M'CARTHY MAKES A BIG KICK

AT THE ALLEGED DELAY IN REACHING HIS NORTHWEST BILL.

He is Told That Had He Been in His Seat the Bill Would Have Been Proceeded With—No Redistribution in Quebec—But Few Tariff Items Remain to Be Dealt With.

OTTAWA, May 22.—After routine this afternoon Sir John Thompson moved that Government orders have precedence to-morrow (Wednesday), and that when the House adjourns on that day it stand adjourned until Monday, May 28.

Hon. Mr. Laurier said that in view of the general decision on both sides of the House for an adjournment until Monday, and the fact that the Government did not propose taking Wednesday for the balance of the session, but only to-morrow he would not oppose the motion.

Mr. Mulock said that he would not consent to Wednesday being taken unless the Government agreed to take charge of his bill respecting ocean freight rates. In order to expedite the work of the House he then talked for half an hour about his bill.

McCarthy Wants to Know.

Mr. McCarthy objected to the Government taking private members' days while the public bills and orders were in so backward a state. Only one measure had reached the committee stage and two days had been occupied by that in such a manner as to lead to the impression that the discussion on that bill was protracted for the purpose of delaying other bills, particularly the one which stood in his name to amend the acts respecting the Northwest Territories.

And Is Told.

Mr. Amyot vigorously attacked the member for Simcoe for neglecting his Parliamentary duties to attend to his private business, and said he was never in his seat unless he came there to make mischief. [Laughter.]

Hon. Mr. Curran called attention to the fact that the reason Mr. McCarthy's bill had not been proceeded with was that he was absent when it was reached and so it had been passed over. The item then passed.

No Quebec Redistribution.

Hon. Mr. Laurier wanted to know what business the Government proposed to lay before the House, and especially a Redistribution bill for the Province of Quebec was to be introduced.

Sir John Thompson said it was proposed to introduce the bills of which he had given notice, namely: Acts to amend the Criminal Code, the Franchise Act, the Dominion Election Act and the Audit Act. Bills would also be introduced for ratifying the French treaty, subsidizing the steamship line, and the Insolvency bill was expected from the Senate.

Tariff Items to Deal With.

Mr. Charlton wanted to know what was to be done about the tariff?

Hon. Mr. Foster said there were only two or three items left to deal with, and there would be no material changes. It was proposed to have the resolutions reprinted and carefully gone over and compared to see whether the corrections had been made. There were some 800 items altogether, and it would take some little time, say a week, to go over them.

The House then went into supply, taking up the items for charges of management of the debt.

After recess the House spent the whole evening in supply, passing the items for civil government.

Notes.

The revising barrister of London, J. H. Fraser, having resigned that office, the vacancy has been filled by the appointment of Judge Edward Elliott, assistant judge of the county of Middlesex.

The military camps will be held later than usual this season. It is understood in well-informed circles that, though the dates are not yet fixed, no camp will be held till the month of July. This is undoubtedly the time, though not officially stated.

Fruit and Tree Growing.

Before the Agricultural Committee this morning some most interesting evidence was given by Prof. Craig of the Experimental Farm as to fruit and tree growing. It was too voluminous to be summarized in an off-hand way, but will be issued in pamphlet form. He exhibited a number of apples that are ordinarily out of condition by Christmas, and incidentally mentioned that it would be greatly to the interest of fruit-growers to have cold storage facilities in their districts, as by this means they could hold grapes, peaches, etc., over till the regular season was past, and the price consequently enhanced. He also said that he had made arrangements with the cold storage warehouse in Montreal for a series of experiments, this fall, as to the keeping of various kinds of fruits. In the course of his evidence it transpired incidentally that there are known to be only three hickory trees in the Province of New Brunswick, a fact which is probably not generally known. Mr. Craig was examined at length as to fruit culture by several members of the committee, principally Sir John Carling, and he gave much information that will prove of interest to farmers when it is presented in pamphlet form, so that it may be studied at leisure.

