SOUTH LONDON LADY DIES AGED 94 YEARS

Westminster Pioneer Has Passed Away—Interesting Life Story.

Mrs. Isabella McColl, widow of the late Duncan McColl, and one of the pioneer residents of Westminster Township, died at 40 Askin street on Sunday afternoon at the ripe old age of 94 years. Mrs. McColl was born in 1816, in Barhead, Scotland, and was married in 1842. Coming to Canada on her honeymoon, she settled with her husband on a pioneer homestead in Westminster, which came to be known as the Lilac Farm. Here Mrs. McColl lived for 65 years, removing only four years ago with her daughter, Miss Flora to 40 Askin street. Notwithstanding her advanced years, Mrs. McColl was a cheerful, active, and bright old lady. Her husband, the late Duncan McColl, was a prominent Presbyterian, and assisted in the pioneer founding of Presbyterian churches in Elgin County. Since her removal to London, Mrs. McColl had been connected with Knox Church, South London.

She is survived by four daughters: Miss Flora, at home; Mrs. J. H. Elliott, in Westminster; Mrs. James Armstrong, widow of the late James Armstrong, ex-M. P., and Mrs. (Rev.) S. T. Eastman, of Meaford; Professor Eastman, formerly a professor in the Western University, and now continuing his studies in Europe, is a nephew. Three sons of Mrs. McColl predeceased her, John McColl, Rev. Duncan McColl, and Dr. Hugh McColl, of Lapeer, Mich.

JESUS THE SOUL OF PROTESTANT FAITH

Rev. Dr. Manning Speaks of Father Vaughan's Statements.

"Catholicism teaches fidelity to the church; Protestantism teaches fidelity to Christ."

So declared Rev. Dr. Manning in Dundas Centre Methodist Church yesterday morning. His text was, "For ye are the circumcisioned which worship God in spirit, and rejoice in Christ Jesus, who have no confidence in the flesh."

"Any profession of faith," said the minister, "not accompanied by an inward illumination, an inward consciousness of the love of God, must count as nothing. The more outward show there is in your religion, the less likely are you to come into direct communion with God.

"The faith of a Protestant is in a way challenged by the address of Father Vaughan, when declaring the Eucharist to be the soul of religion, he drew the conclusion that Protestantism is a soulless religion. Jesus is just as much the soul of the Protestant faith as of Roman Catholicism." Dr. Manning then contrasted the symbolism of the Protestant sacrament with the literalism of the Catholic Eucharist.

"Few people distinguish between Catholicism and clericalism," continued Dr. Manning. "Lord Acton never subscribed to the infallibility of the papacy. He hated clericalism, though himself a Catholic.

"The soul that seeks God, will find God in the teaching of any Christian church in the world. There is only one destiny for the human race, and that the destiny of truth.

"You see the gleam of truth and follow it, you find the truth and hold fast to it. I see the gleam of truth. I follow, and find, and hold the truth. And the truth is one. One day we shall see eye to eye. But one thing we must have now, and that is absolute freedom of thought."

Last Eastern League Game of Season at Providence Yesterday.

Providence, Sept. 18.—Baltimore took today's game at Rocky Point, 7 to 1, making three out of four in the present series. It was the last Eastern League game of the season here and the attendance was small. The visitors landed hard on Sline in the first inning, pounding out six hits, one of them being a two-bagger. Five of the seven runs were scored in this session. The Orioles got another in the second, but for the next six innings they were unable to touch Sline. A final run in the ninth completed the tally. GOODMAN LOOMS UP AS A DANGEROUS LIGHTWEIGHT

New York, Sept. 18.—Fight fans who watched Jack Goodman, local lightweight, outpoint "Fighting Dick" Hyland, of California, in a ten-round bout at the National Sporting Club last night, are agreed that his science is a match for any of the lightweights, but are in doubt as to whether he has a hard enough punch for a champion. Goodman is matched to fight Packey McFarland and wants a match with Champion Wolgast, but he will have to show more than he did last night before he may hope for victory over these.

TRY TO RECOVER ART TREASURE

Hamilton Lady Let It Go For a Nominal Sum.

SARNIANS IN THE CASE

Mystery Veils the Whereabouts of an Old Painting of Sir Thomas More.

A special to the Toronto Star says:

Hamilton, Sept. 17.—There may be a legal battle for possession of the supposed picture of Sir Thomas More, by Albert Durer, declared by experts to be one of the greatest art discoveries of the century.

Mrs. John Rankine, wife of a well-known Hamilton banker, and her brother, W. B. Clark, of Sarnia, left on Wednesday night for Montreal as soon as they heard of the discovery. The object of their visit is to claim the supposedly great treasure which was in the possession of the Clark family for fully sixty years.

Covered with dust and musty with age, the picture, which it was reported might be added to the collection at the British Royal Academy, and which attracted great interest among the ecclesiastics, who viewed it at the Sacred Heart Convent in Montreal, lay in the attic of the Rankine home at 131 Markland street, this city, for several years. This supposedly great portrait of the beheaded Chancellor of King Henry VII. was not considered good enough to occupy a place in the drawing-room of the Rankine home. Mr. Rankine and his wife had no idea of the great value of the picture, and kept it merely as a family heirloom, knowing that it had been in the possession of Mrs. Rankine's family for over half a century.

