorized to assume responsibility for the erection of a Technical School at a cost not to exceed $75,000, yet one of them has taken such a lively interest in this matter that we think the ratepayers can justly place the responsibility for the whole transaction upon his shoulders. He recommended the purchase and alteration of the Athletic Club building in preference to the erection of an entirely new building, giving the ratepayers to understand that the necessary alterations could be made for $16,000. By his representations to the Council Mr. Fleming has virtually guaranteed that the re-modelling of the Athletic Club, together with the land, will not cost the city more than $75,000. Let him be held to this position. What the Council should do is to hand the whole thing over to Mr. Fleming and instruct him to produce us the school we require for $16,000 in addition to the $59,000 already agreed upon as the price of the clubhouse and site. Will Mr. Fleming assume the responsibility? Will the Council compel him to assume it? They certainly should, if he does not voluntarily accept the responsibility.

While it is possible to establish a system of responsible government under our existing municipal machinery, it would be much easier to accomplish the result by a remodelling of the constitution. A higher type of alderman would be secured if they were elected by the vote of the city as a whole instead of by wards. Furthermore, the principle of the referendum might be applied with advantage to all important questions. It is in the interest of the people at large to have their affairs administered honestly and economically, and if the issues of the day were referred to them they would vote accordingly. Besides, there is another element of safety in referring important matters to the people. It is no easy matter to corrupt a whole community, whereas a comparatively small sum of money, or other consideration, can influence an evil-disposed representative of the people.

SHOULD GET ON THE MAIN LINE.

The literary world in Queen's Park is doing good business in putting itself in evidence before the public. No enterprise can succeed these days without advertising. The successful business house has a word of some kind to say to the public every lawful morning. The university is no exception to the dictum of the omnipotency of advertising, whether thru printer's ink or by other means. There are scores of different ways of reaching the public. We do not suggest that Toronto University should run a display ad. in the daily papers, but it should get in closer touch with the people in some way or other. The learned faculty have made an effort in this direction this week, more than usual prominence being given to the commencement proceedings during the past two days. The University is seeking concessions from the people thru the Government and Legislature. Why, then, should the learned faculty not take the people into their confidence more than has been their custom? We do not insist on the faculty applying for membership in the Board of Trade or in demanding representation on the exhibition directorate. Nor do we recommend that the University secure one or more representatives on the City Council, but they certainly ought to put themselves more in evidence as far as the general public is concerned. As an initial move for introducing itself to the public we suggest that the University should get a downtown office for handling its real estate and financial affairs. The magnificent pile of buildings in the Park is all right enough in its way, but from a business point of view the University should hang out its shingle on the main street. Its business interests are sufficient to warrant the University having a business office on a business street. If the University were run more as financial and other big corporations are conducted, with their boards of directors, composed of the keenest business men, we imagine that the financial side of the University would not long be a troublesome factor. Come down town, gentlemen, and talk this matter over with the Board of Trade and the Stock Exchange. It is really wonderful how slick some of these King-street people are in getting the public interested in sundry schemes. King-street is as good a place to launch a University flotation as a rubber tire trust or any other preferred cumulative specialty.

MARRIED HAPPINESS

is dependent upon the health of the wife more than on any other one thing. If a woman is troubled in a distinctly feminine way the most delicate nerves of her body are in a state of chronic irritation. She has headache and backache. She is listless and spiritless. She is cross and blue. She feels that life is not worth living and her temper reflects the condition of her nerves. Poor, suffering wife—poor, distracted husband. If the husband is a cheerful, good-humored man he will sympathize—if he is nervous, tired and irritable himself, he will probably go off to the club or seek elsewhere more congenial company.

A sick woman is to be pitied because she is miserable and because she has not yet learned that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will make her well.

The "Favorite Prescription" was developed over thirty years ago in the regular practice of Dr. R. V. Pierce who is and was then, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Since then it has been used by millions of women and has brought health, happiness and contentment to as many homes.

"My wife was sick for over eight years," writes Albert H. Pulte, Esq., of Altamont, Grundy Co., Tenn. "She had uterine disease and was treated by two physicians and got no relief. At last I read about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I sent to the drug store, got one bottle and the first dose gave case and sleep. She had not slept any for three nights. Being sure that it would cure her I sent for five more bottles and when she had taken the sixth bottle she was sound and well. We now have a fine boy at our house."