The Curran Bridge.

Before the Public Accounts Committee this morning Mr. Casgrain, president of the Liberal Club of Montreal, gave testimony as to the construction of the Wellington-street bridge over the Lachine canal, commonly called the Curran bridge. He was a good witness so far as coolness was concerned, but was a trifle flippant at times, and in the examination showed that he had a wonderful knowledge of his own ignorance. He was wise enough to know nothing when he did not want to.

It's An Ill Wind, Etc.

This has no reference to the severe wind and rainstorm which has swept over Ontario during the past week; but refers simply to the fact that the soft coal strike has enormously increased the sales of the People's Coal Co. Some qualities of coal sold by the above company are particularly adapted to cover the present situation. Those who have already used it pronounce it far above the ordinary soft lump coal and express their intention of using it altogether. Tel. 2246. Head offices, corner Queen and Spadina avenue.

A $25,000 LIBEL SUIT.

Brought By the Chairman of the Ontario Breweries Co. Against The Westminster Gazette.

LONDON, May 22.—Mr. Henry Seymour Foster, M.P., managing director and trustee of the Industrial Investment Corporation of London and the Colonial Finance Corporation, also deputy-chairman of the Ontario Breweries Company, brought suit in the High Court of Justice to-day for £5000 damages against The Westminster Gazette for libel.

The basis of the suit is an article published in The Westminster Gazette which alleged that the shareholders in the corporation mentioned had appointed a committee to enquire into the affairs of the trustee of the corporations, as they considered that the commission paid to Mr. Foster upon alleged profits ought to be immediately refunded. The article also said that the commission has stated that £50,000, being the par value of the 6 per cent. Ontario debentures and included in the balance sheet of the trustees of the company, was underwritten by the London and Colonial Company on May 29, 1891, while the public subscriptions of the trustees of the company opened on June 2, 1891.

Mr. Foster has also begun suits against The Statist, Chronicle, Financial Times and other papers for libel on grounds similar to those taken against The Westminster Gazette. The latter paper in its answer pleads that the statements in the articles were true and therefore justifiable.

Petitions For and Against a Death Duty on Foreign Possessions.

LONDON, May 22.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir William Harcourt, replying to Sir George Baden-Powell, said the Government had received a memorial from the Council of the Colonial Institute in regard to the proposed levying of a new estate duty on property outside the United Kingdom, and had also received a memorial taking an absolutely opposite view of the question.

Preferential Intercolonial Trade.

LONDON, May 22.—In the House of Commons last evening Mr. Charles E. H. THE SHIP CANAL A SEWER.

The Lancet Describes It as a Menace to Health.

LONDON, May 22.—Truth, in an article endorsing The Lancet's views on the Manchester ship canal, makes an unmeasured onslaught on the work. The canal, it says, is little better than an open sewer. The water is in a filthy condition, receiving, as it does, the sewage of the city and a number of towns, thus endangering the lives of thousands of employed in its vicinity. Owing to the filthy state of the canal the Queen's voyage from Ilam to Manchester had to be abandoned.

UNFIT FOR FOREIGN SERVICE.

An Alleged Expert Opinion of the Recent Aldershot Review.

LONDON, May 22.—Whatever Her Gracious Majesty may have thought, the military experts who saw the Queen's review at Aldershot on Thursday looked very grave at the hollowness of the parade.

The Duke of Connaught's division, which is supposed to comprise the pick of the first army corps and to be in every respect ready to take the field, was little better than a collection of callow youths unfit for foreign service, or even to bear arms. Of 10,000 men present not half could go abroad tomorrow if services were required.

Battalion after battalion marched past, each of lower physique than its predecessor. Really the only body of infantry at the review which was at all entitled to be deemed well trained soldiers was a battalion of Royal Marines.

The many changes in the system which have so adversely affected the army generally have spared the marines. Yet for some occult reason the authorities have given them no better weapon than the Martini-Henry, while boys are armed with the magazine rifle.

