FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 4, 1873.

The Settlement of Our School Difficulties.

We believe that the Catholic laity, weary of the expensive luxury of maintaining separate schools, and seeing that the story told them about the Common Schools being intended to crush out Catholicity is false—these schools being in no sense different from the schools under the old law, are prepared to make peace on the school question on reasonable terms, and that their spiritual advisers must yield to this sentiment and accept anything that may be offered in the shape of a compromise. Just as soon as the school taxes are fairly enforced, and the hope of escaping them dies out, just so soon will the subscriptions to separate schools begin to grow "small by degrees and beautifully less," and the eyes of the Catholic laity will be opened to the fact that the faith of their fathers is not assailed or in any way endangered in the schools supported by taxation. We believe the whole trouble may be settled, without legislation, just as soon as it is found that the school tax must be paid. The Costigan resolution, and the money so eagerly appropriated to enable the question to be argued before the Privy Council, may keep our school troubles from being settled for a short time, but the feeling in favor of a common sense arrangement that will ensure non-sectarian secular education at the public expense and sectarian religious instruction at private expense grows stronger daily. The joy of martyrdom is one of short duration. It sustains one at the stake, because the burning doesn't take long, but will hardly enable one to starve himself to death in sight of wholesome food. A few Catholic gentlemen whose political prospects depend on keeping up the agitation—gentlemen who can afford to pay their taxes and subscriptions also—will fight against any settlement that does not divide the public money between Common and Sectarian schools, but the great mass of the denomination are ready to accept just such a school system as exists today in Carleton, where religious instruction is given Catholic pupils by their priest, without interfering with the regular duties of the School. This system exists under the present law and regulations, and there is nothing to prevent its adoption elsewhere—nothing but the vain and waning hope of securing the overthrow of the Common Schools Act and the legal establishment of sectarian schools. We believe that a specific declaration, or School Regulation, placing the legality of the system that has been found acceptable to Catholics and Protestants in Carleton out of all question, would lead to the early closing of the separate schools and the cheerful payment of the school taxes.

A Petty Postal Grievance.

Letter postage between Canada and the States is six cents. Letters are received here every day on which only three cents have been paid, through the thoughtfulness of the senders, and the receivers are forced to pay ten cents—thirteen cents instead of six! This annoyance has been borne a long time. Will the new Postmaster General have it removed? If three cents is due on a letter why not collect it and it only? Why punish the receiver of a letter for the neglect of the sender? Two or three hundred letters, each bearing one three-cent stamp, mailed in the States to the immediate friends of the Postmaster General of Canada might open his eyes to the annoyance people feel at this petty outrage and induce him to instruct Postmasters to collect only what is due on letters. If he hasn't authority to do this, let him ask Parliament for it. If a postal conference with the Washington authorities is necessary, let him ask for it at once.

The Cholera.

The erratic movements of the cholera both in Europe and America this summer have attracted much attention. It does not travel from point to point by regular marches, as formerly, but breaks out at widely distant places. The explanation is that previous visits of the disease have left its seeds behind, and these seeds are developed by filth and fermentation into activity. The cholera, therefore, does not need to be brought to us, as we already have its seeds in our midst. In the present filthy condition of portions of the city all that is required to produce the cholera is a state of the atmosphere favorable to its development. This is a most important fact that the city authorities do not seem to comprehend. They await the approach of the disease before taking means to prevent an attack. Our former experience should teach us that we have its germs always with us.

The Governor General is expected in Prince Edward Island in a few days, and great preparations are making to receive him. The celebration of Dominion Day was nothing compared with the celebration that will be given on Dufferin Day. What is Dominion Day, New Year's day, or any other day in comparison with the day on which His Excellency sets foot on the Island? How insignificant is the change of the destinies of the Colony—her giving up of independence to become a portion of our continental Confederation—in comparison with the momentous event now impending! The coming demonstration will probably be one of the most enthusiastic ever known there.

One of the most remarkable features of the Pacific Railway Inquiry, which has been postponed till the 15th August, the day after the meeting of Parliament, is the anxiety of the Opposition leaders to have the evidence taken without swearing the witnesses. Messrs. Blake and Dorion refused to be members of a royal commission.

"The sale of Persia to Reuter" is the biggest "sell" that has been perpetrated on newspapers for a long time.

Sackville Post Items.