The "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol and no opium or other narcotic, and is perfectly harmless in any condition of the system.

E. BOISSEAU & CO., TEMPERANCE AND YONGE

SIR WILFRID WINCES AT MR. MONK'S CHARGES

at between the Minister of Militia and the said Dr. Devlin at Ottawa, by which the latter undertook to supply the Department of Militia and Defence with 2383 lbs. of vegetable proteid powder in 7000 tins for the sum of $4660.

Dr. Borden Warned.

8. That, upon information received by him that the agreement was being executed under circumstances calculated to excite grave suspicions, Henri Hatch, on Jan. 25, 1900, wrote the Minister of Militia a letter, which was by him duly registered in the following terms: "Your Excellency: I just happen to hear of a large purchase of 'proteid food from Messrs. Devlin & Lyons of this city for the Canadian contingent. If such is the case, I consider it to be my right and my duty to inform you that such a supply can only rest upon a poor and fraudulent adulteration of my "protos," as it is done without my knowledge, and has nothing in common with the product tested in Kingston last spring. This will be easily detected by analysis of the food supplied, to which end I intend to take the necessary steps in order to protect my interests. A sample of mine could of course have easily been obtained from any druggist, but the articles, if already supplied, are not mine and cannot be identical with those used at the military test. This I thought it advisable to bring to Your Excellency's knowledge, for any emergency. Your humble servant, H. Hatch."

Borden Did Not Acknowledge It.

9. That the Minister of Militia and Defence failed to acknowledge receipt of this letter; and did not promptly communicate with the troops of the Canadian contingent, or take any steps to verify the truth of the information conveyed to him by the letter above referred to of Jan. 25, 1900, received from the person whose food he had caused to be tested at Kingston.

Was Not Identical With Protos.

10. That, as a matter of fact, the food or emergency ration supplied to the Canadian troops was not identical with the food tested at Kingston, known as "Hatch's protos," but was a totally different article of very inferior quality, containing scarcely 17 per cent. of nutriment, whereas the food tested contained over 60 per cent. of nutritive substance.

Made in New York.

11. The said food so supplied under said agreement was never made in Canada at all, but was brought on from New York or some place in the United States of America, by the parties interested, packed in a certain number of large saratoga trunks, containing each two large rough bags filled with a substance closely resembling broken biscuits; it was then ground in Montreal by ordinary milling process to a fine powder and placed hurriedly in small tins, neither sterilized nor hermetically sealed and must have deteriorated even if it had been suitable food, which it was not.

A Serious Charge This.

12. That the said tins bore a label indicating that the emergency ration contained in them was the product of the Vitalin Company, corner Craig and Bleury-streets, Montreal, said company having no legal existence and being irresponsible and having neither manufactory nor known office in the said city of Montreal.

13. That the value of the said food so brought on from the United States does not exceed $500.

What Analysis Shows.

14. That a sample of the said food so packed in the tins aforesaid was obtained from the drug store where it had been packed, and was subsequently tested by Milton L. Hersey, M.A.Sc. (McGill) of Montreal, and found to contain only 17 per cent. of nutritive substance, and said analysis was confirmed elsewhere.

Which Was a Lie.

15. Said tins were shipped to Halifax in large wooden cases, bearing a large label, stating that upon the food contained in them Canadian soldiers had lived 30 days in perfect health.

Usual Precautions Not Taken.

16. The usual precautions as to inspection were not adopted by the Militia Department in regard to this shipment of emergency rations.

Came in Free of Duty by Order.

17. The substance brought in from the United States, as above stated, in saratoga trunks, was detained by the customs officers for duty thereon, but under direction of the Government it was allowed to pass without payment of customs dues.

Got the Money Before.

18. The amount due under the agreement of the 4th of January, 1900, that is $4660, was paid to the contractor before the goods were actually delivered.

Charges Against Borden.

19. That under all the circumstances above set forth the Minister of Militia and Defence, the said Hon. Frederick William Borden, was guilty of gross and culpable negligence—

(a) In making with undue haste the agreement herein above referred to of the 4th of January, 1900, for the supply of emergency rations to the Canadian troops in South Africa, with irresponsible parties.