RANG DOWN BY THE RECTOR.

THE CURTAIN WILL NOT RISE ON THE COMEDY "OUR BOYS."

The Tenor and Soprano of Grace Church Tender Their Resignations and the Sunday School Superintendent Also Severs His Connection With the Church—The History of the Affair.

A handsome young actor on his vacation, a comedy and a choir are the difficulties at present besetting Grace Church, Elm-street.

When surplices were introduced there was a cry that the thin wedge of Ritualism had been inserted, and some of the more conservative members of the congregation threatened to withdraw their support, financial and otherwise. As time went on the music under the able direction of Choirmaster Rudge improved perceptibly, the choir sang charmingly, the little boys in cassock and surplice looked like mild-eyed cherubim, and the ladies in similar vestments of black and white were altogether angelic. More than that, the congregation increased and with it the Sunday collections. The recalcitrants concluded that they had been unwise in their objections to a surpliced choir, and so the first cloud, no bigger than a man's hand, was happily dissipated. But still there was a storm brewing, and none knew when it would break. But break it did, bringing with it the resignation of two members of the choir—the leading soprano and the leading tenor—and also the superintendent of the Sunday school.

This is how it all came about: Some time in February Mr. Herbert Fortier, the handsome leading man in Frohman's "Jane" Company, his engagement having ended, came to Toronto to visit his brother, Mr. Henry Fortier, Murray-street, who is one of the churchwardens of Grace Church.

All Owing To the Tenor.

The young actor, who is known in the profession as "Bart," had, in addition to his good looks, an excellent robust tenor voice. Choirmaster Rudge was not dilatory in securing his services, and thus the handsome young actor was installed as primo tenore in Grace Church choir, where his genial qualities soon made him the friend of all the male members of the choir and his manly beauty a joy to the eyes of all the ladies. The ruling passion, they say, is strong in death, and an actor on vacation is still an actor. It was not long before an entertainment was suggested, the proceeds of course to be in aid of the choir fund. The leading soprano took the matter up. She gave the use of her drawingroom and a stage was erected therein, where was presented a series of tableaux to an admiring audience. The affair was a success financially, but not so artistically. There was too long a time between acts, and the callium light behaved horribly. The figures, too, left to their own devices, did not preserve the statuesque rigidity necessary to the illusion.

But the young people had been inoculated with the stage fever.

A Tableau.

The cry was ever for more tableaux. In the emergency all eyes were turned toward Mr. Fortier, a real live actor with an experience of eight seasons and right there at their doors. Mr. Fortier was importuned. He acquiesced. This time bills were gotten out and the affair thoroughly advertised. It was no longer a private affair, but took place in Trinity Church schoolhouse. The tableaux were charming. Life to the last button and sentiment to the extreme notch. The old members who were inclined to shake their heads at such goings-on were surprised and delighted. All criticism was disarmed. From tableau vivants to a real play is but a step. The descent to Avernus is proverbially easy and it was decided to present a comedy in some public hall under the direction of Mr. Fortier. It was, of course, in aid of the choir fund.

A Comedy.

The comedy selected was "Our Boys." Rehearsals were entered into with vigor and on Thursday, May 16, the play was presented with immense success to a crowded house in Broadway Hall. The rector himself, Rev. J. P. Lewis, was present and sat through one act.

Grace Church congregation was largely represented and the members of the choir attended in a body. There was a handsome surplus over for the surpliced choir.

The play was perfectly staged. Scenery was hired from Mr. O. B. Sheppard, and a man from the Grand Opera House was present to attend to the shifting. The parts were all well taken. Choirmaster Rudge, who in week days may be found at the City Hall, scored a success as Perkyn Middlewick, the illiterate butterman with an expensively-educated son (Mr. Fortier). Mr. W. C. Hall, the well-known young barrister and superintendent of Grace Church Sunday School, took the part of Sir Geoffrey Champneys, a haughty English baronet with a nincompoop heir (Mr. Alexander Shields). The leading soprano was leading lady of the company, and the remainder of the cast was filled in by members of the choir and congregation. Mr. Fred Wilson of the Canada Permanent Loan Company and basso profundo of the choir had charge of the advertising and the box office. The newspaper notices next day were glowing, and everyone was allotted a share of glory.