Mr. Rankine is connected with the head office of the Bank of Montreal here. He read the story from Montreal about the great interest the picture attracted there, and its removal from the walls of the Sacred Heart Convent after news of the discovery leaked out. Then he smiled pleasantly at your correspondent, and answered questions courteously, but said that Mrs. Rankine might object to publicity, and he thought it best to wait until she returned from Montreal before discussing the matter.

The impression conveyed by his conversation was that the orlginal owners of the picture will make a determined effort to get it back on the ground that they were not aware of its value when they let it go.

When asked for a history of the picture, Mr. Rankine said he knew very little about it, although he understood that it had been in the possession of his wife's family for two or three generations.

"I understand it was brought to this country by Captain Clark, of Manor House, Surrey, England, the grandfather of my wife," he said. "Then Mrs. Rankine's father became the possessor of it, and when he died it remained in the possession of the family."

When Mrs. Rankine came to Hamilton several years ago the picture was sent here and stored away in the attic. Apparently her brother, Mr. Clark, of Sarnia, had an idea that the picture was of some value, for while Purves Carter, an expert at cleaning and restoring pictures, and who had made many important discoveries in his search through Canada, was doing some restoration work for Bishop Casey, of St. John, N. B., he communicated with him and suggested that he inspect the painting.

Thinks Carter Unfair.

From what Mr. Rankine said the picture had evidently been sold about this time by Mr. Clark for a nominal sum. It was taken from Hamilton and sent to New York. It is understood that this was done on the suggestion of Mr. Carter, who was anxious to have some of the eminent art judges of the United States metropolis pass judgment upon it.

This is a phase of the matter that Mr. Rankine did not seem to care to discuss until Mrs. Rankine and her brother returned from Montreal. He did say, though, "I don't think Mr. Carter acted just fair in the matter."

When questioned about this statement, Mr. Rankine intimated that Mr. Carter had first expressed the opinion that the picture was not of much value, and probably just an imitation.

Mr. Rankine said he could give no further information until Mrs. Rankine returned home.

A Great Mystery.

Great mystery envelops the disappearance of the picture from the convent walls. No one in Montreal will admit any knowledge of it, but one rumor is that Purves Carter has taken it to St. John. A Montreal dispatch stated that the local Roman Catholic clergy declared they knew nothing of Mrs. Rankine and had not seen her.

CHARLEY DAVIS DEAD

Former Delaware Youth Dies Very Suddenly at Lethbridge.

The many friends of Mr. Charles R. Davis, of Lethbridge, Alta., formerly of Delaware, will be very much shocked to learn of his sudden death at Lethbridge last week. He was apparently in good health when he dropped dead while going from the house to the barn. He was the youngest son of Mrs. E. R. Davis, of Delaware, and a very bright boy. Great sympathy is extended to the bereaved family, as only two years ago Mr. Davis died at Delaware, and last year Mrs. Davis lost her youngest daughter Clara. After Mr. Davis' death, Mrs. Davis moved to Lethbridge to see if sunny Alberta would not prolong her daughter's life. The whole family have the sympathy of a host of friends in this part of the country where they are very well known. Master Charley was a great favorite with all his schoolmates, who will learn of his sudden death with deep regret.

MYRON WHITNEY DEAD

Was One of Most Popular Tenors 20 Years Ago.

Sandwich, Mass., Sept. 19.—Myron Whitney, one of the most popular singers in the country twenty years ago, is dead at his home in this town.

Mr. Whitney had a wonderfully deep, rich and powerful voice. He began singing in oratorio in 1858. Mr. Whitney became a member of the all-star cast that produced "Pinafore" in Boston in 1879. It was from this company that the original company of Bostonians was formed, the members of which included Henry C. Barnabee, Tom Karl, George Frothingham, George Cayvanx and Mary Beels. Mr. Whitney never appeared at his best on the stage, and soon returned to the concert platform. He was heard frequently with the Handel and Haydn Society of Boston.

Mr. Whitney was born in 1836. His body will be laid near that of Joseph Jefferson, in this town, on Tuesday.

JUMPED IN PANIC

Several Persons Injured in a New York Tenement House Fire.

New York, Sept. 19.—Five persons were injured, two perhaps fatally, in a panic which attended an alarming fire in the downtown tenement district of the west side today. Two of the injured are women. All were hurt by jumping from windows. The fire was in a three-story frame house. It started on the ground floor and spread rapidly, cutting off the escape of those asleep on the upper floors. The two women jumped from a second-story window into the arms of policemen and were not badly hurt. The three men dropped from windows high up under the roof, one of them fracturing both legs and suffering internal injury, while a second landed with a broken arm and concussion of the brain. The money loss from the fire was small.

LEAVING THE OLD SOD

Emigration From Ireland to America This Year Will Be Heavy.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—Too many Irish are leaving Ireland this year, in the opinion of the home Government. A clipping from an Irish journal, forwarded here by Deputy Consul J. S. Armstrong, jun., of Cork says:

"The Irish emigration statistics prove unsatisfactory, as 1,861 persons left this country during July, as compared with 1,602 for July of last year, an increase of 259. Of the emigrants, 1,097 were males and 764 females. In all, 20,816 persons have left Ireland during the first seven months of 1910, an increase of 2,047 in the same period in 1907. The total emigration last year was 28,677, and was the second lowest on record for six decades. If the same rate of increase is kept up for the remainder of this year emigration will reach nearly 32,000 for the year.

The secretary will endeavor to ascertain the views of all political candidates upon exclusion.