Walter Cahill, Esq., was severely injured on Friday last. While in his barn one of his horses kicked a bar, which breaking struck Mr. Cahill on the side of the head, knocking him senseless, in which state he remained until the following morning.

The school house on the Lower Fairfield road has been repeatedly injured by some malicious persons. On Tuesday night a number of windows, &c., were wantonly destroyed. The Trustees intend making an effort to bring the perpetrators to justice.

Sackville has reached that happy point in the march of progress that she now requires those adjuncts to civilization known as a lock-up, Stipendiary Magistrate, and two or three constables, who will not be drunk when there is work to do.

On Sunday, 23rd ult., a closet in the bar-room of Mr. Howard Rayworth's Hotel, Port Elgin, was opened, and a sum, said to be $213, was abstracted. There are as yet no suspicions as to who is the perpetrator.

Following the Advice of a Newspaper Paragraph—The Effect of Pouring Cold Water Down a Drunken Man's Spine.

He came in with an interrogation point in one eye and a stick in one hand. One eye was covered with a handkerchief and one arm in a sling. His bearing was that of a man with a settled purpose in view.

"I want to see," says he, "the man that puts things into this paper."

We intimated that several of us earned a frugal livelihood in that way.

"Well, I want to see the man which cribs things out of the other papers. The fellow who writes mostly with shears, you understand."

We explained to him that there were seasons when the most gifted among us, driven to frenzy by the scarcity of ideas and events, and by the clamorous demands of an insatiable public, in moments of emotional insanity plunged the glittering shears into our exchanges. He went off calmly, but in a voice tremulous with suppressed feeling and indistinct through the recent loss of a half a dozen or so of his front teeth—

"Just so. I presume so. I don't know much about this business, but I want to see a man, the man that printed that little piece about pouring cold water down a drunken man's spine of his back, and making him instantly sober. If you please, I want to see the man. I would like to talk with him."

Then he leaned his stick against our desk and moistened his serviceable hand, and resumed his hold on the stick as tho he was weighing it. After studying the stick a minute, he added, in a somewhat louder tone:

"Mister, I came here to see that 'ere man. I want to see him bad."

We told him that particular man was not in.

"Just so. I presume so. They told me before I come that the man I wanted to see wouldn't be anywhere. I'll wait for him. I live up north, and I've walked seven miles to converse with that man. I guess I'll sit down and wait."

He sat down by the door and reflectively pounded the floor with a stick, but his feelings would not allow him to keep still.

"I suppose none of you didn't ever pour much cold water down any drunken man's back to make him instantly sober, perhaps."

None of us in the office had ever tried the experiment.

"Just so. I thought just as like as not you had not. Well, mister, I have. I tried it yesterday, and I have come seven miles on foot to see the man that printed that piece. It wan't much of a piece, I don't think; but I want to see the man that printed it, just a few minutes. You see, John Smith, he lives next door to my house, when I'm to home and he gets how-come-you-so every little period. Now, when he's sober, he's all right if you keep out of his way; but when he's drunk, he goes home and breaks dishes, and tips over the stove, and throws the hardware around, and makes it inconvenient for his wife, and sometimes he gets his gun and goes out calling on his neighbors, and it ain't pleasant."

"Not that I want to say anything about Smith, but me and my wife don't think he ought to do so. He came home drunk yesterday, and broke all the kitchen windows out of his house, and followed his wife around with the carving knife, talking about her liver, and after a while he lay down by my fence and went to sleep. I had been reading that little piece; I wan't much of a piece, and I thought if I could pour some water down his spine, on his back, and make him sober, it would be more comfortable for his wife, and a square thing to do all around. So I poured a bucket of spring water down John Smith's spine of his back."

"Well," said we, as our visitor paused, "did it make him sober?" Our visitor took a firmer hold of his stick, and replied with increased emotion:

"Just so. I suppose it did make him as sober as a judge in less time than you could say Jack Robinson; but, mister, it made him mad. It made him the maddest man I ever saw; and Mr. John Smith is a bigger man than me and stouter. He is a good deal stouter. Bla—bless him, I never knew he was half so stout till yesterday, and he's handy with his fists, too. I should suppose he's the handiest man with his fists I ever saw."

"Then he went for you, did he!" we asked innocently.