(b) In not having the preparation of said rations controlled by competent men and the supply furnished to the troops, carefully and rigidly inspected and tested.

(c) In neglecting, after he had received said letter of the 25th January last, to take steps commanded by the ordinary rules of prudence to ensure the protection of the troops,

(d) In paying the amount of the said contract, $4660, in a case where he must have known that any recovery of the same was impossible, and without any investigation.

Laurier Delays It.

In conclusion Mr. Monk asked that the above statements be referred to a select committee of the House to enquire fully into the allegations and to report the result of the enquiry.

Sir Wilfrid's reply was "The motion cannot be put; it stands till to-morrow."

After Mr. Paterson had said that so far his officials had failed to give the free entry permit, the incident dropped for the day.

ALMOST A QUART OF GEMS

Customs Officals At Niagara Falls Seized About $75,000 Worth of Diamonds

MAX LA SAR, FAMOUS SMUGGLER

And a Man and Woman Confederates Are Under Arrest and Awaiting Trial.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., June 13.—Almost a quart of diamonds, valued at about $75,000, were seized by the United States customs officials in this city late yesterday afternoon. The officials say that it is one of the biggest seizures in the history of the customs service.

Max La Sar, whose fame as a diamond smuggler is international, and two alleged confederates, a man and a woman, whose names could not be ascertained, are under arrest, and will be given a hearing by United States Commissioner Pound at Lockport this afternoon.

Dr. P. Van Dandaigue, who is supposed to be implicated in the affair, has not been arrested, tho he is under surveillance and can be had at any moment. It is supposed he will be present at the hearing.

Story of the Officials.

As the story is told by the customs officials, La Sar brought the diamonds to Montreal from Europe, and in Canada met the others, whom he induced to be innocent sufferers with him. The man and the woman, names unknown, were on their wedding tour, and La Sar made their acquaintance thru the doctor, whom he had met at Montreal. La Sar told them that he had a present he would make them, but as he wanted to surprise them he did not want to open the package until the United States was reached. An eagle-eyed official at Montreal spotted La Sar the minute he landed from the boat, and he telegraphed ahead to Toronto to have them watched. Yesterday La Sar and his companions took the boat at Toronto, and, arriving at Lewiston, came direct to this city. They were placed under arrest at once.

Shadowed From Montreal.

It is learned that Max (or Max La Sar) and his male companion landed in Montreal Sunday night from the steamship Dominion, and Twohey, whose duty is to watch the arrivals of steamships, spotted Max and Van Dandaigue. The baggage of the latter was marked for Coaticook, Quebec, and Twohey grew suspicious, as he knew Max to be a New York dealer in diamonds. He followed the men to the St. James' Hotel, where Max registered as from Boston and his companion as from Eastman, Quebec. Twohey kept in touch with them, and when they took train for Toronto he took a seat next them. Feigning sleep, he overheard conversation, which confirmed his suspicions. On arrival at Toronto he put C. E. Lewis, U.S. Treasury agent, on the trail. Lewis turned up at the proper time and place, and had the men searched. The gems were found in a belt, which Max wore around his body and were at once confiscated.

War Sent Diamonds Up.

The war in Africa sent up the price of diamonds 50 per cent. in the United States, and even at the advanced prices the demand was greater than the supply. Diamonds imported into the United States are taxed 10 per cent., while they come into Canada free; therefore, there has been a good deal of smuggling done of late thru Canada from London and Antwerp.

The penalty is a fine of twice the value of the diamonds, and imprisonment as well, so that Mr. Max stands to lose $150,000 and his liberty, besides the loss of the jewels.

But like as not, 'e'll 'ave ye, unsuspec'
When you think you 'ave 'im nicely by the air,
You mostly finds 'e 'as ye in the neck.

'E can draw a purty pictur' if 'e likes;
'E can tell a lively story, well I say!
'E is worshipped, yet can wear 'is reg'lar 'at,
'E's so modest and so nat'ral, it's 'is way.

Among the yokels 'e can bust a car
Chock full o' dynamity stuff what kills.
'Ere's 'is 'ealth! which may he allus keep in trim
By usin' of them Arnold's English Pills.