Mutterings of the Storm.

Having fretted their brief hour on the stage, the players were anxious to make it two, and a repetition of the performance was decided on. But in the meantime the storm had arisen.

Several members of the congregation who had attended the performance interviewed the rector. They had heard such expressions as "Great Heavens!" and one character had actually said "Damme." In short, play-acting was going a step too far and they threatened to cease their envelope contributions. In the choir, too, jealousy had sprung up. Mr. Fortier had exercised his managerial judgment in selecting people for the parts, and the ladies especially who had not been chosen felt slighted. They said that Mr. Fortier showed partiality and always chose the same people. They were indignant accordingly. At choir practice on Friday night subsequent to the performance the actors were systematically gagged by the dissentients, who repeated with obvious sarcasm various portions of the play. On Sunday night, just before forming up for the processional hymn, one of the actors was hissed.

Despite these mutterings the players were determined to go on.

The Rector Interferes.

The first rehearsal was set for Monday night in the leading soprano's drawingroom. The actors were present and the stage cleared when the rector entered. He told them all that has been told before and something more. He was afraid that such things interfered with the spiritual life of the church. He was doubtful whether the moral dignity which the choristers assumed with their surplices could be retained when the congregation had ever before them their characters in the play. The influence of the theatre he considered debasing. Here he looked at Mr. Fortier, who mentally drew up his resignation as tenor then and there. And could Mr. Hall, he asked, retain his influence as superintendent when the children thought of him as Sir Geoffrey Champneys?

Mr. Hall thought so. He had, he said, put on red stockings and played football with the children, and had suffered no loss of dignity. All the same he determined that his resignation, which was ready, written some weeks before, would be presented shortly. Mr. Alexander Shields, who is probably as well known as his father, the contractor, thought that his habitual attendance at the theatre had not detracted from his many virtues. The rector reminded him that, although a communicant of the church, he had not been conspicuous for his attendance in the services of the sanctuary. The leading soprano was indignant and the other members of the cast were silent.

A Compromise Suggested.

The rector suggested a compromise—tableaux. By no means—they were stale. Well, then, a play with a moral. In his travels in the Holy Land he had heard of an Arab woman who, discovering that her husband had lost his right arm in a sacred war, had died heartbroken on the spot. Why not dramatize that? Mr. Fortier suggested that special Oriental scenery was necessary and that the plot suggested lacked incident.

And there the matter remained. The leading soprano and the actor tenor have written out their resignations, as has also the Sunday school superintendent. They say that hereafter they will devote their attention to nothing more insidious than strawberry festivals and ice cream socials.

P. P. A. IN WEST YORK.

Mr. Charles Peterman Will Run As An Independent.

It is said ex-Deputy Reeve Charles Peterman is to be brought out as an independent candidate for the Legislature in West York in opposition to Reeve Hill. The kickers will be headed by ex-Reeve Thomas Humberstone, and among the other supporters of Mr. Peterman will be his former colleagues of the township council. Mr. Peterman has always been a Liberal, but feels he has not been fairly treated by his political friends both in his late municipal contest and since his defeat for re-election as second deputy reeve. It is said Mr. Peterman will have the support of the P.P.A.'s, and it is certain that he will make a very creditable run.

East Kent Reformers.

RIDGETOWN, Ont., May 22.—The Liberal nominating convention for East Kent was held here in Porter's Opera House to-day. Robert Ferguson of Thamesville was tendered the nomination and accepted.

Political Points.

The Liberals of East Toronto will hold a convention Monday night to discuss the question of nominating a candidate for the local.

The Reformers of East Hastings met in convention at Canifton yesterday to nominate a candidate for the Commons. It was decided not to make any nomination at present.