"Just so. Exactly. I suppose he went for me about the best he knew, but I don't hold no grudge against John Smith. I suppose he ain't a good man to hold a grudge against, only I want to see that man what printed that piece. I want to see him bad. I feel as though it would soothe me to see that man. I want to show him how a drunken man acts when you pour water down the spine of his back. That's what I come for."

Our visitor, who had poured water down the spine of a drunken man's back, remained until about 6 o'clock in the evening, and then went up street to find the man that printed that little piece. The man he is looking for started for Alaska last evening for a summer vacation, and will not be back before September, 1878.

Judge Gilbert is absent from the city at present attending the funeral of his sister, Debora Gilbert, who died at Dorchester on Wednesday.

General Arthur, Collector of Customs at New York, and R. G. Dun, Esq., of the same city, left this morning on a fishing excursion to the Nepisguit. Last evening they were entertained at a dinner in the Victoria Hotel by John W. Nicholson, and J. Gordon Forbes, Esqrs. The former gentleman placed his fishing grounds on the Nepisguit, at their disposal.

R. B. Cutler, Esq., M. P., arrived in town this morning.

THE DAILY TRIBUNE claims the largest city circulation of any daily published in St. John.

Brevities.

The Common Council meets this afternoon at the usual hour.

The fog still visits us at regular intervals of six hours.

A son of Wm. Wedderburn, M. P., lately fished up from a stream near Hampton a pocket-book lost by Captain Brown, of the Anchor Line, some time ago.

The Girls High School, closed on account of the death of Mr. J. W. Hartt, was opened at the usual hour this morning, Dr. Bennett taking charge until a teacher is appointed.

The remains of Wm. Wragg were yesterday afternoon interred with Masonic honors. The brothers of the Blue Lodges turned out in force, accompanied by the late band of the 62d Battalion, in plain clothes.

Mr. Bennet's Church is being painted and regaired generally. It will be finished in about three weeks, but the repairs will not interfere with the usual services held there.

There was a square stand-up fight in Moncton on Thursday morning, which was witnessed by a representative of the local paper and a reporter from St. John. After several rounds had been disposed of, "Little Dick," the smaller of the two pugilists, was acknowledged the champion. His opponent now carries an "awning" over his left eye.

Visitors to St. John should not fail to make the acquaintance of Mr. George Stewart's, Jr. soda fount. For a small fee one can experience the rapture of the veiled Prophet when he sipped the red weepings of the shirez wine cooled by urns of Persian snow.—[Chignecto Post.] Surely the writer must have been indulging in something stronger than Stewart's soda.

A number of young lady teachers have entered into arrangements to go on a fishing excursion during the summer vacation.

The officers of Pioneer Lodge I. O. O. F., will be installed this evening at their Lodge Room by the District Deputy Grand Master.

Four St. Stephen men are reported to have been drowned recently at Deer Island.

Steamers.

The Linda is undergoing repairs in Yarmouth and will not make her usual trip to this port this week.

The Scandinavia, of the Anchor Line, arrived in the harbor yesterday afternoon from Halifax. She has a considerable amount of freight and about 40 passengers, 18 of which are Kincardine colonists. The latter were sent forward this morning per steamer Rothesay.

The Dominion steamer Lady Head is loading a cargo of petroleum at Walker's wharf for the lighthouses on the New Brunswick coast.

The New York, which arrived last evening, had on board the remains of Captain Holden, of the schooner W. H. Adams.

Musquash Bridge.

Work has at last been commenced on the Musquash bridge. Mr. Killam, the contractor, has three men at work preparing the timber. It is to be hoped, now that operations have been commenced, that a substantial structure will be put up.

Double Scull Race

The Logans are not satisfied with the race rowed against Brayley and Lyons on Wednesday last, and issue a challenge for another contest. They wish to row in the same boats but on smoother water, and want the race rowed on the St. John River above the Falls. There is good water to row on near South Bay, and it can be reached almost any hour in the day by train from Carleton.

THE DAILY TRIBUNE advertises on liberal terms and gives the largest city circulation.

Shipping Notes.

Captain Lost.—The brigantine Mabel, Ward, master, at Fortress Monroe, from Matanzas, reports having lost her captain on the voyage to Queenstown for orders.

Shipbuilding in Nova Scotia.—Messrs. Carmichael & Co., of New Glasgow, are laying a keel for a bark of 500 tons, to be launched in the autumn.

