Rohan Potatoes.

THIS celebrated POTATOE has lately been introduced into the United States, and into Nova Scotia, and bids fair to be one of the most valuable articles in our husbandry. The great crops which have been obtained have been the astonishment of every Farmer, and the character of this Potatoe to withstand drought and produce a great crop where every other variety has literally failed, has become so well established, that the potatoe needs scarcely any further recommendation. To show, however, the enormous quantity of the produce, the following accounts which have been published, are subjoined:—

"One Potatoe, planted by Mr. William Clark, of "Northampton, U. S., produced the past fall, two "and a quarter bushels. Mr. Charles Nichols, from "one peck, raised sixteen and a half bushels. Mr. R. "Hubbard, from 4 pounds only, raised eighteen bush-"els, weighing 1173 pounds—nearly three hundred "fold."

"A writer in the Genesee Farmer states that one "pound of seed produced in his garden 136 pounds "3 ounces."

"Judge Buel, after cultivating them two seasons, "says that he feels faithful in recommending them "as a valuable acquisition to husbandry, from the "following reasons:—

"First, because their quality for the table will "justify it. If not superior, they are good. The "flesh is yellow, solid, and of good flavor.

"Secondly, because they admit of great economy "in seed. Two eyes is a sufficiency (and many of "the tubes have 30 or 40) to plant a hill, and three "or four bushels to plant an acre of ground.

"Thirdly, because they require comparatively lit-"tle labour in harvesting, a man being able to dig "thrice as many of them in a day as of ordinary "kinds.

"Fourthly, because they yield an abundant crop—"from 85 rods of ground were gathered 175 bushels, "while the common kind did not give half a crop."

A few bushels of these Potatoes are for sale at the Circulating Library, Germain street, next door to the Post Office.