Mr. W. H. Biggar, M.L.A., has announced himself an Independent candidate for West Hastings. Mr. Biggar recently declined renomination at a Reform convention.

At the Centre Bruce Liberal convention held at Glammis to-day W. M. Dack was renominated as the party candidate. Mr. Macdonald, also a Liberal, is the Patron candidate in the riding, and it is expected the P.P.A. party will bring out a candidate in a few days.

The Liberal-Conservative Association have opened committee rooms at 40 King-street east. All citizens are cordially invited to call and find out where they vote and to see about having their names put on before the Board of Registrars. Address all communications to the secretary of the association at 40 King-street east.

In South Wentworth Nicholas Awrey, M.L.A., who has been campaigning in other constituencies, will turn his attention to his own riding on and after Monday next, having announced a series of meetings commencing on that date. His opponent, James Wilson, has received the endorsation of the P.P.A., of which society there are five councils in South Wentworth.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Liberal-Conservative Association and of the Macdonald Club, together with about 50 stalwarts of the party, was held in Ottawa last night. The meeting was most enthusiastic and it was unanimously decided to contest both seats and to put the strongest candidates in the field with the determination to win. The nominating convention will be held next Tuesday night.

Captain Mahan Dined In London.

LONDON, May 22.—Capt. Alfred T. Mahan, commander of the United States cruiser Chicago, was entertained at a banquet in his honor last evening by the English publishers of his works, Sampson, Low, Marston & Co. A large number of guests were present. Mr. Marston in the course of a speech said that the French translation of Capt. Mahan's "History of Sea Power" had been completed and that the German translation of the work was progressing rapidly. Capt. Mahan said he was engaged in the preparation of a third section of naval history, reaching to 1815 and covering the busy life of Lord Nelson.

THINKS MINERS WILL WIN.

MR. P. T. BUCHANAN SIZES UP THE MINING STRIKE.

The Adoption of a Uniform District Rate and the Abolition of the Store Pay System Will Result in the Prevention of Similar Disturbances in the Future, Mr. Buchanan Thinks.

Mr. P. Toronto Buchanan, son of the late Hon. Isaac Buchanan and brother of President J. I. Buchanan of the Amyville-Youghiogheny Gas Coal Company at Suter ville, Pennsylvania, arrived in the city yesterday from the scene of the great coal strike. While the telegraphic despatches would indicate that the failure of the so-called national strike of local mines is a foregone conclusion, Mr. Buchanan entertains diametrically opposite views and believes that he will see for the first time in his life a successful conclusion of a miners' strike.

The strike was originated primarily to secure a uniform price per ton, and incidentally to get rid of the system of store pay. The uniform price fixed upon by the strikers was 75 cents per screened ton. Mr. Buchanan does not believe that this rate will be granted, but thinks that a compromise will be arrived at at 70 to 74 cents per ton. All the mine owners are backing the strikers with the exception of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company and the Pittsburg and Chicago Coal Company. The former company has the contract for furnishing one-half the supply to the Consumers' Gas Company of this city.

Mine-Owners Will Employ Outsiders.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—If the striking miners do not return at the old rate in the central and allied districts by May 28 the mines will be opened to any who seek employment and protection will be furnished.

Between Season Articles.

The first warm days of spring are hard to bear and the unwise individual courts colds and sore throat by adopting his summer underwear too soon. The sensible man, however, indulges in a "between season" weight, which costs much less than an attack of pneumonia. Every weight in standard English natural wool is now being almost given away at quinn's great quitting sale, which is now in full swing.

DRAD BEFORE THE KNIFE FELL.

Anarchist Henri Died From Syncope—His Body To Be Cremated.

PARIS, May 22.—Dr. Bernert, one of the faculty of the Ecole de Medicine, after a thorough examination of the body of Emil Henri, the Anarchist who was beheaded yesterday, expresses the opinion that Henri was already dead when the knife fell. Dr. Bernert believes the Anarchist died from syncope, due to intense excitement, before the knife was released.