A fine brig of 220 tons, named the Julia Esson, was launched from the shipyard of Messrs. Bowen & Pentz, Shelbourne, on the 30th ult. The same firm have on the stocks in their yard a 1000 ton ship, nearly completed, and are laying the keel of another of the same dimensions.

At McNeil Cove, St. Mary's Bay, J. Bingay, Esq., has ready for launching a ship registering 1094 tons, and classed 8 years French Lloyds. She is being built for J. W. Lovett, Esq., of Yarmouth; also a bark of 700 tons, for a firm in Yarmouth, to be launched in September.

At Everitt's Cove, R. H. Warner is building a 100 ton schooner for the West India trade, to be launched in August. Mr. Lewis McDonald has in frame a 200 ton brig to be launched in the Fall.

At Weymouth, Mr. R. Hawinson is building, for C. Campbell, Esq., a 700 ton bark, which will be ready for launching in September. Mr. F. W. Goodwin is building a 700 ton bark, to class 8 years French Lloyds, to be ready for launching in the Autumn.

A Row on Shipboard.—As the ship Algoma was being towed to sea yesterday, bound for Liverpool, quite a lively fight occurred on the forecastle deck. All hands seemed to be engaged in the melee and to enjoy it. Good times may be looked for on board this vessel during the passage.

LIFE LIKE AND MORE DURABLE THAN OIL.—J. Hinch, Prince William Street, is now producing enlarged photographs, finished in India Ink, that are marvels of beauty and finish. Portraits by this process are exhibited in the window of W. K. Crawford, King street.

BRAIN WORRY.—Many of us pray to be delivered from sudden death, and do we not worry ourselves into it? And if we do can we not help it?

"Men do not really die of Heart disease as often as it is supposed, but of apoplexy, or congestion of the lungs, so they do not die of brain work but Brain Worry. Scott died of it, Southey, Swift, Horace Greeley, and probably Thackeray."—London Times.

As Brain worry induces premature dissolution by its depressing influence upon the general nervous health, by eating the brain faster than the waste is repaired, and as the means of sustaining and increasing nervous health is no longer impossible; those who suffer the debilitating influence of mental anguish or extreme mental fatigue, need only resort to the preparation of Hypophosphites invented by Mr. Fellows, as that will conduct the subject safely over the rapids of despair, and create in him strength to grapple with every difficulty.

This is no idle assertion but an established fact.

THE BLOOD owes its red color to minute globules which float in that fluid, and contain, in a healthy person, a large amount of iron, which gives vitality to the blood. The Peruvian Sprup supplies the blood with this vital element, and gives strength and vigor to the whole system. july4 dw1w

Dramatic Lyceum.

Another good house greeted Mr. Dominick Murray last night. "The Gambler's Crime" was put on for the third time and was again well received. To-night Mr. Murray takes a benefit and plays the drama "Willy Riley." No doubt a full house will show what a favorite Mr. Murray is with the theatre going people, and the play being quite new to St. John will add to the attraction.

Lee's Opera House.

The entertainment last evening was a good one. Mr. Carroll and Little Dick appeared in a Dutch song, which was the gem of the evening. The new star, Sam Devere, sings a good Dutch song, and also plays the banjo well, but the style of his jokes did not please the audience last evening. The burlesque, "Sing Bad the Tailor," was well played.

ONE OF THE MOST DELIGHTFUL DRINKS at this season of the year is a glass of cool sparkling Soda Water from F. B. Marter's elegant Soda Fountain, 81 King street. tf june 7

Melancholy Accident—A Young Man Killed.

A sad accident, which resulted fatally, occurred about half past 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in the warehouse of Messrs. William Stairs, Son & Morrow, on Stayner's wharf, Halifax. A heavy keg of nails was to be lowered from the third story to the ground floor, by a wench which was on the second floor. One of the men employed in the warehouse arranged the gear and started down stairs to work the wench. While he was on his way, Mr. George McDonald, a clerk in the office of the firm, who happened to be in the store, undertook to lower the keg by the wench. It is supposed that, finding the weight too heavy for him, he let the wench go. It is certain, however, that in some manner he lost control of it, and the keg fell to the lower floor. The handle of the wench revelved with great velocity, and striking Mr. McDonald on the back of the head smashed his skull and threw him bleeding and insensible to the floor. Doctors were summoned and the unfortunate youth removed to his home as quickly as possible. The doctors said he could not possibly live, and so it proved. He died about four hours after the accident.