The Siecle says the Prefect has refused to hand the body of Henri over to his mother, but will have his body cremated. This action is taken to prevent a repetition of the Anarchist manifestations on the occasion of the burial of Vaillant.

Found Not Guilty by a Jury of Their Peers.

On Saturday last J. J. Noel, late proprietor of the Globe Clothing Hall, and his son Herbert were found not guilty of the indictment of attempting to fire the premises occupied by the former, and widely-known as carrying a valuable and very superior stock of the latest styles and best makes of ready-made clothing. Now that the Messrs. Noel are honorably acquitted it remains for the sleuth-hounds of the law to find out who the cold-blooded and daring miscreant is, and to catch him or them if possible. The owner of the Globe, J. J. Noel, during the continuance of the law's delays and proceedings against him made an assignment. The Army and Navy Clothing Company (Ltd.) became the purchasers at 65c on the dollar, and are now selling it off at their King-street store, 133-135 King-street east, at absolutely half former prices. This is a rare chance for clothing buyers, as the stock was, we might venture to say, the newest and freshest clothing stock in Toronto. All things considered this is the greatest clothing opportunity that has ever occurred in Toronto.

EIGHT ITEMS IN EIGHT HOURS.

IRON ORE MADE DUTIABLE AT FORTY CENTS A TON.

A Proposition to Make the Duty Sixty Cents Defeated—The Item Has Been Discussed for Two Days—A Republican Senator Announces That He Will Support the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—During the eight hours session of the Senate to-day eight items of the metal schedule were disposed of, the most important of them being that which puts iron ore on the dutiable list at the rate of 40 cents a ton. This item has been discussed for the greater part of two days, and was eventually agreed to without a division and by a practically unanimous vote, a proposition to make the rate 60 cents a ton having been laid on the table, 32 to 21. This result was not reached until after a couple of hours' discussion, during which a good many bitter remarks were exchanged between the opposite sides of the Chamber.

The most noticeable speech of the day was made by Mr. Teller (Rep., Colo.), in which he discountenanced the practice of taunting Democratic Senators with inconsistency. They had explained, he said, the cause of their inconsistency, and their defence was absolute and perfect. He declared that he would join them in putting the bill through in the best possible shape, that the bill was ample for the protection of American industries, and that it was a better bill than he had expected, or than any which the Republican side of the chamber had hoped to get.

The Senate adjourned at 6.15 o'clock.

THE GREAT DAY.

To-Morrow the Biggest Holiday of the Year—The Races.

As to-morrow is the principal day of the O.J.C. race meeting, as well as the great holiday of the year, a great rush is to be expected for the fine hats that W. & D. Dineen are selling for the races.

Light felts, fedoras and Derbys, drab shells and silks are the favorites.

The great English manufacturers whose hats are in Dineens' stock are Lincoln & Bennett, Christy, Heath, Trees and many others. The headgear manufactured by these firms is the finest in the world.

The Dunlap Derby is the great American hat, and is in great demand for the fine trade, while Stetson's soft hats have all the call.

Straw hats in all the new season's designs are now at Dineens'.

The Mantell is a favorite race hat. It's only $2.

There is not the slightest abatement in the popularity of the Ormonde. This has is proving a most pronounced success of the kind. No proof is needed other than the fact that nearly every other hatter in the city is trying to sell inferior imitations as the Ormonde shape. The genuine Ormonde Derby is at Dineens' only.

Dineens' fur showrooms are still open.

Dineens' stores:
King and Yonge-streets,
254 Yonge-street.
Both stores open until 10.20 to-night.

O.J.C. Note.

Much as the unavoidable postponement of the Ontario Jockey Club's first day from Tuesday to Thursday is to be regretted, there is consolation to be found in the fact that the spectators at the races will not be compelled to drink the city water, but can get the famous and popular Obico water at the different refreshment booths.