Deceased was a promising young man in his 21st year, the eldest son of Mr. E. M. McDonald, Collector of Customs, and was universally esteemed by those who knew him.

The Saturday half-holiday movement is being tried in Halifax. In the hardware business it is very general, but, in other branches, it has so far been a failure. The stores are, on other days, closed about 8 o'clock, which is called early closing.

Excursion.

Last evening, by the 9 o'clock train, a large party left for Bangor to attend the celebration of the Fourth of July in that city. No doubt they will have a good time. The Base Ball Club left also last evening for Calais, to play a match game with the Frontier Club of that city. The match is to be played in the trotting park, and the Club charge an admission fee to pay expenses. The Mutuals will no doubt give a good account of themselves while absent, even if they are not victorious.

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING TO SELL advertise in THE DAILY TRIBUNE and secure the benefit of its large circulation.

Accident from a Blast.

Yesterday afternoon George Williamson, while working on the works for the new water pipes near Silver Falls, was injured fatally by the explosion of a blast. He ran when the blast was lighted, but did not get out of the way quick enough, and a flying fragment of rock struck him on the back of the head, fracturing his skull, and causing death in about an hour and a half. Drs. Baxter and Botsford were called, but could do nothing for him, as he was dying from his injuries when they arrived. The Water Commissioners at once sent a coffin out, in which his remains were placed. Williamson was a young man about 25 years of age, and belonged to Kings County.

School Examination.

Mr. Wall's school at Fairville was examined this morning, previous to the summer holidays. The pupils showed excellent progress in the various branches. Two prizes were presented, one for writing, and one for composition, by Mr. Stuart Paterson.

Maple Hill.

Every day a large number of persons drive out to this delightful spot on the Manawagonish road. The grounds of this place are now arranged for picnic parties, and Mr. Watts has adopted the plan of placing his grounds at the disposal of parties free of charge. The grounds are about ten minutes walk from South Bay station, and will no doubt be well patronized during the summer season.

NO REMEDY IN THE WORLD ever came nto such universal use, or has so fully won the confidence of mankind, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for the cure of Coughs, Colds and Consumption.

A Midnight Prowler Assaulted.

A curious case was commenced in the Portland Police Court this morning. A man by the name of Gillespie obtained a warrant and had William Walton, Debora Walton, and Debora Walton, Jr., arrested for an assault which took place last March, in Quaco. The evidence of Gillespie was that Walton had a horse of his, which, however, he had allowed him to keep possession of for four years, and one dark night last March, he went to the barn and was in the act of taking it away, when Walton, his wife and daughter, caught him, beat him, tied his hands behind his back, and, before they would let him leave the place, made him sign a paper giving up the horse. He claims that the horse was his, and that he had a right to take it away; while Walton claims that the horse had been given up to him for debt. The story told by Gillespie was a very strange one, and, during the cross-examination, it came out that though owning this property he had sworn out of jail where he was confined for debt. The defendants think they had a right to secure their own property when it was being stolen from their barn. Squire Mosher of Quaco had the case before him, and Gillespie promised to leave the place if no charge was pressed; but Gillespie claims that, as Mr. Mosher is to be the son-in-law of Walton, that the trial was only a part and parcel of the assault, or rather a continuation of it, as by frightening him they got him to leave the place. This very interesting trial was going on when our reporter left the Court.

The Skating Rink.

This building is becoming as useful in Summer as in Winter. Now it is being fitted up to accommodate the North American Circus which opens on the 8th inst. A portion of the floor has been taken up, enough to enable the manager to have a ring of forty feet—the usual size. Around this ring are raised platforms on which reserved chairs are to be placed, and there will be plenty of room for all who will attend. This is such a novel idea that no doubt a large audience will be attracted. The Rink is now being repaired on the roof, and it is to be painted before the summer is over. The Directors are bound not to let the building lose caste under their care, and will be enabled to give a good account of their stewardship at the annual meeting.

Who will be Governor? the Halifax press and people are now asking. Every one regrets that Judge Johnston has found it necessary on account of ill health, to decline the appointment. Dr. Tupper telegraphs that no time will be lost in making the appointment.
